

Volume 45, Number 1

Bobby Stover tries to register Phone Sea Terrac

September 7, 1989

Southern's enrollment exceeds expectations

By Warren Downs

The enrollment of Southern College is on the rise. According to Dr. Greentear, the Vice-president for Academic Attains, the student increase is due to a anaple of factors.

supple of factors. It is partially resultant from the many sharpes, made in recruiting. Some of times changes counts of publicating the relative good economics of attending. Southern College versus other Adventisa. Insultations, increasing recruitment of Adventist's subdents in non-Adventist high schools, and improving the structure and awareness of scholarship op-portunities.

Another less understood component of the increased enrollment is the admission of students on academic probation. These students either have a deficiency in one or more areas, as determined by the ACT exam, or have a poor high school, dicademic record (al) of these qualities are under the final judgment of the Admissions Department).

Students admitted on academic probation have some restrictions. They cannot take over twelve hours and must prove their filmess for a collegiate education and through their studies

Several pregrams hope to insure the successes of the students on academa, probation in addition to limiting the number of hours permitted, there is the increased freshinen orientation, and students may also take advantage of the new counseling center and the tutorial system.

The justification for the admission of students on academic prodution does not students on academic production does not come from the increased tunds received from tuition or from the prestage of fearing more students. According to Dr Greenleaf, the justification comes from the purpose of Christian education. The purpose of Christian education is not only academic only academic but evangelies.

only academic but evangelical Dr. Greenleat assures that the acceptance of students on academic probation will in no way endanger the school's academic reputation as no student will be allowed to graduate or continue if he fails to meet the constraints placed on him upon his acceptance to Southern College.

Cafeteria, dorms crowded by new arrivals

By Tim Burrill

12.05 Lunchtime As S.C. students begin to form a long cafe line they set their books on shelves, on the floor, or on whatever stationary object offers its surface. Returning students may ask themselves if there are more books in the lobby than in previous years, and the answer r. "YES!".

For the past three years, enrollment at S.C. has steadily risen. As of registration, Southern's enrollment has increased to 1,403—that's 85 over last year!

This for rease in students is making the dean, a little worried about crowding. Dean Hobbs, speaking of the men's dorm remarked, "We only have 2 rooms left in Talge Hall that are not in use. We were expecting a Talge Hall that are not in use. We were expecting a larger student body but not quite this large!"

Thatcher Hall is facing a similar situation with locating new residents. The Conference Center had to be opened to students to accommodate an overflow of approximately 18 women. The increased enrollment has been partially are dited to the dramatic growth in students coming from outside the Southern Union. This wear has seen an increase of 49 of these students over last year.

"This is a blessing from God. He is blessing us," said.

Mary Elam, Director of Records. Elam continued by saying, "We (the recruiting department) sure hope it Harvey Hillyer, S.A. Social Vice President, when asked what he thought of the student growth said, "I think it is terrifie! With more people, we can have more

The number of full time students has risen by 160, for the Collegedale campus and 30% for the Orlando campus. Also, the percentage of female students to male students is 53% to 47% respectively, with increases in Elementary Education, Nursing (A.S.), Bology, Special Work, and History majors.

Preliminary Fall 1989 Registration Statistics

Collegedale Campus Head Count 1988 1989 +57 Number started 1241 1298 Number finished +58 1233 1291 +70 Full-Time Equivalency 1167 Hours Earned 17.099 18.095 +1086

Number we are up on the Collegedate campus

+19 Freshman +18 Transfer Students
+8 Special Students
+99 U.S. Unions +8 International Students
+39 Returning and Former Students

+31 Caucasian +2 Blacks +14 Hispanics +10 Asians +1 American Indian

+37 Mcn +21 Women

The next, and final, comparative figures will be compiled as of the close of two weeks of classes

Boredom On

By John Caskey

"A man can stand almost any thing except a succession of ordidays."-Johann von Goethe

On a recent, rainy afternoon someone said to me, *This place sure is boring. I can't wait until December.

"What's going to happen in December?" I asked

*School will be out and I can go home. I never get bored at

We have all experienced bore dom at one time or another in our Eves. But. Limagine very few of us have ever taken the time to consider the cause of this creeping malake Strictly defined, boredom is the state of being tired by repet or tediousness. To put it another way, beredom is what happens when we do the same thing over and over and college is full of this ranatition

College students go to the same classroom with the same tellow students and listen to the same teacher teaching the same subject on the same days of the week for weeks on end. If would seem all of us should be victims of terminal ennui Why is it, then, that some of us profess to be bored more frequently than others? The answer to this question requires a better definition of boredom.

For me, the definition of bore dom is failure to take advantage of the moment. We are all guilty of this to some extent. We fail to take advantage of the moment every time we wish we were somewhere else or that the situation were different in the place we happen to be Perhaps things could be "better" if conditions were different; however, in dwelling on our wishes for the tuture. we rob ourselves of the present Albert Einstein said, "I never think of the tuture. It comes soon

As Christians, we know the future holds for us more joy than will ever be possible here on earth Our actions in the present prepare us for the future. But, God did not put us on this earth to torture us with boredom. He intends that we enjoy life to the fullest. By living a full and exciting life, we learn about God's plan for us. This makes taking advantage of the present all the more important. By failing to do so, we may miss out on something God had planned for us. Enjoy the present. You will never have the opportunity to enjoy it again.

So next time you are tempted to say. "There's nothing to go -I'm bored," take a moment to ask yourself, "What is it that I'm, missing out on right now?" If you can't think of any thing, ask a friend. You will have done something different (and perhaps alleviated your boredam) by simply asking, If this strateav doesn't help, ask your Friend in Heaven. He has the answers and can make your ordinary days something extraordinary.

Bits and pieces

By David Denton

So, another year is upon us. Well, great! Welcome back, and all that Those of you who are returning students may have noticed some of the changes around campus this year. You new students probably don't But since I could think of nothing else to write about this early in the year, I've decided to try to cata logue all the differences between this year and last

The most obvious change involves one of our dearly beloved Physical Education Faculty. Steve Jaecks is newly slim and trim after a summer of physical fitness mania. We don't have a full report, but rumor has it that Mr. Jacoks weighs just about half what he did last year

(Don't get mad, Jacoks, I said it was just a rumor). In Taige half, Dean Qualley demonstrated his solution to the problem of size. He built a bigger office. Now, I don't see why there uld be any problem with a head dean of Qualley's stature having an office he can be comfortable in, it's just that I can't help thinking of all those poor guys who live in dorm rooms that are half the size of Qualley's office. I guess the guys can take conlation in the basketball court which Qualley installed in his office. Now, when the gym is closed, they can pick up a game right in the dorm. I do wish he would do son thing with that tacky Lakers Backboard, Deans Mathis and Hobbs are also enjoying newly refurbished offices (same sizes as last year's, however). In Dean Hobbs' office you'll find a nice map of Chattanooga (circa 1865) and the faces of about 24 Confederate and Union officers on his wall. Hobbs is a Civil War enthusiast, and if you ask him, he'll be glad to tell you all about the Battle of Chattanooga He can even name all of the officers pictured on his wall. Impressive, huh?

There are reports that the fashion fairy visited Happy Valley over the summer. No one saw her, but according to sources, she visited the Beckett home one night and replaced his old glasses with a new pair of high fashion, plastic frame spectacles. It is still not known whether the old glasses had been placed under Mr Beckett's pillow. The reaction of the general public has been favorable My oninion is that Mr. Beckett and his new glasses really look sharp!

There's at least one new math teacher this year. I met him and his wife briefly and learned that this is their first trip south. So all ya'll folks drop in and say "howdy!" Ah'm shore it'll make 'em feel right at home

There are also some new journalism teachers and a new history teacher whom I've not met. I've heard good things about them, though.

One thing that has not changed, unfortunately, is the rule prohibiting members of the opposite sex from Talge and Thatcher lobbies after 8 p.m. But, you know what they say, "The more things change, the more they stay the same."

Southern Accent Editor John Caskey Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper

Ben Keppler

Sheila Draper Greg Parkhurst Sports Editor Lavout Editor Chris Sepulveda

Photo Editor Sean Terretta Circulation Julie Jacobs

Lifestyle Editor Angel Echemendia

Advisor Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

count is the official munica-l-day Adventists and is released every other cheed year with the exception of exum wer-ms expressed in the Southern According to thoo accountily reflect the views of the editors, S

From The Archives

30 Years Ago Headling: Enrollment Hits An All Time High In SMC's 1959-60 Registration

On Monday September 7, the Annual college registration program began for old and transfer students of Southern Missionary College for the academic year 1959-1960; the program continued through Tuesday and ended Wednesday. September 9, with the largest enrollment figures in the history of the institution.

Even though the enrollment figures do not include the students presently engaged on the Orlando, Florida campus of the Division of Nursing, the total number enrolled is 550, or 575 with the nursing students included

15 Years Ago Headline: Talge Hall Gets New Bathrooms On Each Floor

For some time the bathrooms in Talge Hall have been in need of some repair, but this summer the administrative officers decided to replace them completly with all new facilities Now each floor has a bathroom with ceramic tile and modern showers. The work is nearing completion on this work

10 years ago Headine: $10 Million Lawsuit Against SMC Dismissed

Finding that the sandlot football game in which a SMC student received crippling injuries was played in violation of school policy, U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson on Monday dismissed the student's $10-million lawsuit against the school.

Improvements seen in Men's Residence Hall

By Mark Trenchard

Talge Hall is once again echoing with the sounds of s, hammers, and paint brushes Renovations this year include the dean's offices, a new kitchen, and the vending machine room. The remodeling of Head Dean Ron Qualley's office is the most of the dorm improve-

Last spring the engineering department removed a wall between Dean Qualley's former office and an adjacent room transforming the previously minute space into a spacious room. The room was left useless all summer until a new carpet was installed last Sunday. Dean Qualley did the naintine and much of the other work himself. Despite the long wait, dorm residents are enthusiastic about the changes taking place in the Head Dean's office. Resident Assistant, John Sager said the wexpanded office will provide a proper place to hold staff meetings and "more room for guys to come in and get to know the dean better." Except for the electrical work in Dean Hobbs' office that remains unfinished. the other offices are now copiete thanks to the efforts of the deans themselves The yet-to-be-completed kitchen room located in the ment of Talge Hall replaces the old appliances that used to be in what is now the vending machine room The new kitchen area contains a large double sink, a stove, an oven, and plenty of counter and table space. It used to house a bolted down microwave which was stolen during the fourth summer session. One major reason for the move is that Dean Qually is "sick of coat of point in order to be totally finished." smelling people's burnt offerings" in the lobby

Dean Qualley, conducting business from his new office

Renovations will probably never be complete in Talge The vending machine room is now larger due to Hall, but these minor improvements will help make this removal of the old kitchen appliances. It awaits only a school year more tolerable for the "men of Talge".

New faculty members welcomed to Southern

By Richard Morphy

The students and faculty here at Southern College have always welcomed new teachers on campus with open hearts. This year is no exception The Department of Journalism has is welcoming three new staff members. Among them is Dr. Lynn Sauls, the new Department head for Journalism graduate of Andrew's University, he currently holds a Ph.D. from the University of Iowa, a masters degree from Peabody College of Vanderbilt University, and a

B A from yours truly, Southern College. In his words, "I'd like to be treated like a college Junior, like one of the crowd." With Dr. Saul's open friendliness and abundant experience, we are sure that he will be a successful leader of our Journalism department. Pamela Maize Harris also has long history of report ing and journalism experience. Counted by all of her past employers as "the best in our employ", Pamela is sure to be a credit to this department and a valued member of our collegiate staff Volker R. Henning, also joining S C.'s journalism photography, Audio, and Video productions. As a first-class photography and visual arts instructor, he will no doubt be an assest to the department

Last, but not least, Douglas Morgan, the new History department teacher, specializes in the History of Christianity. He sums up his philosophy thusly, "If we do not understand the importance of history, we cannot understand the importance of today.

Renovation of Student Center nearly complete

By Adrienne Dabney

Does something look different in the Student Center? Isn't something strange going on in there? Hasn't the appearance of the Student Center changed? Students are asking about the Student Center. Several changes have been made in the parlor, the game room, the parlor, the game room, and the Student Association offices

At the end of last school year, the parlor was recarpeted and the sofas and chairs were re-apolstered. This summer, a game room, formerly the workroom of the Strawberry Festival, was the major sight of recon struction. The blinds, paint, pictures, and plants have all been changed, and according to Beth Malgadey, a pool table, ping-pong tables, and air hockey game are all soon to com

The latest change in the Student Center has been the relocation of the Student Association offices The S.A. offices are now divided into two separate parts. president, secretary, and the treasurer are in one office. The Joker (which isn't an all year activity), executive vice-president, social vice-president, parliamentarian, and public relations rooms are in the other office. They formerly worked out of one office with all of our other student affairs officers, and they crowded each other. These changes were made so the S.A. officers can serve the students better. Take advantage of this by visiting the Student Center today!

Betty Garver, M.S.N., Referral Development Coordinator of HCA Valley Hospital in Chattanaga, began studying the positive effects of laughter in healing almost 10 vegrs ago. She will describe the physiology of laughter and explain the psychological benefits of humor An experienced nurse, Mrs. Garver served as Associate Professor of Mental Health Nursing at Southern College from 1977 to 1987

Soup and Solod Luncheon $3.50

Guests may purchase their meal at Southern or bring their own

Investment in SC education makes sense

By Ginger Bromme

Maybe "bargain" is the last word you would think of to describe Southern-but think again. According to a cost analysis comparing Southern College with eight other SDA colleges in the U.S., Southern College has the LOWEST total for tustion, room and board

It's true. The following chart lists the totals from the most economical to the most expensive TOTAL T DIFFERENCE

SCHOOL	101/12	DH I DI
Southern College	$ 8,922
Union College	$ 9,270	$ 348
Southwestern	$ 9,412	$ 490
Pacific Union	$ 9,760	5 838
Columbia Union	$10,220	$1,298

$1,458 Walla Walla $2,078 Atlantic Umon $2,194 La Sierra $11,116 Andrews University $11,406 52.484

This is not even taking into account that some of these colleges have additional fees that are not included in the above totals. Southern does not have any of these Southern College is the best buy for your money -

it's a bargain

Statistics provided by Ron Barrows

An interview with Dr. Donald Sahly ACCENT Contributing Editor

By Sheila Draper

August 31, 1989

Good afternoon, Or. Sahly. Thank you for taking time to answer a few questions for the ACCENT. It looks tike things are off to a pretty good start this school year. The big news is that the enrollment is up this year.

How do you feel about this? Well. I'm excited about the eproli ment going up. That always makes life a little more pleasant, because the more students you have, the better the income and the more things you can accomplish during the school year. We have some projects that definitely need to be accomplished. We need some repairs done on this campus, particularly in the doi mitories. We're using rooms that we haven't used for several years. Those rooms need refurbishing. They need furniture. They need carpet. They need paint. We've got to get to those things. The income from the addtional students provides a means to accomplish these things, not just the dorms, but also equipment for labora tories and classroom facilities and so We can begin to look forwa positively to accomplishing some things as we did last year. As you know last year we totally refurbished Summerour Hall and we need to look at the nursing building and other places this year and see if we can con tinue to improve the campus.

How much is enrollment up over last year?

We don't have a final figure because we don't finalize enrollment until the end of the week. The final count last year was 1326 students We're still building toward a final number but it's presently at about 1410 students, which is an increase of 84. I understand that there were about 12 more students, who have registered since registration, so we would be up to about 96 more stu dents than last year. We also have more full-time students and fewer part-time students so the full-time student equivalency is up, meaning how many students you have-both full-time and part time-and the hours that they registered for, and we've registered for 1.SS7 more hours than we did a year ago as a total student body, and that's what you based the budget and the income dollars on. It looks like in term of a full-time students, we have just about an even hundred, based on 15 hours per semester, but with the extras registering, it looks like it may get up to 105 or even a little beyond that.

What is the total enrollment ca pacity of the college? How many students do we have room for?

Well, I understand that historically.

in the 1978-79 and the 1979-80 school years, the highest enrollment of both community and campus ex ceeded 2,000. I really think that if we got all the dormitory rooms refurhished and the ladies started using the Conference Center as they did in those days as dormitory space, we would probably have no difficulty ac commodating 1600 students in the darmitories and 400 in the community. That's not going to happen right away, but the capacity of the institution is probably an enrollment of 2,000. We would really be crowded at that pace. There would not be any more room available

Do you see the enrollment increase as a continuing trend?

The demographic data that the Deartment of Education produces indicates a decline in the pool of 17-to-18 year-olds, the high school graduates. Across the nation, starting in 1991-94 or '95, there's supposed to be a three-year die. However, the Southeastern United States is grow ing rapidly. The populatio transition. The North and the Midwest are moving to the Southeast are. So we have a chance of riding through that slump without feeling the significant decline that well be felt elsewhere However, there's no question that some of our Adventist academies are showing a decline in enrollment. I know that Georgia Cumberland Academy, in our own conference, is down a number of students this year, which means we will have fewer students to recruit as ve move toward the future. The positive side is that we have more students coming from outside of the Southern Union and that's where we're showing our biggest gains. The closing day of enrollment, we had 49 more students from outside the Southern Union than we had last year. I think students from other places are finding this an attractive college, mainly because we have several things going for us. First of all, we have a better price structure on room, board, and tuition than other Adventist colleges. Secondly, we have a nicer climate here than they have in Remen Springs or Rose. ton or Columbia Union College think these two factors have attracted students in the past few

What are your hopes and your goals for this school year?

We have a number of projects that we're working on. One is to see the completion of the Lynn Wood Hall restoration. That has slowed down somewhat because it's an alumnifunded program. We're hoping to stir up some interest and enthusiasm so we can keep the money moving and complete that project. The main floor and the auditorium are now usable. it was used during camprieetings and freshmen orientation this year and we're pleased that we are at least able to get the doors open and start using the building. I hope to see it completed by Alumni Weekend. Secondly, I would like to continue making improvements in the men's and ladies' dormitories. We also have to give some consideration to our cafeteria. The carpet is becoming badly worn and coming loose in places and I don't know if we can make it through the year without seeing some significant problems

So we're looking to see how much it's going to cost to redecorated. I'm not sure if we'll do it this year, but at least it's on our agenda We're also talking about purchasing a new bus. I believe our bus is a 1966 or '67 model. It's small and worn out, and we need a new one. So there's a lot of things that we're looking at, and we'll try to keep the paper informed so you can inform the student body as we decide to move ahead on these things

We need to tell all the good things that we can. Do you have any major changes in mind as far as policles or rules?

There have been no real significant policy changes from 1st year to this year. The dormitory rules the dress codes, and so on have not been altered significantly at all. In fact, I don't know of any real changes myself—the deans and their committees may have expressed some changes in the dormitories, but I think things are much the same as they were

It looks like we have a pretty good system going right now

I think so. It seems like things are going well. I was impressed today when we went to assembly I was told that there were 1 200 chairs on the floor and I counted nearly 100 students standing in the back. That's a good start when we have about 1500+ students on campus, including part-time and community students because some have work programs and other things where they're excused from assembly attendance. Another area of interest is the cafetena. I was teld that 700 students showed up for supper on Tuesday night after registration. That's the largest supper group in the cafeteria in along time. All these things make for a good student body and a good school year

Along a different line, how do ye see Southern with other colleges in Southern is the first college to hold registration. Our registration is two or three weeks earlier than the other colleges, so we're the first to start and we're also the first to have graduation. As I have talked with the others, they are experiencing situ ation similar to ours although they haven't had registration yet. We went into registration with about 28D more applications (an we had last year and we were anticipating an increase, However, students often apply to more than one college—sometimes three or four more-to see which college offers the best scholarships and the best financial aid packages That directs them, so we always know we have more applications that actual students coming. Most of the other colleges are reporting that they have more applications than they did a year ago, and they're anticipating some modest increases as well. As Or. Barrows, who heads the Admissions program, says, you always consume a couple fistfuls of Rolaids during those days because you just never know how it's going to turn out. We're really pleased and think that it's a positive program

How is Southern itself doing financially or is it really too early to tell?

In looking at the financial state ments, which all college business managers and presidents share from month to month and year to year, we can get an idea of what's happening at La Sierra, PUC, or the other schools. We had a good year last year. We had an increase in enrollment and we kept our budget as tight as we could, so the school showed a small net gain. However, we have some debts to pay. When they built the dorms back in the late 70s and Brock Hall in the early 80s, they took mortgages on them and so we have a 2.5 million dollar debt. A sızable por tion of our net gain that we get from year to year holes to liquidate those doubts. The other codiges around the circles have berrowed more heavy than we have, some significantly. In that regard, we find consistency in terms of financial stability. Our student body cares a smaller debt load than some other codinges. I understand that Union College has a debt load twee the size of ours, and they have about 500-500 students to carry that. Othously, they have a tought them sould, they have about 500-500 students to carry that. Othously, they have a tought them sould, they have a tought the size of oursy, and they are to supply the size of the size of oursy, and they are to supply the size of the si ancing a hudget because of smaller income and greater debts. However when I look at Southwestern's financial statements, they haven't built buildings like we have. Financially, they're quite stable as well, though they have a much smaller program and a much smaller school. We at Southern feel very comfortable in that we have a good enrollment, and our debt load is moderate and we're able to manage well with the finances we hous We're able to maintain the lowest tuition, room and board pack age in the denominational system. and I think that we offer the most for the educational dollar on this cam pus than you're going to get any

What is the most satisfying part of your lob as president?

I think that the best thing about being president at Southern Col lege is that I think it's the hest college in the system. It's nice to feel that you have a nice place to be and a good campus to work with. The most exciting thing for me is always the first week of school, seeing the new students coming and the other students returning, and getting things wound up and ready to go. I really enjoy the first few weeks of school. After that, it gets really busy and have committees and meetings to attend, both on and off campus and things really speed up, but the first few weeks are really exciting. Like graduation, too, because it's wonderful to see kids who have worked hard and studied hard fin ish up and succeed. The first week and the last week are always the heat. The middle weeks go by at a speed you don't even like to calcu late it does go by in a sort of blur. What do you think is Southern's greatest strength?

I think Southern's greatest strength is its students. have a great faculty, but if we didn't have the students, we wouldn't have the faculty. Three years ago, when I cam here, we were down to 1,100 students and we had to let some faculty gosome very good faculty. If the students are satisfied and happy and the enrollment numbers are increasing, you can build programs and add faculty and you build the strength. The assets of nay college aren't the buildings or the campuses but really in the students and the faculty. These are the things we've got going for us. and we have a great student body and a great faculty.

On the other hand, what do you see as Southem's greatest weak-

Ithink our greatest weakness is the fact that we sometimes by to be too much. A college trying to accommodate 1,550 students can sometimes by to do too much. To have 31 or 32 different majors and degrees to satisfy everybody is a real struggle. Compared to our neighbor. Lee College.

the Church of God college, we have about the same enrollment but they only offer 20 majors. Instead of having 130 faculty as we do, they teach those 20 majors with only 75. That gives them more financial stabil ity. Our weakness is that we try to stretch ourselves so thin trying to accomplish so much with what we've got and that kind of puts us in a stretch all the time. We talk up enroll ment and solid budget but we always have it stretched out like a rubber band, barely covering its necessities. It's a glus for the students because we try to do as much as we possibly can, but in some respects, it's not be

It's something for us to work on and improve, then.

Right, but if you cut majors, you're not really giving the students what they want.

That's true. Now, you were a missionary in Singapore for some time. We as Adventists always consider the world our mission field. How do you see Southern as a "mission field"?

The whole world is a mission field in terms of the Christian perspective Sin is sin, and that's what "mission is all about. It's providing man with a way out of the predicament that he's in It doesn't matter if you're in Singapore or Bangkok or China or South ern College. The thing that's different is the standard of living, the cultural environment that you find yourself in However, there's as much need to do good and to help others right here at Southern College as there is in Africa. There are as many people in need here. There are students who come here whose backgrounds, homes and lifestyles are in as serious a situation as you will find anywhere else in the world. They have plenty of clothes and they're not starving. The problems are different, but the need s still there. It's an inside need, the human need. It really doesn't make that big a difference. The difference is the cultural environment you find yourself in, but the mission is the same. That is to teach young people whether they're Singaporians of That's or whoever, what it means to be an Adventist, what it means to be a child of God and what the plan of salvation can mean in their own lives and in their own careers. It's teaching them how to combine their Christianity with their professions and make a contribution to society That's the mission, and it's the same wherever you go.

Right now, many Adventist feel that the youth of the church are in trouble. From what you've seen on this campus, how do you view that the controls?

I wouldn't say that the youth of this church are in trouble, but I think that the Adventis Church is facing some problems and looking at some statistics that it hear't dealt with before. The use of drugs and alcohol is becoming a significant problem in the church. A recent survey from the Andrews University Health and Nutrition Department shows that perhaps as much as 20-25% of the Adventist church is using alcohol to some ex tent. That's a problem for the church If that percentage of the church is using alcohol to some extent, when it's a long standing principle that we don't use it, obviously a percentage of those families are sending their young people here. So we have a group of young people on campus who at one time or another or pres ently have or are using alcohol to some extent. And the same thing applies with the drug situation. Out church is facing the reality of that problem. How do we deal with that in our Adventist culture and our Advent ist society when we have a health principle that says we abstain? How do we deal with people who are caught with the problem? Sending them away from school doesn't solve the problem, it just puts it elsewhere However, we do have to discipline and we do have to deal with it. It's a struggle knowing how to handle the problem. We have an alcohol and drug policy here on campus which I think treats the students fairly and also gives a measure of protection to the campus as the church views it This is not a rehabilitation center. It is an Adventist college to teach what the Adventist lifestyle is and how it should be lived in all aspects: spin tual, social, health, professional, and so on. We don't have the facilities to cope with rehabilitation. If someone has a real problem, we try to help them get the assistance they need It's probably not the best solution to the problem, but it's the best solution we can find in dealing with what we It's a financial situation have Should we provide rehabilitation? Who's going to pay the bill? It's not part of the educational process Should every student be required to pay more money so we can hire professional drug counselors? My thinking to that is no, we shouldn't. The student who is not caught up in that problem should not have to pay to solve it. If we hire counselors, they become our expense and they've got to be paid with part of the budget. We focus on teaching, and the rehabilitation is going to have to be done compubara else

In closing, is there anything else you would like to say?

I think that we have just had a very good summer in terms of recruiting and enrollment. A number of faculty and administrators were involved. nyself included, going door-to-door. visiting families and recruiting. More applications came in than we anticipated. We have a good student body arrive on campus and the numbers all look good. The faculty had a good colloquium and some inspirational meetings. We recognized some faculty for their achievements. We've had a good time and we're off to a great start! I'm looking forward to a very, very good school year. There's an upbeat attitude amongst the fac ulty, and there's a good spiret that I sense among the students. happy to be here and hope everyone else is as well.

Photo By Ben Keppler

Two out for the price of one?

Unusual hase running stratagies are exhited during recent girls softhall game

Ben Keppler, sports editor, lists his predictions for the outcome of some major sporting events:

All-Night Softball tournament:

1 Machado

2 Plank 3 Chism

Dark Horse Anyone else

Superbowl: AFC NFC

- Buffalo
- 2. Houston 2. Los Angeles 3 Chicago 3 Cincinato

College Foothall National Championship:

- Notre Dame
- 2. Michigan
- 3. Aubum

Dark Horse Miami

Softball facilities improved

By Steve Watson

If anyone has been down to the softball fields lately, he has probably noticed the large gray building centered at the front of the two fields. Those students who were here last year may remember that broken down shed that we called our equipment room, and will realize this new building is a very big improvement. The old shed was hardly big enough for our equipment. The new building now holds a riding lawr mower, sports equipment, a concession stand and restrooms. That's right! No longer will people have to run to the V M. at a crucial point in the game to use the restroom. The concession stand will be open during most games and will provide soda, candy bars, and chips for hungry players and speciators. The building war donated by Byron DeFoor of DeFoor Developments, with the primary goal of icing the Little League Baseball program and the college intramural program. This new building will prove to be a great asset to the playing fields

This year the All-Night Softball Tournament will feature new electronic scoreboards. These new scoreboards, donated by Coca-Cola of Chattanooga, have been positioned at the meeting point of the two fields So, when one wants to know the score, all he has to do is look out to right or left field (depending on which game he is watching), and get all of the information he needs

For the home-run hitters, there are new distance markers on each field. These larger and brighter signs will enable one to discover just how far he can really hit. New and improved signs have also been added to the backstops,

Another improvement is also planned An 80 foot fence will be installed along the tree line to reduce the number of lost balland associated game delays caused by powerful home-run hotters like Dean Qual-

SPORTS BRIEFS

VOLLEYBALL.

If you like to play volleyball, a net will be up every evening in the gym If one is not up, just ask one of the P.E. teachers (Steve Jaecks, Phil Graver, and Ted Evans) and they will be glad to provide one. Come on out and play!

P.E. CENTER ACTIVITIES

The schedule for P.E. Center activities is up in the gym. Drop by and have a look or call the gym to find out what is going on New this year are badminton and pingpone Monday's and Wednes day's from 8:00 pm to 10.00

SOFTBALL PARTICIPA-

Participation in the intramural softball leagues is up considerably from last year. This year 15 men's teams and 7 women's teams are competing. This is up from 12 and 4 respectively last year. "I'm really pleased with the participation level this year," said Steve Jaecks, intramural director. He continued by saving, "We've gotten off to a good start and it poks like we will have a very competitive All-Night softball tournament."

As the Softball season is just getung underway, there are no standings to report as yet. However, our photogrphers have captured some of the early action on film

Audition applications for the Destiny Drama Company are now available at the Thatcher Hall reception desk, the Talge Hall front desk, the student Center, and the Chaplain's Office

All Southern College students with an interest in creative Christian theatrics are invited to fill out an application, turn it in to the Chaplain's Office, and prepare for the auditions which will be held September 14, 15 and 17 in Lynn Wood Auditori

Audition appointments can be made, after completing the application, by visiting or calling the Chaplain's Office, 238-2787

The Destiny Drama Company is a Southern College's Christian drama troupe which performs for high schools, youth rallies, and colleges throughout the Southeastern United States. They strive to portray the power, pertinence, and personality of Jesus Christ and His gospel

For more information regarding the Destiny Drama Company, call the CARE office, 238-2724, or Allan Martin, Student Director, 238-3033.

C.A.B.L Corner

Camping Club Biking Club Ski Chit Weight-Lifting Club Swimming Club Scuba Club Southern Spelunkers uthlon Club CABL Support Gran

Blood Assurance

Keith Nelson, Kyle Selby Bobby Young Track and Running Club Jeremy Petrit, Angela Dobias Matt Kroeger

Chris Villani, Reggie Horton Ruth Gifford, Angela Dobias Danny LaFare, Sandy Roitz Stan Dobias, Brian Bergberm Chris Mitchel, Bob Benge Richard Moody, Tim Prusia. Need Help!

C.A.B.I. Feet A new Gallop poll found that 32% of adult know their holesterol level-up from 17% a year ago.

Coming up: Triathalon Sept.24

CARE 1989-90: Setting our sights on the Savior

This is what Southern College is all

September 7-10 will bring the chance for everyone to get involved in an activity that will draw him closer to God, and others, as well as promoting physical fun and fitness There will be something for every-

This year, S.C.'s theme is "Setting Our Sights on the Savior." Com mittment Weekend will introduce this new theme

Thursday, September 7, will begin Committment Weekend, sponsored by CARE (Collegiate Adventists Reaching Everyone). Ted Wick will be the speaker for chapel, Friday night vespers, and the chruch service Sabbath morning (7:30) students will meet in front of the Student Center and hike through the woods, returning in time for Sabbath School in the sym CARE will prosent its programs during Sabbath School and give students the chance to sign-up. Sabbath afternoon activities will include Sunshine Bands at 2:30 and at 6:00 p m and a lawn concert in front of Summerour Hall

For those who enjoy a big Sunday noming breakfast, or just socializing, there will be a Pancake Breakfast in Student Park from 9 00-11 00 a m.

Southern College is not the only parneinant in Committment Weekend Sabbath, September 9, is a Union-wide Prayer Day. Through the coordination of CARE, Sabbath Schools throughout the Southern Union will join in this special day, praying for the continuing sountual growth at SC. This will be a time for constituents to focus on Christ.

Septmember 9, Prayer Day, is the most important part of Committment Weekend. In order to "set our sights on the Savior," God must be placed number One and through prayer SC will ask the Holy Spirit to guide. From sunset to sunset, someone will pray every hour Students can sign-up to participate in this activity (more information will be Committment Weekend is only one of the many programs sponsored by CARE. There are three main divisions Campus Ministries, C A B L (Collegiate Adventists for Better Living), and C.M C. (Collegiate Missions Club).

Ed Santana is in charge of Campu-Ministries an organization with more than 35 programs A few of these include Adopt a Grandparent, Bible Marking and Study Programs, Big. Brother/Big Sister, Clown Ministry,

Destiny, Soup Kitchens, and Story Hour. Three programs developed for this year are Morning Group Worship, Project encoat, and Silverdale GED

C A B.L., headed by Stan Dobias, will encourage students to live better lives They will sponsor many athletic clubs such as camping, caving, scuba, and running It will also be involved with Blood Assurance and Drug Awareness

Students interseted in the Student Missionary program will want to contact C M C 's leader Kyle Robinson, C.M.C.'s activities will include a retreat and a Spring Break mission trip to Hon

CARE has organized its 1989-90 program to fit the personal interest of each student at SC. There is something for everyone and Committment Weekend will be the time to become involved with what SC is all about

S.A. soars into a new year with annual mixer

By Earl Gensolin

On the night of September 2, a different kind of party, the SA Mixer was held. It was a chance for all students to mix and

In accordance with the high flying theme of the party, the mixer were given a plastic bag donated by a major airline, and a Little Debbie as they entered the gym via a simulated runway.

The first portion of the evening's entertainment was short, but well planned slide presentation. The humorous narration and the upbeat soundtrack helped set the mood for the evening

Then came the mixing. Each person received a sheet of paper which listed different characteristics. They were encouraged to find people with characteristics matching those on the list. There was mass chaos as everyone rushed to find people with holes in their socks, colored contact lenses, and bad breath While everyone collected new friends, some collected wonderful prizes as well. Next on the agenda was the raffle. About half of the ticket numbers called didn't have a matching ticket, so it was one of the slower moments, but the pent up energy soon

Waiting for the balloons to fall

d release during the balloon drop.

As the money-filled balloons came down, the confusion was unbehevable It could have been a slam-dancing scene in a punk rock concert, or a soccer parne in England. But in reality, it was just a bunch of college students crushing each other, trying to get enough money to do their first (and well overdue) load of laundry

As the confusion died down and a mblance of order was restored, the Mixers were directed to the field, were an attempted aerial candy bombardment awarted Afterwards, refreshments were served Students, teachers and insects congregated around the food-laden and talked with old and new friends

The Grand Finale of the night was a fireworks display set to patriotic marches and songs Flashes of red, white, green and the occasional blue, illuminated the night sky. It was an exciting chmax to the evening. other, it was a pretty good night. Some came a way with new friends, others came away with laundry money, but everyone left with good memories.

Viewpoints

Why did you choose Southern College over all the other Adventist Colleges

Southern lifestyle editor Angel Echemendia asked collegians this question.

Geoff Blomeley SO Accounting Columbus, NC It is closer to home, cheaper than the other Adventist Colleges, and they offered me a good

Blomelev

Scott Christen
JR Religion-Business
Wilson, NC
1 transferred here from Union College because Southern was bigger and closer to home Once here,

Union College because Southern was bigger and closer to home Once here,
I found Southern a better college all around

Christen

Tammy Gray
FR Nursing
St Petersburg, FL
"Because I feel like it will help me develop my relationship with Gog and cause I had to be with

Gray

e

Tyner

scholarship

Erin Tyner
JR Religion
Martinsbur, WV
"Time for a change I had lot's of friends at 5c who said they loved it here."

de la Pena

Maricel de la Pena FR Nursing Yonkers, NY 'Because SC has one of the best nursing programs and I like the campus, the people, and the teachers

Yvette Norcott
JR English
Laurel, MD
"It's a beutiful campus and I'm excited about meeting new people"

Norcott

Calander

Upcaming Events:

September 8-10 Callege Cammitment Weekend

September 9 Humanities Film, "Chariats of Fire" Named Best Film of 1981 8:30 p.m. Lynn Wood Hall

September 9-10 Sequaya Caverns Arts & Crafts Festival
Trentan, Georgia 10-6 Dally
Featuring Crafts, Food and Music

September 13 Care Day

September 16 Film "A Cry in th

8:30 p.m. P.E. Center

September 20 SA Pep Day Pramating a Sharper Image Guys: Wear a Tie Girls: Dress Up

Any Day: Paint Park, Laakout Mountain Bring change far the Parking Meters.

Chattanooga Audubon Society

Auduban Acres/Elise Chapin Sanctuary Hiking, Indian Cabins, Suspened Bridge Admirston: 50 conts

Bridge Admission: 50 cents Call 892-1499 far details.

Hair Designers

thinks

S.C. Students are Special

Student Discount Day is Wednesdays

Guy's Cut-Reg $8:00-$5:00 Girl's Cut- Reg $10:00-$7:00

> Wednesdays Only 396-2600 College Plaza

College Rep Wanted to distribute "Student R$ate" Subscription cards at this campus. Good income. For more information and application write to COLLIGIATE MARKETING SERVICES,303 W.
Center Ave. Morseville, NC 281115
707/663-0963

Earn money $$$$ Sell Ads for the Accent. Call Ext.2721 or see us personally for more details.

Volume 45, Number 1

September 21, 1989

Speeding expensive in more ways than one

By Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

On the opposite side of the road, a deep blue 1985 Honda Prelude lay in the gutter. As it had swung out of control, the car rolled and with a brief hesitation, rested on its roof. When all was silent, the driver unleashed himself from his seatbelt. With enormous effort he pulled himself out of the car through the open of and passed out

This is the story which Jason Rivera, a freshman at Southern College, will tell you. He will tell you that the loose gravel on the side of the road was partly responsible for his accident. But, he will also tell you that he was speeding as he turned the curve that day

Rivera, is probably only one of the many who speed on the rural roads of Collegedale every day Every beensed driver has read or heard about the dangers of speeding. But how do drivers act on the information they recieve? Authorities have posted speed limits to remind them. Yet, even with the clearly posted speed limits on both rural roads and major highways, speeding remains a problem

Statistics tell us that speeding is the biggest factor in fatal accidents throughout Tennessee. Other research shows that your chances of being involved in an accident are much greater when your speed exceeds the posted speed limit; however, few heed these warn-

As a result of Rivera's accident, he spent the night in hospital with five stitches in his head, a broken wrist, and multiple scrapes He also faced court, a $40 fine for reckless driving and $41 in court costs

Martha Casler from the City Hall said speeders in the Collegedale area are watched carefully, and the penalities are "strictly enforced"

Author, Henry Gregor Felson said, "When you understand and respect the limitations of a situation that has no visible or legal limit, you can regard yourself as a good driver in every sense of the word. For then you will keep all the public and private faiths that are placed in you when you get behind the wheel" It is then that we become safe drivers. Are you one?

VOTE! STUDENT SENATE ELECTIONS TODAY!

By Andrea Nicholson

Mixing, mingling, and a lot of talking about Southern College politics was the scene in Room 336 of Brock Hall, Monday night, September 11, where the student association hosted a mixer for those interested in running for student senate positions.

Tim Kroll, S.A. executive vice president, brought the meeting to order shortly after 8:30 p.m., and gave some background on the role of the senate. He mentioned that students haven't been informed about the senate in former years. "This is due to lack of interet and lack of communication," says Kroll

"The senate was not used to its potential in the past. I have big burden to make it succeed," Kroll told those present. "Here at SC, the voice of students needs to be heard," he said

The senate was not used to its full potential in the past, I have a burden to make it succeed."

K.R. Davis followed Kroll's remarks with an overview of the senate's responsibilities, and urged potential candidates to keep in mind that being a senator requires a lot of time and commitment. Senators are expected to make frequent contact with their consitu ents and be open to concerns and suggestions. The senate meetings, which all senators are required to attend, will be held twice a month

Next, Carlos Romero, who served on the student senate last school year, expressed his desire to see this year's senate function as a team. "I invite all of you to run and see what you can do. The need is out there We have a chance to be more active than in years past," he said. Romero spoke of the senate as "not just a social club, but a functioning body to better the campus and deal with student concerns.

Craig Lastine, S.A. president, spoke next, expressing his pesonal view of the senate. Likening it to a circle of communication between faculty, students, a senators, he said, "Commu success in the senate

"If you don't want to see things happen, and if you don't want to see things change at SC, then don't fill out that petition," Lastine told the students

Kroll closed the meeting by sharing his goals for the senate and reviewing the senate election campaign packet that each prospective senator received called attention to the increase in the number of precinets from 16 to 20 including 2 new village precincts. He explained that each one represents 5% of the total student body

According to Kroll, candidates don't have to reside in the precincts they run for, "But guys, I'm sorry to have to tell you that you can't run for those Thatcher precincts," he said with a grin

The campaign will begin September 15, and elecns are scheduled for today, September 21

Where have all the flowers gone? Carted off by these two SC workers

Thoughts: early Wednesday morning

By John Caskey

"Our lives are what our thoughts make them." - Marcus Aurelius

"I just can't get that song out of my head," said my friend as she dabbled with her homework. "I heard it on the ridge this morning and it's been buzzing around in my brain ever since." Have you ever experienced this phenomenon?

The brain is a marvelously complex organ that controls every aspect of our lives from life sustaining respiration and circulation to flawlessly executing Betchieve concerns and double plays on the softball field. The brain is also a vast biological storehouse of information. It catalogs each moment of our lifetime, and uses this information to choose the best possible course of action in a given

Many of the functions of our brain are beyond our conscious control. It's omenant processes can be disturbed by the most mundane outside influences: chemicals in our food, the weather, the mess in our dorn rooms, the changing seasons. We can consider the secretions of our hypothabranis to voluntarily raise or lower our blood personses. Some of access most one our development of the other control brain development.

The information we provide our brains determines the way we think. The way we think determines the way we live. Keep track of what you put in your vast biological storehouse. You may find that it is easier to put things in than to get them back out.

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor

Laurie Ringer
Cntributing Sports Editor

Editors
Pamela Draper
Sheila Draper
Greg Parkhurst

Ben Keppler

Layout Editor

Circulation

Julie Jacobs

Layout Editor Chris Sepulveda

Photo Editor Sean Terretta

Lifestyle Editor Advisor Angel Echemendia Stan Hobbs

> Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Senthern Access is the official student newspaper for Southern. College of Servini-day Advantates and a relaxed every other Thursday during the school year with the exception of exam weeks and variation. Opinious expressed in the Southern Access are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the officers, Senthern

The Southers Accost velocities your letters which must contain the writer's name, address, and phose manher. Letters will be edited for space and clarity. All letters must have the writer's name and plant mumber for verification, although manes may be wisheded at at subher's request. The collector enter set the right to reject any letter. The subher's request. The collector enter the right to reject any letter, The subher's request. The collector enter the first produce and none. Place there is not be door of the observed from the Southest Center or main to: Southern College, Southern Accost, P.O.B. 30, Collegedals, 17 3315. (615) 338-2712. Bits and Pieces

An Open Letter to the Phillip Morris Tobacco Company

Just wanted to drop you a line expressing my thanks for the special offer I received from you in the mail. Well, to be honest, it was addressed to my mother, but she is unable to respond so I took the liberty of responding for her I'm sure you understand

I expect people will certainly be exerted by this new cigarette product you've developed. After all, what could be more enjoyable than a cigarette that produces much less smoke than the average cigarette? Truly, this innovation will shake the lobacco world.

I am sorry to tell you, however, that my mother will not be taking you up on your offer of a free sample of this new cigarette. She has given up the eajoyable pastume of smoking, and I don't think she's going to be interested in taking the habit up again in the near future.

By the way, I'd like to congratulate you on the fine magazine you send to my mailblox every month or so. It is truly heartening to know that there is a company out there which cares about its customers enough to stay in tooch with them Your magazine keeps me informed of all that's going on in the nation affecting smokers (and former smokers, like my mom).

For example, it was encouraging to read how, as a tobacco company, you are standing up for the rights of smokers. I really can't understand how some of those left-wing liberals in Congress could accuse a company of your magnanismy of being self-serving. I'm convinced that the fact that you produce tobacco products is totally unrelated to your efforts on behalf of the

I'd like to pass along best wishes from my mother, but I can't. She's dead. She died last December, just before Christmas.

You'll be pleased to know, I'm sure, that up until a month or so before her death she was a loyal customer. Forty years and who knows how many cigarettes.

I didn't mean to brag. I just thought you'd like to honor her or something, maybe put a plaque with her name on it in your Smokers Hall of Fame.

"Lois Jean Denton," that's how her name is written, if you are interested. That's how it's written on her death dertificate, too, along with the cause of death; lung cancer.

If you decide not to give her a plaque, that's all right. I understand But, if I could, I'd like to ask one favor. Please stop sending me your magazine—I don't smoke, and mom doesn't read, not

Letters To The Editor

Congratulations

September 11, 1989

I want to congratulate you on your recent edition of the "Southern Accent." It it truly one of the most positive editions of the "Accent" that have come up in my time here a Southern College. Therefore, I much I appreciate the positive upbeat that rings from the paper. I do not say this just because you featured me in the center spread, but the entire edition was filled with positive articles and comments about a great beginning of the school

want to let you know how year, and I want to say to each of you, thanks for being a part of the positive spirit here at Southem College.

e Sincerely yours,

Donald R. Sahly

Consistency Needed

Southern College has certain rules by which every student must abide, however, some-tunes these rules are only partially enforced. A student came study enforced. A student came of shorts, and the teacher run-redustely reminded her of the no shorts to class rule. That same student has come to class many times wearing a mini skirt, yet the teacher failed to bring her attention to the rule against minis.

The student handbook probably does not say anything about caffeine. The cafeteria does not serve Coca Cola because of the caffeine it contains, but it serves chocolate piec, chocolate cake, and other caffeine containing substances. The Village Market does not self Coca Cola either, probably sharing the caffein's reason. Interestingly medication, which contains caffeine equivalent to the amount in two cups of coffee.

I do not propose an amendment to the dress code which would allow students to wear minis and shorts, and I am not encouraging the cafeteris to rid tistelf of all caffeine containing substances. I merely think it is time for the students and faculty to be consistent.

Reggie Horton

rule enough, one can purchase Vivarin, an anti-drowsiness R

25 years ago

Headline: Committee of 100 Breaks Ground for New P.E. Center

39 years ago

Headline: Accreditation Gained For Southern Missionary College

Calvin Hill

Calvin Hill, former first round draft pick of the Dallas Cowboys, will be the speaker at the special 10:30 assembly, October 5, 1989. Hill's degree in history from Yale University is proof of his desire for excellence-his thirteen years of pro football demonstrate his determined drive for success. Hill proved that even an Ivy Leaguer could become Rookse of the Year or win two Superbowls. Now, he has condensed his experiences in football and several offrason careers into a formula-a game nlan-for success

Softball Standings	Teem Machado Monterde
	Hayen Faculty Westbrook Echemendii Chiam Santana Fogg Oay Keppler

Quotable quotes:

Chris Glouderman. "Softball is a very simple game. You throw the ball, catch the ball, and hit the ball. Sometimes the other team just does it better. I think my team has a lot of potential, just not in John Machado: "At first I was kind of leery about my team but, now that we're 5-0, I see that I had nothing to worry about. I feel that we will be very strong in the all-night softball tourna

Softball or ballet?

Sport Briefs

Flagball Sign-ups

Sign-ups for Hawaiian Flagball end Sunday, September 24 at 5:00 p.m. for both Men's and Women's leagues. Try outs for A-League will be held Sunday at 4:00 p.m.

The Southern College Triathlon will be held Sunday, September 24 The start is scheduled for 8 00 a.m. at Cohutta Springs Camp.

All-Night Softball

The All-Night Softball tournament well be held Saturday, September 30. Games Begin at 8.00 p.m. Come out and enjoy

Make Money, Sell Ads For The $ Accent $

C.A.B.L CORNER

CARL Comes

Blood Assurance:

Thank you so much for your support of this very important program! On Wednesday, the Bloodmobile had to turn away people morning and afternoon because of the overwhelming response. 138 students showed up and gave a total of 110 units

Next Blood Drive: November 14, 15.

Coming Events:

Triothion September 24, 8:00 p.m. Cobutta

Running Club meeting September 25, 12:00 in back of Cafeteris

CARE

Covenant Players to Perform and Instruct at Southern College

The Covenant Players on international repetions theatre, will be performing for Thatcher Sahb School, Sabbath, September 23, at 9.45 p.m. The public is welcome to attend this special feature to be held in the Thatcher Hall Chapel The California based group, since its inception in 1963, has performed close to a million times in 65 countries around the world, in 12 languages. With 115 touring units, they have stirred and challenged people to take a closer look at themselves and the practice of their faith The Sabbath School performance, is a special enagement for the covenant Players who are on the Southern College campus for the Destiny Drama Company Intensive Training Weekend, September 22-24 Southern's Christian collegiate drama troups will be recieving instruction throughout the weekend from the covenant Players

For more information regarding the Sabbath School performance of the Covenant Palyers, call the CARE office 238,2724

I'm So GLAD...

By Izear Feagins

GLAD, a contemporary Christian band will be featured in concert at the fles Physical Education Center. Monday, September 25, at 7.00 p.m

GLAD started in 1972 when, in Philadephia, a group of college students auditioned for a new Christia band. Among the hopefuls were Ed Nalle and his brother, Don, and other promising musicians.

Presently, the group consists of five members who have been together for more than fifteen years. Ed Nalle, lead vocalist and percussionist who has a music education and vocal performance degree, Chris Davis, lead guitarist and vocalist who joined in 1982; Tom Beard, keyboardist and vocalist who toured internationally with the Spurriows; John Gates, drummer and vocalist who toured with Gladys Knight and the Pips: and Mark Wilson, bassist and Vocalist who is GLAD's

A music major, Ed Nalle wrote most of GLAD's material and produced most of it's popular albur Don, who has a degree in media, coordinated the goup's media appearances and interviews

After 1976, the group became a success singing and playing at more than two-hundred colleges, festivals. churches, and concert halls around the country.

Myrrh Records released their "GLAD" album in 1978. And in 1988 Benson Records released "The Acapella Project" album.

The group will peform "The Acapella Project" alides songs such as, "A Mighty Forburn, which mela tress," "Be Ye Glad," and many other songs on campus in the P.E. center.

Arthur Gibbs, freshman religion major says,"I ean hardly want to hear their live performance.

Dr. W. Wohlers, Vice-President for Student Services is responsible for GLAD's apcoming perforance at Southern. He said he chose the group because of the quality of music.

Admission as $4 for adults, $10 for families, and $3 for senior citizens and children under 12. SC students are free with ID card.

Student Association News

Campus Chatter has a new format. the front page is a chronological calendar of events, and the ack page contains more information about those events. Messages to be put in the Chatter should include relevant dates and times, and should be deposited in the message box in the student center across from the S.A. office, before 5 p.m on Monday. If you have any suggestions for the Chatter call editor Valerie Brown at 2723.

The Recreation Room is temporarily closed while renovations are under way. The Grand Opening will be soon, at which time the infamous LOVE CONNECTION results will be revealed.

you have messages for the WALLSIDE JOURNAL put them in the box in the student center, and please include the date, or dates, you want them displayed

Have you seen the lounge in the Student Center recently? New tables and chairs have arrived, and it has been redecorated and recarpeted. The renovation of the lounge was an S.A. Senate project last year. Also, a big thanks to Helen Durichek for her hard work in the Student Center

Saturday night, September 23, is the S.A. Seavenger Hunt-Don't miss it!

Assembly on September 28 will be in the P.E. Center at 11:00 It will be a General Assembly of the Student Association of Southern College. A number of S.A. Officers an S.C. Administration will questions from the student body

The Student Association welcomes ideas, q tions, information, and suggestions. Please call the office at 2723 or speak with an officer. YDU can make a difference

Ladies and Gentlemen, it's the Doug Martin Show

By Warren Downs

How do you decide on your sermon

I don't know, things that move me. If I find them interesting or — If I don't think, it's mere-string or I if I don't touch me. I don't think, others will probably find i utteresting I II is not important to me (that isn't saying that what's important to me is important to everybody), but I have to talk about to me is important to everybody), but I have to talk about to me is more and what's important to me or I can't even put any enthusiasm into it.

How do you come up with illustrations to match your theme? A lot of times, most often, I come up with different illustations of things and put them together when I'm praying On a less serious note, I've heard about your Jello trick. Could you describe it?

You have to use the cubes of Jello like they serve in the cafeteria. (It's not my trick. I want you to know that I learned it from Doctor Sahly.) And, you let the Jello just—instead of swallowing—you just put it in the back of your mouth and it just starts to go down by itself you know by the faws of gravity. And then you open your mouth wide and then everyone looks to see why you've open your mouth so wide. You just kind of squeeze your throat together and it pops back up into your mouth and People are very surprised, especially when Dr Sahly does it.

Your main job is recruiting. How many scholls do you usually visit in a year?

Well, there are 1.5 academics in the Southern Unroth that I was for recursing. And then I wis of the recursing and then I wis often than I was for the southern Unrot of the I was for t

What do you do on a recruiting trip? There are two types of recruiting trips. On the one in the fall we go to academies and we visit the junior and senior classes and talk to them about what college is like and try to let them know that college isn't nearly as terrifing as academies kids seem to think it is. We talk to them about finances,

We talk to them about finances, social relationships and classes and some of the basic thing about college like what is a semester hour or what are CLEP tests. All those things-termsand just help them relax when they are thinking about college. And then in the Spring when we go to the academies, we interview every senior and try to help them make a decision for Adventist education and make applications. This fall when we go, we're taking students to help answer questions and help them feel comfortable about college in the Spring we take advisors who can give them some academic information

Do you change your program for different schools?

There are difference just because each school has it's own personality. That's not something that comes down on paper, you just kind of feel the situation once you get there.

How is the SC of today different from the one you attended?

I don't know, it's realty quite similar.

The campus looks the same. There are a few more buildings. They put up the new promenade along the back. Alot of the teachers are the same. Alet of them are new, but they are the same type of people and so I just felt realty at home when I came back here.

Who was your childhood hero? Who inspired you?

I remember when I was in the 5th or 6th grade I went to a youth raily in Minneapolis and there was a minister who spoke. I don't even know who he was but, I remember that he really inspired me. I decided then that I would like to go into the ministry. So, I goess he was my hero even though I don't know who he was

Who is your hero now?
Naturally, the one we all look up to—
Jesus Christ.

Photos by Sean Terrer

Destiny Drama Co.

CONGRATULATIONS

1989-90 Troupe Members

Rochelle Battistone Shannon Born Gary Bradley Sheela Choppala David Denton Donna Denton Arthur Gibbs Tricia Greene Rick Mann Allan Martin Timothy Mohn Craig Moore Greg Phillips Deirdre Rivera Maria Rodriguez

Orientation supper

Friday, September 22 5:00 p.m. Bring your tray to the East End of the Cafeteria

Up to the students again, Video Yearbook 1989-90

By Mark Morton

In 1922, at the administrative council If Southern Junior College, two students, Merwin Thurber and Robert Cowdrick, took their places among the administrators. They had come to present the student body's desire to have a printed year-book

This was not the first time the subject had shown up on the Ad Council's agenda. During the Lynn Wood administration, the proposed annual had been rejected on the grounds that such a project would be "copying the world." Now, with the college under the progressive leadership of the new president, Leo F. Thiel, the sitedness again attempted to make their wishes known.

It is often said that history repeats itself, and if one takes a second look, it is clear that the events of 1989-90 are becoming strikingly similar to the historic 1922-23 school year. Again Ad Council has met to discuss a yearbook idea initiated by students, this time a video yearbook!

As in 1922, this year's administration has been very supportive of the idea. Yet, as in the past, money remains a problem. In 1922, it was voied that the yearhook project not be funded by earhook project not be funded by earhook project not be funded to students. Evelow, Essex Gowdhick was one for those students. "We all patched in our own money, two or three dollars, which was a lot back then. It wasn't covered by the tution or anything."

Now it is up to the students again. The Video Yearbook '90 production budget is solely funded by up-front student sales. Its success is up to us.

My main man from the mainland (China, that is)

By Andrea Nicholson

He sits attentively, his eyes dancing behind thick glasses, and a broad grin dominating his features. He appears eager to share, and even more eager to Meet Zhu Kong Dao, otherwise known as Geoffrey Church. He was born 26 years ago in Wenzhou. Zheijang China, and is now majoring in commu nications at Southern College

Leaving his home just days before unconfirmed numbers of Chinese student protesters were killed by governnent troops in Beijing, Geoffrey arrived in the United States on May 29, 1989 He was assisted by the Eastern Asia Administrative Committee of SDA, the organization that made arrangements for him to attend Southern College on a scholarship Geoffrey taught himself the language by listening to American radio programs, chose an English name from a British textbook (that explains the spelline) and set out with the goal of receiving an Adventist education in radio broadcasting.

Having already earned a degree in physics from a college in his hom

Geoffrey says he had very little choice about what he chose to study. Based on his top scores in physics on the college entrance exam, school authorities ar ranged all Geoffrey's classes for the 3 years it took him to complete his degree

"I had the same every subject I took," he says.

Takine a 15 hour class load and working hours a day keeps Geoffrey busy this se mester. "Most of the time I have to study hard," he says

But when time permits listening to the racho ming, and volleyphotography, swin ball are some of Geoffrey's favorite

How does Southern compare with each born well before the Chinese gov-

college in China? Geoffrey says he enjoys being able to choose the classes he wants to take "In China, the school authorities decide what you will study and when," he adds. He's also intrigued by the installation of air conditioners in every room, a luxury to him. "Maybe only the professor's room has an air conditioner in the college 1 went to in China," he explains. He adds that SC has more equipment (comput-ers and lab facilities) than rooms provide

"This is a mee place for me People here are special. I've met lots of people who are kind and helpful," he says. Geoffrey has 2 brothers and 3 sisters, ernment initiated the "Family Plan", a policy limiting each family to one child. He adds that in China, family units remain intact longer than in the U.S. "In your country, many childen leave home once they turn 18 or 19 years old. In China, most children live at home until they are married," he explains. The main reason, he says, is lack of adequate housing. Due to expense and distance Geoffrey will not be able to return home to visu his family while he is in the states attending school. And because many homes in China, have no telephone, he relies on mail to keep in touch. "Every once in a while I will call my neighbor and tell him to go get my parents. Then I hang up immediately and call back in a few minutes to talk with them," he

Radio being his primary interest, Geoffrey will return to China after completing his education and hopes to work for Adventist World Radio Asia Presently, he says no one from mainland China works for AWR, but he's quick to out the change that's taken place in China in the last 10 years "I believe everything will change even more. I don't worry about it now," he says

South Seas exhibit sails into Southern

By Suzanne Lettrick

Kim Fuqua, a senior art and journalism major, wants to share something with Southern College. But she can't take the entire school to the Marshall Islands, Truk Island, Pohnner, or Yan to see the Micronesian handicrafts that the natives have made

But next week (exact date not vet set). she is going to bring these things to Southern College for the first Microneeuro handicraft exhibit to be shown in the gallery, on the second floor in Brock hibit, was a student missionary to Truk Island in 1987. She said she received pemission from Robert Garren, Chairman of the Art Department, to hold the exhibit in the gallery last year, but there was not time. This year is different

As a missionary, Fuqua taught eighth grade classes. She said the students were highly talented and creative. "The reason I'm having this exhibit is because I think the natives are very artistic, and I want people to see for thembaskets and wall decorations, beaded necklaces, a grass skirt, a story board made by natives in jail, carved fish, masks of men, etc.

Fuqua said that the handicrafts were onated by nine student missionaries, including herself, who have visited these places within the past two years. "The natives' source of income is in setling the crafts that they have made Things that would cost $50-$100 in America cost $12-$15 on the islands. Generally, she continued, the men do ing. Most of the exhibits took about two days to make, not counting the time the reeds have to be soaked to prepare them

Fuqua ended by saying that if enough students express a wish to buy items made by the natives of the islands, she may be able to have handmade crafts sent to Southern College for those people

After the exhibit, which will last about a month, the crafts will be returned to the

WSMC brings 'Good Music' to town

By Laura Harner

WSMC FM. Chananooga's classical radio station, will bring internationally known radio broadcast host, Karl Haas, to Chattanooga On October 15, the pranist conductor, will appear for the first time in Chat tanooga at the Choo-Choo Imperial Ballroom for a dunner concert. The Chattanooga symphony, including 60 musicians, will perform under the direction of Hose Haps has hosted the daily radio broadcast, Adventures in Good Music, for the past 26 years. It is the nation's most listened-to classical music program Adventures is presented daily over 175 stations in the U.S. and over 650 stations world-wide.

Adventures In Good Music may be heard weekdays on FM 90.5 at 11:00 a.m. and again at 7:00 p.m.

Born in Germany, Haas arrived in the U.S. in 1936, and has since become the recipient of eight honorary doctorate degrees in music, fine arts, and the anities; and has been honored twice with the George Foster Peabody Award for excellence in broadcasting In January 1989, Jann Gentry, development director for WSMC, began Gentry. According to Don Andrews, organizing the scheduled budget and advertising campaign for the event.

Including the appearance, as well as all other aspects in completing the total operation for the evening, it will cost native repertoire will include works of Beethoven, L'Arie, Mozart, Copland, and Wagner

Tickets can be puchased for $50.00 by WSMC approximately $22,600," says contacting WSMC FM. For reserva-

Germans invade Collegedale

By Julie Jacobs

The Chamber Choir of the Hochschule fur Musik und Theater Hanover will perform on Friday, September 22 at 8 pm in the Collegedate Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The Choir, under the direction of Professor Heinz Henning, comes to us from Hanover, Germany. The 44member choir is composed of students who show a special interest in both the "Church Music" and "School Music" choir allows these music students to experience various techniques and problems they will encounter and problems in their own futures as choral direc-

The choir will perform several Bach motets, a psalm (137) by Kurt Thomas, as well as compositions of Brahms and Mendelssohn According to the Westfalen-Blatt newspaper of Germany, the Chamber Choir is "distinguished by astomshing suppleness and agility..." The Weser-Kurter newspaper claims that the Hanover Chamber Choir meets "even the most exacting dema

Heinz Henning, the director, visited Southern College when he toured with the Hanover Boys' Choir two years ago. In addition to being Professor of Choir Conducting, Henning is also vice-president at the Hochschule

The Hanover Chamber Choir will also peform for the church service on Sab bath, September 23.

Check out Southern's various campus clubs

By Randal Gilliam

Campus Clubs are among the extracurricular activities available at Southern College.

In the Biology department there are three interrelated organizations. To Beta Kappa Phi, The Biology Club, and The Pre-med Club. According to the club sponsor. Dr. Marcia Woolsey, Tri Beta is an honors society for biology and other closely related majors. She listed the club's two main functions as, a social club providing an opportunity for fellowship, and an organization responsible for providing its members with current information relevant to the field of biology. Tn Beta is an international organization. The club officers of Tri Beta are: President, Kevin Toppenberg, Vice-president, Andrea Achenbach, Secreatry Stefanse Servoss, Treasurer, Shenie Burk, and Histo man, Eileen Lopez. The Biology Club is a separate organization, although, according to club president, Jeff Vian, both clubs coordinate many of their activiues. Among the activities he mentioned were campouts, and meetings with guest speakers lecturing on topics in biology. Jeff is also a member of the newly formed Pre-med Club. He said that the primary function of the club was to provide an opportunity for its members to be exposed to the medical profession. He said a possible activity could be witnessing a surgery. Other Biology Club officers are. Vice-president, Daryll Wilkins, Pastor, Matt Jones, and Secretary/ Treasurer, Millie White. The Biology club will have its first outing September 22 through 24 at Abrams

The theme of the Student Ministerial Association according to club president Steve Durkac, is "developReligion Majors and Minors. Steve stated that the primary goal of the club "is to develop the attitude and skills necessary for spiritual leadership which would be a combination of both natural, and spiritual, abilities." Club activities include social functions such as dinners and potlucks. Practical functions, include prayer emphasis weeks, "power hour", a devotional meeting held at 7:00 a.m every Wednesday morning. and leadership opportunities like club sponsored literature evangelism. During the club's first officers' meeting. Steve said, "In this club we are going to be making sacrifices...if we are going to be spintual leaders, then we need to be spiritual followers." Other Club officers are: Vice-president, Jerry Rimer, Secretary, John Turk, Music, Bob Cundiff, and Public Relations, Evan Valencia and Terry Lynch

James Robertson, president of the Southern Mathematical Society, says that the only membership requirement for membership to his club is an interest in math.

He states the primary purpose of the club is "showing people that math can be interesting". "Most people signath? "I'd rather eat my boxccoli." The Society spensors a lecture each month by either a professor from this campus on by a touring speaker. Other club officers are: Vice-president, Sabrina Robbins, Secretary/Treasurer, Scott Pucket.

A club for communications majors is being introduced his senenter. The club's objective is a charter membrahap with the Society of Professional Journalists. According to the Sponsor, Dr. Juns Sauls, "the club is going to focus on the mutual interests and concerns of broadest journalists, copporate communeum opecialists, and print journalists. We are proposed on the club of the control of the conzunous." Proposed othe better with the Control of the Procedom of Information Act.

Coming Soon...

Joker '89

The Southern Memories announces the fourth annual Gallery Contest. The Gallery was established to display student talent in the area of photography. This year, we are expanding the Gallery to include student works of art. This contest is open to all Southern College students.

Photography Division

Photographs must be submitted approximately 3.5"x 4.75". All enteries must be previously unpublished. Because the yearbook is designed by, for and about Southern College, we request that all photos be taken within a 50 mile radius of Southern College. Catagories for submissions include College Life, Still Life, & Natural Life. Photographers may submit up to 6 photographs lotal, with no more than 2 per category.

Art Division

Any painting or drawing may be submitted regardless of size and colors used, however, all works will be printed in black & white. All works must be previously unpublished

All enteries must be delivered to the southern Memories Office by November 1 at 12:00 noon.

By submitting an entry in the Southern Memorles Gallery, the enterant releases his/her work for raproduction in the 1989-90 Southern Memorles.

The editor and/or the judging board reserve(s) the right to disqualify any entry.

All entries must be submitted with a label on the back slaling the Illie, enterant's name, address and phone number. Photographers must include the place the photo was taken and the category which you wish the entry to be judged under.

Cash prizes will be awarded. $25. to each first place winner, $15 to each second place winner, and $10 to each third place winner.

In years past, the Southern Memories has done profiles on students and faculty, as a "Who's who" way of getting lo know the people on the campus of Southern College. Our college would not be the same without the diverse assortment of people we work, play and study with on a daily basis. To capture their great diversification, we want you to nominate someone to be featured in the 1898-90 Southern Memories.

To be eligible for nomination to be profiled, the nominee must be a registered student or a full time staff member of Southern College.

Nominations must be submitted by Thursday, October 5 1989

The person making the nomination must complete the following form:

Nominee's name:
in the 1990 Southern Mer	re to see this person featured mories:
Tell us what contribution	is (i.e. offices held) this person has made to Southern Co	ollege:
How would you describe	their personality:
How would you describe	their personality:

Collegedale: improvements on crosswalk

Photo ha Sicas Terreta

Just for the health of it

"For the Health of Ic" is a column featuring health topics and is set up, in an equestron/armore format. Abo with the placed at the front dock in the Student converted where you can submit any health questions you may have. Or, if you prefer, you may ask me, Darliene Airenda, personally I ama registered nume and am prefer from the property finishing up my senior year in the Bichelor of Nursing program. Also, I am one of the nurses employed by S.C.'s Health Service departed nume and am prefer to the nurses employed by S.C.'s Health Service departed nume.

Name of those submitting questions will not be disclosed unless you have burning desire to see your name in print. In this case, you must left me specified, Also, this column is NOT meant to take the place of a visit to Heath Service or to your personal physican for personal medical care. On the contrary, this column is to explain topics like monomicleosis, strep throat, VD, AIDS, colds, exercise, sleeping habits, cancer, and other torosy of interest to your formal physical properties.

So put on your thinking caps and submit your questions. Here are a few to begin

O: Is perput butter low in cholesterol

A: Now, now ...let's remember that cholesterol is found only in animal products. Thus, peannt butter has no cholesterol. However, there is a catch—it is high in fat. But it is a great source of protein and an even greater source of calones—95 per tablespoon. There is approximately 15 tablespoons of peannt butter in each serving given in those little calcteria containers. That's 1425 calonies!

Q. Why is a high fiber diet related to a reduced risk of colon cancer?

A: First of all, for those who are not familiar with what a colon is, it is the large intestine. Certain foods such as red meats, farty foods, and those with large amounts of chemicals, and preservatives, including some artificially blavered and colored, have a "high transit time". This means that these foods remain in the colon for long periods of time before exercises. As other bases damage to the himse of the something the state of the stat

Dash-W. Barrer

Southern College of Severals day Advention—because in the happy valley of Collegetable, Tenengese, south files a prevy size place. Well—safe until you have to venuer annother "and of high wife "analy" to cross the sense, Last year, one prevention to the "land of high wife "analy" to cross the sense, Last year, one prevention to the sense file which the sense of the s

No changes were make until an alarming modernt ocurred. Linds Wilson, a Southern Colleges taudent, was walking to vesperts byte are, when he was hit in the crossweak by an oncoming car. Fortunately, she was not sernously impared, and was able to returned resides after a few days. As news of this accessing was reported to Bill Magoon, the city minared per Collegesdale, he immediately formed a commute for improving the safety of our crossweak. Many considerable changes can be one as a result of his efforts. According to Mr. Magoon, a lattle island was added to the mann walls where Linds was hit. This statut is supposed to he ence visible to the moterists. There are also several agest located in all crosswalks which say. "Stop placement of reflection buttons, and the reprinting of fines have been made. Bill Magoon states that "the primary concern of these changes is to increase the safety of the crosswalk by gening raffic to so gos a the polestimass cross the street.

These are very significant changes, and the traffe has slowed down. There are still a few non-law abiding citazers who refuse to dup at least consecusials. What can be done about this? Dennes Cramer, chief of Collegedale Polece, states "if podestrains are at the crosswalls, and the direct refuse to stop, the podestrain can fill out a complaint at the Police Department to susse a warrant for the driver's areast. The pedestrian must bring with him the tag number of the car, and description of the vehicle and driver. The pedestrian must also show up for the court date."

Bill Magoon urges students to realize that they are not protected by this law if they are outside the crosswalks. Motorists do not have to stop for law-walkers.

Washington & Lee Recruiter on Campus

By Tamara R. Michalenko

Wednesday, September 27, Susan Palmer of Washington & Lee Law School will be no campus to consult any sudents interested an interfining bax school. She will also be guny a preventation and discussing preparations for the LSAT exam—5.15 gm in the cost of the clusters to forther discussions for the LSAT exam—5.19 Washington & Lee, Located in Virginia, is shown for not making the Subbath an sissue for exams. De Ren McArthur, professor in Southern College's shorty department, feel students' would be comfortable' attending the law shool coming from SC.

Scott Green and Greg Willett, graduates from SC are currently enrolled in Washington & Lee.

Dr. McArthur encourages anyone incicrested in law to attend the presentation and to see him about scheduling an apointment. "Susan Palmer is a very engaging, friendly sort of woman, very professional...we should utilize her time" while she is

Journalism scholarship fund increased 25%

By Lee Bennett

The amount that the Francis Andrews Journalism Scholarship fund now stands at five-thousand dollars. Previously, the amount stood at just under $4,000, however, on the right of the Journalism Department's Open House, an anonymous guest gave the department a check for $1,104, bringing the scholarship's fund to exactly $5,000.

This afternoon, a Journalism staff meeting will be held at approximately 2:00 p.m. to discuss the details of the award and the eligibility requirements for recipients. The award will be presented at Southern College's Award chapel on April 26. Lyan Sauls, the Journalism department's current chairman, said that Francis Lyan Sauls, the Journalism and Public Relations in the Advertists school system longer than any other Adventist. Sauls also said that the department's previous chairman, C.A. Oliphant, began to collect funds for the award affer Andrew's retirement.

The award is directed to the print Journalism and Public Relations students, however, any Journalism student can receive it.

VIEWPOINTS

"If someone who you didn't want to go out with asked you out, how would you turn them down?"

"Southern Lifestyles Editor Angel Echemendia ask collegians this question"

Julie Ann Stepens Orlando, Florida Thank you for asking, but no 1 very much in love

Sherry Green Fredrick, Maryland "No I have to realphabatize my refigerator."

bie Hick Orlando, Florida "I'm not that bored and you're not that lucky."

British Columbia Canada Ed love to except Em taking 26 hours of classes and work 19 hours a day

Kenny Zill Florida "The first time I'd be polite and say I had other plans, but if she asked again I'd tell her the truth .

Jackson Mississippe Thanks but I think my tastes are too expensive for yours.

Dallas, Texas "I've got othe plans...for the rest of my life, get the hint'

Rob Wahte

Albany, Orego "No thanks, I only date

Calender

Friday, September 22 Vespers, 8:00pm Hanover Chamber Choir

Saturday, September 23 Church Service: Gordon Bietz S.A. Scavenger Hunt, 8:00pm

Sunday, September 24 Triathlon

Monday, September 25 GLAD Concert, 7:00pm P.E. Center (Double Credit)

Thursday, September 28 Assembly, 11:00 P.E. Center Student Association

Friday, September 29 Vespers, 8:00pm Larry Richardson: "An Evening With James White"

Saturday, September 30 Church Service: Jim Herman Pizza and Movie, 8:00pm Cafeteria All-Night Softball

Thursday, October 5 Assembly, 10:30am, P.E. Center Calvin Hill

Arts and Entertainment

Music -September 28, 8:00pm Chattanooga Symphony Gala Opening and Orchestra Showcase. For more information call 757-5042

DeGarmo & Key will be at the Tivoli September 30 at 7:30pm Tickets are available at LemstoneB Branch, Hamilton Place Mall.

Arts And Exhibitions

Through September 24 "Arts on the Go": An Exhibit of Shopping Bags Hunter Museum of Art. Call 267-0968

Through November 5

Coca-Cola History Exhibit, Chattanooga Regional History Museum. Call 265-

September 17 - October 15 Jewelry: Means and Meanings. Hunter Museum of Art. Call 267-0968

September 10 - October 8 19th and 20th Century American and British Paintings. Hunter Museum of Art Call 267-0968

September 22 - 23 Health Fair, Eastgate Mall. Call 894-0906

Seminars and Special

Events-September 29 - October 1 Young Adult Retreat, Conutta Springs Adventist Center. For more info. call (404) 659-9093.

September 22, 7:30pm Auditions for the Nuteracker will take place anyone interested in a non-dance role show call Bob Willie at 756-4672

#1 Works for #1 WE ARE NOW HIRING

- · Coordinate your school schedule with a convenient work schedule.
- · Work 2.3.4 or 5 days a week.
- · Work as little as 3 hours a day.
- · Work with good people.
- · Free meals.
- · Free Uniforms.
- · Profit Sharing.
- · Stock Purchase
- · Premium Pay for Openers and

We're The Best, If You Are Too, Stop By And Fill Out An Application

1020 Shallowford Rd.

Volume 45 Number 3

October 5, 1989

Campus Rape Prompts Concern

By Tamara Michalenko

She wanted to be alone, so she took a walk. Strolling in front of the apartments near the Conference Center, she thought about the day's events. Suddenly, she bushes. As one hand remained over her eyes and the other held the knife against her throat, a voice demanded that she remove felt the coldness of a knife to her her sweats. She complied, and her throat. A hand covered her face attacker raped her. She was as she was dragged into the lucky-she escaped with cuts on her neck.

No, this isn't a description of the movie of the week. It happened night of September 24, 1989.

Dean Engel confirmed the rumors Tuesday night during worship. She shared with those present that the victim wanted people Cont. on p. 4

Rec Room Opening Draws Crowd

By Andrea Nicholson

Scores of anxious students piled into the student center Thursday night, September 28, to witness the grand opening of the new recreation room and to receive the results of the computerized dating service, "The Love Connection

K.R. Davis did the honors at the ribbon cutting ceremony of the new facility, located at the far end of the student center where the Strawberry Festival headquarters was last year.

Once the doors opened, the fun began. Speakers piped jazz tunes, "GLAD," and "Take 6" melodies throughout the center as students mingled with friends and viewed the new attractions.

Video games lining the rear wall caught the attention of several students, and S.A. officers passed out free quarters to eager players. Paperboy, Tecno Bowl, Pole Position, Ms. Pacman, and Galaxian each had lines of eager players waiting to top the score of the last

Others quickly paired off in teams for games of Ping-pong. pool, air hockey, and foosball. A soda machine, snack machine, and piano completed the furnishings.

Students enjoy newRec Room.

Meanwhile, long lines formed into the student center lounge where the anxious crowd awaited the results of the "Love Connection." Those who played the computerized dating game at registration received a printout of 15 names, along with phone numbers, of individuals who answered the quiz questions similarly. . Bursts of laughter mingled with whispers of, "Do you know any of these people on my list?" were among the reactions observed as students ventured out to meet their matches.

'I'm definitely interested in getting to know my top five," commented Stephanie Rauch, sophemore.

Ed Rooney, a junior, said, "I got a pretty decent hit list."

Asked what he thought about the "Love Connection," Michael Hawkins, a junior, said, "I think Cont. on p.6

Newly Elected Senate Holds First Meeting

The Southern College Student Senate held it's first meeting Setember 27, at 8pm. Senate Chairman Tim Kroll says he is very excitted with the choice of senators this 'It looks like we have some good people," said Kroll. "I feel confident in their abilities ... that they will do a solid job. During the orientation meeting each senator introduced himself and stated what he hoped to accomplish as a senators this year.

Skip Holley, Joker editor reported to the senate that completion of the joker has been delayed due to technical difficulties and other unforseen problems. The joker will be available within the next two weeks. Holley said.

"Our main focus is to improve communication between students, senators and the faculty," Kroll said. "This way we can better reach our goals and accomplish certain projects.

Kroll encourages students to contact their senators regarding any problem or con-

See p. 4 for a list of this year's senators.

Lobby Policy Questioned

By Gene Krishingner

I really don't understand, in fact I'm quite confused. What's the deal with barring women from the men's dorm lobby after 8 pm. and vice versa? It seems ridiculous After all, what's the purpose? Is there some magical time when hormones make visiting in the dorm lobby dangerous? Is there omething which happens in domi lobbies after 8 o'clock that members of the opposite sex shouldn't

I've heard women often come down to their lobby clad only in their robes. What a frightening thought? Do they also have curlers in their hair and green masque smeared over their faces? If this is the case I'd. rather not visit after dark anyway

I have tried to find a legitimate reasoning for this policy. My search has been in vain. It seems quite rude to make someone stand outside and wait in the cold. Why can't they come inside and sit down? Are we afraid that couples will get to close? Instead, those barred from visiting in the lobbies spend time steaming up car windows. And what if I need to come in and drop off a note, or make a phone call Frequently, exceptions are made to the rule, especially in the women's dorm Do not these exceptions invalidate the rule?

The dorm is our hor We should have the right to invite friends in the lobby, male or female, during the hours before night check. If the majority of the students desire to see this policy changed, I see no reason that the powers that be should oppose such

Sports Editor

Ben Keppler

Layout Editor

Daniel Potter

Circulation

Julie Jacobs

Advisor

Bits and Pieces

By David Denton

There are those of you, I'm sure, who will be a bit surprised that I am dealing with the subject of this article. I do not usually write about religious things, not from a lack of interest, but due to the controversial nature of the subject. Therefore, let me offer this disclaimer: This article was suggested by a faculty member (who shall remain nameless), and was suggested last school year. It has taken me nearly a year to decide I wanted to follow up on this teacher's suggestion.

It was pointed out to me (as I said, a year ago) that there is an interesting, and ironic, situation existing on our campus. To be more specific, in the "Garden of Prayer," For those of you unfamiliar with the "Garden of Prayer," it is a lovely spot. filled with trees and grass and benches, as well as squirrels and other assorted objects of nature, such as flowers and the like

There are three points of interest in this garden. The first is a quotation from Ellen White's little book, "Steps to Christ," which is engraved on wood and stands at the back of the garden. Directly opposite this sign is a crosssection of a very old tree, upon which have been laced little markers showing how historical events stand in relation to the age of the tree. It's a very interesting exhibit.

The most interesting part of the garden, from the point-of-view of this article anyway, is the third point of interest, the Ten commandments. Engraved on wood, as the "Steps to Christ" quotation was, the Ten Commandments stand tall in the most beautiful comer of the garden. All the Commandments are there, and, if you look closely, you'll see something else is too. Nailed right smack dab in the middle of the Decalogue is a small,

wooden cross Now, I wonder, Could it be that unintentional though it was, this diminishing of the cross in relation to the Law is an illustration of what is happening in our church today? Those who insist on elevating the Law of God to a higher role than it was intended for are, in essence, acting out that scene in the "Garden of Prayer,"

To the Christian who truly accepts divine grace, it should be, "...the Cross, first, last and always. And BE-CAUSE of the Cross, the Law has meaning." Too often we have fallen into the trap of believing that the Law has the final say as regards our salvation, and not the Cross. If the Law has the final say in my life, then I'm larly as Seventh-day Adventist Christians, we have been at the forefront of those opposed to the false doctrine which holds that the Ten Commandments were nailed to the Cross. Unfortunately, having rescued the Ten Commandments from the Cross. we have been busily nailing the Cross to the Ten Commandments. Somewhere in our little ignorant hearts we have continued to suppose that the Cross, and its salvation, is dependent on the Law and its observance. In truth, it is exactly the other way around. The Law and its TRUE observance, is dependent on the Cross and its salvation.

As Christians, particu-

Perhaps 1 will get letters; others have. Perhaps some will see me as a proponent of "New Theology," or "Fordism" or whatever the term of the day is. But perhaps someone else will stop nailing the Cross to the Law and learn how to serve God as a RESULT of salvation. rather than to OBTAIN salvation. If that happens, I won't be so hesitant to do this the next time.

Southern

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editore

Pamela Draper Sheila Draper Greg Parkhurst

Photo Editor

Sean Terretta Lifestyle Editor

Angel Echemendia Stan Hobbs Word Processing

Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Access is the official student as wepaper for Southern College of Seventh day Adversibles and in relaxed every other Theories Adversibles and in relaxed every other Theories Accessed to the Southern Accessed in the Southern Accessed

Men's Club Plans Cruise

By Suzanne Lettrick

As the boat glides through dark water, stars gleam on the people strolling the deck. The sounds of laughter. mingled conversations, and Dixieland music float through passengers' ears, then are left behind in darkness as the turning paddles urge the Southern Belle onward.

This isn't an episode of the Love Boat. but it is "A good time to show the women that the men of Southern College have class other than third," said Dean Qualley.

This year, on October 15, the men's club reinstates its tenyear tradition of having a Tennessee riverboat cruise (Expenses prohibited this from happening last year).

Those on the cruise will enjoy a Mexican buffet for dinner. Entertainment will "probably consist of Dixie music played by the 'boat people', although most couples will supply their own (entertainment)!" said Dean Qualley. Faculty won't be paying attention.

For this event. both men and women can do the inviting but, Qualley commented, "I think the guys should ask the girls because it is a Mens Club event, and the girls are always complaining that the guys never do the He went on to asking." say that those without dates are not excluded, but chances are that they will feel left out.

Those wishing to go on the cruise, must sign up by October 8 with any of the men's deans. Tickets are $15/single person and $30/couple. The leaves Ross' landing at 6:00, and returns around 9:00 or 9:30. No transportation will be provided. Attire is casual: ieans and a sweater.

Helpful Tips on College Finance

four-year education. Landing financial aid is becoming more of a necessity than an option. Here are some simple tips on how to obtain money for a good educa-

- 1. Contact your college financial aid office for a list of financial ontions. There are also credible companies, like College Financial Planning Service (CFPS), who provide lists of available grants, loans and scholarships for a small fee.
- 2. Analyze your financial situation honestly and apply for as many programs as you are eligible. Fill out the forms accu-
- 3. After selecting a good financial

The cost of college tuition aid package, negotiate improvecontinues to skyrocket. Some of ments with your college financial the nation's top universities are adviser. Also thoroughly investicharging more than $85,000 for a gate alternative means for more support.

College Financial Planning Service has a data base of more than 180,000 listings of scholarships, fellowships, grants and loans. It offers information about donations from corporations, memorials, trusts, foundations, religious groups and other philanthropic organizations.

To enter the program, a student can call 1-800-346-6401 to request a "student data form It must be completed and sent to CFPS with $45 for the research fee. In about two weeks, the student will get a personalized computer printout of financial aid resources that matches his or her background.

Many scholarships are based on academic interests, career plans, family heritage and place of residence. There are also many unique sources such as money for students who have been golf caddies or newspaper

In the words of one financial aid expert, unique opportunities for monetary support do exist, you just have to be creative and resourceful in finding them.

.

Covenant Players Perform at Southern Clollege

By Jo-Anne E. Stevensor

Crash! In what appeared to be an embarrassing fumble, a young man lay on the platform of Thatcher Sabbath School, However, the audience soon realized the accident was only a bit of impressive acting which introduced The Covenant Players to Southern College, and taught them a lesson as well.

Comprised of Donna Oglesby, director, and three other members, the group performed a series of four short plays. Each play prompted the audience to ask themselves, "What does it mean to be a Christian':

Enjoyable though it was, performing at Thatcher Sabhath School was not the main purpose for the group's visit on Southern's campus. Allan Martin, director of the Destiny Drama Company. invited The Covenant players to help instruct for Destiny's first workshop of the year. Over the weekend, Destiny and The Covenant Players spent many hours a day working together as they learned the seven basics in drama ministry. This was Destiny's first time together as a troupe since

Allan Martin

auditions closed

"I've been very happy with what The Covenant Players have been able to do for us " reported Martin.

Based in Oxhard, Los Angeles, The Covenant Players work year-round, traveling worldwide to spread their ministry. They are a nonprofit organization and are not affiliated with any church or other organizations. Their only financial support comes from performing engagements and occasional donations. Any money earned must then pay for all expenses.

Because the players try to keep expenses down, they often are not sure how their next meal will be financed. Yet money does not seem to be a major concern; each member works on a full-time basis for

The Covenant Players enjoyed their stay, in fact, one member was so impressed with the attitudes of the students on campus that he expressed a desire to take some time off to work with Southern College to know what happened. Monday night a suspect was arrested but had to be released due to lack of evidence

Rape Causes concern . .

.Cont. from p. 1

When asked about the Sunday night incident, Dr. Bill Wohlers. Vice-President for Student Services, gave this reminder: "You can never take anything for granted, even in Collegedale."

In a special program on sexual abuse for Thatcher residents, professionals from the community shared their stories and suggestions for getting help. Ironically, the program was scheduled previously. It had no relation to Sunday's events

A film, "Shatter the Silence," was shown, portraying the life of suggestions during this special a girl who was a victim of incest. The film emphasized that there is help available. According to the film, the victim needs to realize that she isn't at fault and shouldn't be embarrassed in discussing what happened. Also, victims should talk to someone, and not give up if the first person they approach doesn't respond to their cries for help. They need to look for someone who will beheve and be willing to help them. Group therapy is also helpful by showing the victim she is not alone in being abused. Shattering the silence in talking about what happened can start victims on the road to recovery Laura Nyirady, director of Nursing, shared thoughts and program from a radio program entitled, "Victims of Rape." The program pointed out that victims feel helpless, hopeless, and angry as they go through the stages of dealing with the anguish. Three suggestions from the radio program were: let go of the bitterness, because keeping it inside destroys you, become grateful to God for making good out of evil, and give God permission to forgive the perpetrator. Until you work through these steps, the hate and anger will not leave you.

"There is no shame in having been abused," Robbie Robertson says, "hut I have never worked with anyone who didn't feel ashamed, or guilty... It was not your fault that you were abused!"

"If you have been abused and are in college," continues Robertson, "congratulate yourself-you are a survivor." The healing process is different for each individual. Each is affected in a unique way and heals at her own pace. Talking with a counselor will start the healing proc-

EDITORS NOTE: Robbie Robertson will be offering individual counseling to those interested, and group therapy will soon be available. If anyone is interested in either or both of these therapy sessions, call Robertson at 265-2271 ext. 341, or see Laura Nyirady in the Nursing Department.

Tips for Awareness:

Don't be out alone at night, even for a walk.

Keep keys between your knuckles as a precautionary measure.

Call security to accompany you if you need to be somewhere on campus after dark (i.e. Brock Hall, music building, library, etc)

Walk with confidence. with a specific destination in mind

Check under your vehicle before getting near it.

When returning to your vehicle, have your keys ready in your hand and check inside the vehicle before entering, especially in the back seat.

* When going on a date, be sure you know the individual well.

Never be afraid to say "NO!" if someone asks you to do something you feel uncomfortable doing.

* If someone does harm you in any way, seek help immediately. Don't try to handle it by yourself.

Thank you for a good race!

Sincerely,

Sheri Green, Richard Moody, Ron Amick, Dennis Golightly. Craig Lastine, Len Lastine

After nightfall S C campus takes on an ominous appearence.

Names and numbers of your new senators: Lorena Wolff 2106 Alicia Phillips 2158 Melanie sanders 2240 Lori Hickman 2278 Sheila Draaper 2365 Ivonne Rodriguez 2368 Vicki Minor 2426 Carlos Romero 3020 Alex Bryan 3174 Jon Elliston 3229 Virgil Covel 3244 Izear Feasins 3375 Alex Johnson 3032 Don Gates 3067 Tracie Barber 396-2581 Darren Strans 479,3877 Kenneth Neal

Heather Williams

396-9501

236-4667

A Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor.

Because the 5th Annual Southem College Triathlon was held totally off campus, not many students were exposed to the quality race that was put on this year by the Physical Education Department working with race coordinator, Chris Mitchell. The planning and preparation was evident from the starting gun, which went off exactly on time at 8:00 a.m.

The swim course was well marked with buoys as well as paddle boats. Plenty of lifeguards patrolled the course in both canoes and ski boats. The biggest improvement was the centralized transition area. which had bike racks and space for changing. Although the running and biking courses were somewhat shorter this year, the roads were well chosen. They had very little traffic and excellent road surfaces.

The Man Behind the Beard

By Tammy Wolcott

The lights dimmed and the spotlight focused on the stage. An elderly man with a beard appeared at a side door, limped onto the stage, sat in an antique chair and started to write a leter.

The play, "An Evening With James White" was performed September 30 at the Collegedale Church by Larry Richardson. Richardson, a Cleveland, Tennessee resident, works at a retirement management center called American Lifestyles.

Richardson graduated from La Sierra, California with a B.A. in rhetoric and public address, then went on to take his Master's and Dectorate. His Doctorate emphasis was in communication theory, which he completed at the University of Southern California. Richardson and his wife, Beeky, have two children Lauren who is seven and, Daman who is nine vears old.

Since religious plays are hard to find, Richardson said he wrote a play on Martin Luther while teaching Public Address at La Sierra, Califomia. "You know how hard it is to get a group of 35 college students together at the same time," said Richardson.

"So, I thought, Why not do a one man play?" said Richardson. He decided to do one on a founding father of the SDA church. "Ellen White was the mast lovious but I couldn't do her. So I did James." said Richardson. "Not many people know James and I thought it would be historical, original and an educational experience. I was going to call the play James' nickname." The Hothead at the Review," but that was too insulting."

After doing the play for the past ten years, Richardson now only performs the play about two or three times a year, unlike the 15 times a year when he first started in 1979. Richardson said that before performing is like going over the hill in a roller coaster, "Excitement."

"I use all of James

White's actual words," said Richardson while using a cotton ball wet with rubbing alcohol to take off the make-up and beard he wore during his performance. "I try to be as faithful to the man as possible."

"The six hours of material I have memoraed came from many sources. One is the autobiography of James White entitled, Life Incidents, another is Life Sketches, which James White work part of with his wife, Ellen," said Richardson. After collecting James White's words from these sources, he said he organized them and put them down on paper.

Richardson has produced a video entitled, "An Evening With James White," which may be found at the Adventist Book Center.

From the Archives

49 years ago Students come from 26 states.

The 295 students in the college and high school departments have come from twenty six states and four foriegn countries. Argentina, Columbia, Cuba, and Nova Scotia.

10 years ago Taco Bell stops using lard

According to George Bellis, manager of Taco Bell...he is very much aware of the dietary practices of SDA's.

Rec Room Cont. from p. 1

it's good if it gets me wild and crazy dates."

Regina Clark, freshman, said she would ask out guys on her list, but, "Not until I know who they are."

When asked what the "Love Connection;" had done for him, Kyle Robinson, sophomore, replied, "I'm a religion major and I do need a wife. I think I found her."

"Am I on anyone's list?!" Monte

S.A. Social Vice-President Harvey Hillyer and his helpers served popcorn, punch, and

"I'm watching our student body seek out their prey as they receive their list of victims," Hillyer said. "Everybody's matching up."

S.A. President Craig Lastine commented on the new rec room

Murdoch, a junior, wants to year after S.A. elections with the idea for the new facility.

Wohlers himself commented, "I'm glad to see it [the rec room] is open again. It makes the student cookies to the socializing crowd. center more of an activity area."

> According to Lastine, the S.A. worked closely with Helen Durichek throughout the project. She arranged to have a hole in the wall repaired and the walls painted. She also hung the posters. on Saturday nights.

while mingling with the crowd Lastine said K.R. Davis was the and passing out handfuls of main man behind the scenes of the candy. He said Dr. William new rec room, "It's been a pleas-Wohlers approached him last ure to work with someone as dedicated to Southern College as K.R. Davis," he said.

Observing the evening's events, Davis said, "I thought it was a great success and I think this year's S.A. officers are the most progressive group I've ever worked with."

The rec room will be open from 11 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. on weeknights, and until midnight

If You're Still Using Bank Checking You Haven Checked with Us!

Your credit union share draft account costs less and earns more than bank checking. Call or stop in today for all the facts on credit union share drafts.

Collegedale Credit Union

Collegedale, Tennessee 37315

(615) 396-2101

Student Association

News

The Grand Opening of the Recreation Room was last Thursday evening. The honorable K.R. Davis led out in the ribbon cutting ceremony, which began at 8:00 p.m. - with music, balloons, food and fun! The results from the Love Connection were handed out to some very eager participants. But if you didn't receive your match made in a computer, don't fret, remaining Love Connections will be distributed through dorm mail. Thanks to all of you who came out and made this event a success

Recreation Room Hours are:

Sunday 12:00-10:30 pm M-Th 11:00-10:30 pm Friday 1:00- 5:00 pm

Saturday half an hour sunset-12:00 midnight

This weekend, October 6-9, is Reverse Weekend, Ladies this is your chance to try out that new Love Connection list!! Don't be shy, just pick up the phone and call.

Thank you for all of you comments in Assembly last Thursday. Your questions are being investigated.

The Student Association is glad to help you, or your organization, with public relations for events on campus. Messages for the Chatter and Wall Side Journal are to be placed in the box located in the Student Center, and appropriately marked Chatter or Wallside Journal. The deadline for the Chatter is 5:00 p.m. Monday: messages for the Wallside Journal can be dropped off any time, but please include the dates you wish the message to be displayed. The deadline to include items in the Accent is 5:00 p.m. the Friday before distribution.

Please talk with your S.A. officers and let them know of any ideas, suggestions. criticisms, or information that you have. The Student Association office hours are posted outside the office door, so please drop by for a visit, or call us at 2723.

Julio Tabuenca, Ph.D. and Lori Gulley from Loma Linda School of Public Health will be on campus Oct. 11-16. For interviews contact the Testing and Cnunseling Center.

.............

Making the Grade for your Peak Performance

By Robert J. Kriegel, Ph.D.

Editors note: Rohert J. Kriegel, Ph.D .- best selling author, former All-American athlete, and mental cooch for Olym- thing seem harder than it really pic and world class othleteslectures and consults with major corporations worldwide on peak performance, leadership and strategies for dealing with change. Kriegel recently took part in o national tour of college campuses sponsored by the makers of Nuprin Pain Reliever.

a.m. I've really gotta hustle. I've gotta finish that outline, talk to Professor Jones, stop by the lab, read 100 pages for my noon psych class and be at work at 3 p.m."

Today's college campuses are pressure cookers. In fact, the Nuprin Pain Report, the first national study on pain in America, documented that more people 18-24 suffer forms stress and pain than any adult age group.

As I've toured the country visiting college campuses, students tell me the most common causes of their stress are: too much to do, too little time, exams, money, relationships, interviews, family and career choices.

So, get rid of stress. Right? Wrong.

Stress is neither good nor bad. How you handle it car be. Learning to make stress work for you can help you concentrate better and think more clearly under pressure, have more energy, be more creative and make college more enjoyable.

But many of us handle stress noorly.

Some people panic and work too fast under stress. Others procrastinate. Neither response is productive and both are caused by what I call "sabotage thinking" common reactions to stressful situations that work against rather than for you.

Two common types of sabotage thinking are: "the gottas" and "the can'ts."

Let's look at the gottas and methods to overcome them.

The gottas usually occur when you think you have too much to do and too little time to do it: "I gotta study for two exams...I gotta read two chapters...l gotta call financial aid about my loan...I gotta get a date for Friday night ...

The gottas make everyis. You get into the panic zone, rushing to get it all done. You walk too fast, talk too fast, think too fast, write too fast, eat too fast. You can't concentrate or think clearly. You make careless mistakes, blank out on exams and forget things you already know. Everything seems The alarm sounds. "6 like a life or death proposition.

I was talking to a junior at U-C Berkeley who had a bad case of the gottas about a forthcoming exam. "I gotta get an A," he said. I asked what would happen if he

"If I don't get an A, I won't keep up my 4.0 average. Then I'll never get into a really good graduate school, and then I won't get a top job, and then I'll never make a lot of money ... '

course, not getting an A on this test was akin to his life being

When he stopped and thought about what he'd just said-that if he didn't ace this test his life would be down the tubes-he started laughing, "I must be crazy.'

He was not crazy, just not thinking clearly or realistically. Many of us get that way under pressure. This type of desperation thinking makes us overreact and causes panic. The cure is to shift from irrational to rational thinking. Do a reality check. When you get the gottas take a deep breath, exhale slowly and ask yourself, ":What is the worst thing that could possibly happen?" and "How likely is that to happen?"

This type of reality thinking puts the gottas in per-

By the end of his dis- spective. Sure, not getting an A would be a drag, but it wouldn't be the end of the world nor would it land this A student in the ranks of the homeless. Looking at past wins helps, too. After all, he already had a 4.0 average, and had done well on difficult exams before. Reminding himself of his past success on similar exams helped him relax and restored his confi-

Gaining control of your thinking will help to turn desperation reactions into peak performance actions. Learning this early in life will be invaluable in the future, because no matter what you do or where you do it, there's always going to be things you gotta do.

For the Health of It

By Darlene Almeda

who submitted questions for ported in the U.S. Seventy this week's printing. How- colleges and universities ever, I will only be answer- have also been affected with ing those which are directly this highly contagious disrelated to health and medicine. So for those of you with a serious interest in of measles are as follow: your health I invite you once cold symptoms for about again to drop your questions in the green box placed at the 104 degrees or even higher, front desk in the student more about the measles and the possibilities of TN becoming involved in the epi-

A: As the announcement in the Chatter said, various counties in TN have already experienced outbreaks. Bradley county, our neighbor, is presently being affected by the ten day measles. . And as of August 6 there have been

I thank those of you 8,941 cases of measles re-

The main symptoms three days with fevers up to white patches in the mouth, and finally a hairline rash that will eventually spread Q: Can you explain a little down to the feet. When this disease is contracted, you will be isolated until the rash disappears. This may be 1-2 weeks. Please don't think this is solely a childhood disease because you may be in for a surprise. Those who get the disease at a later age tend to get a more severe type of measles.

Besides the previously stated symptoms of the disease there are varios complications that may arise: pneumonia, swelling of the brain due to infection, even

What can be done about this? Get vaccinated: if you haven't already that is. The Oootewah Public Health Department located at 5520 High St. (behind the Baptist church) is providing the community with vaccines any week day until 3:30 p.m. for a mere $2.00. I must say those $2.00 will be the wisest investment you will ever make if you are not vaccinated vet.

More information about measles is being compiled right now and will be given to all the students here at S.C. So expect some very important papers in your hoxes this week and take the time to read them. Your lives may depend on it.

C.A.R.E. Provide Numerous Activities

The following is a list of the programs sponsored by C.A.R.E. Take action and give us a call.

ADOPT-A-GRANDPARENT Students will adopt an elderly person and visit them at least once celebrate the birth of Christ. a week

AFTERGLOW

Every Friday evening following vespers students stay by for a special time singing, sharing, special music, readings and prayer.

BIBLE MARKING

PROGRAM

Students who are interested in studying their Bibles will go to Grandma Battle's house to learn Bible marking.

BIBLE STUDY PROGRAM Groups will be set up to study the Bible together.

BIG BROTHER/BIG SISTER

Every week students spend time with their adopted brothers and sisters. They play games, tutor the kids and plan special activi-

CARE WEEK

Special time in which each day provides a unique opportunity to reach out and touch someone's heart. See listed schedule of events.

C.A.R.E. DAYS

This will be a special day once a month. Keep your eyes open and C.A.R.E. cards will be distrib-

C.A.R.E. PRAYER

Twenty-five names are selected from the student body weekly. Five names are prayed for daily by a group of students. A letter is sent to those being prayed for.

CANDLE MEDITATIONS Special time before vespers when students can come to the church early and meditate.

CHRISTMAS CAROLING Groups of singers go out during tian music.

the Christmas season to share the LIFE OF CHRISTspirit of Christ and pass out loaves MUSICAL of bread to community people.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Special Christmas program to of Christ.

CLOWN MINISTRY

After applying make-up and clown attire, students visit the local children's hospitals, orphanages, and nursing homes to credit will be available. spread a little cheer and laughter with their skits and plays.

DESTINY

The Destiny Drama Company is a collegiate drama ministry troupe which performs for high schools, youth rallies, and colleges theatrical arts, they strive to portray the power, pertinence, and personality of Jesus Christ and His gospel.

DORM MINISTRY

This is a program to encourage prayer and fellowship in the dorms. Small prayer bands meet once a week in both dorms to pray SILVERDALE GED with and for each other.

FILM FESTIVAL

On a dreary Sabbath afternoon once a semester all the chairs and tables in the cafeteria are pulled aside to make way for bean bags and blankets. Then the show begins-the best Christian contemporary films available.

HELPING HANDS

A community service program where once a month a group of students help with painting, small repairs, raking, etc.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BIBLE CONFERENCE

Those interested will leave Wednesday night and join Southwestern Adventist and Union Colleges at Camp Yorktown Bay STUDENT for a spiritual weekend.

LAWN CONCERT

Come out on the lawn of Summerour Hall to enjoy some Chris- the preaching. All meetings resurrection, and second coming

MORNING GROUP WORSHIP

A group of students will get to- TABLE TALK worship. One dorm worship

PROJECT OVERCOAT

Overcoats will be collected to give to homeless people in the winter time.

SABBATH SCHOOLS

Under the C.A.R.E. umbrella throughout the Southeastern there are three different weekly United States. Through Christian Sabbath schoots: International, Lynn Wood, and Thatcher. All are very good!

SABBATH AFTERNOON ACTIVITIES

Different times during the semester, activities will be available for students on Sabbath afternoons.

Once a week students will go to Silverdale Prison to help prepare inmates for their GED test.

SINGSPIRATION

On Sabbath evenings when the weather permits, a group of students gather on the steps of Lynn Wood Hall for a time of good ole' fashioned singing.

SOUP KITCHENS Once a month students will go help serve food to the homeless.

STORY HOUR

Act or some many

Every Sabbath afternoon students tell stories to children. The college students try to teach them moral and spiritual lessons through the stories they tell.

WEEK OF PRAYER

Once a year C.A.R.E. runs a special Student Week of Prayer. Students do everything-even take place in the Collegedale music of the birth, life, death, A group from Southern College goes to the local life care center on Sabbath afternoon to sing and talk with the residents. It's a great way to share God's "Sonshine."

A presentation with narration and SUNSHINE BANDS

gether for 15-20 minutes to have Table talk is a service that daily gives the students a "thought for the day" and any pertinent announcements by means of cards on all the cafeteria tables.

TARGET EVANGELISM

The second Sabbath of every month is set aside for target evangelism. This is a program where students distribute Christian literature in the Chattanooga area.

TEACH-A-KID A tutoring program for elementary students who are in need.

Patricia To Appear In Sacred Concert

PatriciaWhite, songwriter/singer, will be appearing in sacred concert on October 13 at 8 p.m., at the Southern College church of Seventh-day Adventists in Collegedale.

Patricia's talents are well displayed in both the lyric and music of her original songs. Her first album, WHITE ROBE, received airplay on Christian radio stations all across the United States. An enthusiastic response followed with comments like "A refreshing new sound!" and, "One great LP!

Her new album, LOVE WILL, was produced in Nashville, Tennessee, with such top studio musicians as Shane Keister Larrie London Don Potter and Jon Goin.

In concert Patricia shares herself and the stories behind her music. She is an effective communicator, drawing her audience into the joy of praise as they learn to do such songs as the "Praise Rap." Her rich vocal sound has developed over years of experience (beginning at 4 years of age) in performing with a number of groups including the Heritage Singers of California.

Juggling a family, writing, peforming, and recording are several full-time jobs, but she seems to take it all in stride and pulls from the difficult times the humorous incidents she shares with her audiences. "I think people today relate better to someone who sings and shares in is. If people are blessed, then I've of presentation. I simply share the blessed. Don't miss Patricia. truth about how trustable the Lord honesty instead of a euphorie type done my job." People ARE

by Izear Feagins

"Lord, help me!" was the cry of him who had no desire and no will to become a student missionary, but he heard an inner voice speaking to him anyway. His name is Kyle Robinson, and the voice was the Holy Spirit

After Kyle decided to become a student missionary, in the Spring of 1988, he went to the student center to look at the call book and was moved by the Spirit to accept a call to Palau as a pastor.

Several months later, on August 11, 1988, Kyle was at the William Hatfield Airport in Atlanta with no plane ticket or passport. He had thought these items would be there waiting for him. They weren't. What could he do but go home? At his arrival there, he found his ticket and passport on his front porch. That's when he realized that the Lord wanted him to go to Palau.

After arriving in Palau on August 18, 1988, Kyle was exhausted. However, the people of the island weren't tired, they were excited about his coming and wanted to take him on a tour while they got acquainted. While on this tour, he saw many needs and people whom he could encourage and teach.

Soon he settled in, teaching Bible, history, U.S. Government, P.E., and more.

As a missionary, Kyle had to dear with many nev situations. On one memorable occasion he spoke with a student whose parents had died a month before school started. Alcohol and drugs became the only family he knew. Kyle aw the need and asked for the Lord's help. After much prayer and effort, the student overcame his addiction and accepted the Lord.

When Kyle preached his last sermon and gave a call, thirty-four students between the ages of thireen and twenty-one accepted Christ. These results reinforced Kyle's belief that the Lord wanted him to be in Palau to preach His word.

Even though Kyle's year has ended, he will not give up the work; in fact, after he graduates, he plans to return to Palau for six years.

Presently, Kyle Robinson is a sophomore religion major at Southern College, assistant pastor of the Graysville S.D.A. Church, and president of The Collegiate Missions Club. His goal is to send 200 student missionaries from Southern College to different parts of the world

Here I Am...

5TH ENHILL

Sherri Green on triathalons: It's more a mental challange than a physical one!

Improvements top P.E. Center

Tim Chism

Tennis anyone? Or would you prefer a swim, followed by a nice run? This has been the focus of attention at the P.E. Center, entering the fall semester at Southern College. Increased enrollment last year and money donated by The Committee of One-hundred has freed up funds to improve the P.E. department.

The Committee of Onehundred donated the money necessary to fix the roof of the gymnasium, "which is a huge job," says Phil Garver, department chairman.

Kevin Snider, a freshman and one of the better tennis players on campus is very impressed with the quality of our newly surfaced courts. Also, "The new rubber track is fantastic to run on," says Chris Case, a junior Nursing major. Chris continued, saying, "The soft springy surface allows for a pleasant exercise without the pain of hard surface running.

Swimming is also more

Len Lastine packs it all up after competing in the 5th Mark deFluier annual Southern College Triathalon.

Pastor Jim Herman gets a "high five" from Tim Chism as he completes the triathalon.

been painted in. This makes people trying to stay in shape. swimming laps much easier with increased visibility. Finally, for those students who play basketball, volleyball, and/or sports which have potential for sprained ankles, there is a new ice-machine in the gym for your convenience. Garver's main goal, now that everything is completed, is "To maintain the department," keeping everything in tiptop con-

enjoyable since new lanes have dition for all the sports minded

All-night Softball cancelled due to rain. Rescheduled for Oct. 7.

Image Index

Rate Your First Impression

you make when you walk into a roomful of business associates? Are you perceived as authoritative and reliable? Or, are the impressions you leave behind sabotaging your chances of getting ahead?

The "IMAGE INDEX" is designed to enable people to calcu- age, including clothes, grooming coming people undermine their

What kind of first impression do late their prospects for getting ahead in situations where first impressions are important. This includes getting a new job, earning a promotion or completing a successful sales presentation.

> Recruitment experts tell us there are a number of elements that contribute to an executive's imand various aspects of body language. If one of those elements doesn't fit in with the overall look, it can throw off the person's entire image.

The IMAGE INDEX was developed in conjunction with Donald and Karen Kaufman of Kaufman Professional Image Consultants of Philadelphia. It is based on the likelihood of making the best impression on the greatest number of people in most business and professional situations.

"Too many intelligent, up-and-best efforts because their overall appearance projects the wrong kind of image," said Karen Kaufman, "The IMAGE INDEX can give people a sense of what they're doing right and wrong," added Donald Kaufman.

The IMAGE INOEX lists 11 elements that make up a person's overall image. One Index is tailored for women and one for men.

After taking the test, you can add up your score, and immediately determine how your image meas-

THE IMAGE INDEX FOR 3. Ankle length, dress or cas-MEN nat

SHIRTS

- 1. Long-sleeved, all-cotton, white, striped or pastel.
- 2. Button-down oxford, any
- 3. Short-sleeved, or anything
- that is wash and wear.

- 1. All silk with a subtle pattern or stripe.
- 2. Knit ties.
- 3. Clip-ons

SUITS

- 1. Traditional singlebreasted, navy or grey pinstriped, expertly tailored and 3. Bite regularly.
- well-pressed. 2. Designer double-breasted,
- with bold patterns or weave, molded to body.
- 3. Prefer sports jacket and elacks

SHOES

- 1. Classic dress shoes that
- tie, always freshly shined. 2. Usually casual, rarely
- shined. 3. Don't think about shining-
- shoes

- 1. Mid- or over-the-calf, POSTURE brown, navy or black.
- 2. Mid or over-the-calf, textured or patterned.

FACE

- Always clean-shaven.
- 2. Have a well-groomed mustache or beard.
- 3. Not always clean-shayen.

HAIR

1. Regularly cut in a conser-

- vative style. 2. Sometimes need a haircut.
- 3. Always wom in the latest avant-garde style.

NAILS

- 1. Groom at least one a week.
- 2. Clip and clean nails occasionally.

- HANDSHAKE
- 1. Firm with both men and women
- 2. Firm with men and limp with women.
- 3. Squeeze hard to show superiority.

EYE CONTACT

- 1. Make frequent eye contact. 2. Not comfortable looking at
- someone often 3. Normally look around the room or at feet.

- 1. Usually stand and sit erectly.
 - 2. Don't pay much attention. 3. Tend to slouch.

THE IMAGE INDEX FOR 2. Don't always wear make-up. WOMEN

BLOUSES

- 1. Long-sleeved, silk or cotton. solid or small print, with con- servative necklines. 2. Oxford cloth shirts with
- 3. Lace and ruffles, sheer fabnes or plunging necklines.

SHITS

- 1. Classic cut, navy, grey or black, made of quality fabric and well-fitted.
- 2. Coordinating jacket and skirt in complimentary colors. 3. Never wear suits.

- I. One or two-piece, natural fabric, classic styling, long sleeves, in navy, grey or black
- with a jacket.
- 2. Same as above, without a

3. Ruffled, sheer or mini-dresses.

- 1. Dress shoes, always freshly
- shined
- 2. Casual or dress shoes, rarely shined
- 3. Don't think about shining choes

1. Lightly applied to enhance features and coloring.

3. Applied heavier so that everybody notices it.

- 1. Classic style, well-groomed,
- shoulder length or shorter. 2. Generally groomed, no particular style
- 3. Wear latest style to stand out.

- NAILS 1. Manicure at least weekly.
- 2. Occasionally file and groom. 3. Wait until nails are chipped
- before polishing.

PURSES/BRIEFCASES

- 1. Carry one well-shined classic leather bag for everything.
- 2. Carry a well-organized briefcase and a purse.
- 3. Briefcase and/or purse is always overstuffed.

HANDSHAKE I Firm with men and women

- 2. Only shake when a hand is offered
- 3. Don't shake hands.

EYE CONTACT

- 1. Make frequent eye contact.
- 2. Not comfortable looking at someone often.
- 3. Normally look around the room or at feet

POSTURE

- 1. Usually stand and sit erectly. 2. Don't pay attention.
- 3 Tend to slouch.

Give yourself 6 points for every #1 answer, 3 points for every #2 answer and 0 points for every #3 answer. If your total score is:

How to Score Your Image Index: 48-66 Congratulations, you're on taging your chances of getting your way. 30-47 You're on the right track, but have some work to do. 12-29 Careful, you maybe sabo-ahead. There's still hope, though. 0-11You've got a real problem. Without immediate action, your chances of making a good first impression are virtually nil.

VIEWPOINTS

"Should the men's and women's lobbies be open to members of the opposite sex after 8 00? Why?

If we can be out until 11.00, why should they close us out of the dorms at 8:00?

I'm getting tired of standing in the rain. -Ginger Bromme

If the girls wish to walk down in their robes after 8:00, they should have the right.

Girls should be mature enough not to come to t lobby half-naked

Yes, as long as b are open -Dean Hobbs

It's more convienient to visit in the dorm than in the student center

Guys are in the girl's dorm after 8:00 anyway. Why not make it legal? -Joel Henderson

The dorms are more conducive to co-ed studying.

Upcoming Events

Friday, October 6

-REVERSE WEEKEND-Vespers, 8.00 p.m. Dave Smith

Saturday, October 7

-REVERSE WEEKEND-Church Service. Gordon Bietz Humanities Film 8 (x) p.m. On the Waterfront

Tuesday, October 10

Hans Jorgen Jensen, Cello Ackerman Auditorium, 8:00 n.m.

THE REST PRODUCTION OF

Wednesday, October 11

SA Senate Meeting, 8:00 p.m.

Thursday, October 12
Assembly, 11:00 a.m.

Bill Wohlers

Friday, October 13

Vespers, 8:00 p.m.

Patricia White Concert

Saturday, October 14

Church Service: Ed Wright

Sunday, October 15

Men's Club Banquer Southern Belle Riverboat Monday, October 16

Carl Hass: Adventures in Good Music, Church, 8:00p m.

Tuesday, October 17

Naji Hakim, Organ 8:00 p.m.,

Thrsday, October 19

Assembly, Clubs and Department Meetings

Arts and Entertainment

Music

October 14, 8:00 p.m.

Chattanooga Symphony and Opera Association perform the opera Tosca at Tivoli Theater. For more info. call 266-0944.

Sports

Saturday, October 7

UTC vs. West Kentucky. Chamberlain field. 7:30 p m. Call 755-4495 for tickets.

Saturday, October 21

UTC vs. Citadel. Chamberlain field. 7:30 p.m. Call 755-4495 IT'S A GOOD TIME FOR THE GREAT TASTE

BRING IN YOUR CHURCH BULLETIN ON SUNDAY AND RECEIVE A FREE SMALL DRINK WITH ANY

PURCHASE OFFER GOOD ONLY AT

Wanted:

Aggressive Salespeople Earn money selling ads for the Accent! Call Ext. 2721 for more details.

A Southern Weekend-page 6 Volume 45, Number 4

All-Night Softhall-page 9 October 23, 1989

> nating Monterde. During the regular season

they had been soundly trounced by Monterde.

Chris Gloudeman's

team put on an impressive show, winning one game 11 to 4. This is surprising considering that Gloudeman failed to win a single regular season game. "My team was hyped up. We had nothing to lose and the only way to go was up."

Another major upset was of a different type altogether Ben Kep-

Continued on p 7

said Gloudeman.

pler's team was

Machado Wins All Night Softball Tournament

by Dan Plank

The ΔH. Night Softball Tournament was held Saturday night October 7 after being delayed due to rain the previous weekend The format of the tournament was double elimination as it has been in previous years. However, some of the rules were changed this year to speed up play Perhaps the biggest change was the reduction of the number of outs per inning from the traditional 3 to 2. This rule may have changed the outcome of some of the games. For instance, John Machado's team, the eventual tournament champion, was upset and sent into the losers bracket by Angel Echemendia's team. "If it hadn't been for the two out rule, we probably wouldn't have beat them," said Echemendia rule in question would have denied home run hitters the reward of circling the bases.

Angela Morton and friends bundle up during All-Night Tournament

The rain delay imposed another unusual change in play. A section of field B's outbecause of flagball season. The change was not enforced. The the tournament. Ground balls which rolled under the rone were ruled ground rule doubles. This may have handicapped teams that depended on speedy base running.

These changes and the "Fates of Softball" conspired to field fencing had to be removed produce a night full of surprises and upset victories. One big sur-

Another proposed fence was replaced with rope for prise was Jeff Wood's team elimi-Police Investigate Attacks

P.O.W. To Address Thatcher SS

"From a Cage to Collegedale" will be Thomas DeGraw's feature at Thatcher Hall Sabbath School October 28, 9:45

The former Green Beret Master Sergeant will talk about 39 months held captivein a North Vietnamese prison camp. He was the only American held.

"I was their pet, the prize possession of a provential commander." DeGraw

He said he entered the Army the day after his 17th hirthday after his dad refused to allow him to go to spring training camp with the New York Mets.

Continued on p. 5

by Gene Krishingner Jr.

(Due to the sensitivity of this article the names and description of the victums and suspects involved are not included)

In the wake of a second attack on the campus of Southem College in a four week period, students as well as the community are being careful. Both victims are Southern College students. This brings the number of attacks that have occurred in the last seven months to four Collegedale Police Chief Dennis Cramer who has launched a full investigation said that three women reported they were raped while on school grounds. Each victim was grabbed from behind and forced to go to an isolated area. One of the victims managed to escape before being raped. At least two were slightly injured when they tried to fight back, according to Collegedate police No one has been arrested in connection with the sexual attacks but at least one person has been picked up and taken in for questioning. "We do have some suspects," said Cramer, "and things are coming in every day regarding the case."

Cramer said that one of the suspects was identified in a photo line-up but when the victim saw the suspect in person she was not sure if he was the assarlant or not.

Continued on p. 3

The Opium of the People

by John Caskey

Constant exposure to dangers will breed contempt for them.

-Seneca

We have no choice but to expose ourselves to danger. Every time we get behind the wheel of a car, we place ourselves in an environment which is statistically more dangerous than any battlefield known to man. As we all know, walking alone on the campus of Southern College at night can be dangerous. Yet we seldom pause to consider the danger inherent in such actions.

I have heard that the baseball fans in San Francisco's Candlestick Park laughed and joked as a first response to Tuesday's earthquake. They have lived so long in the shadow of a killer earthquake that they no longer fear such a tragedy.

As Christians we constantly face the danger of sin We even laugh and joke about it sometimes. Yet the danger i poses to us is even more perilou than threats of auto accidents earthquakes, or the actions of deranged men could ever be These things can only effect our feeble earthly existence. Sin, or the other hand, places our very souls in peril.

Karl Marx said, "Reli gion is the opium of the people." He would have us believe that religion dulls our senses, but to say that sin is the opium of the people would be closer to the truth. Through constant exposure to sin we often fail to recognize its dangers.

Southern [

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Sports Editor

Ben Keppler

Layout Editor

Daniel Potter

Circulation

Julie Jacobs

Advisor

Contributing Editors

Pamela Draper Sheila Draper

Greg Parkhurst Photo Editor

Sean Terretta Lifestyle Editor

Angel Echemendia Stan Hobbs Word Processing

Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Account is the official student as weapuper for Southern Account in the official student as weapuper for Southern Account in the Southern Account in the Southern Account in the Southern Account In Southern In

Bits and Pieces

by David Denton

Six years is a long time on a college campus. A graduate, returning to school for a visit six years later, isl likely going to feel a bit out of place. School, life has gone on and forgotten him. His face has been replaced a hundred items over by new, young faces. The hallways he once walked are now recarpeted and covered by new, young feet.

Four years, maybe five. usually marks the passing of a student from freshman to graduate. Those who stay longer are considered to be "professional students" in no hurry to leave.

Myself? I've been here going on six years now, only four of those as a student (The rest of the time I've spent catching up on the costs of being a student). I haven't regretted my time here at the college. I've always been able to keep myself busy, sometimes too busy, as my grades can attest.

In my six years at Southem, I've seen a lot of things change. New faces arriving, the Morrises, Mathises, and others; old faces departing, the Wagners, the Christmans, etc. I've seen the demise of buildings that were here and now aren't; like Jones Hall, which became a parking lot. I've seen buildings restored like Lynn Wood; and brand new buildings being constructed, like Brock Hall. This isn't he same school I remember from 1984.

Destiny Drama Co., my one constant over the years, has changed as well. Since I joined the group six years ago, there have been four student directors, counting myself, five or six (depending on who you count) sponsors, nearly fifty different members, hundreds of performances, and thousand of miles of travel. There have been uncountable rewards: new friends, embarrassing moments, items of indescribable unity, and spiritual fulfillment

Who can understand the absolute stillness that fell on academy audiences as Allan Martin and I finished the last few lines of "It's a Very Cold Night." And what, if not the movement of the Spirit, can explain the reverent contemplation and reflection that invariably followed last year's performances of "Light of the World?"

I have seen the Father working in the lives and ministry of my friends in Destiny. I have experienced the down side as well. The long

"... the essence of Destinev's personality is found in people . . . "

van trips, the wrong turns, the poor performances. I've seen members leave in the middle of the year because of personal differences, or poor grades, or because they simply had to rearrange priorities. But through all of the mundane and discouraging, I've learned to love the people.

To me the essence of Destiny's personality is found in people like Kevin Rice, who was director during my first two years and Rochelle Battistone. about whom I like everything. People like Allan Martin, the current director, who is also known as Mr. Vocabulary, and Gary Bradley, whom I wish had been my brother. People like Shannon Born, a beautiful, concerned Christian, and Dawn Patton, to whom we said goodbye with heavy hearts the day she lost her battle with a terminal disease

But we're working for the Lord, and we are striving to be there when He calls us all home, Dawn included , to be part of that great unending performance of Glory expanding throughout the universe forever.

When that happens, six years won't seem very long at

Government Loan Policy Explained to Students

As of August 24, 1989, the U.S. Department of Education is requiring all schools to announce to their students the importance of not defaulting on student loans. Almost a billion dollars worth of loans are currently outstanding. Last month a meeting was held during which S.C's financial advisors explained this new policy to students

When a student borrows money using the Perkins Loan, Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL), Supplemental Loan for Students (SLS), or the Plus Loan, the student must repay the loan. The obligation for repayment after graduation or cessation of enrollment exists regardless of job situation, continuing education, or satisfaction with school If he does not make payments, he will then go into default. The default will be reported to credit bureaus and any school he has attended, is attending, or will attend. Also, he could be sued by the government and be made ineligible for future financial aid. Moreover. his state and federal income tax refunds may be withheld or his checks may be garnished. The government gives a student six to nine months to begin his payments. He must continue to repay until paid in full.

If an S.C. student has any questions, he can contact the financial aid office in Wright Hall at 238-2835

It would be unfortunate

No one has been charged

-Tamara Michalenko

for someone attending college to have to leave early because of a with any crime. That means he could still be out there. Protect yourself-use your head. Don't fool yourself in to thinking it could never happen to you, because it very well might.

trauma such as rupe.

"FIND OUT WHAT'S HOT AND WHAT'S NOT"

$5.00 off any perm $1.00 off cut and style

With This Coupon from Marcia McGrath of Hair Designers

Call 396-2600 for Appointment No Expiration Date on Coupon

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In the last issue of the Southern Accent, I wrote an article entitled "Campus Rape Prompts Concern." The format was designed to stress the seriousness of the incident. I had hoped that it would be taken seriously by all, and that the tips would be followed.

Monday night, October 9, I was bothered by the news that an attempted rape had taken place Sunday night, October 8. The girl was walking alone at night by the playground at the elementary school.

What needs to be said or done to stress the importance of using common sense? Don't go out at night if you don't have to. If you must be some place. PLEASE take someone with

Dear Students. As supper hour hostess I would like to express my personal appreciation for your cooperation in maintaining a friendly, responsible, attitude in your levely dining room away from home

I receive many positive comments due to your friendly conversations with visiting guests during supper, especially from folks not of our religious persuasion, and Elder Hostel guests.

-Evelyn Moore.

Dear Editor. I am writing in regards to the recent lead article in the Southern Accent. I think it is good that the story entitled "Campus Rape Prompts Concern" was run since it was the focus on campus for quite some time, but I feel it was written in a totally tasteless manner. It was not necessary to publicize the details of this girl's experience across the entire campus Think of how she must have felt when she read the article. No one in their right mind would want to find a story about themselves of this nature published in the school newspaper. And really, think about it, these details were not anyone's

I feel the appropriate follow-up to this article is a written apology in the next issue of Southern Accent. Let's try to make her life easier, not more difficult

Sincerely,

Lorena Wolff

Continued from p. I

'It's such a traumatic experience for the girl that often times the description is very vague. explained Cramer who is using the help of Chattanooga authorities to draw a composite photo of the

Meanwhile the alert is up. "We've increased our usual patrol quite a bit." Cramer said, "and we'll continue to do so for some

According to police reports all the attacks have occurred between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m., and within an eighth of a mile from each other. Also the description of the assailant is similar in all cases. The latest two attacks both happened on a Sunday, two weeks apart.

"One thing we're doing is checking out any and all leads," Cramer said. "At least until we can prove otherwise

Dean of Students. Bill Wohlers, said the administration is trying to speed up the program of improving lighting on the campus and is encouraging the organization of a student excort service.

"Our concern is the physical safety of all the students," said Wohlers regarding the recent attacks. "We can try to protect ourselves and others," he added, "since we can't apprehend the person ourselves.

Cramer also discourages students from attempting to apprehend or "catch" the rapist. He said it could rain the case because of technicalities involving the rights of the accused.

Cramer warns students to be careful. "Stay in lighted areas," he said. "No matter what you're doing, act like you're going somewhere. Statistics show that you will be less likely to be accosted if you follow these suggestions.

The Collegedale police department is encouraging anyone with information to report it.

Journalism Club Elects Officers

Tamara Michalenko

The Journalism department has formed a new Journalum Club for all majors and/or mmors in public relations or journalism. There are 19 charter members. Officers have been elected. Their names are below. as well as the offices they hold, with a brief sketch of their accomphshments

President: Randall Gilliam. Randall is a junior journalism major from Florida. He previously attended Seminole Community College. There he served as co-editor and reported for SCC's Journey Magazine Randall feels that the Journalism Club has a great future and encourages anyone interested in journalism or public relations to join.

Vice-President: Jim King, Jim is a semor public relations major. He has attended SC for two years. During that time he has been a student missionary in Taiwan and an account executive at WSMC. Currently, he is the promotions assistant for the radio station. Jim enjoys photography, layout, and talking with diverse types of people.

Treasurer: Andrea Nicholson. Andrea is a junior public relations major with a minor in business. She is currently working in the public relations office at SC. Her responsibilities include writing press releases for local papers such as the Chattanooga Times, News Free Press, and East Hamilton County Journal. Andrea is also a regular reporter for the Southem Accent

Top to Bottom Tammy Wolcott Jim King, Andrea Nicholson and Randall Gilliam

Secretary: Tammy Wolcott. Tammy is a junior public relations major from Florida. She has attended SC for three years since she graduated from Forest Lake Academy in 1987.

Tammy has been a feature editor and news reporter for the Southern Accent, covering McKee Library. Also, she was a photographer for the 1989 Strawberry Festival.

Modern Language Department Offers Adventures Abroad

by Suzanne Lettrick

Southern College is a student's ticket to experience foreign countries

If interested in traveling, a student might want to consider American Colleges Abroad. ACA is an association of eleven North American SDA colleges and universities, including Southern, which gives students a chance to study in other countries lege programs.

Laura Putnam, a junior who went to France with ACA, said, "I think it's a growing experience. Everyone should take the opportunity to spend time abroad because it changes the perspective on life."

Although this program especially benefits those who want to major in a language and/ or are majoring in the humanities while continuing their home col- area, people with other majors are welcome, too.

When a student decides to go to a foreign college under the ACA plan, he has a choice of three colleges. Fees for these colleges, including tuition. room , and board, are paid through Southern College.

While away, the student is still considered a member of Southern College.

If interested in the ACA program, see Dr. Helmut Ott or go to the admissions or records office. Students should apply the spring previous to the year that they want to go.

Another travel opportunity for students, which is not yet fully approved, is hosted by the Modern Languages depart-

Helmut Ott, chairman of this department, has received permission from Southern College to take intermediate level Spanish students to Mexico to take the Spanish II course.

If plans work out, the students will be staying at the SDA University of Montemorelos and will be taught by Dr.

On said the only thing that needs to be done before these plans are definite is to get the OK from the university in

If approved, the program will begin this summer and last for approximately six to eight weeks-six weeks for school and two weeks for sightseeing. Only ten to twelve students will be allowed to go on this trip.

The cost for the program is not settled, but the final cost will include mitton for six hours credit room and board in the university droms, and traveling

Ou said that the trip will be "A good opportunity (for the students) to sharpen (their) Spanish speaking skills and to become familiar with Spanish customs."

Talge Hall residents view devestation in San Francisco

Expository Writing Class to be Added This Spring

Advanced Expository Writing, a new upper division three-hour writing class, will be introduced next senseter. Designed for students headed for professional careers such as medicine, law or business, or for anyone wishing to sharpen writing skills, the class will be taught to meet the needs and interests of the particular students who earoll.

David Smith, English Dept. chairman, said the class helps fill a "huge gap in the curriculum."

"In the past, no instruction in expository writing has been provided beyond college composition," he said. "Any student planning to enter a job where writing skills are important would find this course invaluable."

Pam Harris, of the Journalism and Communications Dept., will teach the course. She has written for a wide variety of publications.

"Students can expect a workshop format," she said about teaching style. "We will read and analyze a variety of writing—especially periodicals in the fields of individual students."

"Producing a piece of writing for publication will be one of the projects of the course," she said.

Because of its interdisciplinary nature, the course is creating enthusiasm among many departments across the campus.

"This class should be required of all upperdivision students," Smith

Tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, the class is limited to 15 students.

Journalism Department Offers Second Semester Seminar

Dan Rather, Sarn Donaldson, Edna Buchanan, and Linda Ellerbee will make appearances in the Journalism Department's Seminar Room second semester, according to chairman R. Lynn Sauls.

"Not in person, but in their best-seller books," he said. "The entire Journalism faculty and students who register for the one-credit course, Communicator's Bookshelf, will mentator's Bookshelf, will met six evenings during the semester to discuss the books selected."

Sauls will lead the first discussion of Pulitzer prize winner Edna Buchanan's The Corpse Had a Familiar Face. The book is an account of police reporting for the Miami Herald.

Pam Harris will lead the discussion on Sam Donaldson's Hold on Mr. Presidentl, Frances Andrews on Linda Ellerbee's And So It Goss, Volker Henning on Dan Rather's The Cameta Neyer Blinks, and Sauls on the Poynter Institute's anthology of prize-winning pieces, Best Newspaper Writing of 1988.

The course has two purposes, said Sauls. "To provide opportunity for students to read some well-written books about communicators and communicating and to give them a chance to interact with teachers and classmates in discussing the content, meaning, and significance of some books important to the field of communication."

Communicator's Bookshelf is open to students who are not in the department, said Sauls, but space priority will be given to broadcast, news-editorrial, and public relations majors and minors. "The ideal number for this kind of course is eight to 12," he said, "But we will allow up to 15."

Students who want to reserve a place should sign up at the Department of Journalism and Communication in Brock Hall

Business Club Names Officers

by John Negley

This year's Business Club, (Alpha Kapap Fsi) is determined to get everyone involved in the activities they have planned. In fact, to get more people to sign up, the club gave away a free dinner for two to the Olive Garden to Greg Glass.

The new officers were chosen this year from the executive committee nominated last year. They are: President, David Van Meter; V.P. of Religious Activities, Ervin Brown; V.P. of Public Relations, John Negley; V.P. of Social Activities, Skip Holley; V.P. of Records, Gayle Miller; and V.P. of Finance, Todd Werner. Other members of the executive committee include: Rob Fulbright, Don Gates and Chuck Kendall. This year's sponsors are Kim Arellano, David Haley, and Dan Rozell.

.............

English Club Views Shakespearian Comedy

by Sheila Draper

The English Club held its first official function on Saturday night, October 14. About fortyfive people from Southern attended the Shakespearian production of "Twelfth Night." The play centers on a twin brother and sister who are separated in a shipwreck and eventually reunited after a series of mishaps. It was presented by the North Carolina Shakespeare Festival at the UTC Fine Arts Center. David Smith, English Club sponsor, said, "I thought the characters were very well-cast. I especially enjoyed hearing Shakespeare's songs put to music. Sometimes that isn't often presented."

Amanda Sheffield, who also attended, commented, "I thought Malvolio (one of the characters) was very well-cast. This was my first Shakespearian play and I was very impressed."

was very impressed.
Karen Alvarez
continued, "I really like the stage setting. It was simple but versatile. The plot was easy to follow,

Rick Mann remarked that even thought he had seen the play before, seeing it again had been very enjoyable.

Overall, those who attended seemed to have a good time. Having such a high-caliber performance available to us in the Chattanooga area was very rewarding.

A Southern Weekend

Clockwise from top left: Amy Holback advertises deodorant, Marina Nieves plays Pictionary (her audience is shown at middle left), Dr.Wohlers and his lovely wife Rita set the tone for the Men's Club Boat Cruise, Angel Echemendia and MichelleElliott. Photos by Sean Terretta and Brian Hartman.

Softball

Continued from p. 1 extremely upset when it was forced to forfeit both of its games. Keppler was unable to attend the tournament and not enough of his players showed up to field a team

Machado was the acknowledge favorite going into the tournament. His team won the tournament the past two years and was undefeated during the regular season. Despite the untimely loss Echemendia, Machado defeated Hayes twice in the finals to win the championship. Thus, he is able to claim back to back to back championships, something his beloved Lakers have been unable to accomplish.

The tournament ended about 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning, leaving the victors to celebrate and the vanquished to plan for next year's revenge. The general consensus according to participants was that the tournament went well. Tensions were high, upsets were abundant, play was of high quality and everyone enjoyed the competition. Everyone, that is, except Keppler's team.

POW

Continued from p. 1

"I was a stone-cold atheist in Viet Nam " DeGrau said. "I knew more about Buddha than Jesus

He said as a prisoner he was blind, bald, and looked like a survivor of the Nazi death camp Auschwitz. "I knew I was going to die in that

Invited to the White House to lunch with then President Jimmy Carter, DeGraw was decorated for heroism in combat and for valor for his work in the Middle Fast

He was also nominated for the Congressional Medal of Honor by his commanding officer and received the Army Commendation

"I went to Southeast Asia for my class trip," he jokes, "I'm not the likely person God would present Himself to DeGraw said his purpose for telling his story is to "Lift up the Greatness of the Lord. His love and His forgiveness, and His willingness to provide salvation for everyone regardless of what you have done."

SM Writes from Puerto Rico

hy Laura Mann

Do you like adventure, traveling, and hours of hardwork? If yes, I have the perfect job for you-be a student missionary.

For instance, I came to Puerto Rico two months ago to be an English teacher, but when I arrived I found another suprise. I was going to teach the two subjects I hated the most "math and science." What an

Besides unexpected surprises an SM gets a chance to travel to many places. Although Puerto Rico is a small island, there are lots of beautiful places to see. I found the beaches quite

Finally, you have all the hard-work of teaching thirty. hyper-active children. But, even after you've screamed and punished them, they still come and give you a nice big hug.

This is my life as an SM in Puerto Rico. Come ioin in the fun, doing God's work.

Just for the Health of It

by Darlene Almeda, R. N

O: Is there a sure cure for acne?

A: The phrase "sure cure" is this may cause permanent pretty powerful. First let's discuss what acne is. Acne vulgaris occurs when the duets of the sebaceous (oil) glands get plugged with bacteria, sebum (oil), and dead cells. When this material is oxidized it takes on a black color. This is not dirt. We call them do without make-up give water blackheads or comedos. Pimples will then form when continuous pressure from the oil brakes through the walls of the ducts and escapes into the tissue to cause swelling and redness. Scarring cousin who just happens to have takes place depending on the extent of damage to the duct.

As far as acne control is concerned you will be relieved to learn that no relation has been made between acne and diet. So if you do not mind the fat, sodium, sugar, calories and chemicals in junk foods go right ahead. But do remember that a balanced diet is the key to health maintenance. Nevertheless, allergies to chocolate look very similar if not identical to acne. So if you break-out your physician or dermatologist. after eating chocolate products take the possibilities of allergic aware of the fact that acre is not reactions into consideration. Also hormone imbalances will affect oil production thus increas- behavior as much of the uneduing the risk for acne. This may be cated public wishes to believe. triggered by stress, puberty, and Now you know better. menstruation

Frequent and vigorous scrubbing and washing of affected area should be avoided especially during the cold and dry winter months. Once or twice a day with a mild soap will suffice. Also abstain from squeezing pimples. Yes, Iknow I am asking alot from you but scarring and further infection. Another vital factor, ladies, is make-up. By trying to cover up pimples with make-up and concealer you may be aggravating matters because of their oil base. If you absolutely cannot based cosmetics a try Useful medications include antibiotics. These must be prescribed to you by your physician not your roommate's some left-over from his pubescent years. Retin-A is another frequently used prescription medicine which supresses the sebaceous glands and yields and anti-inflammatory effect. Widely known over-the-counter remedies such as those containing benzoil peroxide will help increase the rate of new cell growth thus aiding the dead ones to slough off. All these methods of control should be supervised and approved of by

And last but not least be related to uncleanliness, dietary discrepancies nor aberrant social

O: Which is better for you: walking or jogging? A: Walking and jogging have hoth been labeled as great forms of cardiovascular exercise. Yet many authorities agree that between the two, walking is the better. The main reason for this conclusion is that walking does not jar the ankles, knees, or hips as jogging does. Our joints were not designed to receive the high impact caused by each bounding step in a job. Have you heard of low impact aerobics? Well, walking holds the same principle that doing the optimal amount of cardiovascular and high endurance exercise with the lowest risk of injury or damage to the joints

Walking is indeed an aerobic exercise. I am not referring to the leisurely strolls one takes at the mail but rather to a brisk walk with arms swinging at the sides and torso aligned with the legs. To make the most of your walks and to get maximum cardiac results, authorites suggest that you walk for 30 minutes 3-5 times each week. The regularity, my friend, is the key. One can only reach his highest level of health through regular exercising. Because walking is aerobic it will burn not only fat on your legs but throughout the enitre body. When walking, the back and abdomen get an excellent workout by keeping aligned with the legs. Since mile for mile jogging burns only 20% more calories than brisk walking, why take the risk of joint injury when a good brisk walk will do the job? Regardless of which one you choose to do, walking or jogging, remember not to do it after dark or by yourselves, ladies.

.

S.C. Students will be out of work for some Affected by Hurricane

by Andrea Nicholson

For many of us, it was just another newscast and one more disaster report to add to the countless number we hear daily. But to several Southern College students, hurricane Hugo meant personal disaster and devastation Alinda Martin, whose home on the island of St. Croix was among those that were damaged by Hugo on September 17, said she heard about the hurricane on the news.

"The bad winds and rain started about 2 o'clock in the afternoon," she said. "By 6 o'clock, all the phone lines were down, and I couldn't get through."

Dean Rose tried to contact the island by phone to find out any information about the families of the ladies in Thatcher, but she couldn't get through, either.

Alinda said she worried constantly and looked at the news every day for some clue of how much damage the hurricane had done to the island where her family lives

It was two weeks after the hurricane struck that Alinda finally talked to her fmaily. Her mother had tried to get through to her sooner, but there were long lines to the only phone in the area

"I can't really explain it. You have to see it to believe it," her mother said of the damage to the island. "People are running out of food, and every house has something wrong with it."

Alinda's house was located on a high elevation of the island, so her family didn't evacuate. She said her parents and brother watched as the roof was blown off three quarters of the house. They had to bail water out the windows as it rose inside

"Compared to the other homes, our damage was minor," Alinda said. Her father is a carpenter, so he will be able to repair their hourse.

Alinda's mother, who worked for the bus company, time. The hurricane destroyed all the schools, and it will be a long time before they can be Dahila Hodge called home early that Sunday morning when she heard the hurricane was going to hit near her home Her family didn't think it would do much damage in the area where they live, so she and her sister, Juliet, didn't worry at first.

But when news reports told them the damage to the island was extensive, the two sisters said they just cried and prayed that their families and homes would be spared.

It was two weeks before they heard from their mother. "I started screaming when she called," said Dahila

The Hodge's live in an apartment near the sea, so their family had to evacuate to a shelter during the storm. Dahila said her mother was injured when the shelter caved in, and her brother got food poisoning from the canned foods that were

The winds shattered the glass windows in their apartment, and the furniture was blown all over the rooms. Juliet said their apartment will be repaired and her family can move back in, but they lost all their belongings in the hurri-

Daphney Ramsey also lives on St. Croix. She talked to her family a week after Hugo struck her home. The roof blew off her house while her mom, stepdad, and little brother and sister huddled in the closet for protection. "It sounded like a bomb when the roof went," her mother said

Daphney's stepdad fixed the roof, and she said an insurance agent will be coming soon to assess the damage. She will be going home for Christmas.

There were more S.C. students whose homes were damaged in the hurricane. They said they were all a support for each other during the weeks following the storm, watching the news, crying, and praying. All are thankful that their families are alive, and they continue to pray that their island home will slowly be restored.

.......

UTC Professor to Address Journalism Club

The Journalism Club will hear Tom Griscom on Thursday, October 26. He was formerly in charge of communication and planning at the White House during former President Reagan's first term Griscom is currently holder of the West Chair of Excellence in Communication and public Affairs at UTC. He will speak on crisis communication including Exxon, Tylenol, Eastern Airlines DC10, his function at UTC, and Dan Quayle.

"Everyone is welcome to attend, but reservations need to be made.

There is a sign up sheet at the Journalism department," encourages Randall Gilliam, President of the Journalism Club. Sign up by Thursday, Griscom will speak at Churchill's restaurant. Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 5:30 p.m. Griscom will begin his presentation at about 6

October 19.

Transportation will not be provided. If you will be needing a ride, indicate so on the sign up sheet.

There is no charge. The event is sponsored by the Chattanooga chapter of the International Associate of Business Communicators

Missionary Relates ChineseExperience

by Julie Jacobs

Towering head and shoulders above the rest, Peter Luchak, 6'2", has a unique view of the people of China. Having lived in the People's Republic of China for only 15 months, he stated during the assembly program on October 12 that he is ready to go back.

Sponsored by Eden Valley Institute of Colorado, Luchak was commissioned to teach at an English language school. March of 1988 found Luchak and his wife, Rachel, at Yanbian Teacher's College.

Situated in the northeast corner of China, Yanbian Teacher's College is found in the city of Yanji. This small city with the a population of 250,000 is part of the Korean Autonomous Region which encourages Korean independence. The two-year government college for training high-school level English teachers has 100 students

The Luchak's stay in China was short-lived since they were sent home last June. The Democracy movement at Beijing made it unsafe for them to stay. Five days after the Tiananmen Square Riot, the Luchak's packed their bags and flew to the United States.

The Luchak's are anticipating their return to China. On November 7, the family will fly back to China, to complete the work they've started Foreigners have not always been allowed to live in China. The Luchaks feel privileged to be allowed to serve in this country. "The thing I am most impressed with," said Luchak, "Is the friendliness and openness of the Chinese

Besides teaching classes in English, the Luchaks plan to set up a Health Reconditioning Center. The people are curious to discover the health message practiced by the Luchak family. Healthy eating habits and personal cleanliness are not always practiced by the Chi-

The arrival of the Luchak's first child, Ellen, born in July, 1988, aroused the curiosity of many. Many questioned Rachel's care of the child. They marvelled that the child grew despite the fact she wasn't fed meat and kept heavily bundled.

"Out of the 1.4 billion people who live in China, only 60,000 are estimated to be Seventh-day Adventists," said Luchak, "There's a lot of work to do, and we just want to do our part."

The Southern Accent/McDonald's Trivia Quiz

The Southern Accent and McDonald's have joined forces to present this new feature. In every issue you will find five trivia questions. The first five correct entries recieved in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are recieved on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be recieved within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible.

This weeks trivia questions: What U.S. Congressman became the first professional football quarterback to pass for over 3000 yards in a single season while Chargers?

What was the code name for the German occupied France during late seventeenth century who was World War II?

What is the famous name attrib- moi" ("I am the state") uted to the boundary line between

Pennsylvania and Maryland which was established by two English astronomers in the 1760's? What is the term for the amount of playing for the 1960 Los Angles heat required to raise the temperature of one kilogram of water by one degree Celsius? first day of the Allied invasion of Name the king of France in the known for saying "L'etat c'est

All-Night Softball

Clockwise from top: Softball picture, another softball picture, still another softball picture. All photos by Sean Terretta

Trivia Answers

Name:

Flagball Standings

A League

Monterde	3-0
Faculty	1-1
Machado	1-1
Miranda	1-1
Eisle	1-2
Chism	0-2

B League
OBrien	3-0
Bishop	2-1
Guenin	2-1
Echemendia	1-1
Mills	1-1
Christen	0-2
Kirstein	0-2
Tracy	0-2
Women

5-0
2-0
2-1
0-3

Williams 0 - 3

From the Archives

25 years ago

Administration votes to Expand WSMC-FM. October 29, 1964

10 years ago

$2,500 in valuables stolen from the Campus Shop.

Destiny: Makes Christianity Fun

by Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

This time the stage was desolate. The rows of seats in the auditorium were empty except the first few where the actors sat. The lights were turned up and the strings of the guitar played lightly to the singing voices of those present A lively worship talk began and a rehearsal followed. It was 7:00 p.m. on a Thursday nighttime for the 90 minutes practice for members of the Destiny Drama Company

Southern College's drama group was started by two students and campus ministries in 1979, making this year its 10th anniversary. Through Christian theatrical arts the group tries to convey the pertinence, power, and personality of Jesus and His gospel. It has performed throughout the southeastern United States at academics, colleges, youth rallies, the streets of Gatlinburg, and Hamilton Place Mall in Chattanooga. "Destiny is probably one of the more recognized Christian theatrical groups in the denomination," says director Allan Martin

Martin and the audition committee, which is made up of faculty specifically from the speech and English departments and C.A.R.E. ministries, chose this year's 15 members. The group is limited to 15 members because it is a "very functional number," says Martin. This makes the audition committee's job very difficult because "There are a lot of talented people on this campus." Members are eventually chosen hecause of good citizenshin records and good academic standings. The committee also observes each auditioning student's display of commitment and dedication

Each week for 90 minutes the members meet in Lynn Wood Hall to take care of business matters and to rehearse for upcoming performances. Because Destiny is an outreach ministry, it schedules off campus performances twice a month. This explains why they rarely perform on campus.

Tricia Green who joined Destiny for the first time this year says she wanted to be a part of Destiny because it "Makes Christianity look fun." Destiny offers each member something special. Rochelle Battistone who has been a member for three years says, The one thing I like about Destiny are the friends I make." For David Denton, who has been in Destiny for six years, it has been the source of emotional growth, "The unity you have with fourteen different people who love the Lord just rubs off on you," says Denton. Destiny has also provided Denton with the opportunity to sharpen his creative writing skills. This year's home show will be written and directed by Denton and George Turner. Denton adds that when the group first began, all of the material was original but gradually the group stopped writing original skits; however, this year "Hopefully we will have an original play for the home

show ' Destiny is financed soley through C.A.R.E. ministries. Public Relations and other exposure has helped it financially. The group also receives a stipend for traveling accomodations and expenses. The group's tour advisor is Elder Jim Herman, and its administrative sponsor is Dr. Don Dick.

During the mid-term break Destiny will perform at Andrews University, in the Pioneer Memorial Church and in the Crossroads Sabbath school. There, the seats will fill with an audience. The lights will dim. The stage will come alive as Destiny presents the Holy Spirit though its dramatic abilities and Christian commitment.

C.A.R.E. Week Octobeer 22 - 27

Monday - Balloon Day - Give a balloon Tuesday - Flower Day - Give a flower Wednesday - C.A.R.E. Day - Give a C.A.R.E. card Thrusday - Button Day - Share a thought Friday - Hug Day - Share your appreciation

"The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe" will be shown in the cafeteria for lunch in a four part series on Tucsday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Balloons, flowers, and C.A.R.E. cards will be available at the student center on the designated days. Balloons are free and the flowers are $.50.

Paper with which to make buttons will be available at the Student Center, Monday through Thursday. After you have designed your button, return it to the student center where it will be assembled for you.

Greater Love Hath No Man Than This . . .

by David Wingate

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

I met Jesus at a confused stage of my adolescence. I did not desire to be close to him for we had nothing in common. But He persisted and showed me letters He had written. Through these writings I found the love, counseling, and generosity of Jesus Christ—who has completely changed my world. destruction, I found detoured thorough His compassion. Unlike other friends, Jesus was not shy about expressing love.

He shows me adoration through His patience and warmheartedness. On occasions I will push Him aside, and though this must hurt, He always seems to understand.

Whenever I am in a bind, my Friend and I determine plausible solutions. His amazing wisdom helps to keep my life on steady ground.

Through His counsel, I have occursed to the country of the counsel, I have occursed to love and forgive my enteries. During my child-hood my stepfather and I did not get along. Many times I expressed shared toward him. But a Presence conforted me and silenced my cries of anguish. I learned that this Presence was the warm embrace of my dearest Companion, I seas Christ. He taught me to behold others with eyes of compassion.

Along with this new outlook, my Friend has given me many more cherished gifts. He helped me to purchase a car, handed me money in times of need, provided me with resourceful books, and at present is helping to finance my education. His extreme generosity has prompted me to pursue the same quality.

My greatest gift from Jesus puzzles me, but I know He searfifeed a lot for it. I committed a crime—one deserving of death. He, however, was inno-cent and worthy of eternal life. But my Best Friend took my place! He paid the price of death and suffering for me. Thus, I became guiltless and no longer required execution. He gave me life and told me this gift was for veryone.

Many years have passed, but our friendship grows stronger. Leontinue to learn and depend upon Jesus and try to introduce Him to others. If you are not yet acquainted with my Friend, I know He desires your company. Call on His name. He is sager to express His love and heal your heataches. Surely, greater love hath no man than this...

Community Service Center Aids Hurricane Victims

by Kerri Healey

The Seventh-day Adventist Community Service Center works with other Chattanooga area agencies and denominations to help people in need. Although it's services are mainly devoted easiern Chattanooga, they were recently extended to residents of Bishopville, South Carolina.

On September 22, Hurricane Hugo struck the South Carolina coastline with full fury. Charleston was devastated, and many surrounding cities received considerable damage. A tomado emerged from the storm and flattened the town of Bishopville, population 3,500. According to Lee County administrator Barry Hickman, 589 homes were severely damaged, and another 102 were beyond repair. The tomado caught up many mobile homes, and scattered them about. 236 of them were de stroyed, and 214 suffered major damage. All of the major businesses in town displayed moderate to severe damage. The cotton crop was spread far and wide giving the fields a snow covered appearance.

When the news of this calamity reached Chattanooga, many people pulled together to prepare necessary relief for the victims. The Adventist Community Service Center was chosen as the central point to bring the supplies. Channel 12 News and WDEF picked up the story, and appealed to the public for food, paper products, and other needed materials. The response seemed slow at first. but as the days passed, the provisions began to pour in. Some volunteers stood at the doors to help bring in the donations, while others organized and boxed the supplies. The names, addresses, and goods were recorded. Even with all the commotion, there still appeared to be an atmosphere of order, as each volunteer did his or her job tirelessly and cheer-

At the beginning of the last week in September, the upstairs classroom at the Adventist Community Service Center exhibited only one lonely pile of donations. However, as the days went by, the pile increased, so that by the middle of the next week, the once vast expanse of floor space was now covered with a tremendous mountain of box and the pile of the next week.

In order to lessen the confusion when the workers arrived at their destination, each box of goods was prepared to supply adequate food for a specific number of days.

After a week of fastpaced organization, vans from Southern College and the Adventist Community Center were scheduled to take the boxes to South Carolina. Some-one had gone ahead earlier searching for the best location to take the supplies. Word came back that Charleston was over-whelmed with trailers full of food, and the search began for another city. After consulting with the South Carolina governor. Bishopville was agreed upon as the recipient town.

Seven representatives from the Adventist Community Service Center left with the vans at 4:30 on the morning of October 4, 1989. The head van carried a banner (graciously donated by a local printer) that read "Hugs for Hugo-- Chattanooga Cares." From the beginning their efforts were greatly welcomed. Several workers distributed food, while others helped with repair work, and assisted in other areas These volunteers worked overtime to provide all the help they could give.

The main purpose of each volunteer was not "What will I get out of it?", but rather, "What can I do to help?" Without these people, "Hugs for Hugo" would never have been possible. The unselfish giving of Chattanooga shows that when it comes to helping a neighbor, Chattanooga truly shines.

VIEWPOINTS

"Mid-term break may be canceled next year because some students are leaving early and skipping classes. How do you feel about this matter?

We are old endecide (about skipping classes) for ourselves -Evan Veness

I feel it would be mosunfortunate if they did away with it. -Jose Montes home early, I think it is Rob Dickson

but not more than one Dean Mathis

Hard Rock I feel that college students deserve a break from all thier hard work -Rebecca Suriner

I think we're old enoug to decide if we want to skip classes or not -"C.J." Taylor

It brings back lovely memories of my freshm -Anissa Housely

If they want to skip, they will. Mid term or no. -Lisa Hollinger

Events

Friday, October 20 Mid-Term Break!

Saturday, October 21 Church Service, Gordon

Rietz Sunday, October 22 Nora Kyle, Flutist

Ackerman Auditorium, 8:00 Tuesday, October 24

Alexander Troandze, Pianist Ackerman Auditorium, 8:00 p.m.

Thursday, October 26 Assembly, Church H.M.S. Richards, Jr. 11:00 a.m.

Friday, October 27 Vespers, Church 8:00 p.m.

Saturday, October 28 Southern College Choral Extravaganza, P.E. Center 8:00 p.m.

Sunday, October 29 Set Clocks BACK One Hour! Monday, October 30 SA Picnic Supper

Tuesday, October 31 SA Barn Party

Thursday, November 2 Last day to drop a class and automatically receive "W."

SA Apple Dumpling Gang

AROUND THE TOWN

MUSIC

Monday, October 23 "Work of Haydn' Chattanooga Symphony Treasure Series, Silver Ball-Read House. Call 267-8583.

SPORTS

Saturday, October 21 UTC vs. Citadel. Chamberlain Field.

Call 755-4618.

Earn Cash Selling Ads

Call Ext. 2721 for details

"Doesn't every Pre-med deserve a choice?"

Tom Garcia, M.D. (UAG '75)

"The right choice was there when I needed it. I made that choice, and now I'm a physician. My alma mater may be just right for you. It's your choice."

Universidad Autónoma de Guadalajara School of Medicine Guadalaiara, Mexico

The International Choice

For your free video preview call: 1-800-531-5494

Index

P. 2 Editorials P. 3,5 News P.4 Religion P.6 Features P.7 SM Letters

P.8 More News P.9 Health

P.9 Health P.10 Fall Fest P.12 Viewpoints

Volume 45, Number 5

Photo by Sun Terrort

Student Profile Page 6

Photos by Scan Terrena

Fall Festival Photo Feature Pages 10, 11

November 2, 1989

Earthquake Shakes West Coast Students

By Steve Stilson

Claire Gonzalez, an 18 yearold Business major at Pacific Union College, chats with her friend Darren Dee as he drives onto the lower level of the San Francisco Bay Bridge.

The time is 5:03 p.m.
They had attended PUC's SA
Fall Pienic that day in Golden Gate Park, and had left early to go shopping in San Francisco.
Just that morning, Claire had said she didn't feel a part of any big events in the world.

Suddenly the car swerved out of control. Claire glanced up in time to see a wall fall in front of them. "It took me a few seconds to figure out that this wall, which I hadn't seen before, was the bridge!" she says.

The time is 5:04 p.m. Darren pulled over and stopped, saying "It's an earthquake!"

quake:

Angelica Fisher, the passenger in the back seat, got out and ran ahead. She saw water spraying up from a broken water main. "I really thought the bridge was sinking," she says. "I thought This is 1, guys! Let's get out of here now!" who screamed. They grabbed everything out the car and sprinted back to Treasure Island, the Island in the middle of San Francisco Bay. There another aftershock hit them. Angelica thought about the people that were important to her. "Oh man! I really didn't get to say good-bye!"

In another vehicle, Camille Hogaboam, a junior nursing student and sister of Walla Walla College senior Jeffrey Cont. on p. 5

ho ya gonna call? Barn Party Grand Prize Winner: Greg Cruz, Jeff Gang, and Walt Hutton

Grammy Nominee Phipps to Perform

By Andrea Nicholson

The Collegedale Church will house some powerful preachin' and gospel singin' on Thursday, November 16, when Wintley

Phipps visits Southern College. "He's very very dynamic and good with young people," said Craig Lastine, Student Association president. Lastine invited Phipps to Southern after hearing him speak at an Adventist Intercollegiate Association National Leadership Convention in Washington, D.C. last April.

Phipps will speak at the Student Association's 11 a.m. assembly program in the church November 16. That evening. Phipps will perform a sacred musical concert in the church at 7 p.m.

A 1988 Grammy Award
Nominee, Phipps has performed before audiences across the United States, Europe, Australia, the Caribbean, and Africa.
He accompanied Jess Jackson on his peace-secking mission to several countries in Southern Africa in August, 1986.

Phipps became acquainted with Black American Gospel during his college days in Alabama. It was then that he first began writing Gospel music.

Since earning a Master's of Divinity degree from Andrews University. Phipps has devoted his life to reaching out to mankind. His life-long love for music has evolved into a unique multi-cultural form of Goopel music he both writes and performs.

Cont. on p. 2

Cont from n. 1

Born in Trinidad, West Indies, Phipps grew up in Montreal, Quebec. He currently lives in Columbia, Maryland with his wife, Linda, and two sons. Wintley II and Winston He is the paster of the Capitol Hill Seventh-day Adventist Church in Washington. DC

Editors Note:

Until about 4:30 a.m. EST, this was the best issue of the Accent, no

At that time, a seris of incredible human errors and even morincredible computer failures resulted in the complete, total and irrevocable loss of the entire sports page. I wish to express my sincere apologies to Jim King, our new Sports Editor, and to all those interested in the sports section. You may crucify me at will

-John Caskey

David Denton's: Bits and Pieces

In the last issue of the Accent there appeared a letter to the editor written by a disgrantled reader. This reader's main concern, if I understood her correctly, was the free use of details in the report on the rapes that have occurred recently on campus

Now, unlikely as it seems, the letter has been read and considered thoughtfully by the Accent staff. In an effort to forestall any further criticism of their handling of sensitive news stories the Editor and his assistants have agreed to drop all details from any future news articles that might be offensive to someone

I applaud this decision as a dynamic step forward in reporter-reader relations. As an intrepid (if I do say so) reporter myself, I have uncovered a working model of the style of writing we are likely to see in future Accents. As a public service, I am reprinting this model for you, thereby promoting even stronger reporterreader relations. Mind you, this is only a model, and it may or may not refer to any particular event.

Something Happened, Somewhere

Someone today reported to an unnamed source that something had happened to someone at an unknown site between the hours of 12 am and 12 midnight

It is till unclear as to whether the event was good or bad, but unconfirmed reports indicate that someone was either apprehended or not apprehended. Someone is at work on the case.

if indeed something did happen. The person in charge of the investigation was quoted as saying that due to the nature of the event that might or might not have happened, a "certain class of people should refrain from certain activities during certain times of day."

In an effort to clarify the confusion surrounding this unconfirmed possibility of an incident which might have been good or bad, an official with a certain amount of authority from an institution involved in some way with the potentially positive or negative occurrence spoke to an approximate number of people who were involved with the institution which was involved in some way with the

No names have been released due to concern for the families of those affected by the event.

At the end of each story, the editors plan to insert a disclaimer which will read as follows:

It is the sincere hope of this paper that the preceding article did not offend any of our readers. If you found this article too detailed please feel free to let us

Southern Accent

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper Sports Editor Jim Kina

Sheila Draper Gene Krishingner Layout Editor Daniel Potter

Photo Editor Sean Terretta Lifestyle Editor Circulation Julie Jacobs

Advisor Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

A Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Dissection has become a painful dilemma for many students and professors who object to killing or mutilating animals. The Animal Legal Defense Fund, a non-profit organization, has launched a national campaign to advise students and professors about alternatives to dissecting frogs, rabbits, cats, fetal pigs and other animals in the classroom.

A Dissection Information Hotline, I-800-922-FROG (3764), provides callers with information on educational alternatives to dissection, guidelines for negotiating with college officials, and suggestions for overcoming obstacles students may face as they exercise their legal rights.

A free Student Handbook outlines an eight-step plan to help students "say no" to dissection and includes a list of alter- Sincerely, native teaching aids.

I encourage you to investigate Joyce Tischler

the issue of animal dissection on your own campus and to alert your readers to the availability of the hotline to help them find alternatives to dissection.

Animal dissection has been controversial for many years, but the issue gained great prominence two years ago when teenager Jenifer Graham refused to dissect a frog in her high school biology class. Jenifer's experience, resulted in a state law giving students in grades kindergarten-12 the right to refuse to dissect

Biology, physiology and anatomy should be life sciences, not death sciences. But dissection teaches students that animal life is expendable and unimportant. All students have the right to study animal life without desecrating it

Thank you for your considera-

Food Fair Draws Crowd

by Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

The aroma of festive food greeted the guests at the door as they came to participate in the sampling of foods from around the world. On Sunday, October 29, the annual International Food Fair was held in the Spalding Elementary gym. Vendors composed of students and local church members situated themselves behind small booths and sold a variety of foods typical to the particular country their booth represented. At the Mexican booth, guests could purchase a plate of rice and black beans and a crispy burrito. Italy offered a helping of spaghetti and salad with a piece of garlic bread. The Orient offered a sizeable plate of fried rice, noodles and wontons. For those who were more adventurous. India was selling curry and rice. But for those who couldn't break themselves away from good 'ole American food, the Western American booth had tasty com-on-the-cob dripping with hutter and seasoned with a pinch of salt. The Islands provided an oasis if pına colada or fruit punch drinks for the tender palate not yet used to the hot spices of other countries. If some guests were not yet filled to their brim the Dutch and the Danish had something real sweet. Large danishes and assorted cakes could be purchased from the Danish or a heaping scoop of soft serve icecream topped with popular toppings could be bought from the Dutch. For some, this was still not enough. After finishing his entree' and desert, Wayne Stevenson, a sophomore at Southern, got up and began round two. "It was a real international experience," he said.

Others were more conservative their first time around and purchased food from two selected booths and came back later in the day and bought their supper from two other booths. Others sampled one of everything all in one meal

While guests sauntered slowly around to each booth soft pan flutes played in the background. The first piece of live entertainment was performed by Jackie James who accompanied himself on the piano singing the theme song, "All Arc Precious." Edwin Disla received a lively applaud for the romantic Spanish song entitled, "Promise Love." Shannon Born who coordinated the entertainment said it was all performed by students from Southern.

The annual International Food Fair is sponsored by the local SDA churches. Each sponsorer is requested to bear all the costs of representing a country and providing the food. The money received from each booth is then donated to a fund for Student Missionaries at Southern College. Arleen Tolentino who is Toradze, Bravo!

On Tuesday evening, October 24, Ackerman auditorium welcomed highly acclaimed, Russian pianist Alexander Torodze

His concert program included selections from Ravel. Mussorgsky, Babadjanian, and Scarlatti, all of which he played with high emotional intensity. The audience received his interpretations of these pieces enthusiastically, and invited Toradze back onto the stage for several encores.

Toradze, a Soviet defector, has won numerous international contests including the prestigious Van Cliburn Competition. He has appeared with virtually every major North American orchestra.

Born in 1952 in Thilisi. Georgia, U.S.S.R., Toradze has not returned to the Soviet Union since August, 1983, the coordinator of the fair said that the money is given to student missionaries who are raising funds for their air fares. "If there is any money lacking for their air fares, the fund makes up the difference, this money is for them," said Tolenting

Dennis Golightly who went to South Korea three years ago received $75 toward his air fare as a result of the funds from the International Food Fair. "The fair." says Cheryl Magnant, a when he went to Spain on tour with the Bolshoi Symphony Orchestra of Moscow At that time, the pianist made a spontaneous decision to remain in the West and was granted asylum for two months at the American Embassy in Madrid. Since his arrival in New York in October, 1983, Mr. Tordadze has made his home near Manhattan's Lincoln Center.

returned student missionary, "really rakes in the dough. Behind the booths of strong smelling cuisine, students, church members, CMC, and the International Club, busily worked on keeping the platters of food replenished. Meanwhile guests, who themselves represented different nationalities from the local area and the college, flittered back and forth, torn between their favorite booths

New Marketing Program Seeking Majors

By Suzanne Lettrick

The business department wants people to inquire about the new full marketing program, which offers a BAA in marketing Although the program has been going since the beginning of fall, not many people have heard about it because it was added after the course catalog was published.

Cliff Olson, the new business teacher, said that he hopes more students will look into this program.

There are now 15 marketing majors.

One reason he thinks people should inquire is that it will help people in every career because People always have to market

"More CEO's come from a Marketing background than any other."

themselves everyone should take a marketing course." He quoted Fortune magazine saying, "Out of the Fortune 500 companies, more chief execurive officers come from a marketing background than any other area in business.

Olson said the field of marketing is "a hot area for students. The forecast is for the job outlook to increase.

Among careers that can be reached by majoring in marketing are advertising, marketing management, market research, and sales

"Marketing courses will give students experience in the field," Olson said. In the marketing management course the students will do a real marketing plan for a real business," and in the sales management course, the students are video taped to see how they can improve their selling skills

Within a year there will be a total of eight marketing courses offered. Olson, who has his masters in marketing, and Vinita Sauder, a new teacher, make up the marketing faculty.

For more information about the marketing program see

C.A.R.E. Week Appreciated by All

Often, during the hectic days of sleeping, working, and studying, many students don't get the chance to let their friends and aquaintances know how much they are appreciated. C.A.R.E. Week gave everyone the opportunity to let others know just how special they are.

Monday was Balloon Day, and one could see brightly colored balloons printed with "We Care" dancing above backpacks and book bags. Many of the orange colored balloons were decorated as floating jack-o-lanterns with comical faces bringing smiles and stares from passersby. The balloons were also used as an innovative way of sending a message to a fellow student.

Tuesday brought about another way of expressing appreciation: flowers. It was neat to see the bright carnations given around campus. In fact, one student had bought a carnation to share with "anyone who looks like he needs to be cheered up a

Wednesday was C.A.R.E. Day, and it gave everyone the opportunity to send a little note of cheer to someone. "I think it's great that we can have something that encourages everyone to participate, since almost everyone has someone he appreciates," noted one fresh-

Thursday gave students the excuse to share their thoughts with buttons. Students chose and designed the buttons, and John Lazor and Ed Santana snapped the buttons together. Friday was Warm Fuzzie Day, and it was great, according to one freshman, because "It gave me a chance to give people hugs." Another freshman was quick to add, "I thought it was a great idea since I'm a firm believer in bug therapy

"I think it's great to show friends that you care about them and not have a special reason for having to, like a birthday or illness," Sandi Floyd reflected as she fondly smiled at the latest picture her boyfriend had drawn

"I thought the flowers and balloons were the best ideas because you could give them to people and cheer them up while you also let them know you value their friendship," said Kevin Wright when he was asked what his favorite day was.

Overall, C.A.R.E. Week was enjoyed by both the givers and the receivers. Whether it be a flower, hug, balloon or a card, it seems that people enjoy being appreciated - no matter what week it happens to be.

.

Illuminating 'This Present Darkness'

By Andrew C. Nash

For most, this past Halloween was a time for thrills, trick-ortreating, and games; however, for devil worshipers, it was a ninth Halloween, prompting thousands of sacrifices to Satar across the nation. You can bet it was a festive night for demons everywhere, including those in the Chattanooga area...

Much of this information was given by former Satan-worshiper. Eileen (last name withheld) during a seminar in Orlando, Florida, several weeks ago. According to Eileen, who made her first sacrifice at age five, every ninth Halloween all of the devil's followers are expected to "celebrate" the occasion by making a human sacrifice. Eileen used to play a major role in these horrifying ceremonies. Then she met

At the seminar, an audience of Orlando residents, including several Adventist school teachers, was astonished to hear that Eileen had been given, from Satan, the power to see demons and angels. When asked if she could see demons and angels in the meeting room, Eileen hesitated and then responded, "Yes."

The demons are about eight feet tall, according to Eileen, while the angels are slightly larger and holding massive swords of light.

Eileen cited the novel, This Present Darkness, by Frank E. Peretti, as a close resemblance to how it really is in the unseen world. In the book, a small town is inhabited and fought over by demons and angels of God. The primary power source for the angels is the ascending prayers of the people. Only with this "prayer power" are the angels justified in ridding the town of the demons. As Christians, we sometimes get discouraged when our prayer requests seem to go unanswered. But knowing that our prayers are directly aiding our guardian angel's war against demons should make us even more excited about talking with the

"For we are not contending against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against the powers, against the world rulers of this present darkness. against the spiritual host of wickedness in the heavenly places (Ephesians 6:12, RSV).

......

Potter Preaches Here

Jon Mourglia (pronounced "Mor-Ya") of "The Potter's House" will be teaching at Southern College, Friday, November 10 at 8:00 p.m. in the church. Mourglia has been a potter since 1965 and became a Christian in 1970. His teaching of "The Potter's House" precedes "The Great Passion Play" in Eureka Springs. Arkanasas and is a regular presentation of the Elpa M Smith Found tion which operates "The Great Passion Play". Mourolia is also a lecturer with The Thomas F Staley Distinguished Chris tian Scholar Lecture Program. "The Potter's House" is a unique ministry through the medium of pottery, which combines Mourglia's natural talent as a potter with a spiritual gift of teaching the Word of God. His teaching involves bringing a potter's wheel, along with a variety of finished vessels, and using them to illustrate the different points he teaches.

As he makes a form on the potter's wheel. Mourglia parallels the physical with the spiritual, using pottery as the example, much the same way that Christ used parables. When Christ spoke to farmers He used elements they understood such as crops, seeds, soils and the seasons. When

> He taught fishermen. He related to the things of the sea to explain spiritual principles. When he teaches, Mourglia relates the Master potter with Father God, the potter's clay with human flesh, centering of the clay on the potter's wheel with truth, water with the Spirit, the forming of the vessel with the growth of the individual Christian, the fire of the kiln with spiritual trials, sealing glaze with baptism, a finished cup compared to communion, and ashes with humility.

Continued from p. 1

Hogaboam, was driving with two of her friends on the upper level 100 feet past the point where the "wall" fell. She heard a repeating thumping noise and almost hit the side rail. "Oh no, not another flat tire," she said. She pulled over and checked the tires. They were OK. Then she looked back. There was nothing there, not even a lane of traffic, except for one car. That car pulled up heside them, and the man inside yelled "It's an earthquake!"

Camille got back in and sped off the bridge at about 80 mph. Her wheel alignment was damaged because of the big cracks she drove over on the rest of the bridge. but otherwise, she and her car are okay.

Jill smith, a sophomore, was talking to a saleslady in the glass counter in Nordstrom's in Union Square. "When it hit, the saleslady turned white, looked around and swore," she says. "Glass started falling everywhere. 1 remembered that I should look for a doorway, but there weren't any around.

"Ann Angevick and I just stood there, clutching each other, and I cried. I remember thinking, am I saved at this moment? I knew the answer should be yes, but I wasn't sure, so I was real nervous Outside, she waited in line at a pay phone to call 911. and the operator told her to wait 45 minutes before driving, to avoid aftershocks.

Most people didn't. "There was panic on the streets. The traffic lights and electricity were out, and no one obeyed right of way," she says. "It took us five to six hours to get home.'

"The whole way back, we talked about how trivial life is, and that brought us all together."

Jeri McMurray, the Social Vice-President of the SA who was responsible for the Fall Picnic, had a sleepless night waiting for two students who hadn't returned from San Francisco, "Who would have thought that the day most of the students were downtown would be the day it happened!" she says. "As each one returned, I went up to him and said, "Oh, I'm so glad you're back!" By 10 a.m. the next morning, everyone had returned

John Collins, the PUC Vice-President for Student Services, was at the world series game which had to be evacuated, "You could hear the earthquake as the stadium shook. Many people thought it was going to collapse," he says The earthquake registered at 6.9 on the Richter Scale and, according to the New York Times, the U.S. Geological Survey says there is a 60 percent chance of a 7.5-8.0 quake along the San Andreas Fault within the next 30 years

There was no damage to PUC, except for some cracks in a condemned building. A staff member fainted in the Financial Administration Building The Angwin Volunteer Fire Department was called to look for gas leaks in Santa Cruz County. says Louis Lique, a volunteer fire fighter.

Keith Wheeler, the Principal of Monterey Bay Academy, reported very minor damage. One cafe window fell out, and a chandelier fell from the chapel. Their electricity was out for 30 hours, and a number of dishes broke in faculty homes. No one was hurt. "A number of students stayed in faculty homes because they were scared of the continuing aftershocks, about 4.0 Richter, which were centered about 4 miles from our campus!" he said. "It appears the Lord's presence was very evident here.' Peter Ringering, a Walla Walla College freshman engineering major, reported that every single Amateur radio band and all five OSCAR satellites were used up to relay messages to San Francisco.

Nursing Dedication Slated for Sabbath

Nursing students at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists will be honored Saturday. November 4, during candlelight service at 6 p.m. in the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church.

David Smith, chairman of the English department at Southern College, will address the 59 nursing students to be dedicated. His message is entitled "The Healing Touch.

Coordinator of the program is Dorothy Hooper, associate professor of nursing. Students will hold dedication candles which will be lit by their nursing instructor. Representatives from the Gideon Society will present Bibles to the nursing students. The nursing class will recite the International Nursing Pledge and sing their class song, "I Am Willing." A slide presen-tation will show scenes from the students' classes and lab activi-

The public is invited to attend this special event. Currently, 273 students are enrolled in the Southern College nursing program, 39 more than last year. Of that number, 151 are pursuing the associate degree (A.S.), while 122 are working toward a bachelor of science degree in nursing. Forty-nine registered nurses in the Chattanooga area are participating in Southern's Consortium program which allows nurses working full time to earn their B.S. degree over a 4 or 5-year

Southern Accent / McDonalds Trivia Quiz

21

3)

This weeks trivia questions: What is the term for a form of a verb that ends in ing and funtions as a noun in a senteence? Name the Roman slave who in the first century B.C. led an insurrection of slaves that defeated several Roman armies before being crushed? What is the term used to describe the heating of the atmosphere owing to the presence of carbon dioxide and other gases?

What was the slogan used by President John F. Kennedy to describe his goals and policies?

Name the famous English nurse of the nineteenth century who established a field hospital for British soldiers wounded during the Crimean War?

Last Weeks Answers:

Jack Kemp D-Day

The Mason-Dixon 31

Line Calorie

Louie XIV 5)

Last Weeks Winners: With Five correct answers:

> Thomas Huntress Ben Keppler Eileen Lopez Mark Linke

With Four correct answers (selected by random drawing)

Dale Lacra

BULES:

The first five correct entries recieved in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are recieved on the same day the winners will he determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be recieved within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible.

Look to the Cross, then Look Again!

by Bill Kittle

Every time I open my Bible, I find it more and more beautiful. That may seem like a normal thing for a ministerial candidate to say, but for me it seems strange to be headed in that direction. For many years I fought against the One who had the power to transform my worthless existence into something valuable.

Many good people have put forth great efforts in my life so that I might obtain peace for my warweary soul. Yet, not one person can match the greatest gift of all, Jesus, In Him I find rest. I can feel His love in the warmth of a hug or in the rays of the sun on my face. I can see His love in the kind deeds of people who care. I can hear His love in the kind words spoken by a friend. In all my life no one has so surrounded me in love as Jesus has. Jesus, what a beautiful name! I could say it a million times at His feet and never grow weary of His name or of His company.

I look back on my life and ask myself, "How did God ever make a somebody out of me?" I guess it was always the feeling that He was near, always at my side to support me and to lift me up when I was down. Inevitably I would look again at His broken body, and He would transform my life once again.

In Isaiah 45:22 God speaks to each need of our hearts. He says, "Look to Me and be saved, all you ends of the Earth! For I am God, and there is no other" (NKJV). It is as if God says to me,

"In Me only can you find peace for your life. In Me alone will your life be filled with joy! Look to Me and be saved." He also invites us.

"Come unto Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" Matt. 11:28.

Rest for your souls, rest and peace in your life. We should look again to the cross of Jesus, to be saved. Look again! Look again! And look again!

Student Profile: Adrianne Zukovski

By Izear Feagins

"Will I know everybody at Southern? Will I make friends? These were the questions of Adrianne Zukovski when she came to Southern in the fall of Adrianne who was born in Sao Paulo, Brazil did not want to come to America because of racial segregation among blacks, whites, and hispanics; however, because her parents are missionaries who received a call to Miami, Florida, she had to go.

When Adrianne moved to America, she had to choose a college. She chose Southern. She said that although she spoke poor English, the students of all races were patient and kind to her. They came to sit and talk with her just like a friend. Because of this southern hospitality, she no longer doubted the friendliness of the people.

Adrianne is a sophomore Allied Health (nutrition) major. She wants to give lectures on how to eat and cook nutritiously. She Making people laugh is Adrianne's hobby. She said, "I like to make people laugh, they look beautiful when they pour also wants to give health tips on changing people's diets.

Adrianne has lived in Brazil and Mexico. As a result of living in these countries, she speaks English, Spanish, and her native language, Portuguese.

With Adrianne's speech and humor talents, she has had no problems making friends at Southern.

Student Missionaries Write Home

Dear friends,

It's time to snatch a few minutes for communication with you folks again! A big thank you to those of you that have written, especially Southern, who has been sending letters and the student paper—"The Accent"! Lenjoy seeing the familiar faces!

The 1st quarter is almost over, only two more weeks to go. At the mid-term, September 21, we got a sneak preview of what the Rock Islands are like. On Thursday the 21st, the Student Association took the whole school on a Rock Island picnic. We swam, ate, snorkeled, and relaxed on a little island probably only about 300 feet across. I say across because the island is made of rock that goes straight up from the water about forty or fifty feet, except for one sandy beach jutting out on one side. But the fun was only beginning That weekend we camped at another island. It was greatsandy beach, coconut trees all around, warm water, and lots of beautiful fish and shells We explored a rusty Japanese Zero at low tide (it was sticking out of water two feet), and found many animals and plants that I've only read about before. For instance, sea stars, giant calms, angel fish, trumpet fish, sea urchins, starfish, moray eels, puffer fish. many kinds of hard and soft corals, coconut crabs, and even a small black-tipped shark. I'm looking forward to going again at the end of the quarter!

is busier than ever. I'm really enjoying teaching now. I'm getting along well with the students, which is one of the most important ingredients for success here. All the teachers are being tougher than last year, and some of the rules are new, so complaints about too much homework, etc. are frequent. My class load has changed a bit because now that John Norman has arrived, he teaches Remedial English, and I teach a section of senior English. I have many other responsibilities. One of them is having Friday night vespers every five weeks or so. Then on Sabbaths, I always have some responsibility to fill, whether it's playing the piano for Sabbath School, for church, teaching the lesson (every week!), calling for the offering, being the chorister for church, having the scripture and prayer, special music, or having the sermon, which I will on the 21st of this month! On Sabbath afternoons, we, the SM's, take the student for walks and will be involved in branch Sabbath Schools very soon. Sunday, we work three hours in the morning and take turns with "being around"-student supervi-one evening a week after work, William

Back at P.M.A .- reality-life

ri sland. It was greatbeach, occonnt trees all d, warm water, and lots
utiful fish and shells, plored a rusty Japanese ing out of water two and found many animals and to the control of the shell of the shell bave a chance to go to Koror and bay food, visit the SM's in town, etc. We get the use of the school truck, a small white giant calms, angel fish,
etf fish, sea urchins, starbearing the specific fish, kinds of hard and soft economic crashs, and even some the specific fish,
with the specific fish,
which is the specific fi case. Many times, at least for me, the task looks so big that I know I have to have the Lord's help. There aren't any other options!

If you are a young person, seriously consider the option of going somewhere as a student the stress. If it wasn't for the Lord, I'm sure that would be the missionary. I recommend it!

Thanks again to those of you who wrote and for the prayers that I know some of you must be sending up for me.

David said, "Where does my help come from? My help cometh from the Lord!" Psalm 121-2

Keep looking up!

Paul

Dear Southern Friends:

Yokwe! It has been good to hear about some of the things happening at S.C., but I'm so glad God wanted me here in Ebeye this year. He's teaching me so much, and it's only October!

only october:

I had heard before coming here that there was no physical beauty on Ebeye, but I have been blessed to see more than three palm tress, some beautiful flower bushes, a big cluster of lavender flowers, and green, leafy vines by our water spigot (we don't have to boil our water!). This was more beauty

Marshall Islands

Caroline Islands

800 always changes its awesome cloud formations, often adding brilliant rainbows. Ebeye is far from paradise, but sharp eyes will see the beauty and be blessed. The people are wonderful.

than I had expected. The sky

The people are wonderful I'm getting to know my kids more and more, and love each one of them. I teach 34 fourth graders and a freshman English class. My little ones can be challenging, but God works little miracles often, and gives me visdom and love to teach them. I was often overwhelmed at first, but now I have given my class to God and it's no longer my burden. I must wait patiently for Him to work in my students. He is making changes in my class and the same control of the sam

This experience doesn't just happen here on Ebeye. It happens any time one will sincerely ask God to change him and use him to touch others. Reaching out to others is the way to be the happiest wherever one is

> Have a great year! KEEP IN TOUCH!!! Yokwe Yuk,

> > Ashley Hall

Kaselehlia (hello) from Pohnpei! Two months have passed since I arrived on this 60 mile island. I've adjusted well to the culture, and what an adjustment it was! After getting used to the fact that I am 11,000 miles from home. I've had to adjust to other aspects that have to be looked at humorously. Here, the roosters wake me up, church services are attended barefoot, and the weekly grocery trip takes 3 hours at 5 differ-

Looking beyond these little "adjustments", I can see the breathtaking nature this island possess. While swimming in a clear lagoon at the bottom of a cascading waterfall, I'm awed by the beauty. To think that this is just earth, makes the beauty of heaven unimaginable.

ent tiny stores, which make a

7-11 look like a food ware-

As far as teaching goes, well, lets just say that teachers deserve a raise! I already realize that it takes a special person to dedicate his or her life to teaching. I spend 7 hours a day with 24 ten year olds. After explaining an assignment to the class three times, I'm often faced with explaining it again individually. By the 24th time I often want to scream. Sometimes I do. Most of the time I pray, and every time the Lord listens. I have to constantly remind myself that I'm here to teach them about Jesus and to show them His love. When I think that these kids are children of the King, teaching turns into my privilege!

Well, I must end. It's late, and I have lesson plans to review. Take care. And remember, in between all the classes and deadlines, Jesus is with you!

Much love, Lorraine Antolin Pohnpei SDA School,

AIA President Visits Southern

By Craig Lastine

Ivan Bartolome was the Student Association President at Southwestern Adventist College during the school year 1988-89 and is the current Adventist Intercollegiate Association President. He visited Southern College the weekend of September 23-24. This year Ivan is a part-time student at S.A.C., and a full-time employee of the marketing department at Huguley Hospital, in Fort Worth, Texas.

CL: What brings you to Southem, Ivan?

IB: I'm visiting as many Seventh-Day Adventists Colleges as possible in North America. 1 visited Oakwood before I came to Southern, and three weekends ago I was at Union College. Basically I'm just trying to get a taste of each of the different student associations and a feeling of what the individual campuses are going through. This way I can help transmit information between the col-

CL: Ivan you are the AIA President this year? What does A.I.A stand for? What does it do?

IR- ATA acronym for Adventist Intercollegiate As sociation and it's ba sically a governing group for all the different SDA Student Organizations in North America. The A.J.A. serves to facilitate information between the different colleges. In other words, if the Student Association at Walla Walla college is doing a project and it is very successful, he should be able to chare that with all of our S.D.A. colleges and universities The A.I.A. is a useful channel for distributing that information to other schools

> CI · Who makes up the A.I.A.?

IB: Student Associations from La Sierra College, Atlantic Union College, Canadian Union

College, and Southwestern Adventist College make up the A.I.A. And I add that the A.I.A. is also trying to become an international organization. We are sending letters out to all the Adventist Colleges overseas like Bogenhaffen, Cologne, Sagunto, and Newbold inviting them to join and attend the annual convention held in the spring at S.A.C. In addition to that, we will be inviting delegates from Weimar and Hartland.

CL: We have all been here at Southern for some time, and often we take our environment for granted. As a visitor, what are your impressions of South-

1B: I've visited your campus once before, but it was only for an evening. This is the first time I have gotten to take a look inside your campus and your student association. I have to be right up front with you and tell you I'm incredibly impressed. It's obvious that your college has had a long term plan of development, and it's obvious that your administration has stuck with that plan. It has paid

CL: This weekend you attended an S.A. event, the Progressive Party. Could you comment on the activity and the interaction between students and faculty?

IB: The kids here are very vibrant. The kids that attended were willing to speak out and participate. They were, for the most part, not inhibited at all. Seeing faculty and students actually sit together and have fun is something really wonderful. Southern College is a relatively small school in comparison to our state universities. yet that is an advantage. It give you a "You're at home feeling." Your administration has been so cooperative toward the Student Association and has been willing to work with your students. It is a WIN-WIN situation everywhere you look!

Lvnn Wood Hall Open for Business

By A. Lee Bennett Jr.

Lynn Wood Hall, on the campus of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists, is once again housing classes and meetings for the first time in 4 years.

The old, wood-frame building, which is located west of Southern College's Wright Hall, was officially opened during the college's Alumni Homecoming on October 27-29; however, the 271 seat chapel for larger extra rooms which are nearly completed on the main level have already been put to use. The chapel has been used for classes, seminars, workshops, and the Humanities Film Series. The north classrooms which have been carpeted and partially furnished are being used this semester. The south room is nearly completed and will house Southem's Alumni Heritage Museum, previously located on the second floor of Mabel Wood Hall, Southern's music building.

Public relations vice-president, Dean Kinsey, said that refurbishing Lynn Wood Hall has "proved to be a blessing." The college no longer has to schedule academic classrooms and Wright Hall conference rooms for special, non-student related meetings. Lynn Wood Hall contains rooms of varying size to house seminars. It has a

The building is also used to house classes for extension programs. "Southern College has at least two masters degree programs that are extensions of Loma Linda (University) programs," said Kinsey. "They meet at Lynn Wood Hall...when they are here."

Lynn Wood Hall was originally opened in 1924 as Southem's administration and classroom building. In 1967 the administrative offices were moved into the newly built Wright Hall, the current administration building, which made room for even more classrooms in the building and the WSMC radio studios. Upon the completion of Brock Hall in 1985, the classes and the radio station moved out, and Lynn Wood Hall was closed until it became the subject of refurbishing in 1987. Southern's alumni association and Committee of 100 have spent $400,000 dollars on the main floor, which is nearly complete. Both the lower, and upper levels have yet to be completed: however, work on the lower level is under way, and already houses the Strawberry Festival studios, Southern's yearly multi-media slide show, and the college's security headquarters, previously located in the science and physics building, Daniels Hall.

For the Health of It

Q: What is the difference between a sprain and a strain?

strain?

A: A sprain is an injury to the ligaments around a joint due to a twisting motion. Actual learning of the ligament may, but nor necessarily, occur. This tearing will, cause damage to the blood vessels and allow them to reputure. During the first 2-3 hours rapid swelling and increased pant take place due to the bloeding and seeping of fluids from the damaged vessels into the thissues.

tissues.

A strain is a "musclepull" caused by excessive stress and over-stretching.
These are usually microscopic and partial tears in the actual muscles tissue.
Following a strain one will feel sudden pain accompaned by localized tenderness. Swelling as well as bruising also take place due to ruptured and damaged wessels.

Q: Is there any possibility of getting AIDS from coming in contact with body fluids on a toilet seat? A: Well, it all depends on what it is you do with the toilet seat. As of now there is no direct evidence that AIDS is transmitted through casual contact with restroom facilities. Although the virus has been isolated in a wide variety of body fluids, transmission has only taken place through semen, vaginal fluid, blood and breast milk. To become infected with the AIDS virus remember that the virus must somehow enter your blood stream. Also we must take into consideration the fact that the AIDS virus is a very fragile one once it comes in contact with the air. So the answer is no., You will not get AIDS by sitting on a "sprinkled" seat. It's not a pleasant situation but neither is it a fatal one.

"ATTENTION – HIRING! Government

Jobs – your area. Many Immediate Openings Without Waiting List or Test. $17,840 – $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885. Ext. R7418"

"ATTENTION —
GOVERNMENT SEIZED VEHICLES From $100.
Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes,
Chevys. Surplus Buyers
Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext.
A7418"

"ATTENTION – GOVERNMENT HOMES From $1 (U-Repair). Delinquent Tax Property. repossessions. Call 1-602-636-885 Ext.

Don't Worry, Be Happy

By Robert J. Kriegel, Ph.D.

Editors note: Robert J. Kregel, Ph.D.—best selling author former Al-American athlete, and mental coach for Olympic and world class athletes—bectures and consults with major corporations worldwide on peak performance, leadership and strugeties for dealing with change. Kriegel recently took part in a national tour of college compuses sponsored by the makers of Nuprin Pains Pelivery

Worrying is the negative national pastime. Everybody does it and very few find it is a postive experience. You don't think clearly or perform well when you worry. The fear of "What might happen if..." which overwhelm you, makes you feel depessed, reduces your energy, and prevents you from getting your work done.

Most of what we worry about is out of our control. You can't control other people's responses, the grade a prof will give us, whether someone will agree with us, what they think of us, the weather, traffic, roommates, money, how we look, grades, the future. The more we worry about things we can't control, the worse everything gets.

Remember this rule of thumb: You can't control other people or external situations. But you can control how well you prepare for and respond to them. In other words, you can control your information, attitude and excluses.

Worying is made up of two words: what if. "What if... they say no....l don't get the money...the professor assigns...the traffec...The key to beating the worries is to change the what if is o'li...dhens." "If they say no...then I will..." all wood on't get the money ...then I will..." Al ways change the worries in the word on the word of th

This strategy was used by President John F. Kennedy. Before his press conferences Kennedy and his aides anticipated any possible question or situation that might arise and developed answers for them. Whether a reporter asked about the Viet Nam War, the economy or civil rights, Kennedy was prepared.

Likewise, in a job interview, instead of worrying whether or not the potential employer will ask about your grades, anticipate that he or she will. Then mentally list wins, accomplishments and qualifications that your course grades might not reflect.

Get into the habt of anticipating prior to any pressure situation, whether it's an exam, an interview, a date or a tennis serve. Make a "worry lisa" then change each worry (what if) to an anticipation (iff.,then). Leaving your worries behind by focusing on what you can control enables you to concentrate your energy and perform at peak levels.

Fall Festival & Barn Party Attract Southern Spooks

Photos by Sean Terretta

Clockwise from top center: Kerry Woods and Michelle Rose admiring the costume contestants. Laura Capman, Michelle Largent, Sean Dickerson, and Cindy Coolidge discuss the Starvin' Artists' lastest hit. Robert Pittman looks on as Julie Seaton helps another Great Pumpkin rise from its patch. Woody White harmonizing on "In ever wrote a song mean enough for you" Joahnna Evans and Mike Magursky defy Halloween chills. Mystery man, definitely odd... Starvin' Artists John Elliston (vocals) and John Steen (guitar), and Brian Sitler (keyboards). Jeanne Bradley teaches Pumpkin Carving 101. Tamatha Colison gives Kathryn Vandulek a lift. And who is the Lady of the Web? We betcha can't guess!

VIEWPOINTS

Angel Echemendia, Southern Lifestyles Editor failed to ask several students the following question: Why do you think we don't have a Lifestyles section this issue?

Well he missed his appointment with me, too -Grim Reaper

We heard he was spending all his time with a girl named Michelle -A Large Crowd

-Undecided Major

I attribute it to the 1939 Nazi Invasion of Poland -Elderly History Major

-Surprised Germa

Get the facts and fear no more!

Editor in the future. -Fortune Teller

Up Coming Events

Anderson Nursing Series, Carolyn Whitaker, 7:00-9:00

Friday, November 3

Friday, November 10

Vespers, Church, 8:00 p.m.

Stan Knight

Saturday, November 4

Vespers, The Potter 8:00 p.m.

Church Service, Gordon

Saturday, November 11

Bietz Nursing Dedication,

Church Service, Gordon Bietz, 11:00 a.m.

Church, 6:00 p.m. Southern College Symphony, Collegedale Academy Audi-

Pizza and Movie, Cafeteria

torium, 8:00 p.m.

Tuesday, November 2

Monday, November 13

Atlanta Chamber Players, Church

(double chapel credit) 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 14

Organist, Judy Glass, Church (Chapel Credit) 8:00

BLOOD ASSURANCE

C.A.R.E. Day

Wednesday, November 8

SA Pep Day

International Club Teacher

Assembly, Student Association, P.E. Center, 11:00 a.m.

Appreciation Day Thursday, November 9

Chattanooga Symphony Orches-

Tivoli Theater 8:00 p.m. Call 757-5042.

For more information about humane alternatives Thursday, November 16 to animal dissection in classrooms. CALL TOLL-FREE

DISSECTION INFORMATION HOTLINE I-800-922-FROG (3764)

Assembly, Michael Williams, P.E. Center, 11:00 a.m.

A student outreach project of the Annual Legal Defense Fund

Index

- P. 2 Editorials P. 3.5 News
- P.4 Religion
- P.6 Humor
- P.7 Siblings
- P.8 Health
- P.9 Sports P.10 Features
- P. 11 Ads P.12 Viewpoints

Southern Siblings Page 7

November 17, 1989

Volume 45, Number 6

Historic Tabernacle Devestated by Fire

The smoke of the tabernacle rises above the campus, at 1.00 Sabbath aftern November 4 Hall the Tab and the entire store of canned foods was lost before the blaze, started by an electrical surge, was put out

Reverse Weekend

By Suzanne Lettrick

"He's gonna think I'm a nerd!" "He'll say yes just because he feels sorry for me" "He'll get the wrong idea", "He'll say NOOOO!!"

Forget at 1'm not going to ask him." These have probably been some of the thoughts of the gurls in Thatcher Hall this nast week. The reason? REVERSE WEEKEND HAS AR RIVED AAAAAAAAHHHHHI!!

But the girls aren't the only ones or campus who know what's taking place on November 17-19 Some of the guys remembered too and said don't care (about reverse weekend). I probably won't get asked anyway." "If I don't get asked. I'll be a hermit the rest of my life", "The only way I'll date someone is if she asks me. I'm too shy to do the asking."

It sounds like this weekend should be something to dread instead of an opportunity Dean Hobbs, and Dean Rose have given some pointers on making the most of it.

To the women

Tri-Community Fire Fighters attempt to douse the Tab's blazing

Religion Professors Deliver Papers in California

By Andrea Nicholson

Three professors in the Religion Department have written papers which they will present at a series of professional meetings in California hosted this week by various national relunous societies

Jack Blanco, Ronald Springett, and Norman Gulley will attend parts of each of the society meetings scheduled for November 15-19 to deliver their compo-

Dr Gulley has written tour papers which he is scheduled to present at three of the professional societies in San Diego and Anaheim, California One of Gulley's papers, "The Cosmic Christ of the New Age Movemnt

Continued on p 5

"If you're uncomfortable about having to ask a particular guy don't ask him. Ask someone out who you are comfortable with, instead," said

Dean Rose said, "I feet if you're unsure about asking him, ask him when you are sure If it was me, and I didn't know him well, I would hav thought it over once, twice, three and four times and then asked him out in

Hobbs said one of the important Connnued on n S

WSMC Holds AnnualPledge Drive

By Laurar Harnes

WSMC-90.5 FM amussed $40,412 during its annual membership drive held November 5-10

Jan Gentry, WSMC's development director, said the money raised during the six day drive will be used for program funding

WSMC conducted live interviews with local businesses, supporters of public radio, and allied arts of Chat tanonga, during its membership drive These interviews included a visit from Mr Pat Brock, President of Brock Candy, Chattanooga

Gentry, coordinator of the drive, said that all donors this year received the FM 90.5 Classic Calendar, composed of full-color photos taken by Chattanooga area residents

All donors were also eligible for the grand prize, a Super Party Package, in which the winner, along with 50 friends, would be treated to a private showing of one of the Little Theatre's 1989-90 season performances Other bonuses offered to those who pledged included free three month Chattanooga Times subscriptions, $20 Barrett and Company booksellers gift certificates, and Chattanooga Sym phony tickets.

The FM 90 5 gold card, which allows its members to attend special receptions and parties hosted by Continued on p 5

Editorial: What are we doing here at 5 a.m. and Why?

Several new features are making a debut in the Accent, this issue. We are now utilizing the USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network We hope that the articles gleaned from this source will be of interest to our readers. Also in this issue, the Sports page has finally materialized thanks to the efforts of Jim King and Gene Krishinger We have a new Lifestyles editor, Adrienne Cox, and a somewhat controversial Viewpoints question to inaugurate her editorshin

With regard to the previously mentioned Viewnoints overtion members of the Accent staff placed a call to Walla Walla in order to clarify our understanding of their policy found that it is in fact not a "policy" at all but, rather an experiment being conducted this quarter. Visitation is allowed for a twenty minute period between of 11:00 a m, and 7:30 n m only with express permission of a Dean. Walfa Walla officials have found that very few students are taken advantage of this privilege. As you have no doubt noticed. this issue has come out on Friday rather than the traditional Thurs deadline. Does anybody care? Doe anybody bother to read this thing at all or do Gremlins steal the stacks of newspapers off the dormitory desks and out of mailboxes in the wee hours of the morning? If any of you do read the Accent we would greatly appreciate your comments about what you like or don't like about. What would you like to see added or deleted? Do you like the cartoons? Is the Trivia Ourz a waste of space? (How can free food be a waste of space?) Would you like to see the new personal message column continued? Will you put it to

I am a history major, not a journalist. My staff has been drawn from the English, Computer Science, Nursing, and Psychology departments Thus, the production of this newspaper has been an exercise in trial and error. Both trials and errors have been numerous. However, by the grace of God, we have endured. "We stand today on the edge of a new frontier .. John F. Kennedy

David Denton's: Bits and Pieces Last Rites for the Old Tabernacle

Ry David Denton

So the old Tabernacle is gone is it? It's at least half gone. Well, well, what a diversion for the folk on a lazy Sabbath afternoon I expect there are those who were sorry to see the old thing go. I know of one who was glad to see it

"The only mistake they made." said, "was putting the fire out? Me, I'm not going to jump into that debate. There's no use crying over spit milk-or burnt buildings Question now is, what are we going to do with what's left of the struc-

Several suggestions come to mind. They could sell pieces of the building to college alumni who long for the good old days. Any alumnus who actually remembers participating in a worship service in the Tabernacle could be cut a special deal, buy one pice of charcoal, get Another closely related idea is to erect a solid fence around the building and charge a modest admission price for tourists and alumni. Anyone who could recall the original color of the sanctuary would, of course, be admitted free. Another possibility would be to let Dean Qualley use the building for his office, in the event that his present office should prove to be inadequate If none of these ideas strikes your fancy, why not give the building to the S.A.? Instead of having to go off-campus for the barn party every year, we would just trek up to the Tabernacle, re-light the burnt end of the building, and use the other side for the barn. How efficient, a barn and a bonfire in one near package

Perhaps we should consider going ahead and tearing it down instead. In its place we could erect a huge billboard so that the Collegedale police would have a legitimate place to hide from motorists. After all, setting up speed traps in the Sovex parking lot seems so unprofessional Another idea which seems to have a lot going for it (especially since I came up with it), is to lease the Tabernacle to the Volunteer Fire Department and let them have it for practice every year or so. Besides the obvious benefit to the fire department and it's volunteers, it would give the school and community a welcome diversion on some lazy Sabbath afternoon

الثاثات Southern [Accent

Editor

John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper Sheila Draper

Sports Editor Jim King

Gene Krishingner

Layout Editor

Photo Editor Sean Terretta

Daniel Potter Paste Up Virgil Covel

Lifestyle Editor Adrienne Cox

Advisor Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Access in the official student as wapaper for Southern Lord and Southern Lord and Southern Lord and it retinated every other Thursday Southern Lord and Southern Burning Old Glory: Crime or Free Speech?

In 1984 a protester burned a U.S. flag during the Republican National Convention in Dallas. That deed was wrong in the sense of being disre speciful ractless irreverent and repugnant. But desecrating our symbol of freedom manifested that the freedom itself was genuine. True, in the short run, a judge convicted the malcontent of a crime. But the United States Supreme Court, acone uncharacteristically libertarian, threw out the conviction on grounds that a law prohibiting flag burning violates the freedom of nonverbal speech. The Court probably acted wisely: rights that encompass freedom should be emphasized over objects that symbolize freedom

But President Bush seized the noment. With Congressional concurrence and popular support he pledged to seek a constitutional amendment rendering flag burning criminal once again. This extreme remedy seems Opposing such an am appear unpatrone, and organizations choosing to do so (such as People For the American Way) will take the heat, but the case is solid for accepting and not reversing the Supreme Court's declaration. If, as already suggested, the Court found correctly, then the proposed amendment puts "an asterisk on the First Amendment," possibly starting the treacherous process of ming to identify those "freedoms" that the bill of Rights does not protect. Would this upset the delicate balance between the free exercise and establishment of religion?

But beyond the ments of a particular constitutional amendment lies the amending act itself. Of this the framers were skeptical. Use it frugally, they admonished-mainly to define institutional relationships, such as those of federalism and the separa tion of power, and only rarely to cure a social iil. And, they might have added, if a social ill must be drastically addressed, be sure it is not rare. isolated, and eccentric like the incident prompting the present

Whatever the case, a number of flag desecration bills are before Congress, and the President wants something Stronger than a statute, namely an amendment to the Constitution

The House has voted 380-38 to ake flag-burning a federal crime But the numbers are complicated by the fact that tactics rather than substance motivated legislators or both sides of the issue. Voting for the bill were not only people who want flag-burners in prison, but also people seeking to forestall a constitutional amendment. Opponents were split, too, with some fearing such a statute would undermine chances for a constitutional amendment and others resisting any form of legislative attack on the Supreme Court's sound position.

(Editors note: this article is reprinted from a General Conference news letter.)

Psych Class Added

By Jo-Anne E. Stevensor

This semester psychology students returned from their summer vacations to discover that a required class would no longer be offered. Former psychology and education chairman. Dr Gerald Colvin, took a call to another campus this summer leaving the Experimental Psychology class without a teacher The psychology students were unhappy about the fact that they would have to replace Experimental Psychology with Physiological Psychology. A few students got together and re quested that Dr. Emie Stevens, Ed.D., contract teacher for the Introduction to psychology and History and Systems of Psychology classes, would teach Experimental Psychology second semester. Last week he consented to teach the class, and the class was added to the schedule

Dr. Emie Stevens has been a contract teacher here at S.C. for three years, "It will be a challenge," said Stevens, when asked about his reaction to the students' request. Experimental Psychology is not one of Stevens strengths, but he loves research and believes that teaching this class will be a learning experience for him and his students as he brings "humor and fun into the subject and presents it as a valuable field and tool for people to look at and enjoy," said Stevens.

Stevens obtained his degree at Andrews University in education and ng psychology. He is a certified professional counselor and marriage and family counselor in the Chartangong area. He is also a clinical member of the American Association of Marriage and Family therapists and a Diplomat of the American Board of Sexology. His field, he says, is probably the "most lonely field to be in," but his favorite thing about it "is to watch lives change, to see people live successful lives and reach ther potentials

Stevens also works closely with the state on a pilot program for study skills of high risk children. The program is designed to help educationally disabled children "I describe educationally handscapped as anything that keeps that child from learning," said Stevens. The program has been imated as the program of the year

"He's a very talented man," says Junior psychology major, Kristic Brown He has hands-on experien and he can bring the class alive by the examples from his own experience Stevens enjoys his chance to come to the college and teach because "it's almost a vacation from my regular routine." He also finds it a privilege to teach among "very talented teacher and students

"My favorite thing about teaching and Stevens, "is letting the student realize that the world of psychology can be a field in which a Christian of provide a much needed service to the general public in the correlation between faith and learning." Many Christians have looked down upon the field of psychology, said Stevens, but psychology is the study of sinful man, and if you are able to bridge that gap of understanding, then you are able to give someone hope."

Computer Science Department Unveils NeXT

By Izear Feavins

This past summer the Computer Science Department purchased a UNIX computer, NeXT, for academic purposes

The NeXT computer is new and was purchased by fund-raising Last spring. Americam, a comp company in Atlanta, donated a imilar five year old UNIX con puter called Dual to the Computer Science Department.

Linden deCarmo, a servor computer science major, said that the NeXT computer can store over 250,000,000 bytes of information the complete works of Shakespeare. and the Webster's Dictionary and Thesaurus It can also do any math problem a student punches into it. It can send characters on the computer screen and recorded voice messages. This computer can also play games like chess and billiards with an opponent. It is also able to do things like playing music while a student does his homework on it. Lastly, the NeXT computer has the best possible laser printing. What appears on the computer screen appears on the print out sheet. Linden said, "What you see is what you get it's an art."

Monte Mitzelfelt, sophomore computer science major, said that it is essential for a commuter science major or software engineering major to know how to use a UNIX computer eight megabytes of memory and a 330 meg hard drive is used by the Physics and Math Denartments and is very regular. Linden said that we need more UNIX computers on campus because of the great demand. He also encourages non computer majors to use the comnoter. He said that this computer is becoming standard around the

Steve Jobs, co-founder of Apple Computer when the Macintosi Computer came out, is also the founder of NeXT computer

Chamber Players Get Mixed Reviews

By Julie Jacobs

The Atlanta Chamber Players performed for a double credit assembly last Monday evening at the Collegdale Church.

Considered the "epitome of making sie" by director, Melanie Cramer, the players perform only chamber music "Chamber music is very democratic " said Cramer, "There is no conductor which makes each piece a personal experience. Performing chamber music can be very into

Feeling there was a need for a chamber group in Atlanta, GA., Melanie Cramer, flutist, and Paula Pice, pranist, founded the Atlanta Chamber Players 14 years ago. "I had no idea the group would do so well," said Crame

Performing more than 100 times each year, the players present sub scription concerts, radio and television broadcasts, college and university residences, and touring programs Included in the number of players are: Thomas lones violinist John Raynon violist and Ian Ginstoure celloist.

Student response to the concert was varied, "The music was very relax ing.," said Tracle Wolcott, Public Relations major, "The whole program was quite entertaining

Robert Fetters, Biology major, said, "The concert was a most impressive performance. It gave me three things namely two assembly credits and one core tail hone

"Explaining" the Inexplicable? cording to "Mysteries of the Bible, the

€Copyright 1989, USA TODAY

are could have been responsible for some of the Ten Plagues of Egypt, which

It's on hotel bedside table

facts about the Bible's wine it away

to the laws of God.

Bible beginnings

the U.S., but did you know these

The English word "bible" is derived from the Greek word "biblia" to

The original language of the Old Testament was Hebrew, then which is a fine parchment made from the skin of lambs or calves.

The proper way to discard an old Bible is to wrap it up before

Gutenberg printing press was invented.

— The first English translation of the Bible was in 1380-82 by John

The United Bible Society distributed 692 million Bibles last year

As of December 1988 the Bible has been translated into 1,907

- The most popular version of the Bible, the King James, was lated into English in 1604. (It was published in 1611). The Bible contains love poetry in the eight chapters of the Song of Solomon; the poems are intended as guide to love and sex according.

- The Dead Sea Scrolls are the oldest known biblical docum le, making it the most widely distributed book in the world, in

The first mass printing of the Bible was in the mid-1400s, when the

There is no surviving first edition of the Bible

The oldest surviving written Old Testar

the U.S. 93 million were distributed iges, cut of 5,000 known.

- The material first used for the Bible was papyrus, then later velium

ent is in Greek

the Ruble says God inflicted through Moses to free the Hebrews from slavery. The Nile may have only seemed to nir

Enduring Questions of the (Readers Digest, $26.95) red with blood - it could have been

As for other plagues, frogs were on when the Nile receded, and dead frogs brought flies and gnats, which in turn neases to people and cattle, the book suggests.

as of the Sentitures

But what about the plague that finally did the trick? What about the Great Destroyer, the Angel of Death, who ughtered the first-born of man and beast alike, unless a house was marked as that of

How do you explain that one's that or the preatest mystery of all whether God exists. The book is ded for scoffers, but instead it's for believers to use as a companion to the Bible. And the fashful do not wonder show the existence of God

The book takes its best shot at exploring and explaining mysteries, based on the Scriptures, theological interpretations, norical texts, archaeological discoveries and anthropology. Biblical scholars did the writing, assisted by specialists in such thines as biblical agriculture, ancien es and the role of music to the Bubble

Often in the book, mysteries my steries. Still, the text in some places doesn't seem as poignant or ques it might, probably because it doesn't want to sten on the beliefs of any groups

But in some instances, like that regarding the story of Neah and the Great Flood it is the detractors who come off tooking existing today, found in 1947 by a goat herder in the caves of Ourman near the Dead Sea where they had fain for nearly 2,000 years; today, they are in the Museum of the Book in Jerusalem. rce. Who's Who in the Bible and the American Bible Society etand Gonnott News, Se

Continued on p. 12

Just Do It... Today!

Denise Foster Adapted from the Catalyst Sept-Nov 1988

You can make a differenceves even you. You do not have to have the voice of Sandi Patti or the intelligence of Einstein, for God especially designed you just the way you are, and He has a specific purpose in mind just for you. Of Jeremiah the Lord said, "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, before you were born I set you apart (Jeremiah 1.5). Even so, the Lord knew you before you wer born, and He instilled within you talents or characteristics which can be used to glorify Him

The mission of Clirist's church is to spread the good news of man's salvation. This gospel is to be shared with all the world, and each of us, to the extent of his talent and opportunity, has a role to fulfill.

You need not want for that right opportunity. In our daily lives we can rough those around us with the character and love exhibited by Christ, Jesus himself spent thirty years faithfully fulfilling His humble trade while ministering to those about Him As Ellen White said, "With a loving spirit we may perform life's humbles duties 'as to the Lord,' If the love of God is in the heart, it will be many fested in the life The sweet savor of the heart, it will be manifested in the life. The sweet savor of Christ will surround us, and out influence will elevate and bless" (Steps to Christ, p

Friends, the Lord is coming soon! The signs of the end surround us, and n is very likely that we will be the generation behold our Saviour in the clouds The time in which we live is both urgent and exciting. Of all the generations that have come and gone, we have the opportunity of finishing God's holy work. This will not happen with a few well speaking preachers, It's going to take a united effort on our part, you and me Christ is waiting on us. Therefore, let us live a life dedicated to Him for that is all He asks. He will bring the witnessing opportunities to us, and the Holy Spirit will be by our side. Let us not deny the power of God, but grasp it and move steadily forward Let us make a differRight: "But I'm not supposed to talk to strangers," exclaims Destiny Drama Company member, Gary Bradley who plays a child brat in the extech, "The Beatmudes." Bradley and David Denton (left) were part of the five member unit which performed and taught workshops at the "Super Bold and World Serious" youth event held in Takoma Pask, Maryland.

Right Center: Troupe members David Wingate, David Denton, Gary Bradley, Deirdre Rivera, and A. Allan Martin, performed for a Potomac Conference sponsored youth rally held at the Columbia Union College gymnasium.

Super Bold and World Serious

Above: The Destiny Drama Company's season will include local performances at Covenant College, Hamilton Place Mall, Thatcher Sabbath School, Week of Prayer, and Collegedale Academy Week of Prayer

Right: David Denton and Deirdre Rivera perform the religious sketch, "The Beatitudes," for the D.C. youth rally at Columbia Livin College.

Photos by A. Allan Martin

Carlos Romero 3020 Robert Zegerra 3372

Bobby Young 3062 Kenth Nelson 3014 Jeromy Pettii 3333/ Angeln Dobias 2324

Matt Kroeger 3012 Chris Villang 2263/

Reggie Horson 3015 Ruth Gittord 2263/

Angels Dobies 2324 Danny LaFave 3025/

Brian Bergherm 3023

Sandy Reur 2327

C.A.R.E. if your religious activity organization on campus. We are to unwhells regularation covering Campus Madsorcis, C.A.B.L. and C.M.C. Our great is to toach the lives of poole in the workf, the country, the continuity, the campus, and your heart. We encounting you to be involved.

This year's leading are,

Campus Ministries - Bd No C.A.B.L. - Stati Dubles CMC - Kyle Behinson Taige Hull 3183 Taige Hull 3022

Here are some of the programs that are available to you now. If you are interested, call the C.A.R.E. office at 2724 or 2787 or the program leaders.

CAMPUS MINISTRIES - Ed Satton

Adopt-a-Grandpurene Alterglow Bible Marking Program Bible Study Program Big Brother/Big Stuter Clown Minutry

n

Destiny
Down Ministry
Film Festival
Helping Hands
Meximit Group Worst
Project Overcase
Silventable OED

David Barnett 396-9215 Antoine Harris 3042 David Jensen 396-2924 Ed. Santane 3183 Shawn Collets 3016 Penny Whitsett 2390

Allan Martin 3033 EJ. Saniana 3183 Rebreca Webb 2204 Angel Echremendia 3048 Mehane Sanders 2240 Angel Echremendia 3048 htt Barnett 2757 Leave Fearins 3375 Sunshine Bunds Feach-a-Kid

CABL - Stan Dobias Bike Club

Camping Club
Track and Running Club
Ski Club
Weight Lifting Club

Swimming Club

Scuba Club

Caving Club

Triathlest Clubs

CMC - Kyle Robinson 3063

Task Porce Call Book Fair Heederss Trip Semant Bands Adopt as S.M. Weel and Patern

If you have any questions, please feel from to call any of the grouple above, or come west us on our office located in the Sudent Center (just downshe half from the Student Center desky. Religion from p.1 and Ecumenism Among World Re ligions," was submitted to the Evangelical Technological Society. On the basis of his submission, the Society asked Dr. Gulley to make a presentation to the plenary session in response to a paper given by Russell Chandler, the religior editor of the Los Angeles Times who is also the author of a bestselling book entitled, Understanding the New Age Movement, Dr. Gulley's response paper is entitled, "The Function of the Cross as Strategy to Assert the Biblioni World Views,"

"It's a great opportunity and I praise the Lord for it." Gulley said of his upcoming presentation. The ETS is a non-Adventist organization with few Adventist members. For that reason, he views this opportunity as "a little feather in the cap for Southern College."

Dr. Gulley will also present a paper, "The Battle for the Bible in Eschatology," at the Adventiss Theological Society, and one at the Andrews Society of Religious Studies titled, "A Tribute to Edward Heppenstall: The Rise of an Intellectual in the Life of the Church and His Influence on Adventist Theology."

Dr. Springet will be presenting two papers at the California society meetings. The first will be delivered at the Evangeheaf Theological Society. I deals with the New Society. I deals with the New Age Movement and is entitled: "Mac Movement and is entitled: "Mac Paraphasis and Kauphasis in Romans. I," on the subject of homosecuality in the Scriptures, will be presented at the Astronomy California Society of the Soci

A book by Springett, Homosexuality in History and the Scriptures. was published in 1988. Aft reading it, the publishers, Christ anity Today, asked Springett to condense some of the material in his book to be used as a chapter in a large volume they will be publishing in early 1990. The volume will deal with the topic of homosexuality. Authors who are experts in various areas of the subject will contribute chapters to the book. Springett has been asked to write a chapter on the Biblical view on homosexuality.

Dq. Blanto ovil protent his paper. "Mysicism" is New Challenge to Adversil's New Challenge to Adversil's Christinas," at the Evangeled Theological Society. As president of the Adventis Theological Society Blanco negotiated with the ETS for permassion to meet an their facilitties in San Diepo. "The ATS has developed an excellent relationship with the ETS and looks forward to continuing that relationship, not only nationally, but regionally, but

Dr. Leon Mashchak, another professor in the Religion Department, will also attend several of the society meetings in California, including the Evangelical Theological Society, the Andrews Society of Religious Studies, and the Society of Biblical Literature

Mike Magursky enjoys the recently opened Southern Watershide in front of Lynn Wood Hall. Photo by Geoffrey Church.

WSMC from p.1 WSMC was also offered to donors who pledged $150. This year the gold card was accompanied by a Gruen card was accompanied by a Gruen watch. The amount of the largest single donation was $1,200.

Present announcers and student volunteers, including freshmen Brian Miller and Alison Watkins, helped answer telephone pledges and call past donors for membership renewals.

Various directors and announcers helped coordinate and operate the shifts during the drive, including David Barasoain, Dan Landram, Doug Walter, and Jan Gentry.

Morning Music host, Kern Stout, found the membership drive fun. "One of the disadvantages was we had to cut into programs; however, we raised a lot of money, and listeners showed they cared by pledging their support," said Stout.

Competition also added to the pledging participation. Crown America Corporation offered to doubte their gift, if five other carpet related industries would pledge support.

Duane Chesney challenged 19 other

Reverse weekend from p 1 considerations is to realize a lot of guys get apprehensive when they are asked out by a girl, because they aren't sure of the girls intentions. He said that keeping this in mind might reduce some of the "trama" associated with neverse weeken.

Dean Rose gave a final word on how to accept rejection from a gay. "I would have been upset at first, but my ego would have said 'sorry, your loss'."

To the guys.

If you are asked by a girl and you aren't sure if you want to go, "Go anyway and remember, it's just a date-not marriage, and you're not going steady," Dean Hobbs said.

Dean Rove said to get a girl to notice you and ask you out you should hang out in places she doesso you can get to know her—a table in the cafe, a bench at a game, etc. Then pray-Girls, if you are still unsure of asking a guy, listen to a Charlie Diamond thought "Go for it. Life is too short to be fearful of the opposite sex." Southern College students during membership drive also.

Although the projected $55.000

Although the projected $55,000 goal was not met, the event was declared "a success just because people responded," said Gentry

According to general manager, Doug Walter, the goal should be met within the next two weeks, as call-outs continue to receive pledges.

SC Symphony Orchestra To Be Televised

The Southern College Symphony Orchestra may be seen on television, Christmas day, 1989.

Recorded on December 3, the orchestra will perform in the First Presbyterian church with Glen Draper, choral director.

In the future, there are more special performances planned for the orthestar. The Twolt Theater will host the college orchestra along with the combined choirs of Lee College, Covenial College and University of Tennessec at Chatanongo an December 14. This comingsummer, the orchestra will be the host orchestra for the second week-end of General Conference taking place in Indianapolis, Ind.

Orlo Gilbert, director, is proud of his performers. "I feel I have a very good orchestra," said Gilbert, "I am very fortunate to have such an unusual blend of woodwinds this year. I also have a fine horn section," he said

Some Southern College orchestra members also novlve thermelves in the Chattanooga Symptony which is prmarily made up of professional musscans. Sheri Peck and Daniel allor Maston play in the violin section this year. Two of Southern's faculty, Orlo Gibbert, vielni, and Bruce Asthon, viola also play in the Chattanooga Symphony

Students from Southern College may become involved with symphony performances by ushering in exchange for admission. For information about ushering for future performances call the Music Department, ext. 2880.

Collegiate Adventists Reaching Everyeng 40%

CARE Ministries, the collegiate, religious life organization at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists, Collegedale, Tennessee, is run by student leaders and volunteers. The acronym CARE stands for Collegiate Adventists Reaching Everyone, formerly Canniss Ministries.

nomery campus summers.
The former director of the program, Bill Dubots, developed C A R.E. as an unbrella organization covering unbrella organization covering expensive for student missionary activities in the United States and abroad, C.A.B.I., Collegiate Adventists for Better Living), the health and postive lifestyle organization, and Campus Ministries, the student religious life and outreach branch religious life and outreach branch religious life and outreach branch Since 1985, C.A.R.E. Ministres has been functioning on the Southern College campus serving students in a variety of ways C.A.R.E. sponsors over 40 different activities, clubs, and programs for students ranging from the Biking Club to the Christian Lawn Concerns held each semester.

A recent survey studied campus awareness of the C.A R E organization and found some interesting facts. A random telephone survey questioned three separate groups on campus, male students, female students, and faculty/staff members

Students, and accuryosal memores. Study percent of the male students and fifty percent of the female students knew the meaning of the acronyin C.A.R.E. Twenty-five percent of the males and forny percent of the females had no idea or clue as to its meaning. Of the faculty and staff members, only fifteen percent knew

When asked to name the three subdivisions of C A R E. [Collegiate Missions, CAB B., and Campus Missions, CAB B., and Campus Missions, CAB B., and Campus Missions are collegiate missions and CAB B. Guesses at the third branch incorrectly indicated the Destiny Drama Company, Southern's Christian cellegiate drama troupe, as the third division of C A R E.

The survey asked participants to indicate the most visible C A.R. E. programs and activities. The top three programs were the Destiny Drama Company, Collegate Missions Club, and C.A.R.E. Week. Sunshine Banks to visitation of shut-ins and hospital patients, received knorable mention as fourth in PR visibility. Active participation (classified as unvolvement beyond mere attendance in at least one CA RE. activity, club, or program) of male students, femile students, and facultystauff members proved surprisingly low. The femile students with 40% of them citing involvement in a teast one C.A.R.E. activity. Eighty and seventy-five percent of the facultystaff members and male students respectively cited no involvement at all with the C.A.R.E. program.

SCHOLDSCADE

STEAMEN T. DELIFORM, RD

STEAMEN

Low Mid-term GPA Excuse #37

By Mike Hernandez

When I received my mid-term grades last week, my first reaction was to change my name and move to Canada were I could start a new life for myself. I quickly decided against this plan when I realized that Canada is populated mostly by Canadians whose major form of entertainment is hockey. Hockey is much like socces because the final scores are always 1-0, or in certain riveting games, 2-1 But, let's get back to my grades. As you may have guessed, my G P.A. was a little below the 4.0 expected by arents and the Academic Dean, Dr Floyd Greenleaf. Parents and Academic Deans have no sense of humor when it comes to grades

The reason my GPA, was so low is not because I did not study (I didn't study, but that is not the point). I feel that it all standed the first week of school when my air-conditioner was broken. The heat in my room that week was almost unbearable. You could not be still for more than 20 minutes without natches of funeus growing on your skin.

During that week I developed several strategies for beating the heat, which I will reveal to you so you can use them when your air-conditioner breaks.

Make use of your refrigerator.
 Sleeping is very difficult when the room temperature is over 107 degrees I dealt with this by turning my refrigerator up to "HI" and sleeping with my head inside the freezer compartment. This worked very well.

until the cockroaches, which are abundant in every men's dormitory room, also discovered the freezer. 2 - If you do not have access to a refrigerator, I suggest you perspire Perspiration is Mother Nature's own natural cooling system. When your Central Nervous System makine has your air conditioner is broken, it sends a message to your sweat ghands (perspiras odiferns), which are located in you ampsits. The sweat glands unwadiately start pumpings perspiration and making your airlst small bits a dead humster. To counterest this, you should just on anti-perspiration. But the mouth where it should you can mile small bits a force. Mether Nature to re-route perspiration to the mouth where it is forms bad breath.

My final strategy for beating the beat isto stay out of your room altogether. This is what I finally had to do until the repairman came and installed a new air-conditioner, which brings me back to my G.P.A. Since my air-conditioner was broken, I was forced to stay gut of my room, which is where my books were located.

Obviously I could not study.

I tried to explain this to my parents but they suggested the obviously impractical solution of taking my books out of my room to study.

Parents can be so illowed sometimes

Factors can be so integral sometimes, So, if any of my teachers (Drs. Withams, Kinsey, Worth, Richards, and Cline) are reading this, please take this into consideration when you are making out the final grades. I may let you borrow my American Express card for a week or two, if you know what I mean

Humanities Film Series Shows The Seventh Seal

November 18, 8:00pm Lynn Wood Hall

Lynn Wood Hall Ingmar Berman's films have never been popular successes in the United States. This is because American audiences have traditionally assumed that the romany purpose of a film is to tell a story and director Bergman has other interests. Despite the fact that and director Bergman has other innerests. Despite the fact that Modernism in the other aris (paining, music, and literature) had long since abondoned such a simple and simplistic means of reflecting a complex and at times incomprehensible reality, film (particularly in the U.S.) continued to do what most people assumed it did best—tell a simple story.

There are, however, a number of directors who attempt to go much further and do much more. These directors feel that the elemental power of cinema—the combination of strong visual impact accompanied by sound—contained the potential to investigate and illustrate the increasingly problematic human condition. One of the most famous of the cinematic sunovators of the 1950's was the Swedish director Ingmar the cinematic annovators of the 1950 was the Swedish director Ingmar Bergman. The Seventh Seal opens peculiarly.

Ann Section and Jopes perhanty. A medical crusseder returning to his A medical crusseder returning to his Scandinassian biometiand encounters the black-robed figure of Death. When the crussader is told that it is indeed for himself that Death has come, he protests that he is not ready—to which Death replies: "No one ever is." In an attempt to literally play for time, the crussader shadinges Death to a game of chess. As long as the crussader prevents Death from besting him, the crussader is allowed to

The crusader has a specific reason for asking for more time. Having spent years on a crusade experiencing much suffering while witnessing even more, the crusader wants to observe a brief intertude of human happiness before Death claims him 'Yet everywhere the crusader looks, he sees death' death on the crusades, death from the plages, death caused by supersitien. Much of this suffering and death is instigated by the one medieval institution supposedly dedicisated to allevanting suffering—the dedicisated to allevanting suffering—the medieval institution supposedly dedicated to allewating suffering—the church. It is the church that calls the crusades, that encourages supersition which results in flagellation and burnings at the stake. Where is human happiness to be found?

The crusader finds happiness on an unlikely place. He happens on to a family of traveling missterist (not misignificantly namedMary and Joseph) and their inflant son. Revelting in outdoor living and life's simple pleasures, they generously share their simple food with the crusader, thus displaying the joy and happiness after which the crusader has searched. The viewer should not miss the irony of this encounter. The church (ostensibly the source of charity and love) causes death and suffering. The entertainment industry (symbolized by Mary and Joseph and officially frowned upon by the church for its laughter and frivolity) provide examples of happiness and love.

After a noctumal journey through a forest, during which the crusader prevents Death from taking Mary and Joseph and their baby, the crusader and members of his household are summoned by Death
This time there is no postponement.

In Bergman's allegory we all play chess with Death. Life and Death are inseparably close. It is not a question of whether or not we will win. In this life, Death always wins The question, for Bergman at least, is how long the game will last and how well we will play the game.

Southern Siblings: Something In Common

Skip and Cason Holley

Skip, who is 23, and Cason, 19, have many things in common: the same major (accounting), they both drive Volkswagon Dashers, they favor their mother, and they're stubbom. But as for differences, Skip says he's more erratte and likes to take bigger

Cason says he can talk to his brother "about anything" and spends a fair amount of time doing things with him on the weekends. He says what he likes best about his brother "is that he's here."

skip says what he appreciates about Cason is that he's persistent and "he lets me borrow his car." As the middle member in his family, Skip says it's easier to identify with Cason than with his older sister, who is married.

Wayne, Jo-Anne, and Cindy Ste-

When asked what he likes most about being the oldest of his siblings, Wayne says, "They're all girls."

"Our family is very close and openly affectionate towards each other," he says. "We try to see each other as often as we can and mealtimes is the best time to be together."

Cindy, the young-est, says that when they were small.
"Wayne always protected us. I always wanted to be like Jo-Anne and would do anything for her. But know I know better and have my own individual ideas!"

Jo-Anne, who has roomed with her sistef for two years now, says Cindy is her best friend. "We know everything about each other," says Jo-Anne. "We are almost like rowns we're so very much alike! And the best thing about Wayne is that he looks out for me. Tilke knowing that I can go to him for unconditional advice and see something through a male's world. He is a Jossing brother,"

Robert and Ronnie Pittman

"When we were younger," says Ronnie, "We were both competitive, didn't fight very much, and both very accident prone."

Now, rooming together for the first time, Robert and Ronnie are very close. Robert says of his brother, "I can always depend on his support whenever I need it. He is easy going, while I worry about the world."

going to music stores together, playing volleyball on the beach, and playing sports are the things they like to do together. Romne says they're both perfectionists, despite the fact that he calls Robert "slob" or "uetly."

As the older brother, Robert says he never had to worry about Ronnie beating up on him—until

Ronnie says what he liked most about being youngest was that "It was never my fault."

Kim, Tony, and Jillian Thedford

This is the first year since their elementary years that Kim, Tony, and Jill have all gone to the same school together, and so far they like it. "We're very close," all three agree.

Jill, who is youngest, says, "They are always there for me when I have problems or if I need someone to talk to. They are like my best friends."

As the middle member, Tony says he identifies with both his siblings, but in different ways. "I can talk to Kim about ore mature things, but Jill and I have more fun because we do more together."

All three look very much alike, but Kum says she and Jill are most often confused as twins. As for differences, Kim admis, "I'm the oldest and sometimes I tend to be bossy!" She adds, "I got everything first. Mom lets me take charge "

Ingrid and Heidi Skantz

Ingrid, who is 21, and Heidi, who is 18, both love food, sleep, and spending money. Although they have a totally different taste in clothes and never dress alike, people are constantly asking them if they're twins.

"Ingus," as Heidi affectionately calls Ingrid, says "We were not close at all when we were younger

but we get along great now "She ways they are both messy, so neither compalins about a cluttered room.

Heidi, known to her sister as "Ugmo," us one of Ingrd's best frends, "I can tell her anything," she says.

"Plus. I can act like an idiot and she still respects me!!"

Dale and Cheryl Esten

Although they don't spend a lot of time together because of very different class and work schedules, the time Dale and Cheryl do spend together is quality time.

"We play tenns or racquetball together, and go hiking or study. That helps keep us close," says Dale, "We both love sports and Mexican food," he says.

Cheryl says what she appreciates most about her brother is that he is a very carning person. "He is always willing to help me in school work or anything." she says. "Another thing that is very special about Dale is that he treats ne like a normal person. He picks on me as much as he does my younger sister. He also doesn't let me get out of doing anything just short I really appreciate him doing that for me." Date says his favorite thing about Cheryl is that she is always willing to be of help whenever he has a need.

11/11/11

Photos by Sean Terretta

The Kwangiu American Cultural Center

By Chang Young-Gil Poet and graduate student Chonnam Nas. Univ., Kwangiu, Korea

The vacant building of the American Cultural Center

ow an abode of silence, rejuctantly ves a visitor, unlocking we padfocks and an iron-barred gate: a strip of empty air is hung at the flagpole where the Star-Spangled Banner had been fluttering forty-two years. What then has America left here, 80 Hwangkum-dong, very near the 5.18 Square where the citizens in the bloods whirlwind screamed for lemocracy and Liberty? The dust sitting mute on chairs in the reading room. the iron bars stark at attention in window frames, bricks, closed doors, panes of builetproof glass,

and some questions unquenchable in everyone's mind....

Ah, the land's old cries several sparrows an scattering in the quadrangle of the American Cultural Center; I gaze up into the deep blue heaver hrough the shadows falling to pieces

One heaven of five thousand years the Korean paulownia branches support.

To where winds this road along now? Rise on wings the prophetic songs above the sears and separate land, raking the heavily-built white silence, turns the history its hidden dark face above the amicable bands that have been shaking forty-four years. Yet you would say: Self-reliance doesn't he in blaming others for your own ores nor in isolating yourself. We'd better learn om a tree how to be in touch with winds and how to grow rithout bending to a seasonal wind

Then as we nght open Korean Cultural Centers in any city of the U.S., why can't the Americans open theirs bereft

The vacant building of the American Cultural Center

n the heart of Kwangju City, drearier than ever, itters monosyllables in metallic voice, hardly inderstood, closing its iron-barrec gate

nd two padlocks as a visitor goes

Measles Epidemic Feared at Southern College

For the past several weeks, Elanor Hanson, Director of Student Health. has been gathering information about the vulnerability of the student body of Southern College to the measles virus. At the writing of this article, less than half of the student body have turned in the information requested by the school's Health Services Department regarding their measles immu-

The student who continues: disregard the requests for this information could be in for some frustrofrom when it is time to register for asses in January. "We are only asking them to let us know whether they have been vaccinated or not," says Hanson. She suggests that students turn in the information before Christmas vacation because she fears that otherwise "there will be a line of five hundred students with restricted registration passes." If, at that point, a student does not wish to volunteer the information, the student will be required to sign a release.

Although there have been no reported cases of measles on Southern's campus for the last nine years, there have been four reported cases in neighboring Bradley County this year. There are both students and faculty who reside in Bradley County.

The main objective of the information program is, according to Hanson, "to learn how vulnerable, the campus is, because if we are very vulnerable we are going to tell the students that, and they will see the necessity of being vaccinated."

If a student were to contract measies, the student would be placed immediately in the infimiary, and the tocal Department of Public Health would be notified within the hour Public Health would then come and

Once the case is officially deter mined to be measles, a list of the names of unprotected students would then be posted in both dormitories with directions as to where and when they should go to be vaccinated. If ar inization program were instituted on campus, it would probably cost each student requiring service, twentyfive dollars to be veccoasted

If detected early, a student who has contracted the virus could be kept in isolation for a period of four to six days. The sickness usually lasts ten

The seasons which, according to Hanson, seem most conducive to measles outbreaks are Fatl and Spring

According to Hanson, "when the college sees a real and eminent threat to the health of the student body, it will act more decisively. If this is necessary, the previous cooperation of the students will help the Health Services Department to act more accurately, more quickly, and with less confusion and bassle

FOR THE HEALTH OF IT

Darlene Almeda, R.N. answers your questions:

Q: Please explain why we shouldn't eat sugar when we're

A: A study was conducted several years ago to test whether sugars decreased the function of the phagocytic cells (white blood cells which engulf and destroy bacteria, protozoa, and other foreign particles in our blood) in our bodies. It was discovered that after eating or drinking bigh amounts of simple carbohydrates or sugars the engulfing capacity of the phagocytes was markedly decreased for at least five hours after eating the sugar (sources released upon request).

Also, because sweets are more filling than other foods one tends to neglect nutritious foods such as fruits, vegetables, and grains. This causes the body to miss out on essential ns and minerals which play a major role in helping the body recover from sickness.

Monday Night's Fabulous Football

©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/Apple College Information Na

HOUSTON -- House of Pain, indeed.

Football doesn't get any more izing than this. Bruises and blood and broken bones you learn to tolerate, but lastand losses to swom enemies are torture One of the most starring games in two decades of Monday Night Football ended xcruciatingly for the Bengals, Houston kicker Tony Zendejas made a last-play field goal to give the Oilers a 26-24 victory nat amounted to the fifth lead change of the fourth quarter. It was fabulous football, temfic television, and a terrible blow to the Bengals.

Those are the kind of games, Bengal coach Sam Wyche said, "that ear

Six games from the end of the regular on, the defending AFC cha have fallen to 5-5, third in the AFC Central Division and two full games behind frontrunning Cleveland If they are to re competition, it will likely be as a wild-card entry. And this prospect is not particularly promising. Monday's defeat dropped the Bengals into a sixth-place tie with the Los Angeles Randers in a conference that will award five playoff positions. The Raiders have already clinched the relevant tiebreaker by bearing the Bengals Jasi Brawling out of the gate

"This puts us in a tough situation," ing back Stanford Jennings said.

We're 5-5 and we're looking to be 11-5. It's going to be hard, but we need to win

This does not look particularly likely. The Bengals' defense has declined dramatically from its early-season s and their special teams remain suspect. Monday night, the Others scored one own by blocking a Lee Johnson pun and they set up a field goal by tackling

Johnson on a fake punt attempt. At stake Monday was not merely second place in the AFC Central Division, but a measure of respect the Otlers have so far withheld from Cincinnati's defending Super Bowl squad Houston had talked so such trash in advance of the game that the Bengals were fairly bursting with venge-

The brawling began half an hour before the first kickoff, with Cincinnati afety David Fulcher exchanging shoves with Houston cornerback Cris Dishman The regulation brawling began on the Bengals' second play from some offsetting personal foul penalties were assessed one play later. It also happened on the Oilers' first offensive play.

They might have to go to their pective comers to get re-taped and put Vaseline under their cyclrows," and ABC's Dan Dierdorf, observing the ous proceedings

Ultimately, the Otlers suffered for their excessive zeal. A foolish unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against Houston cornerback Richard Johnson pre-empted a Bengal punt and, as it happened, sustained the first Bengal touchdown drive

"We have to play a lot smarter on said, "especially on defense No one ever called the Autrodome the

The Oilers specialize in grat violence, in needless taunts, in pointless provocation, and in avoiding Super Bowls

It would appear that there is a cause and effect relationship here. "This team has a history of being aggressive, sometimes overly aggre Bengals' Assistant General Manager Mike on said of the Oilers. "They think it sets the tone. ... We want our guys to play otball, period." The Bengals did not always comply with Brown's wishes. James Brooks and Lewis Billups were equally as obnoxious as their opponents, attempting their own insimidation with infursating gestures Four plays following Johnson's penalty, Brooks broke through the line for a 58-yard touchdown run. As he neared the goal line, Brooks turned to cornerback Steve Brown, giving chase, and motioned to him to try to catch up.

At best, this was tacky. At worst, it was bush league. Later, before and after a foiled fourth-down play at the goal line. Billups ran over near the Houston sideline and suggested with his foot that a field goal might have been sounder strategy. "These two teams don't like each other very much," Houston coach Jerry Glanville said, "and that's probably why they play so hard." That's probably why the losers hurt so

Craig Lastine sets up for a power serve

Volleyball Season opens!

Photos by Gene Krishingner Jr.

Dave Barnett seeks to set

McKenzie attempts a slam against a staunch defen

Football

American Conference

Eastern Division
Buffalo	7 3
Mıəmi	6 4
Indianapolis	4 6
New England	3 7
N V Jets	2.8

Central Divis	sion
Cleveland	7 3
Houston	6 4
Cincinnati	5 5
Charle and

Western Division
Denver	8 2
L.A. Raiders	5 5
Kansas City	4 6
San Diego	4 6
Seattle	4 6

A League Volleyball

Teams	W	L_
Lastine/Miranda	1	0
Ritterskamp/Pittman	0	0
Overstreet/Morlen	0	0
Malin/Williams	0	0
Dos Santos/Graham	0	0
Langford/Dickinson	0	1

B League Volleyball

Teams	w_	L.
Bowes/Welch	1	0
Bradley/Amick	1	0
Mills/Scott	1	0
Giles/Wakefield	1	0
Thompson/Henry	1	0
Santana/Neal	0	0
Lakra/Reece	0	1
Watson/Burrill	0	1
Hines/Myers	0	1
Stout/Watkins	0	1
Celline/Tull	0	1

Lambeth wins Tennis Tourney

"I had to play my best tennis to bean thin," said P.J. Lambeth who won the 1989 official Southern College Tennis tornament. After losing 7-5 in the fixt set. Lambeth ted the score by winning 6-1 in the second set.

Then in the third and final set of the match, Lambeth recovered from a 4-3 setback by winning three games in a row to win the set 6-4, and the match 2-1

National Conference

Eastern Division
N.Y. Giants	8 2
Philadelphia	6 4
Phoenix	5 5
Washington	5 5
Dallas	1 9

Central Division
Minnesota	7 3
Chicago	6 4
Green Bay	5 5
Tampa Bay	3 7
Detroit	28

 Western Division

 San Francisco
 9 1

 L.A. Rams
 6 4

 New Orleans
 5 5

 Atlanta
 3 7

Jaecks' Picks for Flagball

In each issue Coach Jaecks will select persons from each league displaying outstanding athletic performance in the current intramural sport

Women's League:

Jaecks' pick for the final week of flagball season was Michelle Fulbright . "She has excellent leadership skills and playcalling ability."

B League:

"I like Randy Rouse for B league because of his superb quarterbacking skills."

A League:

John Machado gets the pick for two tough back to back wins."

S.C. Flagball Wrap-up

Congratulations to league winners!

Women's League Fulbright

B League, O'Brien

A League: Monterde

BJ Boles Sends Greetings form Chile

Chile. I hope this letter finds you and your families doing well. Life for me is very busy, but also very exciting and challenging

It's hard to believe that I've been here over two and a half months Time sure flies doesn't it? It's soringtime in Chile now. There are many beautiful flowers blooming and the hillsides are starting to turn green. Slowly but surely all the snow on the Andes mountains is melting away Chile is very beautiful and at times I feel like I'm in Switzerland. I guess about now in the States all the trees are beginning to change colors. I bet it's really pretty there. I'm sorry for not writing this letter sooner, but my life has been very hecue getting used to everything. It's quite a shock when you're dropped into a strange country, with a different language, a new job, a new culture and not knowing anyone. The shock has subdued now, and life is becoming more usual to me. I'm learning and adapting quickly to the language and ways of Chile In fact some of my friends call me the Chileno Grings I'm living with the secretary of the Chile Union and his family. They are good Christian people and have been a great help to me. They are Argentini ans, so I'm learning a little about that culture as well. I'm living in Las Condes, which is a good section of Santiago. My work is not too far from my house, so I ride the bus to and from the Union. It seems like every body and his brother rides the bus here. There are over 8,000 buses in ago alone

My main obligation in Chile is to teach English to the officials pastors and workers of the Seventh-day Adventist Chile Union Mission and of ADRA/OFASA (a food and relief agency). On the average I have 25 classes per week. My students range from Union presidents to jamitors, and from pastors to secretaries. In other words, I teach everyone. They are all at different levels. Some are first level beginners and others are ready for conversational classes. I have some private classes and some group classes. Needless to say, it is a challenge teaching but I enjoy it They are all good people with a desir to learn. I use an array of different material. The whole situation is tun and challenging, and over all a good learning experience for everyo myself included

My other obligation in Chile is to work with the youth of the country Right now, it is difficult to do a lot with this because my Spanish is no that great yet. I'm learning quickly though, and I'm sure it won't be too much longer before I'm doing more with this department. At this point I can only sing, so I'm singing a lot at different churches and other youth meetings here in Chile. Even though I don't have a large part in the programs I've been traveling to different parts of the country for youth congresses and Pathfinder investitures. In this way, 1 can become acquainted with the youth and learn more of the country. I've been to many different parts of Chile and met many wonderful people

Throughout my day I assist the workers in writing and translating letters to and from the United States 1 also help people translate forms that are in English and understand different stems of material from the General Conference of S.D.A 's in Washington

Last month (September) was a big month in Chile because we had three national holidays. September 11th marked the anniversary of General Pinochet taking control of the country in 1973. September 18th was Chile's Independence day and September 19th was the celebration. It seemed every house had a Chilean flag. There were a lot of traditional dances (the "cueca") and a whole lot of "empanadas". Empanadas are a favorite traditional food in Chile. It was very interesting seeing all the shows and learning how another country celebrates its independence Each day I am met by new challenges. I am learning a lot in Chile and I'm sure that when I'm done hen I will look back and say I was glad I came. Every day is a class for me 1 thought I was going to get a break from my classes by becoming a Student Missionary, but I was wrong Every day I learn new things. I'm learning a new language, a new culture, new customs, a different geography, how to teach, how to com nunicate, how to travel, how to have patience, and so much more. The most important thing I'm learning though, is total dependence on God. I have good days and I have bad days, but it's the Lord that carrieme through them all. Anything that is accomplished here, and anything I learn is a direct result of the support and prayers of you, and God's leading and helping hand in my life Thank you so very much for your

of you often and I hope to see you on (a year isn't that long). Take care and God bless B.I.

Richard Moody: A Wild and Crazy Guy

Life around Richard Moody is like a well directed comedy. One of his best known attributes is his humor. It's omprised of good timing, smo delivery, and much improvisation. As Richard would say, "It slavs me

The other day in the cafeteria l found Richard eating with a group of what he calls Frandeins They're what everyone else calls babes It's easy to tell when Richard is trying to impress these women of German persuasion. He usually sits erect, with a cocked eyebrow and a voice several octaves lower more distinctive. For example "Yes, well that must have been the time I was in Europe. I remember it as though it were yesterday. I was baryesting wheat in the south of France for the poor. Of course, I had to do it by hand because all the in that flood. No one needs to remind you that the flood would have been much worse and I not pushed those two buge boulders in the path of the rumpaging water."

The girls aren't naive, but they do or him. A common response from the Frauleurs is, "Richard, you're such a man. You saved that entire village from impending doom, not to mention harvesting their crops inglehandedly.

The reaction to his narratives is usually followed by Richard suting back in his chair, buffing his knuckles against his shirt, and assuring them "it

Spontaneity is another of Richard's attributes. One Sunday a group of us decided to take an afternoon drive with him in his truck. What started off as an uneventful commute turned into a four-wheeling escapade "Where are we going?", one girl

"Oh, just out for a ride Yep. .just a said the girls.

simple ride,", said Richard, The word "simple" made me wary. Any time Richard uses it in a sen tence, the planned activity is bound to be un-simple. He uses the word frequently

We turned onto a dirt road and headed toward "the power lines. This is the area where the locals test the stamma of their 4 x 4's. Huge dirt mountains, ten foot mud puddles, toppled trees and tire treads mark the area Richard stopped the truck, into high gear. "Yep, just a simple ride." he reassured us

Sitting up in his seat he slammed his foot against the gas peddle and secured a grip on the wheel Staring straight ahead, Richard searched horizon for the first obstacle he would conquer We drove to the edge of a cliff, one that I wouldn't have descended with a ladder, but one which Richard felt he could descend in the truck.

As the front tires left the top of the mountain the conversation went as follows (not direct quotes): "Whooooooaaaaeeeeee." said

"Еееееееееессааааааа

I simply crumpled into the fetal position and began praying Richard looked over at me. this fun!" I gave him a reassuring smile and tried to remember when my last confession was

What started off as a simple, nute drive lasted six hours. We traveled the rest of the afternoon looking for places to test the stamma of Richard's vehicle. Episodes like this are not uncon mon around Richard Moody. If you do not know him, don't worry, he'll be around another semester. If you do know him, you may have heard the rumor that he's related to Doug

Martin-untrue In just a single cafeteria visit with Richard you might fall victim to his humor. I can't guarantee what you reaction to that humor will be, but it

12 noon Southern College Banquet Room Program Free

Soup and Salad Luncheon $3,50

Guest may purchase meal at Southern College Cafeteria, if desired, or bring a lunch.

Help Wanted

ATTENTION: EARN MONEY READING BOOKS!

$32,000 per year income potential.

Call (602) 838-8885 Ext, BK 7418 for details

Southern Accent Trivia Quiz

This weeks trivia questions:

- Who wrote The Wealth of Nations?
- 2) Name the town whose famous tower contributed to Galileo Galileo's understanding of the concept of gravity.
- 3) Name the quarterback whose team won the 1989 Superbowl.
- 4) Name the television show of the 1960s, in which a group of space explorers, in their craft the Enterprise, traveled through interstellar space.

5) What event did Franklin D. Roosevelt describe as a "Date which will live in infamy"

Sponsored by

Last Weeks Answers:

- Gerund
- Spartacus
- The Greenhouse Effect A New Frontie
- Florence Nightingale

Last Weeks Winner:

Thomas Huntress No other answers were submitted

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free me at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct inswers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff,

Don't GOBBLE up your money with nothing to show for it - SAVE at COLLEGEDALE CREDIT UNION

where money earns money

College Plaza 396-2101

Hours - Mon- Wed 8:00-3:00 Thurs 8:00-6:00

Fri 8:00-1:00

From the Archives

November 2, 1967 WSMC-FM extends broadcast day to 18 hours.

September 29, 1977

WSMC-FM to carry N.Y. Philharmonic Symphony.

October 8, 1987 WSMC-FM sets $40,000 goal for fund-raising drive.

Personal Messages

Heather Marie

Two people moving closer with God in the center, also move closer to each other. Love, DP

Remember the Rock sayings. Sometimes the Why is more important that the What and sometimes the What is more important than the Why. JC

It never rains but it pours - Accent Staff

Your message can be printed in this section at the nonminal cost of $1.00 per 3 lines, $.25 per each additional line. The editors of the Accent reserve the right to refuse to publish any messages which might be considered inappropriate.

VIEWPOINTS

"Walla Walla College is now allowing co-ed visitation in the dorm rooms on a limited basis. What is your reaction to this, and do you think it could work at Southern?

I'm totally for it! What am I doing here -Danny Villemain

When's the next flight to Walla Walla -Carla Gang

se it could work I supp but I wouldn't want it -Shawn Williams

Yeah, that's great and it could work here if the deans set time limits. Becky Mixon

Tm all for it if the students don't take unfair advantage of it. -Wally Savies

I think Walla Walla is asking for trouble, and no it couldn't work here -Sharon Engel envetention as recognizing their students' responsibility ·.loe Bieksza opportunity to visit It could open the door to temptation. -Helmut Ott

Upcoming Events

Friday, November 17

-REVERSE WEEKEND-C.A.R.E. Ministries Vespers. Church 8;00 p.m.

Saturday, November 18

-REVERSE WEEKEND-

Church Service, Ken Rogers Thanksgiving Service

Humanities Film, "The Seventh Seal" Lynn Wood Hall, 8:00 p.m.

Monday, November 20

SA Thanksgiving Supper

Wednesday, November

22-Sunday, November 26

Thanksgiving Vacation!

Monday, November 27

Student Week of Spiritual Emphasis Begins Craig Lastine, Evening Meeting, 7:00 p.m.

Tuesday, November 28

David Wingate

Evening Meeting, 7:00

Christmas Tree Lighting, 8:00 p.m.

Wednesday, November

Laura Putnam, Evening Meeting, 7:00 p.m.

Thursday, November 30

Allan Martin, Assembly,

11:00 a.m.

Kyle Robinson, Evening Meeting, 7:00 p.m.

Friday, December 1

Bob Cundiff, Vespers, 8:00 p.m.

Book Revnew page 3

Archaeologists have found exidence of massive flooding covering earlier cultures in ancient Mesopotamia, the land between the rivers Tieris and Euphrates, where much of the Bible's history takes place Also, the story of a great flood recurs in cultures around the world - and an each. only one lucky man or family is saved "Many people today believe that the very universality of such sagas proces that ey are based on fact," says the book "Others suggest that the existence of these traditions among so many different cultures illuminates a deep human fear of nature's destructive power Some of the Bible's miracles do have plausible explanation - The huming bush of Moses could have been flaxmella — a plant with such volante oil that it can be ignited by the sun. The oil quickly burns off, and the bush itself is not damaged - Manna from heaven could have been excretions from insects that burrow into the bark of the tamansk tree, a desert shrub Greek manks living in the region believed so. The excretion is a sugary obstance that dries into a sticky solid To this day, desert Bedouins ext it."

A storm may have parted the Red Sea for Moses, and an earthquake may have parted the River Jordan for Joshua But the book doesn't deal only with muracles. It also gives a look at people and their lives in biblical times:

Why did the ancient Hebrews keep ing away from God, despite proof through miracles, a winner-take-all contest between Elijah and the priests of Baal, and punishment for worship of other gods and

Because people in that day thought all orts of gods were responsible for everything that happened. A one-Go approach was virtually unheard of. The God of Abraham might prove his superior ity and claim to be the one and only, but at planting time it couldn't hurt to pray to the

Canaanne god of agricultu Philistines were sea people from rhaps Crete, who invaded and fought Samson King Saul and David, and were finally routed by Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar II Later, Philistine cities were occupied by mixed populations A woman's life was one of toil. One of the few outside jobs she could take was as a professional mourner, where she rchestrated grief and made sure "the crieof woe were rendered at the appropriate time." If a woman was lucky and her husband rich, he would have conover whom she was mistress, and they would take over many of the chores The New Testament occupies about or third of the book The name Jesus was common in the first century and comes from the Greek form of Joshua, meaning "Yahweh is salvation." Christ comes from the Greek form of the Hebrew word Mashiah (Messiah), which means "the anounted

- Early Christians had trouble making sense of lesus' enjectivion "There wa certainly never any expectation that God's Messiah would suffer such degradation "

- Ancients didn't see the miracles of Jesus as contradictions of the laws of nature Because they already believed Goo controlled everything, miracles simply confirmed it and gave a clear demonstranon of his powers

> Wanted: Well Dressed, Conservative Advertising Agents Reward: Cash that the financial aid office can't withhold.

Call: (615) 238-2721 for

Index

P. 2 Editorials P. 3,5 News P. 4 Religion P. 6 Humor P. 8 Photo Feature P. 9 Sports P 10 Features P.11 Ads P.12 Viewpoints

Christmas Tree Page 8

in the month of November, the cold breezes of autumn bringing down the Berlin Wall and stirring talk of an end to world communism. The upheaval had touched every have been winds of change through Eastern Europe,

Eastern winds of chang naparea,

SOUTHERN The "Hert Sturbott Newsper or for ushern C. fore of Seventh-by A numbers

November 31, 1989

Viking Club Page 6

Volume 45, Number 7

nation. Here is a status report. POLAND~

Population: 38 million Leader: Tadeusz Mazowiecki since August 1989 The once-outlawed Solidanty union began a nationwide strike against economic conditions last year, leading to the legalization of the union, which in turn resulted in "round table" talks with the Communist Party and eventually power itself. But Solidanty inherited a crumbling econo

EAST GERMANY

Population: 16.7 million Leader: Egon Krenz, since October 1989

Having torn down the Berlin Wall and flung open its borders. East Germany's leadership was embarrassed to find its citizens seized the invitation to leave. Since January 1989, 175,000 East Germans have left. Now the country must deal with fresh economic crises caused by the exchanges with West Gerr

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Population: 15.7 million Leader: Gustav Husak, since

Friday, the Communist Party leadership resigned after more than a week of huge protests. saying the party had seriously underestimated the pro-democracy movement in East Europe. At the same time, hundreds of thousands of people in Prague cheered Alexander Dubcek, the former party chief whose attempts to institute retorms in 1968 were brutally crushed by a Warsaw Pact invasion.

Population: 10.6 million

Leader: Miklos Nemeth, since June 1987 Leading Eastern Europe in political and economic reforms, Hungary became the first Warsaw Pact country to dissolve the old Communist Party. renaming it the "Socialist Party." The new organization condemned the policies of the past.

Leader: Branco Mikulic, since May 1985

Opposition groups have called for a multiparty democracy and for amnesty for political prisoners. The ethnically diverse nation has been a cradle for a host of small nationalist movements.

BALTIC STATES ESTONIA, LATVIA, LITHUANIA

Population: 1.5 million (Estonia). 2 63 million (Latvia), 3 25 million (Lithuania) Leaders: Vaino Valias (Estonia), Anatolis Gorbunovs (Latvia); Algirdas Brazauskas (Lithuania)

The Baltic states, annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II. have nearly seceded, energized by a rebirth of their nationalist

U.S.S.R.

Population: 287 million Leader: Mikhail Gorbachev. since March 1985

The nation has moved from gridlock to "glasnost" and "perestroika," but Gorbachev approaches a lifth year in power trying to calm growing internal discontent. He and President Bush meet Dec. 2-3 for a summit off the coast of Malta, and changes in Eastern Europe likely will dominate the talks ROMANIA

Population: 23 2 million Leader: Nicolae Ceausescu, since March 1965 Ceausescu, the East Bloc's longest-reigning leader, was reappointed Communist Party chief for five years in a tavish show of support for his rejection of change sweeping the region. Ceausescu told delegates he would "continue to be a soldier fighting for socialism and Romania

BULGARIA

Population: 9 million Leader: Petar Miadenov, since

Thought deaf to Gorbachev's appeals for change, Bulgaria's Communist Party chief, Todor Zhivkov, stepped down in layor of Mindenov who promised change However, this year alone, Bulgana has driven out about 350,000 Turks under threat of a barsh assimilation.

Bush-Gorbachev summit: Is Peace breaking out all over the world?

By JAMES P. GANNON Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network WASHINGTON — Months ago. when he proposed a ger-acquainted meeting with Mikhail Gorbachev,

President Bush could not have dreamed that his first meeting with the Soviet leader might turn ou to be the Summit to End the Cold

But the Dec 2-3 summit has taken the fast-raced, historic changes sweeping Eastern Europe As the Soviet-dominated empire disintegrates and the possibility of a new order emerges in Europe, the meetings aboard Soviet and U.S. warships in the Mediterranean off the island nation of Malia come at a crossroads of history. full of unforeseen potential, packed with high hopes and high stakes

They said he couldn't do it

IN DAVID LEON MOORE

€Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/Apple College Information Network

TUSCALOOSA, Ala — Bill Curry rises at 4 30 every morning. Time to himself, for reflecting and thinking clearly.

He calls it "my sainty time"
Things become less sane a little later, when Alabama football fans begin to

Stif Rose do they sti

Of course, Curry, in his third — and, by far, happiest — year as the Alabama coach, known all about that. He's survived a death threat, a brick thrown through his office window, plus innumerable angry letters and phone calls.

demanding his firing. Suddenly, however, it seems Bill Curry to an OK gay. Finny how everything changes with a 10-0 record, a No.-3 national rankings and, with a victory. Satorday against Auborn (8-2, No. 10), a shot of a national champtomship. Listen to the folls calling in to his.

weekly radio show:
Caller "This is Jim from Opeliko, and I would just like to say that I apologize for not supporting you from the beginning I'm with you now, and I'm sorry it took so long " Curry, "No need to apologize, Jim. The thing about our business is you have thing about our business is you have to prove yourself."

It has not been easy.

Curry's hiring in 1987 to replace Ray Perkins was niet with outrage from Crimson Tide loyalists who couldn't Crimson Tide loyalists who couldn't believe a guy who had neser played for or coached under demigod Bear Bryant, who turned 'Bama football into a religion, would get the job

ould get the job They quickly mobilized

There was a death threat aimed at Curry, plus one for Joah Thomas, the then-school prevident who went out on a limb to hire a guy better known for his playing career (a center for Vince Lombord's Green Bay Packers and Don Shula's Baltimore Colls) than his coaching career (31.44-45 in seven years at Georgia Career (31.44-45 in seven years at Georgia Tech).

A 7-5 record in 1987 calmed no one
Then came a homecoming loss to Mississippi last year, and a brick through

"It bothered my wrife a lot, and it bothered my mnm," Curry said. "I guess it's stupid, but it didn't really bother me. I don't know why."

Since then, Alabama has lost just two games, finishing 9-3 last season and going 10-0 so far this year. So as Alabama fans nervously await the Crimson Tide's historic first trip to Auburn, Curry is breathing easier about his own future Caller, "Coach, I was in your office some time ago and asked you for an autographed picture. I just want to say that it came. I began to trust you when I got that picture " Curry "Glad you got it

At the beginning of the season, Alabama pessimists — Curry calls them "The Fellowship of the Miserable" — figured they'd be running him out of town about mow. Nothing forecast a sexion like this. Especially not when, early in the season, the quarierhack, Jeff Dann, and top running bock, Murry Hall, went down

But lightly regarded Gary Hollingsworth stepped in at quarterback and jurnor college transfer Siran Stacy took over the running chores. And, in the fourth running chores. And, in the fourthweek, something strange and wonderful happened. At Missessipps, the Tide got ambushed.

Alabama trailed 21-0 just 7 1/2 minutes into the game What happened next, Curry says, "was what happened next, Curry says, was the protail point of our season and the highlight of my 15 years in coaching." Hollingsworth got hot Alabama's defense sufferned. The field tilted the

Tute's way

Says Curry. "We were in a hostile studium against a hot team that was beating us into the drift Bul 1 saw resolve, and I saw this cultin in Gary. Hollingsworth, and I saw our delense just set its just and go back to work. I said, By golly, we're geona do something to win this game." Halfume score: Alabama 48, Mississippi 21 Final score: Alabama 62, Mississippi 27,

Running off the field at haltime, Curry bumped into Larry New, his defensive hine coach "He's got these tears in his eyes, and he says. 'We got us a footboll team. 'I said, 'Weah, we do,''

Three weeks lister came a protoil victory at Penn State, when 6-7 defensive end Thomas Rayam blocked an 18-yard field goal in the final seconds to preserve a 17-16 Alabama win Caller 'Coach Curry, I'd hke to give a little credit to Thomas Rayam's

Caller "Coach Curry, I'd like to give a little credit to Thomas Rayam's parens. You know, they really deserve credit, 'Course if Thomas was 6-4 instead of 6-7, we'd be 7-1 right now "sted of 8-0." His biggest fault as the Alabama coach is that he was never one of Bryant's boxe.

Curry, 47, fashion model handsome, deeply religious, abit of a fitness freak, has always fought long odds, starting his pro-football career as an undersized 20th-round pick of the Packers.
"That was in 1965, and every year since then, I've gone to work not knowing if I'd have a job the next year," he said "So I don't feel threatened. If you've lived on the edge, and have gotten satisfaction out of that, you don't allow it to keep you tied in know."

stream is him.

Says former Alabama center Gaylon McCollough, a Birming-Samp abasic savegoon "The average man would not have been able to stand up ander the pressures that were pet upon Bill his first cought of years. But what's happened to him a Alabama is just another chapter in his life People have told him over and over a gain that he couldn't do things. And he's proved them works.

Southern Accent

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor
Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper Sheila Draper Sports Editor Jim King

Layout Editor

Gene Krishingner

Photo Editor

Sean Terretta

Lifestyle Editor

Paste Up Virgil Covel Advisor

Adrienne Cox Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Soutkern Access is the official student newspaper for Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists and is released every other Thursday during the school year with the exception of seam weeks and vacallens. Opinions represed in the Southern Access are those of the suthern and other than the seam of the college, the Seventh-day Adventist church, or the advertisers.

The Southern Access and the opinions are presented in the college, the Seventh-day Adventist church, or the advertisers.

moment Access a velocine some letters which must consist for visite's higher, deficient and pink some letters which the cited for space and dearly. All letters must have to, after which the cited for space and dearly. All letters must have to, and the cited of a space and dearly. All letters must have the cited of the consistence of the cited of the cited of the cited of the cited of the solution for letters in the Condey before poblication at moon. Pare dearlies for letters in the Condey before poblication at moon. Pare dearlies for letters in the Condey before poblication at moon. Pare dearlies for the cited of the condey before the cited of the condens for the cited of the cited of the cited of the cited of the condens for the cited of the cited of the cited of the theory of the cited of the cited of the cited of the cited of the property of the cited of the cited of the cited of the cited of the property of the cited of the cited of the cited of the cited of the property of the cited o

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of SOUTHERN ACCENT:

I am proud of the students of Southern College In general they are friendly, cooperative, and courteous.

There is; however, an area of behavior in which too many show a lack of courtesy and understanding of proper decorum. I am speaking of the behavior I have observed at concerts in Ackerman Auditorium, the P.E. Center, and the Church.

Unlike TV, concerts are live events where performers and audience are interacting in an aesthetic and spiritual experience. This experience is largely negated when talking, studying (with its interviable rustle of papers) and "eintertainment" other than that which is not stage takes the spotlight Individuals who attend these events have an obligation of courtesy to both the performents) and their fellow audience performents and their fellow audience

Let me make some suggestions that will enhance everyone's enjoyment of these events, events, by the way, which lead to a complete college

Come to enjoy the program
You may not understand or enjoy it all, but try to learn by actual listening Whatever you do, dun't come just to get chapel credit. You won't enjoy it and neither will those around you

2 Leave your studying at home When you study during a concert the effect is the same as trying to carry on a conversation with someone who is reading or writing white you are trying to tell them something important.

3 Dress so you feel like you are going to something special (which you are). Think of how you might dress for a concert in the Tivoli or the Atlanta Symphony Hall. Jeans and T-sbrits are not necessarily appropriate

4 Come prepared to listen NOT talk. Save your talking for intermission. Those of you who have performed solos or in a group know how otstracting talking is when you are on stage. It's equally disturbing in the audience. (By the way, turn off your watch beeper before the concert) waten beeper before the content /

5. Finally, it you don't know when to clap, depend on the musicians in the audience to start. Clapping between movements of works is generally not acceptable.

By observing these five suggestions concerts will become more exciting to you. They will be more enjoyable to those around you, and this will identify Southern as a place where students are courteous and know what is proper decorum under many different circumstances.

Yours for more enjoyable concerts.
Marvin L. Robertson, Chairman
Music Department

Senate seeks to stiffen security at Southern

By Izear Feagins

It is done because of anger, power, and sadism. It happens every six minutes. And one out of four women will become a victim. The victim's scream of "fire" or attack of "kick" has no affect upon the assailant. This action is called rape

Gregg Graham and Adriann Battistone spoke to Talge and Thatcher residents November 20, 1989 about

Gregg Graham, Executive Director for Addiction Recovery in Chattanooga, giving statistics on rape a physical assault, said that 84% of the victims reported knew their assailants He also said that research has shown that 700,000 women have actually been raped.

For example, Graham said out of 3200 women, 15% of them reported rape, 11% reported attempted rape, 11% reported sexual cohesion, 14% reported that they were touched against their will, and 49% reported no problem. Furthermore, he said that rape will happen to 25% of college women in America. These statistics vere provided by The National Institute of Mental Health

If Southern College women are no to become a part of the 25% raped who will take the preventive action? Administration? Senate?

As a result of the rape near SC, a self-defense class is in the making. A Chattanooga police officer has told Dr. Wohlers that the class will be given Students will receive more information as the program develops

The Senate, a body of representatives for students at SC, invited Target Hardening, a security service company in Chattanooga, in October to discuss SC's need for proper lighting. Sherrill Long, security supervisor, said, "Security lights are needed around all building, sidewalks, [and] back of property...the lighting is very, very poor." Senate agreed that lights are needed on the side walks between Brock Hall and both dorms, the ladies' as well as the men's parking lot, and the Conference Center. The Senate has also said that a fence, which would seal off the courtyard, needs to be behind the girls dorm. The senators added that we need an official patrol car with a recognizable paint job and lights The Senate has not yet spoken to administration about these sugges tions So far, the Senate has only asked the administration to inform students about the rape and to squetch the numors circulating around campus. Dr Wohlers did so in an October assembly.

Adnanne Battistone, an activist against rape spoke to Thatcher residents. Her objectives were to develop an understanding of sexual assault and rape, to practice preventive action, and to enhance coping

She said that rape is never the victim's fault, and that sexual assa happens to children as well as adults. She also said that rapists become progressively violent

For preventive action, she encour-

-Watch for potential rape sites Keep away from them. Public trooms are not a good idea. Do not go in alon

Watch while walking, even during the day -Do not advertise your single life. Do not hide the key outside.

Keep emergency phone-numbers by the phone -Glance in and around the car. Avoid carrying too many packages. Do not pick up hitch-hikers ·Call the police if the car should per

Drive with locked doors -Make sure that the car is in good working condition

-Stay out of notonous hotels and

-Scream

-Run

-Call the police If raped, Battistone encourages the victim to enhance coping skills by realizing that she has does nothing wrong. She said that one should focus on the identity of the attacker so she can identify him if he is apprehended by the police

Poetry contest

December 31 is the deadline for entering the American Poetry Association's contest. Entry is free and everyone is welcome to enter

The Grand Prize is $1,000, and the first prize is $500. In total 152 poets will win cash and publication prizes worth $11,000

"Every student who writes petry should enter this contest Our latest $1,000 winner is a student. Students also won 24 of the other prizes," said Robert Nelson, publisher for the associa tion. "December break should give students the chance to enter before the deadline

Poets may enter the contest by sending up to six poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CT-90, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061, Entres should be mailed by December 31

A new contest starts January 1. Each poem is also considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a leading collection of today's poems.

During eight years of spor ship the American Poetry Association has sponsored 34 contests and awarded $165,000 in prizes to 3,100 winning poets

Young Americans exibit at Hunter Museum

Young Americans 1988 opened at the Hunter Museum of Art Sunday, November 19, 1989. The exhibit will be on view in the Hunter's temporary galleries through January 7, 1900

The Young Americans competition and exhibition is one of the oldest and most highly esteemed traditions within the craft field. Since its establishment in 1950, the competition has brought to the forefront of public attention many of the vanguard figures in American craft

Young Americans is a traveling exhibit which is the result of a national competition dedicated to handcrafted work by Americans between the ages of 18 and 30. The competition was introduced in 1950 by the American Craftsmen's Educa

tional Council with two object

tives: to offer craftsmen under thirty an opportunity to present their work to the public and to give these artists an avenue through which they can compare and analyze their work with the work of their contemporaries. The exhibition features 98 works by 62 artists: 24 in clay, 18 in fiber, 14 in glass, 24 in metal, 8 in mixed media. and 10 in wood

Young Americans 1988 was organized by the American Craft Museum in New York. The exhibition was made possible through the generous support of the Collectors Circle of the American Craft Council and the Jerome Foundation.

MUSEUM HOURS: Tuesday through Saturday 10:00 a.m until 4:30 p.m.; Sunday 1 until 4:30 p.m.; closed on Monday.

New M.A.S. computer being tested in library

By A. Lee Bennett Ir.

"Oh great, now the library has another machine I have to learn how to use!" was the phrase overheard by one of many McKee Library patrons

The Magazine Article Summary mputer has found a temporary home in the library's periodical area, on a 60 day trial period, with just over two ceks to go. Students will not "have" to learn how to use it, but those who do will find at extremely beneficial when looking up magazine articles

If the library decides to keep the index after the trial period, the er supplier, Ebsco, will replace its CD-ROM "brains" once a mo essentially teaching it every magazine and every article the library carries, as well as a few the library doesn't carry. The semi-current CD-ROM disc currently used by the index co over 200 general magazines from January 1984 to the present

Upon sitting at the machine for the first time, all one has to do is enter a title of an article wanted, an author, or the most popular category, subject. The comiter will then quickly search the CD-ROM for all articles pertinent to the user's entry. It will even cross reference two additional entries. A few seconds later, a list of articles fitting the search pattern will appear on the screen

A user may then select one and use the index to its greatest potential by viewing the article's subject, title. author, source, issue date, page, and even a short summary of the article. The summary is probably the best feature of the index because a user can immediately see whether or not the article is relevant to what he or she is looking for

If the user is not sure what to enter for either the subject, author, or title, a topic browse can also be done, which ill give an alphabetical list of every subject the index recognizes

Once a decision is made to keep the commuter. Ebsen will replace the CD-ROM disc monthly for nine mor out of the year. A lack of use is the reason the remaining three summer months will not be updated.

By keeping up-to-date with the monthly disc replacements, the computer will have reference to all of the library's periodicals, and also tell of a given article is even contained in the library

Library Director, Peg Bennen, said

Terri Lynch: female religion major

By Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

Her eyes darted from seat to seat as she walked into the classroom. With quick precision, she scoped out the room which was already filling with students. With certain composure, she sat down. "Genilemen." the teacher sad, "you will notice we have a rose among the thorns today." She had citered Homelities class.

Anna Theresa Lynch, a lunior at Southern College, is a religion major. She is also the only female majoring in religion and pursuing the ministerial track in the department this year.

Lynch, who is better known as Territ, was brain in Lake clify, Florial Lake clify, Florial in 1969. She is from a fifth generation family of Seventh-Day Adventists. Interestingly, only the females in her immediate family have been SDA's. Coming to Southern College in 1988. Lynch organily majored in Relgion and Bethavioral Science. As she progressed and the year she fell as though she was pursuing the wrong feld. After sevent vites with various professors in the department she decided to take the missistral true.

Lynch wants to preach.
"I felt like God was calling me," said Lynch, when asked why she decided to go into this field. Since deciding to pursue the ministerial track, Lynch has become very aware of the obstacles involved in this field because she is a female. When she sits down in her Personal

When she sits down in her Personal Ministry class, taught by Dr. Jack Blanco, the Chairman of the Religion department, Homelities class, taught by Dr. Douglas Bennett, she is always reminded that she has entered into a field which and her ally been dominated by males. In these classes, Lynch is the only female. While the idea of women idea of women preachers has not been widely accepted, there have been several recent moves toward change. Some states have taken an encouraging approach to the issue by putting in recommendations that would enable women to become heensed. While the ordination of women is still long in coming, there is certainly evidence that the attitudes of our churches are beginning to change by accepting the ministry of women. Despite these changes there are still es there are still obstacles that only time will change. Dr. Blanco explains that there is a sociological problem. "What husband is going to be willing to reverse roles."

husband is going to be willing to reverse roles withing to reverse roles and choose a career that would be flexible with hers?" This is one question the aspiring woman minister mid.

ask herself.
The beginnings of this very problem are evident even here on campus. "It tends to make guys uncomfortable," said Chris Miller, a religion major, when asked what men think of women studying to be ministers. "It's intimidating," said Greg Phillips, also a religion major, "what guy wants to be a minister's husband?"

be a minister's huband?"
Three are other obsacles which Lynch faces as the attends classes.
Beng in a classroom of 30 male suddens makes her feel alternated. She feels as though her will be critiqued to harder, thus, she works harder. Her teachers and fellow students have classes and fellow students have the students have been warnly and paraously recovered and have excelled greatly," said Bennett.
"Some of my best preceives have been the women in my classes."
Until the excitations of women becomes an accepted procedure, there is a great need for women's ministry in other ways within the church. Bennett believes that there is an increasing need for counselors among women in the church, an area he feels women could fuffil very effectively. "There is a wide open field for women the church, and in the church," Bennett explained.

Lynch is in agreement. She says she is happy with the amount of acceptance existing now among the churches. "I will probably remain an assistant pastor for a longer period of time than would a man." said Lynch Yet, she is optimistic that even such a position will still provide her wish an opportunity to be an effective worker for the Lord.

Joe Ellsworth, Student Missionary, writes from Korea

Dear friends at Southern:

Greetings from Pusan, Korea. 1 doesn't seem possible that I've just finished my first term. It seems like just vesterday that we arrived in Seoul rather unsure of ourselves. The first day of teaching was on September 4 That entire first week was rough. I was getting used to teaching and my students were getting used to me Now that I know them, it's time to start another term with new classes There are 8 teachers at my school. Six are English and two are Japanese. My school is located on the fourth floor above a department store. Three of the teachers are from Walla Walla One is from Berkeley, and the other one is from Lonia Linda, Somyon, where the school is located, is the drug dealing area of Pusan. 1 live about 30 minutes from the school. I share an apartment with 5 other our The school where Chris Long, Most Cox, and Vanessa were at is down the nam from where I live. The view from our apartment is awesome. especially at night. We overlook the city and harbor. I really like where I live because a park with mountains streams and trails is only about 25 steps away. It's great! I like getting up early and watching the sun come up over the harbor. I have some great pictures

Every weekend since I've been here it seems that I've gone on some sort of picnic. Last Sunday, all of the teachers and our two pasters went on a pinich (sigether, It was a lot of fun We went to a resort called Tae Beng Dae. It has a highbrow, a rocky beach, and many cliffs. Some of the mother waling rock, when like mothers well come and wall for their hombonds to get back from the war. Another rock, scalled set called where pople have gentled.

me not to walk around the park with a lover because the spirits off
the dead people will make you separate. In class after that one, I asked if it was true—one student said on and the rest idual's know.

When I go on pienics with My students told my students, the food can be quite interesting. The normal plenie food is tuna soup, beef, rice, and kimchi. On my Book 1 plenie, they fived that menu. 1 are only rice, kimchi and the onions and potatoes from the tuna soup. They asked me if it was be because of my church—1 old them, no, that it was a personal choice.

my health I avoid eating meat, and I don't like the thought of eating dead animals. Each day as I walk through the market it rein.

Usually Sabbaths keep us quite busy helping with the church. I have preached, had scripture reading,
led song servace,
had Bible meetings,
and had special music

forces my deci-

three times. Every Sabbath afternoon we have a children's story. We sing lively songs and teach them a new dialogue each week. Lettoy

Republic makes me feel like a of Korea child again.

In my Bible class I taught them "Family" Sometimes it was very funny when we would sing it because my helping with that voice would change, and we had a different tone We studied articles from Signs magazine. My class was at 8:00 p.m so class attendance was not very consistent. One evening I couldn't talk, to I had them look for nateresting arricles to study. One tady piecked the arricles to study, One tady piecked the narricles to study. One tady piecked then no Sabakh? I was really surprised. I had two athests, one S.D.A., one Pre-byperfan, and two nothing believes: It mude for a very interesting discussion and eight such such as the study of the s

This past term I taught classes from 5-9 a.m. and from 6-9 p.m. I taught one less class than the rest of the teachers because my Book 1 class was canceled due to lack of students. During my free time two days a week I help at the high school on the army base. I help with home economics and health classes. Being able to grow the students of the students of the school of the scho

AIR MAII

Joe Ellsworth American Red Cross APO SF 96259

I'd love to hear from you!!! God bless you and ya'll keep smiling.

More women in the pulpit

The number of women in the clergy rose significantly between the years 1977 and 1986. Here are the five denominations that saw the largest number of women become preachers in their pulpits:

	No. in 1977	No. in 1986	Percent increase
Assemblies of God	1,572	3,718	136 %
Salvation Army	3,037	3,220	6
United Methodist Church	319	1,891	493
Presbyterian Church	370	1,519	310
United Church of Christ	400	1,460	265

Source: Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches

Lisa Young, Gannett News Service World Bank, International Monetary Fund and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade U.S. officials have opposed Soviet overtures to join those longer-term economic cooperation, to

On the political front, experts say,

Gorbachev will want assurances that

United States will not seek to exploit

Bush made in Wednesday's speech accelerating talks to cut conventional

Gorbachev also may propose turmoil in Eastern Europe - a

- Some U.S. consideration of Soviets modernize and restructure

belo the promise

ground

their economy

The meeting will bring together the careful, prudent Bush with the self-confident, unpredictable gambler from the Kremlin, who has made surprise his hallmark.

from the Kremlin, who has made surprise his hallmark. In two days of meetings — some with aides and some alone — they with aides and some atone — they will take a measure of each other and seek common ground to deal with a changing world.

"Neither Bush nor Gorbachev could have foreseen what the state of the world would be in early December when they agreed on this meeting" last summer, said Raymond Garthoff, a former State Department official now at the Brookings Institution, a liberal think tank in Washington.

"Now the meeting has acquired a good deal more prominence and greatly raised expectations, because of these momentous changes in Europe," he said.

Indeed, historians and scholars are reaching back a long way to find similar moments of historic transformation

Historian Richard Barnet compares the Malta meeting backdrop to the period after World War II, when victorious Allied powers were trying to envision and shape the world.

"What could come out of this meeting," said Barnet, a senior fellow Institute for Policy Studies in Washington, "is a recognition on both sides that for the first time in 55 years, Europe is not in a condition of for war. The crisis in Europe now is what to do about the economic consequences of the collapse of the communist regimes."

While no agreements are to be signed at this summit, the superpowers with approach it with certain goals, wish lists and hopes. A wide range of authorities on East-West relations say Bush and Gorbachev will come to the table with differing aims and needs—though not necessarily conflicting.

Bush, the experts say, comes from a position of strength. The United States is economically prosperous and militarily strong, leading a successful Western alliance that virtually has won the Cold War

Gorbachev, on the other hand, reaches this summit burdened by severe troubles on all fronts. The Soviet economy is a shambles; his Warsaw Pact alliance is crambling, and his popularity at home is waning.

"Gorbachev is an impatient man who likes big public-relations successes,"

said Dimitri Simes, a Russian-bom
Soviet scholar at the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace

"His situation at home is sufficiently desperate that he needs to come back with something significant when he meets with the U.S. president."

Bush will be prepared for a Gorbachev surprise — such as some grand bashwin to prepare to it of other bachev surprise — such as some grand design for Eastern Europe or a plan for a demilitarized, neutral Germany — but he will not be drawn into any talks on such ideas, administration officials said.

"We are not meeting to determine the future of Europe," Bush himself yowed in his Thanksgiving eve speech.

What will the Soviet leader seek at the Malta talks? Soviet specialists suggest a variety of likely agenda items.

"Gorbachev's main needs are economic," said Marshall Goldman, head of the Russian Research Center at Harvard, "He wants to cut his military budget" so money can be reallocated to domestic consumer needs.

Goldman and other experts list economic items Gorbachev likely will seek:

- Warver of the Jackson-Vamk Amendment barring the Soviet Union receiving favorable turiff treatment of exports to the United States. Lower tariffs would not be a major boon to the siek Soviet economy, but ending U.S.

trade discrimination would be important symbolically to Gorbachev.

 U.S. support, or at least sympahetic consideration, of Soviet desires join the world economic club: the

Cont. from p. 1

that students who have already used the Magazine Arneles Summary "like it very much." Students who use it for the remainder of the trial period are encouraged to fill out a small card, telling what they think of the system.

Bennett recalled the InfoTrac index which was freed last year, and said that the cost of the computer, printer, rec for the M A S. is, only about $5.4000, whereas the InfoTrac equipment was about $5.4000, however, the M A.S. will cost $18,000 each year to keep up-to-date with its periodicals by the CD-ROM technology.

Bennett also said that this index appealed to the Student Association Senate as its project. The senate's annual budget is around $4,000, and this system would fit their budget very nucely

There are three major reasons for going with the Magazine Articles Summary system, according to Bennett. "It indexes more of the journals we subscribe to. It provides a summary of each article, ...and it costs less" than InfoTrac. Bennett said.

forces, strategic forces and chemical

In his Wednesday speech, Bush said the Malta summit will begin "the work of years," and he appealed to Gorbachev to "once and for all, end the Cold War."

the Cold War.

It is the same phrase Soviet officials had used to express their hopes for this meeting. Thus the Malta summit assumes great expectations as a chanter in history.

Thanksgiving New York trip enjoyed by students

By Andrea Nicholson

While most of us spent Thanksgiving with family, gathered around a table of homemade fixin's, two bus loads of SC students spent the baladys tourning museums, feeding the homeless, and sight-seeing in the grand metropolis of New York.

The trip was sponsored by the Art und Behavioral Science Departments. The groups left on Sat evening, Nov. 18, and arrived in New York on San, the 19th Students enrolled in Art Appreciation, naight by Both Garren, followed a different innerary on the trip than those who stigned up for Ed Lumb's behavioral science.

Both groups stayed at the YMCA on E. 47th St. "The room were incredibly small," said Loa Sparks, a judior art major who went on the art Appreciation tour, other than sharing accommodations, the two groups followed ate itineraries during their stay. The art trip emphasized the cultural aspects of the city. Students toured six museums, attended the NY City Ballet at Lincoln Center, and a play entitled, "Steel Magnolia"."

"The play was wonderfulprobably the best part of the whole trip," said Gayle Miller, a senior accounting major.

Some attended the Macy's Thanksgrving Day Parade, the Bronx Zoo, and quite a few tound bargains in Chinatown and in prestigious department stores. Angela Brackett, a jurior accounting major, advised, "If anybody is going to go to NY, don't go shopping the day after Thanksgrving!" The group boarded they Staten Island Ferry Friday evening, "We could see the Statute of Liberty and the whole NY City skyline. It was just beautiful," said Loa Sparks.

Some students got tickets to talk shows such as "Late Night With David Letterman" and

They don't use real frogs...

By Mike Hernandez

How many of you have ever dissected a frog, earthworm, embryonic pig, etc. and actually found anthing inside? That's what I thought - nobody. This is because the animals that are used for dissection are not real. I know this because I dissected a frog once in Biology class.

I was supposed to find over 400 individual frog parts and draw them on my paper. The lab manual had each of thsee frog parts separated and drawn in a different cotor. It was very near When I cut open my frog, all I found was a pinkish-brown substance that resembted were old lelib.

very old Jello.

I prodded around inside of my frog for approximately 30 minutes, until 1 finally gave up and joined the rest of the students in tracing the pictures directly from the lab

Viking Club: What is it and where do I get my horns?

By Julie Jacobs

It started as a prank. The ad in the Campus Chatter promoting the Viking Club was fictional. But today, the Viking Club does exist thanks to the interested persons who called for their free sets of Viking

Brian Miller was elected president at the inaugural meeting, according to Andy Nash, founder of the club "I think Brian will do a great job as president," said Nash. "He's always wearing his Viking homs around the dorm, and he's trying to grow a beard like the Nordic men themselves did years ago."

Future club activities include a slide presentation of the recently built replica of the Viking ship, Hjenicomsi, a traditional Viking campout and a visit to a local Norwegian restaurant.

According to Nash, the goal of the club is to gain an appreciation for the rich heritage of the Viking people. "Anyone can join", said Nash, "You don't have to be Norwegian."

Other Viking Club members include Mike Johnson, Lisa Willsey, Russ Miller, Brad Emde, Rich Winget, and Lance Morlen. Anyone interested in joining should contact Brian Miller at #3377.

(Editors Note. The Viking Club is still a prank. However, the idea has potential.)

This brings me to my theory on why it is OK to dissect frogs

Frogs cannot feel anything.
 Frogs cannot possibly have any sort of nervous system because they are filled with glop. Frogs are nothing but little bags of glop hopping around with eyes and a long sticky tongue to give.

the impression that they are actual living ereatures.

2 - Frogs cause warts.

3 - Frogs have bod personal hygiene. Have you ever seen a frog use a public toiled? No. This is because frogs go to the bathroom on mushrooms which many of you eat regularly on salads. Can you imagine how awful it would be to have warts on your Frogs are ugly
 Frogs are a bad influence on children

Every child has read the story of the princess who kasses a frog and it turns into a prince. After reading thas story, my sister and I decided to see if this actually worked. The plan was for me to catch the frogs, and she would kiss them. We did not succeed in turning a frog into a prince. The only thing we succeeded in doing was getting about 20 frogs go to the bathroom on my hands. I felt compelled to write this because of the article in the previous issue of the Accent on dissection. I hope I have provided you all with enough information to make a mature decision on this critical issue.

If you would like more information, all you have to do is send $19.95 (plus shipping and handling; state, local and federal tax, plus a small donation, if possible) to.

Mike Hernandez Room 277 Talge Hall Southern College 37315

If you order today, I will also throw in a FREE metric screwdriver set, and a FREE Chinese Oriental Antuge Classic Wok. And, if you are one of the first 100 who responds, you will receive a FREE imitation diamond pendant in the shape of an embryonic pig.

Order now while they last STEPHEN J. DEMPSEN RD

Accounted to the control of the cont

STRESS!

While a little stress in your life is healthy and interesting, too much can cause many different illnesses. Dealing with stress and knowing how to spot the things that cause it are important.

Stress survivors stay healthy even in the worst of times. They consider difficult situations opportunities for growth. These may include anything from work stress, money problems, or lack of time, to misbehaving children.

Happy events cause stress as well, for example, a new position at work, getting married, having a baby, or moving to a new house.

To cope with large and small frustrations, one of the most positive things you can do is maintain an attitude that God is in control of you life, rather than feeling that you are a victim of circumstances.

Keep the goals you set for yourself within reason. If they are unattainable within the time you have set, you place yourself in a stressful situation. Whether it's the amount of work you want to do today, or what you hope to accomplish in a longer period of time, be maticiste.

Develop relaxation techniques such as simple deep breathing, a good night's sleep, or visualizing pleasing scenes in your mind. A jog, a brisk walk, or exercising to music does wonders for that stressed-out feeling.

For the Health of it

By Darlene Almeda

Q: Since you are one of the health service nurses, could you possibly explain why I have been given aspirin for three very different problems?

A Aspirn is your good, allaround, multipurpose medicine.

Aspira or ASA, which stands for acetylsalicylic acid, has a wide range of functions beside earing headaches. Here are a few. It towers fevers, and works an anti-influence affects agent. It also has an anti-enter affect and the second contage affect and according to the contage of the integration. Yet proverful, effects of ASA when treating sprained analies, fevers, headaches, tootherhes,

muscular soreness, flu symptoms,

backaches, menstrual cramps, and

Although you may feel you need something stronger for your specific problem when visiting Health Service besides ASA, please be aware that it is our duty to offer you that which will have the least side effects and still be therapeutic enough to help you out. It is not always feasible to give a strong prescription medica tion when something less potent has not even been tried. So next time you get ASA from Health Service, keep in mind all the potent effects of this greatly underrated drug. And whatever you do, don't take it on an empty stomach!

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to the staff of Camp Kulaqua

Juan Carlos Belliard A. Lee Bennett, Jr. Joe Bieksa Amy Bradley Yvette Disbro Rick Engel Rvan Fetters Kim Fillman Michelle Fried Michelle Fulbright Rob Fulbright Kevin Fulford Anthony Harris Michael Hawkins Barry Hendrick Melissa Laporte Tina Loaks Paul Lower Terri Lynch John Machado Lori Marchant Amber Murphy Keith Nelson

Masha Becker

Yvette Norcott Claudio Otero Christie Peters Jeremy Pettit Christie Perivini Macki Pierre Ronnie Pittman Sean Pittman Kevin Pride Jason Rivera Carlos Romero Charmin Sagert Benjamin Sanchez Grant Schlishner Ingrid Skantz Shannin Spinella Alan Starbird Cindy Stevenson Jo-Anne Stevenson Rick Swistek Nancy Thamas Glen Valenzuela Danny Varner Gale Varner Steve Watson Sherri Wright

Congratulations on a record-breaking summer! You helped make it possible for over 1,500 campers to enjoy the beauty of God's nature at Camp Kulaqua.

With His love.

Phil Younts

P.S. We'll see you in January. PY

Santa Comes to Southern College

Photos by Scan Terretta and Geoffrey Church

1

Mitchell races on Turkey Day

by Jim King

While you and I were home for the holidays saug in our beds, dreaming about the fabulous Thanksgiving feast, Chris Mitchell was pounding the pavement at the Atlanta Thanksgiving Marathon and Half-Marathon

The starting gun went off at 7:30 a.m. and 30 mph winds had forced the temperature below 25 degrees. "It was freezing cold!" said Chris.

According to Chris, there were a least five thousand runners starting the 13.5 mile race, and the great push of nanity kept the pace high during the first part of the race. "It was like a vacuum," said Chris "I ran 6 30 rodes for five rules "

Things were going smoothly for Chris when he ran into a problem Nature called. "Those port-o-john sure come in handy around mile seven," he laughed.

Feeling the cold. Chris said he was shocked when a man who looked like he was in his seventies blitzed by him wearing only silk shorts and Nikes "He really blew me away!" said Chris "There was no way I could keep up with him Chris said he didn't get to train for the race as much as he had wanted to so, "around the eleven mile mark I ran out of gas." He was really struggling at the twelve and a half mile mark when a miracle happened "A beautiful blonde came up on me and was threatening to pass. It really motivated me to pick a up and I stayed with her the rest of the way

Chris ended with a total time of 1 hour 27 minutes. Not bad for taking one stop along the way! "The last two males were the longest for me. People lining the streets kept yelling at me to keep going. I kept wondering, 'Where's the end

Chris, who is the coordinator of the Well/Fitness program for Southern College is planning to run full and half marathons, and compete in tri/ brathalons. "I want to participate in as many sports events so I can to better the wellness program here at Southem," he said

Volleyball Standings

A League Volleyball

w L Teams Lastine/Miranda 3 0 Overstreet/Moreland 2 1 Dos Santos/Graham 1 1 Langford/Dickinson 1

Ritterskamp/Pittman 0 B League Volleyball

Malin/Williams

Teams Faculty Giles/Wakefield 0 Bradley/Amick 0 Bowes/Welch 0 Mills/Scott 0 Thompson/Henry 1 Stont/Watkins 1 Hinson/Bishop 1 Collins/Tull 2 2 Santana/Neal Lacra/Reece 0 2 Watson/Burrill a 2

Hines/Myers

Mental athletics begin next semester

By Rundal Gilliam

The seventh annual College Bowl will begin January 22. As an academic competition, questions for the contest will be drawn from ten major areas: business, current events English/grammar/literature, geogra phy, government and law, history, natural and physical sciences, religion, sports, and general knowledge.

Matches will be held in the cafeteria at 5 15 and 5 45 p.m. each Monday and Wednesday evening through February 19. The semi-finals will be held in Lynn Wood Hall Auditorium on February 21 and 26 beginning at 6.00 n.m. The Championship match will be held Thursday, March 1, at 11.00 a.m. in the P.E. Center.

Through a joint contribution of the Student Association, the Student Activities Office, and the History Department, a new buzzer system for vering questions will be introduced for this year's contest. A new clock, which for the first time will be visible to the audience as well as the teams and the moderator, will also be purchased. According to Stan Hobbes, Assistant Men's Dean and Contest Moderator, "We've been really trying to upgrade the College Bowl and make it better every year. I think that with the addition of these new buzzers, this will be the best College Bowl we've ever had

According to the College Bowl's "Rules of Play", a match is begun with a ten point toss-up question. The team correctly answering the toss-up question then has an opportunity to answer a bonus question. Toss-up questions will be worth ten points and bonus questions will be worth between fifteen and twenty-five points Matches will be twenty-four minutes in length

The competition will be conducted as a double chromation tournament with a championship and an alternati bracket. Each team will consist of four players plus an alternate Team captains are: Linden DeCarmo, Rhett Eklund, Jeff Grange, Benjamin Keppler, Gene Krishmener, Robert Marya Mark McKenzie, Richard Moody Benjamin Mereland Keith Nelson, Lisa Springett, and Jason Soddeth the cold war. Dake University Blue Daniels armach 11998 National Team 103-78 last Wednesday at Cameron Stadius

Jaecks' Picks

Jaecks' Picks

A League: "A good group of fellows who didn't make it on A league team were allowed to form their own team and they have done well. I congratulate them on their competi tive spirit, good sportsman-enthusiasm My pick league is the Langford/ Dickinson team " ship, and

B League: "Two of the stronger teams that I like are Box es and They display great teamwork."

take place at Southern College, be an additional $2.00 fee for late towards Amyotrophic lateral scler is a progressive disease that attacks specialized nerve cells called motor of voluntary muscles. ALS caus upper motor neurous originating in the neurons, which control the movement registration). Proceeds will go

Jingle Bell Jog to be held here spinal cord to gradually disintegrate, preventing them from delivering The first annual Jingle Bell Jog will chemical signals and essential Sunday, December 10, 1989. A 5K nourishment that muscles depend on race will begin at 2 p.m. followed by a for normal development ALS came 1 mile jog/walk at 2 45 p.m. There is to wide public attention when the a $7.00 registration fee for the 5K and Hall-ot-Fame career of Yankees first a $5 00 fee for the 1 mile jog, if you register before December 7 (there will baseman Lou Gehrig was cut short by the disease in 1939. Since then, many people use the term "Lou Gehrig" disease" when referring to ALS (ALS) or Lou Genng's disease. ALS

One of the exciting things about the race is that each participant will be given jinglebells which will either be tied to the shoes or pinned to the clothing. Also, encouragement is touched to the name mant to dress up in Christmas Spirit Attire such as

Dale Deason WSMC's morning personality

by David Barasogin

He started working in public radio. at West Georgia College's WWGC in 1976. Now, after a decade in the commercial radio market, he's returned to his roots and works at public radio station WSMC in Collegedate

Dale Allen Deason, 32, currently resides in McDonald, Tennessee, just outside of Ooltewah. He is best known for his work announcing and producing commercials at various radio stations in Chattanooga

He's worked at various radio stations such as Z-93 in Atlanta and lite-mix 105 in Chartanooga But why would a man who, in 1988, was voted the most popular disc inckey in Chattanooga go back to public radio?

Dale recently started his own usiness, which gives him little time for con, nercial radio. Instead, he works at WSMC from 6.00 a.m. until 9:00 a.m. and is the local bost during National Public Radio's Morning Edition The rest of his time is spent making commercials and talking with clients. "When you're doing commer cial radio it's all consuming. You can't do anything else... this is a way for me to stay in radio and still do my own business too," says Dale.

His Chattanooga radio career got started when he was offered a job with WGOW/WSKZ, in 1980. There he produced commercials, programmed music, and was a talk show host for

In 1986 be accepted a job at WLMX as the morning air personality. The station was launched in '86 with Dale as the morning d.j. After the first quarter, WLMX became the number one, adult-format radio station in Chattanooga. In 1988, after two years with WLMX, the Chattanooga Times and Chattanonga Life & Leisure voted him Chattanooga's favorite disk jockey. He was the first radio personality to beat WDEF's Luther Masingil for that title Shortly after his populanty peaked, Y-102 approached him with a "lucra tive 3-year contract", says Date. What looked like what was going to be a popular station with a good format went sour "The owner interfered with daily programming and kept changing the format", says Dale. At first the station did well, but its popularity slowly tapered off. After hearing rumors that the station was going to be sold (it was, and it rently known to listeners as FOX 102) and that ratings were declining

Deason decided it was time to get out. Before leaving Y-102, he had been making arrangements to start his own business. Since his expertise was in making commercials he decided to begin his own commercial making business

Deasonworks, Inc. To date he has done work with Mc Donald's. Coca-Cola, Computer land R & R. Check Cash America, M C.B. State Line Electronics. as well as Newton Chevrolet.

Overall, Dale says public radio is more relaxing than commercial radio, because it's not sales driven; however, he says when the bottom line is looked or all radio stations are the same. He says a radio station is a radio station whether it's in Atlanta or in Colleged "When I sat down at the on-air board for the first time at Z-93 I said 'this is really nice, but it's just a radio station", says Dale After watching and listening to Dale, it's evident that his goal is to simply make listeners comfortable He describes radio as an individual experience Says Date, "You're just as important to somebody listening in Collegedate as you are to somebody who's listening in Atlanta.. The only difference is there are two million people listening in Atlanta and only twenty thousand listening in Colleged

Mr. David Smith transformed into Dr. David Smith

By Lynn McFaddin

David Smith recently received his Doctorate in English from The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. His 340 page dissertation took two and a half years to complete

Smith chose to write about Henry David Thoreau Transcendental Sauntering was the title of his thesis, The basis for most of my writing came from a Published Journal containing 16 volumes, written by Thoreau," said Smith, "Thoreau walked four to say hours a day and the Journal was written largely on accounts of his walks.

Smith has always been involved in teaching. "My grandmother was a very good teacher and that got in my blood," he said. "I have always enjoyed an academic environment and have a real burden to work with young people."

Born in Illinois, he later attended Broadview Academy. He then continued his education at Andrews University. He majored in History and minored in English and later received his Masters in English from Andrews University

Wisconsin Academy proved to be Smith's first teaching job. He spent six years there with his wife Peggy While there, he served as assist boys' dean, and a history and religion teacher. "Both of my children were born there," said Smith Licinda is now 16, and Kumberly is 13. Laurelwood Academy would be his next stop. Smith taught English for one year there and moved on to Union College. He spent two years there and taught the same classes that he teaches here at Southern College, composi tion, literature, and speech. This will be Smith's ninth year at S C "I am very happy to be at the college level and enjoy it very much," he said

When asked if he would do it all over again, he replied Yes. "I would be a dean in a dorm again, because there is no other experience like that, I would also teach at the seco level because of the closeness between faculty and students

The most challenging part of my job is the volume of papers that I have to grade Psychologically, I strive to get them to perform and grade them. I repeat the process over and over again," said Smith. "I am glad to see that I have helped a student on a personal level, whether it be spiritual level or some other problem

It took Smith six years to complete his Doctoral Program. "I feel that the courses I took have been very helpful in my teaching and have given me a much better grasp of literature," he said. "The experience of doing it, and setting goals to push myself on a daily basis made me more confident abtaking on something challenging. It was the hardest thing I ever did."

Smith dedicated his dissertation to his wife Peggy. She is secretary to the Academic Dean here at S.C. "She was very excited when I told her," he said. "I appreciated her strong support

As for the future, "I plan to spend more time with my family and get reacquainted with them," he said. "I also want to have some articles pub lished. Someday I want to turn my dissertation into a book '

.....

CHRISTMAS OPEN HOUSE

At the Adventist Book Center Fleming Plaza

ONE DAY ONLY-Sunday, December 10 10 A.M. to 5 P.M.

10 % Storewide Discount on most items

Free gift wrapping 20% discount on regularly priced Bibles

25% off boxed Christmas cards

The ABC offers the best selection of Christmas gifts for your family members!

Take advantange of this one-day only opportunity to stock up on your gift-buying ideas!

Phone 396-2814

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions:

- 1) Who wrote Candide?
- 2) Name the fortress which serves as the central offices of the government
- 3) Name the quarterback whose team won the 1988 Superbowl.
- 4) Name the organizations whose motto is "Be Prepared
- 5) Name the longest river in England (Hint: It flows thru London.)

Last Weeks Answers:

- Adam Smith
- 2) Pisa
- loe Montana
- Star Took

The attack on Pearl Harbor Last Weeks Winner:

- Thomas Huntress Bruce Cambique
- Dale Laces
- Beg McArthur

McDonald's

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McOonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10 00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and, pets are inclipible

To us, there's no such thing as a small potato.

Credit unsurs, on the other hand, area's profit-oriented or profit-driven. To us a loan is a loan whether it's far a new car or a new bake, a home or a boneymoon, a coffege education or a

You see, our philosophy buils down to nine simple words. "Not for profit, not for cheerly but for service." That is why you, as a credit union member, can usually earn more when you save—and pay less when you borrow.

To a lot of financial institut seem like small polations But to our exembers, als all quavy

From the Archives

July 30, 1971

Old cafeteria is demolished. Construction starts on New cafeteria.

February 21, 1980

$50 food minimum removed.

January 7, 1988

Southen expects 1,300 students second semester.

Notices

"ATTENTION - HIRING! Government jobs - your area Many immediate openings without waiting list or test. $17,840 - $69,485. Call 1-602-838-885. EXT R7418 "

COLLEGE REP WANTED to distribute "Student Rate" subscription cards at this campus. Good income. For information and application write to. COLLEGIATE MARKETING SERVICES, 303 W. Center Ave. Mooresville, NC 28115. 704/663-0963.

Austin Peay State University is offering scholarships in reading and music for qualified black students who plan graduate programs in these fields. The Vice President for Academic Administration has application forms. Applicants must be residents of Tennessee

VIEWPOINTS

When did you first hear about the Berlin Wall and what was your reaction?"

I'm glad they have a righ to freedom nov -Sherry Aumack

My great grandpa from there, so I'm going over to discover my roots -Ken Graham

I can't remember but I'm bringing back a piece of the wall in three weeks. -Angela Bullock

ing class; I'm glad to see that the nation is coming together -Eric Jansen

I was really excited for the East German -Sanmari Barkhuizen

I heard it the day it happened, I think it's a sign of the end of time -Grege Chaddie

It was exciting becau husband escaped from there; we were plued to the T.V. Beth Malgadev

I heard it on the radio; it was a surprise to me because it happened so fast. -Geoffrey Church

Upcoming Events

Friday, December 1

Vespers, 8:00 pm Bob Cudiff Candlelight meditation service (following)

Saturday, December 2

Curch service. Ed Santana Pizza and Movie, Cafeteria Business Club Christmas Party

Wednesday, december 6

S.A. Pep Day

Thursday, December 7

Assembly, 11:00 am, P.E. Center S.C. Band

Friday, December 9

Vespers, 8:00 pm C.A.R.E. Christmas Pageant

Saturday, December 10

Church Servece, Gordon Bietz International Club Sabbath School Christmas Musical Southern College Band Christmas Concert, P.E. Center, 8:00 pm

Wednesday, December 13

C.A.R.E. Day

Thursday, December 14

Assembly, 11:00 am Clubs and Departments

Friday, December 15

SA Christmas Supper Vespers, 8:00 pm Southern College Music Department

Photographers on Disp. ng soon. the portfolios of last year's photojournalism class will be on display in the Brock Hall gallery.. drop by and see

Cont. from p. 5

A few found themselves in a crowd of onlookers watching the filming of "America's Most Wanted." The program aired Mon night, and a handful of SC students identified themselves in the crowd on the program that is broadcast nationally

Free time was spent shop ping, sightseeing, ice skating at Rockefeller's, and checking out the famous Hard Rock Cafe Some went to Radio City Music Hall and saw the "Christmas Spectacular with the Rockerts

Opinions about the thuseums varied but a common consensus among the students was that the Guggenheim Museum was the worst. Gayle Miller described the exhibits as "neon numbers, wire mesh, and decaying fruit that was just atrocio

"It's a durty city," said Pearlie Reyes, a senior pre-physical therapy major, "and people are istantly asking for money in the subways. It's a fun place to visit. but I wouldn't want to live there

The behavioral science group focussed their attention on the people in NY City, particularly the homeless. They toured an Amish community in Pennsylvania on the way to NY. Tours of Midtown, Little Italy, Chinatown, Lower East Side, Belmont and Harlem were part of the daily

The highlight for most on this trip was a visit to see Mother Hate, an 84 year old black woman who cares for babies who have been born to drug addicts. The women are placed in rehab centers and get their babies back when they have overcome their habit. Students got to play with some of the babies, three of whom were AIDS infected "The trip really opened my eyes to how the world really is," said Lisa Hollinger, a junior behavioral science major. "I realized things are a lot worse than what they seem in this world.

The group fed 4,400 homeless people at the Salvation Army on Thanksgiving Day, "I thought they'd be a bunch of animals, you know, street people that don't know how to act, but they were very polite." Lisa said. "They kept saying, 'Thank you. God bless you, you're so nice." She said it was so sad to see that there really are people out there who don't have anything. "I was getting more from them than I felt like I was giving," Lisa said. "It was such a blessing.

The group attended the Macy's Parade, toured the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, the Bronx Zoo, and had ample free time to shop, sightsee. and attend functions of their choice

Both groups returned on Sunday with plenty of adventures and experiences to tell about New York. Art students kept a journal of the museums and exhibits they viewed, and behavioral science students kept a daily journal of observations about the people they came in contact with in the city Each student will write a paper to fulfill their class requirements.

Index

P. 2 Editorials P. 3,4 News P.5.6 Religion P 7 Amusement

P. 8 Christmas P.9 Sports P.10 Health P. 11 Ads P.12 Lifestyles

Band Page 4 SOUTHERN

Open House Pages 3,8

November 31, 1989

Students react to the crumbling of the Wall

By Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

Volume 45, Number 8

Twenty-eight years ago, a symbol of division between East and West Germany was erected. For twenty eight years East Germans were isoned in their own country by the wall which separated them from their fellowmen, family and friends. The wall "protected" them should they be tempted to discover a freer society than their own.

On November 9, this year, the wall crumbled, not physically, but emotionally for millions of Germans. "So far this year 225 000 East Germans out of a population of 16 million have en tered West Germany through Hungary and Czechoslovakia at rates of 300 an hour," stated a recent issue of Time Magazine

This week selected students a Southern College were asked to react to the aftermath. For many, it was of bule concern. For many others, they had heard the news but knew very little detail. Some expressed positive emotion, but were not touched beyond that point. For some there was indeed a deep sense of emotion and reaction

"I have an Uncle in West Berlin." said JC Belliard. "I am glad to see this event during my life-It is amazing how fast it all happened " world is near," stated Leif Asgeirsson, The Pope and the Russians have met which is a definite sign towards the second coming...[for the Germans] it seems like everything is getting better but is it really getting better Wayne Stevenson said, "I think there's a mov towards being ." The new found freedom for the Germans is "only man added thing to show accepting of a that Christ

Democratic society, which is a sign of the end of time The German Government is opening the doors to religious freedom The Seventh-day Adventist church does not take sides in politics. and because of that they have been permitted to come in, which is a reflection on the state of time we are in Our work is being taken into cour tries where before the doors had been shut." Tom Huntress felt more anxiety towards the event. "I feel both happy and anxious. I don't behave unification will take place. This freedom will cause more political and economical problems," he said

Michelle Fried believes "our generation will waness Christ's com-coming. There is always a calm before the storm," said Fried Keith Nelson was "shocked it happened without a revolution, ultimately," he said "the people control the Govern-

Richard Moody who visited Germany two summers ago reflected up the feelings he had when he heard the news of the recent freedom for the Germans. "I'm particularly excited about the Wall's destruction. It was very sobering-seeing the barbed wire in East Berlin, I felt a strange sense of confinement and stagnation-nothing tangible, just an uneasy sensation. The difference between the two sections of the senarated city is remarkable There is a festive, almost reckless atmosphere in West Berlin, which comes from being surrounded by a hostile and repressive regime. The Wall's destruction will be a freedom to both sides. The West can breath easier, and East can observe and expenence democracy and freedom of expression first-hand."

For some students here at Southern he events in Europe have little effect. For some, the headline was all they read, or a news brief was all they heard. But for those in Germany their new found freedom is ab sorbed with every elfort. "They will learn to or already appreciate their freedom which we take for granted," said Robert Pittmar

The opening of the Berlin Wall iddenly gives the German people a freedom to do what the American society can do everyday Richard Moody explains, "I saw dozens of rabbits in the fortified no-man's land adjacent to the Wall. Maybe this opening will allow men to do what dumb animals have always been able to do-go wherever they please

.......

Young people value Christmas tradition

By Darcy Reid Trick ©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Younger people are more likely than their seniors to celebrate an old-fashioned holiday, says a new SHIPPER

Eighty-eight percent of those aged 18 to 24 will decorate a Christmas tree, compared with 69 percent of all ages, according to a poll of 1,000 peop nationwide by Alamo Rent A Car.

Younger people are also more apt to exchange gifts (90 percent vs. 83 2 percent; send cards (87 percent vs. 81 percent); and bake holiday treats (83 percent vs. 80 percent).; and hang the mistletoe (50 percent vs. 42 percent).

"This is the first generation of kid where both parents worked," explains Ken Wilson, author of Kids on Board They're grabbing all the warm fuzzies they can in this high-tech wacky world."

Other findings:

- 61.5 million of us will take an overnight trip between Dec. 22 and - 49.2 million by car, 9.2 million by air, 18 million each by train or bus Another 615,000 will take a cruise. - Average spent on gifts, $340. Least-celebrated tradition: Roasting chestnuts, only nine percent. "And if it weren't for Nat King Cole, there'd be even fewer people doing it," says Liz Clark of Alamo

The case of the missing silverware

By Izear Feagins

Someone is stealing from the school cafeteria. The cafeteria has lost much silverware and many dishes because students take these utensils to their rooms and keep them there

Before November 10. 1080 Me Earl Evans Food Director for S.C., purchased 51 dozen spoons, 51 dozen forks, 24 dozen knives, and 16 dozen plates to replace the ones lost, stolen, or thrown away. Mr. Evans also had eight racks of desert dishes. Today, nearly half of those desert dishehave disappeared.

Evans said. "If the cafetena can keep these plates, forks, knives, and spoons, it helps the students' pockets " He continued saying, "It's the principle. It's what we believe." As Christians, we should not take what does not belong to us

Dr. Sahly pleaded for the students to return the missing silverware and dishes to the cafeteria. If a student has silverware and dishes that belong to the cafeteria in his or her room, he needs to return then For if the utensils keep disappearing, the cost of replacing them will be reflected in higher cafeteria

David Denton's:

Bits and Pieces

Ry David Denton

There are some very stupid people in the world. If you don't believe me read the following phone conversation I had one evening while working at Pizza Home Delivery. Every word is true unless I made it un

"Hello, Pizza Home Delivery, may I help you

"Uh, yeah I was wonderin". Do

"Yes, sir, we do" (What I wanted to say, but didn't was: "No, sir, I'm sorry, we don't. I know the sign says

Southern

Contributing

Pamela Draper

Editors

Pizza Home Delivery, but that's because Pizza Home Come-Pick-It-Up aldn't fit on the sign YES, YOU

IDIOT WE DELIVER!!!") "Okay, I want a pizza" (ten second

"What kind of mizza would you

bke? "What kind?"

"I mean, what do you want on it?" "Oh Hold on. Hey, Mabel, what kında pızza you want? What kınd you 201? "We have ham, sausage, pepperoni, ground beef, onion, green pepper,

Accent

Sports Editor

Jim Kina

It is not so much the being exempt from faults as the having overcome them that is an advantage to us.

-Alexander Pope

Editor

John Caskey

Associate Editor

Laurie Ringer

black or green olive, mushroom and

"Hey, Mabel, they susage pepperori um orion what else did you say you had?" Here I repeated the list to him, and he repeated it to his wife (I guess it was his wife), at which point he said to me: "We'll just take plain cheese.

"Okay, would you like white or whole wheat dough?" "Hold on. Hey, Mabel, you want white or whole wheat dough?" Pause, then to me, "What's the difference?" "Well, one's white dough, and one's whole wheat "Oh. We'll take white, I guess." "Fine. Would you like anything to drink with that?" "Uh, yeah." Another ten second pause. This time I nearly screamed into the phone "WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO

ORINKS "Uh, what you got?"

"We have COKE! We have SPRITE! We have DR PEPPER and we have DIFT COKE!

"Hold on. Hey, Mabel, you want a Coke with that? Yeah, give us two Cater "Good, now can I have your address?

Yeah. 14114 S. Seminole Dr., Apt.

"Let's see, thats 14114 S. Seminele Apt. 3-b?

Hold on. Hey, Mabel, are we 14114 or 41441? Yeah, that's right. we're 14114, fifth house on the right after you pass the third street on the left. We ain't got no name on the door, but they do three houses down 'Course I cain't 'member what their name is. Hey. Mabel, what's the name of them folk live down-

"Never mind, we'll have your pizza there in about fifteen minutes. "Oh, no, that's okay. We're gonna pick it up."

I don't know if he ever picked his pizza up or not'; I haven't been back to nek

Letter to the Editor

stating that she had skipped dorm worship ten times and would consequently be fined $25. Her I.D. card would also be descrivated. As it turned out they were able to make some corrections on the amount of worships skipped, and she did not have to pay the fine. Her I D, card was not deactivated

This event however, caused me to reflect seriously upon the school's religious regulations and consequently come to the following conclusions As a stands presently, Southern College requires dorm students to attend four worships a week, three dorm and vespers. Sabbath School and Church are also required

Apparently, if ten or more skips from dorm worship are taken the students run the enormous risk of being fined $25 and being denied the use of his/her I.D card. In essence, students are punished for not attending religious activities hose who enforce such regulations will suggest that if a student does not want to attend religious activities then they should choose an alternative educational institution

Let's look at it this way. The difference between a Christian school and a public school is that a Christian school provides religious activities, a public school does not. Because a tudent chooses to attend a Christian school over a public school should that mean that he must be forced to attend the religious activities? A Christian school should provide the apportuni ties to attend religious activities but it should not require the attendance of such activities. By requiring students to attend worship and church we do them a disfavor. In actuality, the requirement is counterproductive. By forcing students to go to dorm worship we create a sense of hostility. The student no longer goes to worship or church from a natural desire for spiritual food, he goes instead to obtain "credit" or to prevent the stiff conseduences

Should we not instead rely upon the student's own spiritual motivation to attend the religious activities the school provides? Should we not leave the choice up to the student just as Christ leaves the choice up to us to follow him?

Let us not assume that if worships were no longer required that students would no longer come. I strongly beheve that if worships and church were optional, many students would still attend. They would attend out of their own spiritual aliveness and desire to enter God's presence. Other SDA campuses have discontinued the requirement to attend daily worships and have found a decline in worship and church attendance. Yet at the same time, this does not prove that the students who do not attend are not themselves conducting their own spiritual worships

Most students I am acquainted with conduct their own worships. During the time that they are sitting in dorm worship, completely tuned out, they could be enjoying their own worship done because of their natural desire to learn more about Christ, not because they need the "credit." College age young people should not be required to attend structured worship services. The mere fact that they have chosen to enroll at a Christian college should be a reflection of their spiritual aliveness. Thus, they choose an institution where religiou activities are provided. In the event that they choose not to attend should not be an assumption that they are spiritually weak and need prompting towards a deeper spiritual level. Perhaps we should rely on each student's own religious motivation and desire where he will enter the presence of the Lord with an eager heart instead of one full of hostibity and eagerness to fill the week's requirement of "spiri-

Sheila Draper Layout Editor Gene Krishingner Daniel Potter Photo Editor Paste Up Sean Terretta Virgil Cavel Lifestule Editor Advisor Adrienne Cox Stan Hobbs Word Processing Heather Wise Member of the Associated Collegiate Press The Spathern Accent is the official student newspaper for Southe

The Statemen scenar is the official related necessary for Scotture College of Secretical, Advantates and in Federal step ofter There day during the stated year with the ecopyine of exam weeks and authors and scenario in the theorem of the control of the control

Jo-Anne E. Stevenson

Girls dorm opens it's doors to guys

B v Suzanne Lettrick

After a day of last minute door decorating, the halls fell silent. Women quickly scooped wrapping paper, tage, and earland remain: from their pre-vacuumed carpets before the first deep voice vibrated down the

Before guests arrived, cuous women previewed the Sontas Christmas trees and snowmen which were carefully applied to their neighbors' doors.

Then, the museum-like sitence was gone as loads of men poured in from every entrance. Thatcher had opened its doors to Tales

From 6:30-8:00 p.m. men were allowed to go past the "No Men Allowed" signs, to a world which they hardly, if ever, enter Christmas was the theme of this December 3 women's club open house Robert Garren, one of the door judges, said, "probably about 75% of the doors had been decorated. I enjoyed it because I think this year more people took part in decorating than in past years," he said.

"Hey, cool room", "Look who's under the mistletoe", and "Ooh, look at that!", were some comments which sounded that night. Punch and cookies were served as refreshments Women's club officers picked three couples to judge the doors: Mr. Garren-the art chairman, and his wife; Dr. Green-professor of education, and his wife; and Mr. and Mrs. Krause, his

"Doors were judged on the amoun of work put into them and the originality of the ideas," Garren said.

Prizes went to the best 3 doors on each floor, the hall with the most Christmas spirit (1st East), and one room for grand prize

When Patricia Snider and Anita Scott asked the deans when the contest results would be announced, they were handed an envelope. They had won the grand prize of $40.

We put about as much money into making the door as we got back in the prize money," Snider said. Felt, cotton, and satin, were shaped into the ski mountain, ice pond and sky, which was stretched out past the door onto the walls The idea for the door came to Snider in class. "I was bored in one of my classes so I was sketching. I drew this winter scene and thought it might look good on our door.

Like many of the women, Scott and Snider stayed up late to work on their scene. "We started at 11:30 p.m. (Thurs. night) and worked round the clock until Friday afternoon. Sunday is was finished," Snider said.

"I didn't really care about winning. I just wanted people to look," she said "So much work to have it fall down the next day." Garren said that the door won the grand prize because "it was very unique and well-done."

Chattanooga Times editor visits Southern

By Randal Gilliam

Paul Neely, the Managing Editor of the Chattanooga Times, visited Southern College Wednesday, Decem ber 6, as Editor-In-Residence. Neely is a volunteer in a program sponsored by the American Society of Newspape Editors. The program's purpose is to bring newspaper professionals into the "I think its a good sign that Southern's Department of Journalism is interested and involved with the professional world," said Neely Some journalism departments recede into themselves. I think its good that they are trying to maintain a program that is grounded in reality."

Neely spent the morning in Brock Hall speaking to three journalism classes in a row. He discussed putting out a paper, becoming a managing editor, and the editorial position of the Times. During a luncheon meeting hosted by the Journalism Club, Neely offered a critique of the Southern Accent. "What I like best about the Accept is the Viewnoints section Ordinarily, I hate the man-on-the-st stuff," said Neely. "However, it seems to be a different paper with each publication,...you need to spell out the focus of the paper and keep a consis-

During the afternoon Neely lectured on the role of the press in shaping public opinion and conducted individual meetings with students Neely has been involved in similar editor-in-residence programs with the University of Tennessee at both the Chattanooga and Knoxville campuses He has not, however, conducted an all day program before. "This is my yearly quota in one day," said Neely Neely did his undergraduate work at Williams College in Massachusetts He received a joint Masters Degree in Journalism and Business Adr tion from Columbia University in New York. Neely has worked in California at the Riverside Press-Enterprise as a reporter, in Kentucky at the Louisville Courier-Journal as an assistan naging editor, and in Florida at the St. Petersburg Times as a features editor. Neely has been with the Chananooga Times for six years When asked for his first impression of the journalism majors of Southern College Neely said that "the students strike me as interested and diligent, and that's important for doing well in

Photo Exhibition

By Suzannne Lettrick

The black and white photograph: hang proudly on the white walls of the gallery in Brock Hall. Four photographers' creations were unveiled to the public on December 7.

The exhibit centers on work done by the remaining students of last year's photojournalism class, said Allan Martin, coordinator of the

Martin Frein Brown Scan Terretta, and Kenny Zill are the exhibiting photographe

The exhibit features photos they ook in the photojoumalism class last year and pictures from their personal portfolios

The photos cover a wide range of subjects from friends, nature, and love; to police, profiles, and sports. Martin said the exhibit is "a good thing, because we have worked hard in the photoioumalism class, and it's a rewarding teeling to have our photos exhibited." He also said that he hopes the exhibit will get people interested in taking the photojournaham course The course teaches people to creatively produce pictures essays.

"and gives the student a 'news nose'." Martin said "By the end of the course students are able to shoot process, and print within an hour They will also know how to take human interest pictures, which attract people's attention.

Brown is a photographer for Strawberry Festival. Martin has a photography internship with the East Hamilton County Journal. Terretta is the photo editor for the Southern Accent, and Zill is the Strawberry Festival editor

A Russian scientist and his visit to Southern

By Monte Mitzelfelt

Born to an electrical engineer and a nurse on June 22, 1929, in Leningrad, Dr. Arseny Berezin lived a fairly normal childhood-playing the violin and going to school. He did, however, spend a year in a remote Soviet village not knowing whether his parents were alive or dead during World War fl After the year of uncertainty, he spent another two years in the orphanage before he returned home and continued playing his violen all throughout prep school. Before he finally decided on a career, he went to the tory school for Air Force cadets. By the time he was twenty three, he discovered his first love physics, and joined and A.F. Ioffe Physical-Technical Institute Academy of Sciences in Leningrad Methodically, he rose from the ranks of ordinary technicians to become the Deputy Head of Physics, a position he held until he left the Institute in 1987. During this period he met Dr. Ray Hefferlin, whom he and his wife, Helena, also a doctor of physics, hosted during Hefferlin's two visits to the Soviet Union in 1979 and 1982. Dr. Berezin compared Hefferlin's work favora bly with Dmitri Mendeleev, the creator of the periodic table. They and their families became fast friends, the single largest contribut ing factor to his visit to Collegedale, although he was, in his own words, very glad to accept the invitation and share my knowledge in the seminars" as well. In 1987, he was ured by the Science Technology Corporation of the Soviet Academy of Sciences in Leningrad to be the head of its physics department. The Science Technology Corporation manufactures scientific instrumenta ntains four factories in four different Soviet cities, and operates one research and developmen facility in its headquarter city of Leningrad. Dr. Berezin currently has three children-one a the strical scenery painter, one graduating in January with a degree in biophysics, and a five year-old son who speaks a little English even though he can't read yet

"How can we secure the development of the human race and the environment and keep harmony between man and nature?" Since 1970 when he joined the European Physical Society, Dr. Berezin has made this question the focus of his scientific endeavors. He has also made significant contributions in the areas of plasma and solid state physics. During the past nineteer years he has served on various com ees facing such challenging issues as nuclear winter and other possible results of nuclear war, and the need for clean, renewable sources of energy. His current trip to the United States, which is his second, is as a Soviet delegate to the Center for International Security and Arms Control at Stanford University. Better known as CISAC the Center involves nine nations-Great Britain Ireland China, South Korea, the United States, Israel, West Germany, Italy and the Soviet Union-and seeks to shift the emphasis of research and development from a military orientation to a civilian one. They feel that existing satellites could be used to monitor the environmental situation on Earth and provide the necessary information to help reverse the growing trends of ozone depletion, deforestation, soil erosion, and fresh water shortage

Insightfully, Dr. Berezin salot, insightfully, Dr. Berezin salot, solved by one nation. They require close cooperation and, I would add, a spirit of brotherly live as expressed by the commandments. And indeed, he is not only worned about the future of manified in the native sense but shows the native sense but shows the trained with the trained sense of the solution of solution of

When asked if there is room for God in physics, Dr. Berezan replied. "Plenty. The more we know the more room there is for God," which was apparently his main point in his lecture to the faculty. He also mentioned that "the way of atheism goes to nothing."

This marriage of science, nature, and ethics seemed to be his primary concern on this trip, but in the end, he did say a few words about the political situation in the LLS S P The overall tide of political enlight enment has not been, in his mind, a straight-forward thing but has fluctuated greatly over time. The current favorable situation, how ever, is almost mevitable since, in his way of thought, politicians are mere reflectors of the will of the people, people who are becoming ncreasingly aware of the need to live in harmony with one another As for the forthcoming McDenald's in Moscow, he felt that it will be very much accepted and have the longest queues [lines] in the world ! This he said was not so much that food is in short supply, but rather that feeling of "come to Americans, be closer" that pervades the Soviet people. In fact, he said that the Soviets tend to idealize American culture and literature despite any flaws our way of life might possess In some of his final words, words which I will never forget, he said. Yankee, go home' is absolutely impossible. It would contradict the prevailing attitude. The feeling would be just the opposite. 'Yankee, come here. Come here. You are very welcome."

Christmas Band concert

By Julie Jacobs

The song "Here Comes Santa Claus" performed by the Southern College Concert Band convinced Santa and his helpers to parade through the P.E. Center last Saturday night.

Not to be outdone by the band, Santa and his helpers convinced the audience of their musical abilities as they sang "Feliz Navidad".

they sang "Feliz Navidad."
Another guest performer for the evening was Joseph Brooks, clannetist Coming from Western Kentucky University, Brooks led the band in "Theme and Variations," by Guachino Rossin, Mr. Brooks also soloed in "Rhapsody in Blue."

"I thought the program was terrific," said Barbara Keys, faculty at Southern and mother of a band member. "I thought it contained a nice balance of music."

Patricia Silver, director of the concert Band, 1s in her eighth year at Southern College. "Mrs. Silver 1s great," sad Shawn Collins, bass clarinetist. "She does a good job getting our group to play decent-sounding music."

Bill Kittle, religion major said,
"The music was uplifting to the Christmas spirit and Pat Silver looked groovy in her new glasses that Santa gave her."

Scientific Cramming?

Ron Orlick Software

Cramming for examinations has become an obsession for successoriented students throughout the world. The higher your grades, the greater your rewards, in terms of academic achievement, recognition, job opportunities, carreer advancement and total earnings.

Every year, thousands of intelligent, fully-capable students fall by the wayside, because they never learned how to cram for exams. Many more settle for low grades who may have earned much higher grades for the same amount of effort.

same amount of effort.
For the first time ever, a modern,
For the first time ever, a modern,
Schemfic, computerized, result-getting method of studying "io pass examinations" has been de eloped. The creator of his long-awated, grade-hoosing, modern miracle is Ron Oflick, a modern miracle is Ron Oflick, a modern miracle is Ron Oflick, a modern miracle is Ron Oflick,
modern miracle is Ron Oflic

"There's got to be a better way," and Ron to himself, before, during, and after every examination. Finally, the found that "better way". He developed a rovolutionary 1BM compatible software program, which he calls CRAMBO To introduce CRAMBO to colleges and universities across the nation, the regular price of 1599.00 has been shaked by $$114.00.

CRAMBO Users can input highlighted textbook data, lecture note, quizzes, past exams, into the computer in several question/mawer formats. This is so easy that even a two-finger typist can use CRAMBO. Each entry is tagged to the page, chapter, textbook, notebook, where it originated. Through self-testing, students can priorite exact pages that need more study and by-pasts those with which they are throughly familiar.

uoroughly familiar. This exciting, new computer programs is simed at helping all programs is simed at helping all programs is simed at helping all propose their gardes. It is expected to sweep through every college and university at when it is introduced. Roth Orlick worked his way through college and hos a specula affirmity of sudeans with introd framerial resources. This feld him to develop a course, the standard framerial resources. This feld him to develop a course has a student way to student affect a student user CRAMBO on any course he is taking, he can copy his input on to a specul copy-protected diskette, which he can sell to other students taking the same courses.

To order, write to Ron Orlick, 16815 Milltown Landing Road, Brandywine, Maryland 20613, or call (301) 479-

Destiny plans special Sabbath School

By Pamela Maize Harris

Drama is a reflection of our own lives, Allan Martin insists. It touches us so intimately because it talks to us about our relationshipsneglected and otherwise

Now in his fourth year with Destiny Drama Troupe-two of those as director-Martin has shaped a touring company in demand across the nation for performances at Adventist gather ings where young adults are present.

He won't take all the credit. though. The company, in its tenth year, has tapped the talented and stretched them and given them stage presence poise, and a driving message

"Christian drama is on a plateau above secular drama in that the purpose is beyond entertainment," Martin emphasizes

"We try to take Jesus Christ out of the ethereal twilight zone to where we can touch him, feel him and develop a relationship with Him. Martin calls drama the perfect vehicle for addressing relationshipswith God or anyone else. Relationships we've developed and relationships

we've neglected "It shows us ourselves," Martin explains

And that's where "Convicted to Commitment," this weekend'. performance at Thatcher Sabbath School, comes in. Martin has selected from a repertory of 20 sketches and vignettes he has written

With a major in psychology and a minor in public relations, Martin is a master at targeting his audience, anticipating their anxieties and addressing them head-on. Using this cut to the core of his listeners' dilem-

Then he walks out into the aisle and talks directly with the audience. What are they seeing and feeling? Why? "I bring the big picture What does all this mean? What does this sketch have to do with the whole

"It's not just a sitcom, Martin says. "It's not the Cosby show You can't just vegetate and not know what's going on

And Martin maists the idience participate, "We feel the audience has to be involved with it." The troupe strives for fluidity between stage and audience Actors are back stage praying. Praying that some message is getting through. Asking the Holy Spirit to spark whatever needs to be lift. "No matter what sketch we'te doing, we've committed that perform once to the Holy Spirit. In one way of another we'll heht up one of those light bulbs in your head 'Yes, I know haw that feels' of 'I had a friend that happened to," Martin explains. Destiny's upcoming tour dates include appearances at the Jacksonville Youth Congress, Florida Hamilton Place Mall, Chattanooga, and the Youth to Youth Convention Cohutta Springs Adventist Center, Calhoun, Georgia.

Auditions are held at the beginning of each year for new members. The company tours and average of twice a month and rehearses Thursday nights from 7:00 to

Equality in Adventist Ministry

Since April 1988 a group of professional men and women living in the metropolitan area of Washington D.C., have banded together to speak forthrightly on women's ordination in the Seventh-day Adventist Church They call themselves TEAM-Time for Equality in Adventist Ministry.

The church has set up a rather elaborate process to decide whether or not to ordain women," says Rebecca Brillhart, TEAM's project coordinator. "But just when church leaders and lay morehers need to be exploring the issue, the official church press has been asked to remain sile

Recognizing that some of the most outspoken opponents to women's

Victory week

By Shea Bledsoe

"Our lives were deeply touched through personalities, power, and the Spirit of God revealed by our

> -Jackie James Religion Major

In spite of a busy, academic schedule, students at SC slowed the pace a bit for the 1989 Student Week of Prayer. During November 27 - December 2 students challenged each other to victoryvictory in being a Christian and Living a Christian Life. Each night at 7 p.m. the Collegedale Church became a welcomed haven beginnine with a call to worship and the theme song "Victory in Jesus," arranged and accompanied by Randy Burks

Craig Lastine, a senior Biology major and SA President, began the week's sermons after "allowing" Ndala Gooding to create a worship atmosphere with a vocal solo Personal experiences in cycling races and roller-derby competitions with his mother contributed Lastine's topic, "It Starts In Your Mind." Lastine was emphasizing a victory in the battle of the mind, Using II Corinthians 10:3-5, he suggested we "personalize and memorize Scripture to make it more meaningful. Overcoming mediocrity was Lastine's plea for students "Don't be different for different's sake. Be different for God's sake."

On Tuesday evening Marlyn Larnond gave special music David Wingate immediately followed with his sermon, exclaiming "It's time to go home!" Wingate is a future medical missionary and a nursing major at S.C. His sermon was entitled "We Shall Overcome." Handouts of Spirit of Prophecy and Biblical quotes were provided so students could follow Wingate closely. He reminded those present that everyone is a royal son or daughter of God-heirs to salvation. Using elementary education major Shannon Born as an illustration, Wingate proved that with just "trying" we won't get very much accomplished. We need the grace

Love was on Laura Putnum' mind. After a vocal solo by graduate Joey Pollom on Wedne day. Putnum, a junior nursing major, presented her sermon "It's Where Your Heart Is." She talked about three kinds of love: man's love for man, man's love for God, and God's love for man. Students were reminded by Putnum of preacher and singer Wintley ent "The issue is the Phipp's st Cont. on p.6

ordination are preaching and speaking unrestrained throughout the world church, TEAM decided to do what it could to facilitate careful study of biblical principles which bear on the issue TEAM members want to make an impact at the grass-roots level of the Church

Up-front in its goals, TEAM publications state that the group believes that

1. The Bible supports the ordination of women through the principles of equality, and spiritual gifts

2 Ellen White approved of womer and men serving the Church with equal authority, recognition, and pay.

3 The fulfillment of the gospel nission by the Adventist Church

quires the spiritual gifts of women in the ordained ministry 4 By ordaining women the Church ensures true unity among believers demonstrating that all are equal before

God and one in Christ "For these reasons TEAM calls the Church to approve the ordination of women at its 1990 General Conference session," Brillhart stated.

TEAM has set in motion several projects. An ad which appeared on the back page of the Columbia Union and Atlantic Union papers in May was crisp and forthright. We know people throughout the Church share our concerns but who are they? The ad has helped us get in touch," TEAM

TEAM is also actively promoting weekend seminars on equality in ministry in churches They themselves hosted such a seminar in cooperation with Sligo Church in Takoma Park. Maryland, last October A video highlighting some of the presentat is available

TEAM is also distributing scores of articles, scholarly papers, cassette and video tapes which support women in mistry in the Adventist church. Finally, the group is organizing a network of concerned people who can work together to reach church leaders and influence policy Will such programs affect the outcome of the ordination issue TEAM members say they know their effort will accomplish at least four things. It will affirm women in ministry, unite scattered voices of support into one voice for equality, and strengthen the hands of those church leaders who favor ordination but feel isolated in their efforts. They also feel their efforts will alert church leaders to the fact that serious Advent ists are not willing to turn the clock back on this issue

TEAM board-members admit their load is heavy. "The best plans cannot be implemented without volunteers of without funding," Brillhart said "We need support from individuals who are concerned about the future of Adventism '

Cont. on p.6

Changes seen in religion for the '90s

By JAMES SCUDDER

©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/
Apple College Information Network

"Its light and fire all spent and gone, like the dead moon, it still on." -- T. S. Eliot, on the Christian church

Religion, which has survived the 1980s, will survive the 1990s and beyond.

Yet, as in every decade, some constants and some changes can be expected, and term are a few.

— Refigious pluralism will continue and increase, with increased emphasis on the constitutional guarantees that give Buddhists, Muslims and other religious faiths the same rights and freedoms as Christians and leve.

— Ironically, the controversal issues that arise in the debate over those constitutional guarantees won't abate but also will intensity, in part because the highest court in the country, the U.S. Supreme Court, is expected to hand down even more conservative opinions on the matter of mixing religious gractice with tax-supported institutions.

— The big-time television evangelists, typified by Jim and Tammy Bakker and Jimmy Swaggart — all fallen from grace — aren't likely to enjoy the prominence that made them rich in the 1980s

— The local church and synagogue, having suffered a decline in attendance and participation — in part, because of television — will experience some resurgence as both the seckers and the saved seek something more personal and less vagarious than the "boob tube" sawdust revival meeting.

Southern Baptists, the largest Protestant denomination in the country (and growing), will continue to grow. Why? They're intensely evangelical, come down hard on whiskey and gambling but largely and judiciously remain silent on a number of other controversial social or political issues.

The large-membership megachurch, just now coming into vogue, will become the local church of the 1990s, as the faithful flee the world and build a cradle-to-the grave refuge for themselves and their children, a church that provides the complete regimen of human needs — education from kindergarien brough high school, family recream and returement housing. Within the local church or synaingue itself, several problems or ends of the late 1980s give an dicator of what might come in the b. Expect.

— Much more recorded music, by? The accomplished planist and-organist is a diminishing breed; large pipe organ is a particularly pensiveinstrument to buy and untain, and secular music and inmentation makecontinuing codes in the traditional Bach-laden.

church repertoire.

— A greater global consciousness in the local congregation. If the 1980s have taught us anything it is that the planet has become a "global village," with events in Chernobyl or China having a real or potential impact on small-lown United States.

Better Bible preaching. The topical sermon, a creation of the prosperous 1950s when post-war optimism for the coming Kingdom of God was thigh, is in a blue funk. Preachers are learning that Christans want to hear from and about the Bible, and Jews want to hear from and about the Torah

 Participatory worship. The humdrum sit-and-listen service of worship is bankrupt, and more and more congregations are turning to services of worship that — among more fundamental groups — include personal, spoken testimonies altar calls, and (among more liberal groups) include liturgical responses, congregational prayers and traditional expressions of grace.

TEAM Cont. from p. 5

Going into action

What can concerned people do? Brillhart suggests: Circulate key papers and materials to friends, pastors, conference and union officers.

Prompt discussion of the issue in small groups.

Make a contribution to TEAM and other groups supporting women in ministry so that even more people can be educated during this critical moment in the Church's debate.

"All of us would love to see our group dissolve," adds Brillhart. "The hours are long and progress is hard to measure. But someone must speak for the women who have no voice in their future."

Web Bryant, Gannett News Service

Victory Cont. from p.5 tissue of love." Challenging all to victory, Putnum closed by saying "You can fill your life with victory by allowing your heart to overflow with love."

Thursday's 11 a m. chapel time was filled by Destiny Drama Company Five sketches were performed involving each member in the program, an ant goal of Destiny. Member Maria Rodriguez sang "Upon This Rock" before the first skit about the foolish man and the wise man. Another sketch, "The Beatitudes," showed a T.V. newsman searching the streets of Collegedale for love and Christianity and having a difficult time with it. Director Allan Martin spoke between skits, tying them together and provoking students to really think about their own relationships with Christ. At one point, Martin asked students if striving for a good GPA was "chaining them down to this earth," pushing out time with God. Destiny stressed that one must know God to have a relationship Nursing major Ceeelia Henry provided special music for Thursday evening's meeting. Then it was Kyle Robinson's turn, and he came, as his sermon was entitled, "Shouting the Shout of Victory." Robinson is a Religion major and director of the Collegiate Missions Club at S.C. His challenge to peers was to accept Crista's victory as our own, with three easy steps. Accept Crista's healing. Let Christ calm the storm in your life, and let Christ fill your life. Robinson explained that by taking these steps, "We, too, can shout the shout of victory. Friday might was a dream come true for speaker Bob Cundiff. As a senior Religion major, Cundiff came to S.C. as a freshman with a dream to speak someday for a vespers service in Collegedale Church. In the next four years his dream became more specific, To have Jennifer Eaton sing 'There is a Saviour'-and to embarrass the people I love." His dream came true. Jennifer sang, and his girlfriend and best friend were on the front row, "Your Relationship with Jesus" was Condiff's topic and he shared two things needed to have one 'The first was "Recognize the Lordship of Christ," and the second, Set Christ Up as Your Saviour."

Cundiff explained that no one can save birnself, no matter how good he is. But, Cundiff warned, a balance between the two is important, "Unless Jesus is your Saviour, you'll never be motivated enough to let Him be your Lord. His definition of a relationship is a conscious awareness that He's right there beside you....It's time to say good-bye to your religion and say hello to Christianity," Cundiff told

Ed Santana, director of C.A R.E., poke for the Collegedale Church Sabbath morning, first and second services. He focused on being positive about Christianity and the fact that peoples' problems do not cease when they become Christians; however, their attitudes should change. A positive attitude comes from believing that God will work things out. "We have to be positive about ourselves, the situation around us, and about others," Santana said. "Can people accept another who comes to their church wearing torn jeans, a leather jacket, and an earring? Being positive may not be man's nature, but by believing God's promises, it does not have to be done alone. There is no victory without victory in Jesus."

.......

Great Southern mysteries

By AMY L. WILSON
©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/
Apple College Information Network

The following article about strange things falling from the sky appeared in the Sept. 8 Arkansas Gazette. Apparently, this kind of incident has been happening all over the country for years:

"Fort Worth, Texas — Hundreds of bats descended on downtown in daylight, many dying on streets and sidewalks, and officials are not sure why.

"Jeff Derosa of the Humane Society of North Texas found 100 more bats on a sidewalk Wednesday and said at least 1,000 were hanging from the eaves of a building."

What caused bats to descend on Fort Worth? How did the public react? Had such a thing happened before?

These are the kinds of questions an author such as E. Randall Floyd would ask, and he has, by writing a compelling collection of stories recounting mysteries in the Deep South. Floyd's "Great Southern Mysteries," (August House, 516.95; 180 pp.) should be a big

In the chapter tutled "Gifts from the Sky," Floyd leads with the first documented "skyfall" in the United States: It was March 3, 1876, in Bahl County, Ky, when pleasant-tasting meat plummeted down onto the ... home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Crouch. The next year in Memphis, a "rain of snakes" fell on the case in The State Sta

What caused these occurrences? What did newspapers say? What's happened in recent history?

Floyd raises these questions while informing the reader, and he does it concisely. Obviously, he is putting his journalistic talents to work.

A teacher of journalism at Augusta College and the University of South Carolina at Aiken, Floyd once was a foreign correspondent for United Press International. His style reflects that of a professional trained to pick through the material available on a subject and present the most interesting bits of information in the most succinct and entertaining fashion.

entertaming fashion.

Thirty baffling stories are included. Floyd discusses the myth of Atlantis: To add to the lingering mystery of Atlantis, Edgar Cayce, the famous "sleeping prophet" of Virginia Beach, Va., in 1945

Virginia Beach, Va., in 1945 predicted that "in 1968 or 1969" a portion of Atlantis would rise from the sea off the Coast of Florida.

In 1968, an underwater structur was discovered off the Florida Coast — a structure exhibiting eroded marble, stone columns, a mysterious roadway.

nysterious roadway Really, it was!

Realty, it was?
Then there's the Surrency ghost that haunted the hotel-home of the Allen Surrency family in southern Georgia in the late 1870s, a tale that will bring to mind scary films based on stories by writers such as Steohen Kine.

Or the chapter titled "Thou Shalt Take Up the Serpent," a discourse on the history of snake-handling, and "The Devil's Brother Blackbeard, Scourge of the Spanish Main," in which we learn of Blackbeard s' strange relationship" with the governor of North Caroling.

And was the quiet North Carolina schoolteacher Peter Stuart Ney, who died in 1846 and is buried in Rowan County, really a soldier under Napoleon during the French Revolution? He said he was often enough, but was it ever proven?

A benefit of Floyd's book is that he is not concerned about proving or disproving anything. His aim is to entertain and educate.

Floyd has taken material that could have been boring and made it into an entrancing collection of tales and mysteries focusing on the South tales and mysteries that are an integral part of the herstage of all Southerners.

Reared in south Georgia, the author, who spent much time as a youngster listening to his uncle, writer Henry Curtiss Tillman, knows how to tell a good story.

Popular gifts for a collegiate Christmas

By LAKSHMI ARJOONSINGH ©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

If you're tired of getting underwear or a book for Christmas, you might want to suggest one of the new gift items invading stores this season and become the trendiest college student on the block.

The top gift item to buy this holiday is the sweater — the more colorful and bright, the better.

Color is what attracts customers, says Patrizia Spinelli, spokesperson for Benetton headquarters in New York.

The new style is the ethnic look with the "Indian aztec sweaters (which come in colors including) fuchsia, orange and a mixture of gold colors," says Sunelli.

The big attractions are "the reversible cardigan with zip front, which turns into two different sweaters (when) turned inside out and the Mohare sweater, which comes in colors (including) orange, red and gold." Springilli adds.

Sweaters aren't the only fashionable items to make great gifts.

This year, colorful jackets have made a big entrance in stores near you. And Neon and Chambray are the stars. Neon jacktes contain blocks of neon colors (any color available) on them, while each Chambray jacket is encireled with a strip of neon colored onlyon, says Susan Stemko, assistant buyer trainee for Gantos headquaters in Michigan. The jackets started being sold in stores only a few months ago, and quickly strated customers, says Fred Meyers, vice president and half owner of the East West company in

At the rate the jackets are selling now "they'll be sold out by Christmas," says Meyers. "They're phenomnal!"

You can also see mean whenever you talk on the phone — that is, if you've got a neon phone.

There are two kinds of nean phones available in stores this season, Roxanne and Ronda, both by Cicena. The Roxanne, which comes in blue and pink, "is a contemporary desk

New books at McKee library

By A. Lee Bennett Jr.

The McKee library is always receiving new books and wants to let students know that they are available. Next semester, the Southern Accent will contain a list of the library's suggested books, along with a short summary. In the article one can also find the books' call numbers.

find the books' call numbers. Library director, Peg Bennett, who is supplying the information, mentoned two books for the last weeks of the current semester. Fire Against like See. A Time Slowy of Course and Sanctars are supplying the companies of See Catars Royal of Course and Sanctars are supplying to the contraction of the course of See Catar Riccia fishermen suddenly overtaken by a violent storm in 1988. Addit in the Pacific for an incedible 142 days, their adventure is an engrossing account of survival against what appears to be overpowering odds." Bennett also said that this book is "an exciting story to read!"

The library's second new book is It was On Fire When I Lay Down On Itby Robert Fulghum, who was the author of another recommended best seller, All I Really Need to Know I Learned in Kinderparten.

"Fulghum majors on the 'simple," said Bennett. "Once as a Unitarian minister, he officiated at the marriage of a Jewish bride and an Irish Catholic groom. "To be asked to perform such a marriage is to join two people trying to cross a mine field without getting blown apart."

Bennett said that the book is "filled with chuckles" and that it will "remind you of life's taken-for granted truths."

CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF

Christmas Spirit: Open house & Jinglebell Jog

phone, (while) the Ronda phone, a lavender phone which just come out this year, is the contemporary version of a trimline phone hung on the wall or (placed) on the desk," says Stelfan Otto, senior buyer for the Spencer gift company

They are each encircled with "a neon tube (that) blinks on and off when the phone rings," says Onn

It you're the type to lose scraps of paper that happen to have immensely important phone numbers, you might want to consider Ronda a possible solution to your memory

"(Ronda) has a 10 number memory," says Otto Roxanne and Ronda retail for $169 99 and $129.99, respectively

They are unique in the respect that they're clear, so the inside of the phones may be visible, says

Aside from the comeback of neon, games are also making a big splash in stores this season. And, if you're a sumo wrestling fan, Abalone may be the game for you

Though Abalone greatly resembles the popular Chinese checkers, it uses the concept of pushing to defeat the opponent.

Unlike other board games that use concepts of surrounding or jumping the opponent to win the game, such as in checkers or chess, this game "is the only game in history to use the pushing concept like in sum wrestling," says Matt Menani, national sales manager for

The object of the game is to tine up your marble balls diagonally, horizontally or vertically until one of your opponent's marble balls is pushed into one of the slots bordering the unner part of the game board. When all of your opponent's marble balls have been pushed off the board into one of the bordering slots, you've won the game.

Abalone, which has received its share of honorable awards for strategy, has only been on the market in the United States since February But, n's been quite popular in Europe for a while

"It originated in France at a camp for kids," says Menani "The typical game only lasts lifteen minutes .. and it's very challenging

It's the new backgammon for college kids Abalone retails between $28 and $32, and is presently sold only in high quality stores. "People say they love to play the game," says Meriani, "It's a gift for a person that (already) has everything."

(Lakshmi Arjoonsingh writes for Gannett News Service)

The 1989-90 Bowl roll

	Bowl	Payout/team	Matchups
	California	4 p.m.	Ball State
(1)	Dec. 9	Sport Ch.	vs.
31	Fresno, Calif.	$150,000	Fresno State
	Independence	8 p.m.	Tulsa
Me	Dec. 16 Shreveport, La.	Mizlou $500,000	vs. Oregon
	Aloha	3:30 p.m.
(Augustian)	Dec. 25	ABC	Michigan State
U ZZ	Honolulu	$500,000	Hawaii
	Liberty	6 p.m.	Air Force
フィア	Dec. 28	Ravcom	vs.
	Memphis, Tenn.	$1 million	Mississippi
	All American	8 p.m. ESPN	Duke
	Dec. 28 Birmingham, Ala.	$630,000	vs. Texas Tech
		·
	Holiday	9 p.m. ESPN	Brigham Young vs.
	Dec. 29 San Diego	$1 million	Penn State
	John Hancock	12:30 p.m.	Pittsburgh
	Dec. 30	CBS	vs.
	El Paso, Texas	$1 million	Texas A&M
60	Freedom	2 p.m.	Washington
	Dec. 30	Raycom	vs. Florida
	Anaheim, Calif.	$500,000
2	Peach	2:30 p.m. ABC	Georgia vs.
	Dec. 30 Atlanta	$800,000	Syracuse
	Gator		Clemson
	Dec. 30	8 p.m. ESPN	vs.
	Jacksonville, Fla.	$1 million	West Virginia
	Copper	8 p.m.	Arizona
	Dec. 31	TBS	VS.
	Tucson, Ariz.	$800,000	North Carolina State
	Hall of Fame	1 p.m. NBC	Auburn vs.
	Jan. 1 Tampa, Fla.	$900.000	Ohio State
	Florida Citrus	1:30 p.m.	Illinois
	Jan. 1	ABC P.III.	vs.
	Orlando, Fla.	$1.2 million	Virginia
	Cotton	1:30 p.m.	Arkansas
((_ `)	Jan. 1	CBS	vs. Tennessee
	Dallas	$2.4 million
3	Fiesta	5 p.m. NBC	Florida State vs.
300°	Jan. 1 Tempe, Ariz	$2 million	Nebraska
		5 p.m.	Michigan
	Rose Jan. 1	ABC	vs.
-	Pasadena, Calif.	$6 million	USC
5 13	Orange	8 p.m.	Colorado
7.5.	Jan. 1	NBC 64 million	vs. Notre Dame
	Miami	$4 million
图 彦	Sugar	8:30 p.m. ABC	Alabama vs.
	Jan. 1 New Orleans	$2.75 million	Miami, Fla.
	140.1 0

Gannett News Service

Carnivores Beware

By ARLENE VIGODA
©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/Apple College Information

U.S. meat eaters chowed down a record-setting amount of meat this year and nutritionists say all the excess protein is fattening our hips and arteries.

A new Agriculture Department report says each of us ate a recordsetting 218.4 pounds of meat this year. That's more than half a pound a day. And 1990 figures will be even higher.

"This is really troubling news," says. Nancy Wellman, president of the American Dietetic Association in Chicago. "When you consider that we're eating less red meat and more poultry and still are eating too much meat, this (report) undersecores that we're shoveking in far more food than we physiologically need."

"Americans ought to worry about eating too much," says Jane Hurley, nutritionist for the Center for Science in the Public Interest, Washington, D.C.

Washington, D.C.

National health organizations recommend that only 15 percent of our total calories should come from protein sources; Americans typically consume double that. "The obvious problem is that many protein-nich foods are far too high in fat, which can increase our risk of heart disease," says Hurley. Diets high in animal protein also can promote osteoporosis, obesity, kidney problems and may be linked to cancer.

And an excess of calones from any source can add unwanted

If you keep yourself to threeounce servings of lean beef, pork or skinless poultry. Wellman says, "There's no reason you can't enjoy meat." an ally in pursuit of goals. With imaging reinforcing the goal's importance, the subconscious will put that goal very high on your priorities, making it far more likely that you'll unconsciously begin adjusting your actions in ways that will make that goal happen for you. The mind is a marvelous tool. When freed, it will find so many ways for us to achieve what we want.

This might seem a little far-reaching, but it's actually something that we all do, "Who hasn't projected into the future, to see where their career or company is heading?" asks Garfield.
"Once we establish that mental rehearsal is just an amplification, a more systematic version of what we already do, it's not difficult at all for sechnique can have in their own lives. Before you start putting this powerful tool to work, the first step is to get relaxed. "That's essential," says Thomburg. "If frees you from the clutter of your day, from worrying about tasks that are ahead. Only when you're relaxed will your mind open to people to see the applications this fresh deas and techniques."

Although relaxation tapes are available in book and record stores, that type of assistance usin reacted to get the requisite calm. Los Angeles psychotherapts althan Rabinoware offers this proven technique. "Sta in a death, relaxed. Close your eyes and listen to yourself breathe. Par your attention on the sound of air coming in and going out. Then empty your lungs and storing out. Then empty your lungs and storing and storing out. Then empty your lungs and story laxe and story laxe a deep heatth. Do that you relax span and, as you exhale, feel yourself relax. Do at the more times, then you're done. It takes 90 seconds Then, says Thomburg, who teaches mental rehearsal in seminars and also hosts the nationally syndicated "Power Thoughts" radio show, "Let your thoughts wander through your mind Stop paying attention to them. Now think about a happy period of your life - it doesn't matter what or when it happened. Really get in touch with that experience. Now slide into imagining what it is you want to achieve, from giving a great speech to turn ine around a corporate downslide in profits, making the experience as real and as detailed as you can. Take it all the way from the beginning through successful completion. That's it. You've just mentally rehearsed."

Thomburg explains that the key is beginning the process with images of the tarlier, happy memory. "The sub-conscious is getting two messages—first, that your rehapy; the second message deals with the specific, future goal. The subconscious associates the goal with your happiness, so it determines to work towards it." Thombure saw.

Following Thomburg's technique, a second to the control of the con

.......

Mental Practice can improve performance

By ROBERT McGARVEY

©Copyright 1989, USA TODAY/
Apple College Information Network

When Chinese piantst Liu Chi Kung placed second to Van Cliburn in a 1958 international competition, his career as a virtuoso seemed assured — only to be thwarted a year later when the Chinese government put him in prison for a seven-year term.

But even though he never touched a keyboard in jail, he was on tour within months of his release and — according to the critics — playing better than

How did he do it without the ngorous daily practice that's a big part of the lives of world-class pramsts?

Says Kung: "I did practice — every day (in prison). I rehearsed every piece I had ever played, note by note, in my

This might seem astonishing, but according to Ances Sheikh, a psychologist at Marquette University.

"Research shows that mental practice has the same effect as real practice."

Dallas Cowboys defensive back Bill Bates agrees: "The night before the New York Gants game, I had am image where I saw myself pulling in two interceptions. I saw it all it in my mind — every play and my every move. The next day, I got those interceptions and both were encial.

Would I have gotten them anyway? I don't know. But I do know I got Backed by evidence like Kung's and Bates' experiences, researcher and "Peak Performers" author Dr. Charles Garfield flatly asserts: "There can be no questioning that mental rehearsal of future events brings results."

Another example of how just thinking about 1 can alter an event's outcome is an experiment that was conducted at the University of Chicago. Researchers, issuing the concept of mind power, put together three learns to compete at the baskethoil free-three wine. One group was sold to not even think about or go near the hoolog for 30 days, A second group practiced shooting free throws every day for an hour Tab. The third group was told to unagene sinking free throws log an hour a day, but not to touch the belt.

One month later, they were tested. The first group showed no change in accuracy. The second group, who had played daily, improved 24 percent. The third group of non-shooters who had only though about putting the ball through the hoop did almost as well—they showed 23 percent improvement without ever dribbling a ball on the

"What's happening here," says Thomburg, "is that in mental rehearsal you're engaging your subconscious as

For The Health Of It

By Darlene Almeda, R.N.

Q: What are the symptoms of easles?

A Once again here are the main symptoms of measles: first, one gets classic cold symptoms such as a runny note and sore throat. A fever of up to 104 degrees follows accompanned white patches in the mouth, and finally a rash which begins at the hairline and eventually spreads down to the feet. Remember, this is a highly configuous disease and upon contraction one will be put in solution for up to two weeks.

Q: I hear there is chicken pox going around this campus. How do you catch it?

A: True. There have been several cases of chicken pox among the students here at Southern College. Chicken pox, also known as varicella zoster is transmitted through respiratory secretions and direct contact with new tesions. This means that one contracts it by breathing air or somehow ingesting the contaminated droplets.. The varicella zoster virus incubates for 13-17 days before one can actually see the blistering lesions, and it is contagious until scabs have formed over all the lesions, usually a week after onset.

So, because one doesn't know how is earrying the virus until the actual symptoms appear. I must emphasize how difficult it is to avoid getting it once the initial droplet contamination has oc-

To:All of You

From:All of Us (Whoever US is)

FREE FOOD

- 1) Who wrote The Charge of the Light Brigade?
- 2) What do the letters MIRV stand for
- Name the coach of the LSU Basketball team.
- 4) Name the program by which the US gave large amounts of aid to European countries after World War II
- Name the woman who served as Israeli Prime Munister from 1969 to 1974.

Last Weeks Answers:

- Voltaire Kremlin Doug Williams
- Boy Scouts
- Last Weeks Winners:
 - Thomas Huntress Bruce Cambique Dale Lacra
- Darrin Stewart

Sponsored by McDonald's

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible

We don't throw back the little fish.

But credit unless are in the business of making but sometimes need a little financial help. Like energency-dease leans to members of the service. Apphance leans to newlywids. Or even bike leans to you'lls.

Notices

Representatives from Lona Linda University will be coming to Southern Col-lege on Dec. 14, 1989, in association with the eithem Union Conference

Dental Educational Services, who is also involved with admissions and recruitment at the Senton to Journary, with be on campas all day for interviews and to answer questions concerning health related careers. Te. Allied Health, Dentistry, Medicine, and Public Health. Please (units). Beth Malgady in the Counseling Center if you would like to set up a time to visit with Dr. Crawford guest speaker at a departmental chapel to be the end of the chapel, there will be

Dawn Valenzuela, Secretary of Mar keting, and a graduate of Southern Col-lege, will have a booth set up in the Student Cener where she will be available to answer questions and pass cust literature specifically about careers in Dentsetry and Dental Hygiene, but will also have some brochuses relating to the also have some brachus other health professions

refixing to the health professions, this will be an excellent opportunity for you to get assistance on plans for your

Lifestyles for the '90s

10 skills for the 90s

w challenges for all of us. Some survival tips

Grow another hand Or at least become ambidextrous. You have no choice. How else are you going to drive talk on the phone and fax material from your car seat all at the same time?

2. If you we always been a good squinter, 3. You will have to learn a new sport: Football The real football, Soccer, as we football. Soccer, as we call it. If you continue to think Disgo Maradona is a South American wine, you ill be the laughing stock of any cocktail party. Learn everything you can about it, now that the U.S. toam will be a Model Cos. World Cup you re in luck. Almost everything, including TVs, will be getting smaller in the 90s. Get an eye exam biological clock Retin—Awithout triends figuring it out.

4. Beat the

5. You can no longer boldly boast of being a computer illiterate. If you do, you won the able to bank, shop or even play with your kids. If you don to know who the Super Marid Brothers are, it is already too late for you

6 Now that the Japanese own most of Rockefeller Center, can their language be far behind? Learn it fast. Use it often, Impress your friends. Buy an office building. 7. All garbage is not created equal any more. You will need to retearn your materials. Plastic, for instance, is not paper. Recycling will no longer be a choice, but a standard

8. Leam to withstand higher temperatures. Thanks to the greenhouse effect, summer (and winter, spring and fall) is getting warmer. Slop on the sunscreen.

9. Save money by becoming more self-sufficient, Take the I-can-fix-the-toilet-hr less-than-15-minutes course at your local community college. Follow up with Rewining-your-home-on-your-lunch hour

10. A lough one. Relearn to have fun at parties without alcohol. Which, of course, means the art of conversation has to be relearned. Suggestions: Talk about toilet repair.

Rod Little Garnett News Service

Upcoming Events

By Andrea Nicholson

nuary is the bleakest month of the school year. Bitterly cold, wet, hazy days bring with them post-Christmas vacation letdown and dreary spirits. But as next semester slowly creeps into its third weekend, the Student Association will throw a party that will bring excitement and summer time back to the campus of Southern College

IT'S THE 2ND ANNUAL SOUTHERN COLLEGE BEACH PARTY!!! Coming to the gymnasium on Saturday night, January 20. It will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 2 a.m.

"If you had a good time last year, plan on an even better time this year." said Harvey Hillyer, S.A. social

Last year's bash attracted hundreds of students decked out in summe attire. Although temperatures were biting outside, the gym was transformed into an 80 degree party place, complete with sandy beaches, swimming pool activities, contest, volleyball and Twister games. refreshment stands, and Beach Boys music piped over loud speakers

Hillyer said the theme for this year's bash will be "The Boardwalk." Instead of using a company to set up the party, the S.A. is planning all the activities themselves. Tentative plans include a dunking booth, dart throw, more pool activities, a lip-sync contest, and beach areas like last year. Also a pool of Jello, in which students can dive for specially marked golf balls that can be used to claim prizes, is in the planning.

"There will be more food and free ice cream this year," said Hillyer. So don your suits Grab a towel and some friends, and head to the gym on Saturday night, January 20, for a little unseasonable summertime fun.

Watch for promotional party T-shirts to be sold during second semester registration Only a limited number will be available, so get yours while

Friday, December 15

SA Christmas Supper

Vespers, 8:00pm

SC Music Department

Saturday, December 16

Church Service-Special Musical Program

Christmas Parties

Sunday, December 17 STUDY TIME

Monday, December 18-Thursday, December 21

......

Semester Finals

Marcy E Mulhns, Gannett News Service

From the Archives

June 9, 1964

Committee of 100 breaks ground for new P.E. Center.

August 31, 1972

Thatcher has phones installed

September 3, 1981

SMC welcomes Bietz to church staff.

Index

P2 Editorials P.3.4 News

P.5 Europe

P.6 Photos P.8 CARE

P 10 Ads P.11 Trivia P.12 Viewpoints

Volume 45, Number 9

Hair!

Page 12

In the Gym... Page 6

Summer Camps Page 7

January 19, 1989

Southern to sponsor Opportunities '90

By Andrea Nicholson

On Friday, February 16, the Hamilton County Convention and Trade center will house "Opportunities '90," a liberal arts career/job fair coords nated by six regional Christian colleges

The one-day event, beginning at 8 a.m., will provide opportunities for employers and students to talk informally about careers, distribute recruitment literature, and conduct individual interviews

Southern College students may make arrangements with teachers get their classes excused to attend the orning or afternoon ses downtown Chattanooga. The $5 registration fee, due no later than Feb 2. includes transportation. No lunch is provided Vans will depart at 7 30 a.m. and 12.30 p.m..

"There is a tendency for students to step out after graduation with a college degree and say, 'Here I am Take me," said K.R. Davis, Director of Counseling and Testing at Southern College "Students need to market themselves NOW so when they graduate, they'll have better opportun Students attending the job/career fair will have the chance to gather information from employers, conduct interviews and participate in workshops on iob search techniques.

Students may make contacts with Substance, not style, at work

Charm and charisma won't get you praise or a pay raise. What executives say are the most likely factors used to evaluate an employee's performance (they could choose more than 50 participating representatives from government and law enforcement agencies, school systems social service organizations, health care providers, department stores, hotels, insurance and food service companies, financial institutions, graduate schools, and other businesses and organization

Bell South Corporation, Becker CPA Review Course, Hyatt Regency Nashville, Internal Revenue Service, Professional Psychology Program, Provident Life & Accident Insurance Co., Sovran Financial Corporation,

U.S. Air Force and Army, Emory University, and Vanderbilt University are among the employers and graduate schools tentatively scheduled to participate in "Opportunities '90"

Three forty-minute workshops will be conducted during both morning and afternoon sessions. These include "Opportunities With the Federal Government" at 9 10 a m and 1 40 p.m., "Graduate School Decisions for Success in the 21st Century" at 10.00 a.m and 2.30 p.m., and "Interviewing. Why Should I Hire You?" at 10:50

a m and 3.20 n m

K R. Davis encourages all S.C. tudents to take advantage of the job/ career fair. "Start as a freshmar looking into what's available, and asking questions" he said

The fair is a chance to prepare earlier than other job seekers, to practice and fine tune interviewing skills with employers, and to lear what opportunities are available with a liberal arts background

A bulletin board outside the Testing and Counseling Center in the Student center has information about participating employers, including which ones will be conducting interview

Southern has worked closely with Bryan College, Covenant College, Lee College, Tennessee Temple University, and Tennessee Weslevan College to coordinate "Opportunities '90' Each of these four-year institutions has strong liberal arts tradition Employers taking part in the job fair want to hire students from such an educational background

"It's an exceptionally good opportunity for juniors and seniors to make some good contacts and to see what's going to be available in their field of judy in the next few years," said Both Maleady, secretary in the Testing and Counseling Office. "I know of at least one person who was hired from a contact he made at the job/career fair last year. That makes it worth come

Computer thieves strike Daniells Hall

.By Bradley Hyde

Last Saturday night between 16.00 pm and 10.40 am Sunday morning four computers were stolen from t computer science lab in Damel's Hall. The four systems have a retail value of roughly $30,000. The advanced lab had: 1) a NeXT computer with high resolution display, optical disk, keyboard with mouse, and a laser printer; 2) a Polywell 386 computer with VGA color monitor; 3) a Wells American AT computer with EGA color monitor; and 4) a Laser Turbo XT computer with CGA monitor. All the machines had hard disk drives.

The loss of this equipment leaves the lab with just one Laser Turbo XT computer with CGA color monitor for the 10 students in the graphics class to use There may be an insurance recovery for the loss but there is a deductable and since the insurance is provided by the General Conference, it is a serious loss both to the SDA church and Southern College Even if full replacement is made, it will be some time before students have the equipment they need to properly complete their class work Security checked the building at 12:00 midnight and 3:00 am but didn't notice anything missing.

Theft Cont. on p 4

Second Semester Enrollment
	1989	1990	Difference
Collegedale
Head Count	1,151	1,191	+ 40
Hrs Enrolled	15,976	16,750	+774
FTE*	1,030	1.080	+ 50
Orlando
Head Count	68	113	+ 45
Hrs. Enrolled	361	953	+592
FTE*	23	61	+ 38
86 new students
1068 students pre-re	gistered
37 students not pr	re-registered
1191 total Collegeda	le campus students
*Full Time Enrolling	ent

The Times, they are a changin'

By John Caskey

and now it is 1990. These are sad strange times. Times of fear and horror, shame and degradation, squalor and fifth There is unrest in the streets all over Fastern Furone. The Plague is in the Streets of San Francisco and in New York's concrete jungle Neo-Nazis roam the West terrorizing sheep and cattle. In New Orleans there are rumors that 49ers are slinking into town and preparing a SuperBowl ambush for the hanless Denver Broncos. Gangs roam the cities with brains full of chemicals and souls full of hate. But, there is fear in their eyes and in the eyes of a lot of other people from Baku to Panama City and all points in between. There is something in the air. The natives are growing restless. Sometimes, late at night, I think I can hear the drum beat thumping out of the jungle. The sound is faint but distinct

Gorbachev has met with the Pope and Bush owes the Varican Man a favor or two for letting us have custody of a cut-rate pineapple faced Panamanian dictator. Everybody is shricking, "Peace, Peace" at the top of their lungs and there is serious speculation in some quarters as to whether or not that thing on Gorby's head is really the Mark of the Beast after all. Ronald Reagan said in 1985, "This generation may be the one that will face Armageddon." The former President makes no claim on the gift of prophecy, but the smart money agrees with the Gipper on this one All over Arkansas, survivalists are deepening their foxholes and stocking up on canned goods

And what of Collegedate? More specifically, what of Southern College? Profound, dangerous things are happening all over the world at an increasingly rapid pace "Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be lamines and earthquakes in variou places." (Matthew 24-7) Yea, verily. But, what of Collegedale? What of Southern College? Are we ready for prepare ourselves? "Therefore keep watch, because you do not know on what day your Lord will come." (Matthew 24:42) Are the watchmen

A story is told of mad king Richard III of England. As he toured the camp defenses early on the morning of the battle where he met his death, he came upon a watchman who had faller asleep at his post. Richard took out his dagger and sht the man's throat saying. "I found him asleep and I leave him asleep " The Thing that inspired miserable old Richard is alive and well today There may be worse things in store for sleepy modern day watchmen than mere throat slitting

"The Park is always crowded on Sunday."

-Ferdinand Marcos on the riots in Manila

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors

Pamela Draper Sheila Draper

Photo Editor

Sean Terretta Addtional

Photography Suzanne Lettrick

Viewpoint Editor Adrienne Cox

Sports Editor Jim King

Religion Editor Andy Nash

Layout Editor

Daniel Potter Paste Up

Virgil Covel Adulsor Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Heather Wise

The Smithern Accord is the official adolest newspaper for Southern College of Secution 50, Adventition and in released care; pitch Thirn-College of Secution 50, Adventition and in released care; pitch Thirn-College of Secution 50, 1900 and 1900 a

Adventist Physicists to meet here

Physics teachers probably have one of the most closely-knit communities of any professors on Seventh-day Adventist campuses. They have formed the Association of Adventist Physicists, which now also has nembers on faculties of other institutions and members who work for industry or government, and which is international in score

It is a long-standing tradition for the AAP to meet just before or just after the joint meeting of the Americal Physical Society and of the Americal Association of Physics Teachers, at the nearest SDA college This joint meeting is always in New York, even if it takes place somewhere else. Thus, this year's meeting is the "New York meeting at Atlanta," and so the AAP will meet at Southern College Friday evening. January 19, through Saturday night, January 21. As of this moment. faculty from four Adventist colleges and from Duke University, and two former employees of the thermonuclear program at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, have indicated their intention to be present.

Faculty and students of SC Daniells and Hackman Hall departments, faculty of the SC Theology department, and SC administrators-and spice-are welcome to attend the functions and urged to meet our guests. The scheduled events will take place in the "fireplace room" (DH 101). Please call the Physics departmental secretary. Mrs. Corring Dann, at 2869, if you want more information or wish to know if any changes have been made to the schedule. Here is the schedule as now planned by the AAP officers (President, Dr. Ken Thompson, of PUC)

On Friday evening from 7:30 to 9.30, Dr. Rand McNally (who does not make maps will present "A Matter of Pressing Concern," which deals with a physicist's search for the solution to u thermonuclear holocaust

On Sabbath afternoon from 3.00 to 5:00 nm. Dr. Milo Anderson will make a presentation and lead the subsequent discussion on the interface between faith and scholarship.

On Saturday evening from 6.45 to 7:30 the Physics Department will host a reception, with refreshments, in honor of the AAP visitors

On Saturday night from 7:30 to 9.30 or so, there will be a short business session of the AAP, and a couple of presentations about teaching physics (with computers?) will be given. Most Collegedale natives will be at the Beach Party.

Joint meeting of APS/AAPT will be in Atlanta, January 21-25

Physics students would benefit from attending some of this meeting. Seeing a crowd of physicists scurrying from session to session, or plotting something (and experiment? a theory? a proposal for funds? a job interview?) in the halls, is truly a remarkable experience. Some of the talks are interesting, books and equipment are displayed. If a sufficient interest exists, perhaps transportation can be arranged. How about Tuesday? See Dr. Kuhlman

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor

The last edition of the Accent consined an article about my receiving doctorate. Fappreciated the publicity, but the factual errors in the article roved to be a major embarrassment In particular, the reporter stated in wo places that my wife is Peggy Smith instead of Cherilyn Smith (my real wife) and that I graduated from TC instead of the right instit The University of Tennessee (Knville) To save my marriage and ly reputation, I would really ppreciate it if you would publish a rection of these errors in your nexsuc. Thanks for your help.

Sincerely.

David Smith, Chairman

New deadly sins for the 90's

By JULIE HINDS ©Copyright 1990, USA

TODAY/Apple College Information Network The original seven deadly sins are pride, greed, lust, gluttony, envy, are pride, greed, lust, gluttony, envy, anger and sloth. To cop a phrase from George Bush, they're baaaad, they're baaaad.

That is, they were until

That is, they were until recently. In the last 10 years, the seven deadlies seem to have shirted rapidly from venal to mainsteam. Remember how "Wall Street"s Gordon Gekko said greed is good? Have you asked a couch potato about sloth recently? Can a society with chocolate-covered Oreos retain any concept of gluttory.

In lieu of getting a major oil company to endorse them, we asked several social commentators for the top sans of contemporary times. Here's a septet of candidates (with special thanks to Donald Trump, who currently is guitty of them all).

ACQUISITIVENESS
 "Greed isn't a way of sm," says San Francisco Chronicle columnst Alice Kahn, "It's become a way of life "

But in the '80s, having a big bank account was no longer enough. It was more important to acquire the perfect wife, the cutest kids, the purest-bred pooch, the shinlest coffeentaker. "The drive to get objects to validate yourself—it makes me want to leave the country," moans writer Cynthia.

Think of acquisitiveness as super-unleaded greed. Donald Trump, poster boy for acquisition, personifics all that is bad about the sin, according to San Francisco-based writer Jean

"Here is someone who could really make a difference for people. He could write a check and cure AIDS. But he's like a 4-year-old. His name has to be on everything. He buys whatever he wants without even paying lip service to, 'Gee, 'Pil his the earthquake rubble,' I cannot think of a worse offender than him."

— SMIIGNESS

— SMUGNESS

If the '80s had a human face, it would be sneering. In fact, it would look a lot the David Letterman.

A smart-aleck fraternity boy with a white-bread outlook, Letterman took a camero cree into a store named Just Bubbs and milked a half-hour of material. Just Bubbs 'Mhat a crass, stupid, middlebrow name. We'd never

As the tude of smug humor grew, some comes took a stard against it. "It's not an honorable approach," says comedian Richard Belzer, Others, such as 5py magazine, thrived on making fun of stupid human tricks. When 5py took a look at small-lown America, the headline was "Big, Dumb White Guys With Cline."

Eventually, smugness succumbed to the trickle-down theory, infiltrating every appect of everyday life. Food was smug. Could any other word describe a blue corn tortilla chip? The smugness anthem was "Don't worry, be happy," which is very hard to hum along to if you're living below the poverty line.

TRIVIALITY

TRIVIALITY

It's not just a concept anymore. It's a pursuit. "It's sort of a way to disengage yourself from brutal realities," says Gonick. "You read Danielle Steel instead of something wonderful, because you don't want to be chaltenged. It's an incredible strying toward mediocrity."

Case in point "Vanna Speaks," the autobiography of Vanna White Case in point: Because they had been collected by someone famous, Andy Warhol's 175 cookie jars sold for $247,830 in 1988.

Court case in point: The people versus Zsa Zsa. — SOUL-BARING

Many, many people were deeply troubled during this decade. How do we know? Because 50 percent of them admitted it in People magazine. At least 10 celebrines told all in an honest effort to help others. The rest did it as a cheap oublearly flow.

shows where people are buring their souls about 8e, drugs, alcohol, weight, complaint syndicated columns Ellien Goodman. The alarger context, it's amazing that what happens to your life so of interest of anybody clae. I'm interest of the fact anybody clae, l'm interest of the fact anybody outlet tail. It can't figure out why."

Kicking a habit is now

Kicking a habit is now considered a career move, if you can get enough good press for doing it. Cracks Alice Kahn of the San Francisco Chronicle, "It's better to have been addicted and recovered than to have never been addicted at all." — PACKAGING

There are no outhentic impulses anymore. None. The impulses anymore. None. The impulse you decide you'd like to wear a cowboy look, along comes Rulph Lauren to turn it into a fashion line. Tear down the Berlin Wall and what do you get? Footage for a Pepsi commercial and a $10 boxed chunk of rock on sale at Hudson's.

Packaging is the apotheous of the Madison Avenue mentality. It makes the advertising more important than the thing that's actually being hawked. Take the Infiniti ads, those abstract photos that are so cool they don't get around to mentioning what's being piugged. Aftershave? Condoms? Mutual funds? Your guess is as good as ours.

"I know by experence that Absolut is a good voda," said New York Times columnist Anna Quindlen. "But I'm really offended by the talking at they put in Vanity Fau. If they would put in a black and white ad next year and send the rest of the month of the Coalition for the Homeless, I'd be a client of theirs for life."

— SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-NE—SHRILL-N

Morton Downey, Terry Rakotta, Pro-choice versus pro-life. Animal rights, CNN's "Crossfire." Professional wrestling, Sam Kimson, Heavy metal, What do they all have in common? They're a few of the enchanting items that have turned public discourse into a shouting match public custouler in actionally alkading treally dind'r mater what George Bush knew about trangate, did 17 What counted was the verbol jab he took at Dan Rather during their muchpublicized verbal slugfest. Whether he was kicking ass with Geraldine Ferraro in 1984 or raising red flags with Withe Horton commercials in 1988, our kinder, gentler president managed to keep his discourse at the level of a College Costs Rising

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

The cost for one year's room, board and tuition at fouryear private colleges rose at a tornd 8.3 percent rate last year to $12,365, while four-year public college costs rose 6.2 percent to $4.733.

54.733.

Even if costs rise only 5 percent a year, four years of private college for today's newborn would run you $128.260 in the year 2008 four years of public college. $49,09460 But don't be imitiationed? You could cover that full public college bit by yocking away $88 a month at you socking away $88 a month at is born and centruling through the four years your child will be in college. For private college. $228 a month would do it.

Or, if you figure that your meome will increase as the years go by, you could start by saving $59 a month now for public college, $155 a month for private college, then increase your contribution by 5% a year.

Don't be discouraged if you have to start more slowly. "Keep in mind that your children may be able to get Innancal aid, and that they can also work during their college years," says Eilen Walker, president of Fortune Financial Inc. in Seattle "The more you save, the less you'll have to borrow."

rroom brawl.

Quandlen has a solution. "I think all mean people should be put in jail," she says.

- PREENING

Vanity deals with earing excessively about your appearance. Preening is more like vanity lite — all of the sin, but none of the moral calones

"ht's not your real appearance versus your possible appearance anymore," say Quindlen "lt's your possible appearance versus everyone else's possible appearance, the competitive vanity. Everyone is looking out of the comer of their eye to see how they're doing."

Mass icons preen before the media, not before mirrors. Using make-up and passic surgery, they remake their public image as diligently as General Motors works on this year's model. Michael Jackson's nose is the ultimate preen symbol, as are Cher's costumes. The smaller they get, the more we pay attention

Quindlen worries that the "80s justified preening." I think we made showing off acceptable by making it part of the professional program, the dress for success." Adds Quindlen, "To justify yourself at work, it's important to wear

Folk Art exhibit showing at Hunter Museum of Art

The Hunter Museum of Art announces the opening of two excling fell kin et subhutions, "Life in the New Worlds" Selections from the Permanent Collection of the Permanent Collection of the Museum of American Folk Art" and "Access to Art. Bringing Folk Art (Coter", on Sunday, January 14, 1990; "Life in the New World" is a museum-wide exhibition of American Folk art dating from the Stike century to present day, leiling an informal social history of tife in America.

What is folk art? It could be the face of a child, or a memory of home, the shapes of nature, or a lesson in virtue, weathervanes, whirligigs, decorated furniture, or tops - fanciful or fundamental. In essence, folk art is the art of common people, done with uncommon style. Over 100 examples of folk art will be on view at the Hunter Museum, nucliding portraits, pointings, sculpture, formitter, quitts and coverfets, pontery, fraktur, theorems, decorated unware, short possible of the property fraktur, theorems, decorated unware, short possible of the property of the proper Museum hours: Tuesday -Saturday 10:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m Sunday 1-4:30 p.m.

"Reel Civil War Stories"

Tuesday evenings in January and February, the Auditorium of the Hunter Museum of Art will be the setting for some of the most powerful films ever produced by Hollywood "Reel Civil War Stories," co-sponsored by Friends of the Park and the Hunter Museum of Art, will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the creation of the Chickamauga & Chattanooga National Military Park. All films will be shown at 7:00 p.m. at the Hunter Museum, Bluff View, Chattanooga There will be an admission charge of $1.50 for adults and $1 for children. The following movies will be presented Tuesday, January 23

SHENANDOAH

James Stewart and Doug McClure star in and Andrew McLaylen directed this epic struggle of the Civil War Stewart plays what many consider his greatest role as a widowed Virginian who attempts to make his land an island, sheltered from the horrors of war. He successfully pits his bull-headed and almost arrogant belief in peace against all the forces attempting to draw him into the war, until it involves his own family

Tuesday, January 30

FRIENDLY PERSUASION

William Wyler's sensitive direction of this 1956 film opens rich insights into those of the Quaker faith in Jessamyn West's beautiful story of a happy, warm-hearted Quaker family, committed by faith to non-violence, caught up in the backlash of the Civil War. The family is confronted with the need to choose between their pacifism and their belief in the need to preserve the Union. Starring Gury Cooper and Dorothy McGuire

THE AUTORIOGRAPHY OF MISS JANE PITTMAN

Ernest Gaines' stunning novel chronicles and Cicely Tyson brilliantly portrays the growth of a young slave garl to a contemporary citizen of 110 years of age. The 1974 Emmy-winning TV movie represents one woman's preserva turn of diensty throughout the to multuous years of change in black America Also starring Richard Dysart and Katherine Helmond.

Curt Cloninger

We live in an entertrinment saturated society. But very often the entertainment leaves us nothing of lusting value to held on a . There is a creat need for quality entertainment that also presents the truth of God's I we.

The ne-man theatre of Curt Cloninger does just that Coming February 2 nt : 30 pm

Destiny Drama Company schedules mall appearance

The Destiny Drama Company, a Christian collegiate reperiory theatre troupe from Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists, Collegedale, Tenn, will perform two 30-minute programs at the Hamilton Place Mall, Chattanooga, on Friday and Saturday. January 26 and 27, 1990

Friday, the 15-member drama troupe will perform at 7.00 and 8 00 p.m. and Saturday at 2:00 and 3:00 p m on the center stage, located in the middle of the mall, in frunt of Profitt's

Utilizing pantomune, vignettes ays, and street drama, the Destiny Drama Company performs throughout the Southeastern United States for high schools, colleges, and youth rallies. They strive to portray the pertinence of Christianity through this creative medium

The troupe is sponsored by CARE Ministries, Southern's student religrous life organization. Southern College is a coeducational, four year, hberal arts college located just outside of Chattanooga

For more information regarding the Destiny Drama Company and its tour schedule, call Allan Martin at 615-238-2724

...Theft Cont from n I

It appears that the thieves forced their way into the building and the lab. They obviously knew what they were looking for and took the most valuable items. Any informa tion that might lead to recovery of the stolen equipment should be given to security, the Collegedate police, and the computer science department

Adventure in Europe

By Ginger Bromme

Sir back and think about yourself sizefulning long the Champs Elysees in Paris with your college friends. Or, if you prefer, imagine yourself riding on a team, seeing for the first time the majestic Alps, Vienna, Austria, which is your next stup, in Vienna you can ride the buggest ferms wheel in the world. The cars are the size of train early Or, if ferms wheels are it your thing, picture yourself touring places, like the Louvre, Note Dame, St. Paul's, Leichiest Fauler, and Tamping the product fouring places.

other famous European sites. Imagine listening to Scotush men playing bagpipes on the sidewalks of Edinburgh Best of all, imagine getting up to six hours of college credit for this once-ina-lifetime experience.

For 20 students at SC, the dream will become a reality this summer. Dr. Bill Wohlers will be leading the 1990 summer toor of Western Europe

This summer's tour is scheduled in two stages. The main tour will leave Atlanta on May 30 and will leave Atlanta on hay 30 and will visit six countries on the continent. Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany. The second stage of the tour will begin earlier, May 31, and will include 9 days in England and Scotland.

Those who visit Great Britain will meet the others in Amsterdam

The four includes visits to the cities of Paris, Amsterdam, Munich, London and Edinburgh The fourists will be kept busy attending concerts and plays, visiting famous museums, and soaking up the Buropean culture. Of course, there will be plenty of free time to visit sites, sample local cuisine, and my favorite; shop in all the outdoor markets (Paris has a gigantic flea market that could take days to ex-

In addition to touring, students may upone to earn up to six hours of either upone division or lower division credit. This may be in either history (C-11 or humanites (D-3). It may also statisfy W credit and European History requirements; however, students can opt to go on the trp without taking the credit.

The price of the trip is $2,397 for the three week option and $2996 for both options. The price includes all transportation, lodging, two meals a day and entrunce fees at tourist sights. There is no extra charge for fution.

There are only five spaces still open for this four. Efficient students have made concrete plans to go this summer. Since time is running out, contact Dr. Wohlers immediately and get your place reserved with a $250 deposit. He will also be able to answer any further questions you might have about the tray.

Bon Voyage!

Top to Bottom:

Members of the 1988 Tour in front of the Eiffel Tower in Paris (Left to Right: Mae Orquia, Dennis Golightly, Shelly Whitson, Kim Newball, Holly Jones, Jody White, Bill Wohlers and the infamous Richard Moody)

Jennifer Von Maack and Janet Conley at Schonbrunn Palace in Vienna, Austria

1988 Tour group in the Bavarian Alps overlooking the city of Garmisch-Partenkirchen

In the Gym...

By Suzanne Lettrick

.. Tanique pumps iron

It's wet and wild ...

...Jaecks knows intramurals

...Troy takes aim

...but Dallas Scott is clearly not amused.

The Boys of Summer

Summer Camp directors from the Southern Union brought a carnival atmosphere to the Student Center this week. They were here to recruit college students to help with their summer ministry.

"Pastor Bill" Wood discusses camp life with Rich Lochridge

Pre-Season Basketball Poll

AA League

1) McKenzie

2) Johnson

3) Young-Tie

3) Faculty-Tie

5) Osborne 6) Taylor

A League

1) Fulbright

2) Gay 3) Lawhorn

4) Duff

5) King

6) Malone

7) Thedford

8) White

9) Hopkins 10) Moreland

For the Health of It

By Darlene Almeda R.N.

This column will feature health topics of interest to you the students and faculty of Southern College. This is how you can submit your questions: you may either drop your requests in the labeled box at the Student center desk or you may ask me personally.

Q. During Christmas break I found out my sister has anemia. What causes this and what is the treatment?

A. There are many different types of semia the most common being irondeficiency anemia. This type is caused mainly by madequate iron intake. chronic blood loss, pregnancy, and destruction of red blood cells.

Because of women's compulsive dietary restrictions, menstrual cycles and pregnancies we have a high risk of becoming anemic. However, unless it is a chronic problem anemia is treated quite simply. Iron supplements, and an increase in foods rich in iron such as spinach, lima beans, broccoli, raisms, dried apricots and peaches is suggested.

Camp Kulaqua-Once again the winner of the annual battle of the booths

DECADE OF THE

Lists of interest

Biggest cities

1. New York

2. Chicago

3. Los Angeles

4. Philadelphia

5. Houston

6. Detroit

7. Dallas

8. San Diego

9. Phoenix

10. Baltimore

Five top-selling cars

1. Chevrolet Impala

2. Oldsmobile Cutless Supreme

3. Chevrolet Chevette

4. Chevrolet Malibu 5. Ford Fairmont

1. Ford Taurus

2. Ford Escort

Chevrolet Corsica

4. Honda Accord

1. New York

3. Chicago

4. Houston

2. Los Angeles

5. Philadelphia

San Antonio

6. San Diego

7. Detroit

8. Datias

10. Phoenix

5. Chevrolet Cavallet

Five top prime-time TV shows

1. Bill Cosby Show Laverne and Shirley

2. Roseanna 2. Three's Company

3. Happy Days 4. Mork and Mindy

3. A Different World

4. Cheers

5. 60 Minutes

5. Angle

Source USA Today research by William Ounn and Bill Gorton Gannett News Service

Do you truly love me? Jesus said . . . Take CARE of my sheep. John 21:16 NIV

Focus on . . .

Clown Ministry Penny Whitsett 238-2390

"Clown Ministry meets about four times a month to practice and perform, usually in area hostipitals where we perform skits, plays and talk to the children. We are planning to visit some area churches also."

Adopt-A-Grandparent David Barnett 396-9215

Destiny Drama Co. Allan Martin 238-3033

"The Destiny Drama Company is a collegiate drama ministry troupe which performs for high schools, youth rallies, and colleges throughout the Southeastern United States. Through Christian theatrical arts, they strive to portray the power, pertinence, and personality of Jesus Christ and His gospel."

Bible Study Program Troy Fitzgerald 344-9205

"The Bible Study program provides an opportunity for good Christian fellowship and spiritual growth. Signup sheets will be posted in the dorms and in the Student Center."

Sunshine Bands Charles Kitgore 238-3165

"Sunshine Band will be continuing second semester. We will be leaving at 2:30 pm. (participating Sabbaths, so watch for announcements). We will be bringing songs and prayers to four local nursing homes on an alternate schedule. All are invited to share in these events each week to bring sunshine to the elderly shut-ins."

Big Brother/Big Sister Scott Wakefield 396-2601

"The Big Brother/Big Sister program is designed to allow students of Southern College to take an area grade school student and become a big brother or big sister to them. Weekly visits occur along with monthly group meetings."

Chamblais Home Robert Putman 238,3028

"The new program at Chambalis Home to twofold. First, there is a community day care service, and second, there is a shelter providing for children who are emporarily temporary for mention of the parents by the courts. We need many volunteers to work on Thursday overnings at the shelter and arranged evernings at the shelter and arranged the state of the property of

C.A.R.E. Prayer Karen Alvarez 238-2288

"This club feels that it is important to pray for each other. Every week twenty-five students are selected from the student body and five students are prayed for by each member. A letter is sent out to those being prayed for."

Orange Grove Center Lori Marchant 238-2225

"Visit in group homes for mentally handicapped people and share in games, entertainment and a chance to meet new friends for a few hours on a weekinght." Distinguished Dean's List Students Who Carried at Least 12 Semester Hrs, With GPA of 3.75-4.00

Addison, Robert Martin Ahn, Jane Hayoung Ashton, Edward Bruce (Ted) Balli, Kevin Charles Bennett, John Keith Balir, Carrie Fave Bray, Dawn Lynn Brewer, Aaron James Brewer, Terry Joe Bromme, Ginger Sue Brown, Michelle Yvonne Brown, Susan Valerie Brown, Tammy Michelle Bryan, William Alexander Bullock, Angela Michelle Burdick, Janene Joy Burke, Sherie Lynette Cavanuagh, Richard John Chon, Ben Hyungwon Choppala, Sheela Mae Clark, Debra Jane Cole, Daryl Keith Collins, Shawn Bryant Conerly, Kerre Leatha Corbett, Jeffery Scott DeCarmo Linden Alanzo Denton, Celia Diane Mitchell Dickinson, Robert Bruce Dieter, Garry Phillip Downs, Warren Shelby Dyer, Angela Christine Edwards, Beth Joann Eirich, Paul R (III) Elliston, Jonathan Bruce Folkenberg, Kathi Lynne Fulbright, Michelle Elizabeth Fulford, Kevin Lee Gates, Donald Lyle Gibson, Yvonne S Glass, Gregory Edward Grange, Jeffrey Todd Greene, John Frank (III) Handal, Evelyn Xiomara Harlin, Amy A Hillyer, Harvey Jordan (III) Hold, Ronnie Lee (Jr) Housley, Meri Anissa Huntress, Thomas E Hutchinson, Omie Louise Issa, Shadya Sherri Janzen, Barry Dale Jensen, David Arnold Kang, Hyung Jin Keiper, Janet Louise Keller, Brenda Grace Kelley, Anthony Lynn Kelley, Leta Lucille Keyes, Beverly Ann Kim, David Nam-Young Kim, Julia Goo Sool Kim, Mike Myungshik Knoll, Rebecca Beth

Kolett, Lorrie Ann

Kroll, Peter Brian Lastine, Craig Lelland Long, Valerie Lois Lorren, Joanna I. Lovin, Crysta Mae Lytle, Elizabeth Ann Inman Machado, John David Magee, Lynda Irene Mann, Guy Edward Marchant, Lori Ann Marsa, Robert Lee Martin, Artemio Allan (II) McMahon, Mary Margaret Metzing, Kevin Joseph Miller, Gayle Marie Miller, Russell Everett Miranda, Condrado Steve Mtichell, Philip E Moore, Deanna Elizabeth Morisette, Dallas Todd Moyer, Gary Dean Myers, Amanda Beth Nash, Andrew Charles Neall, Robert Ronald Nelson, Karen J Heidinger Nicholson, Andrea Dawn Parkhurst, Gregory Eugene Pettibone, Lori Lynn Poole, Kathleen Marie Pratt, Douglas Gelette Puckett, Bryan Scott Randolph, Jackie Lynne Ratliff, Janet Leigh Ringer, Laurie Nannette Sasser, Janna Lynn Scofield, Ann Louise Sheffield, Amanda Hene Skantz, Ingrid Linnea Song, Danny Yeong Springett, Lisa Rene Starkey, Mary Catheryn Stewart, John Darin Stuyvesant, Heather June Stuyvesant, Valerie Rose Taylor, Robin Ray Thompson, Debbie Lynn Toppenberg, Kevin Scott Toppenberg, Marcia Dee Giles Trenchard, Mark Edward VanSant, Eleanor Louise Veach, Laura Nicole Viar, Jeffrey Kip Werner, Julianne Nicole Werner, Todd Steven Wheeling, David Russlyn Whidden, Bruce Edward Wilkie, Kathryn Mary Lothian Williams, Lesly Shawn Wolcott, Tamara A Wolf Denise Renea Woioten, Rick Lane Yeager, Jeffrey Norman Zukovski, Adriane

Dean's List Students Who Carried At Least 12 Semester Hrs. with GPA of 3.50-3.74 Alvarez, Karen Marie Anthony, Delka Linda Ashton, Ellen Grace Auge, Tammy Lynn Austin, Karen Emily Barkhuizen, Sanmari Battistone, Rochelle Louise Belliard, Juan Carlos Bledsoe, Shea Elaine Blomeley, Geoffrey Scott Blount, Calvin Louis (Jr) Blume, David Allan Boyd, Cyntia Lou Robinette Brandon, Anthony Alfred Casavant, Jennifer Lydia Caskey, John Samuel Cahmpion, DeAnn Kaye Cirigliano, Anthony John Collins, Gary Sean Collson, Tamatha Sharon Constantine, Eugene Victor Covrig, Arthur Bryant Dailey, Robin Lesette Dickhaut, Pamela Dell Dittes, James A Draper, Sheila Renee' Elliott, Micheele Lynn Emde, Bradford Mark Engel, Julie Lynette Fluharty, Kelli Dawn Frett, Darlene Leah Fuqua, Kimberly Dawn Gallagher, Richard Louis Gibson, Tami Michele Grabinski, Rodney John Greene, Patricia Jill Grosswiler, Anna Marie Hall, Ashley Elizabeth Hannah, Keely Lynne Hawkins, Michael Andrew Healey Kerri Anne Henry, Cecelia Claudia Holcombe, Tonya Lynne Hunt, Rumiko Huse, Lawrence Stephen Huthcinson, Joel Len Jacko, Kirk Edward Jensen, Donna Marie Jones, Jeffrey Scott Jones, Kristine Lynn Kendall, Charles N (Jr)

Kim, Chin-Hyung

Leavitt, Gregory Arthur

Locks, Tina Earlene

Madden, Terri Lynn

Mann Laura Flain

Mahrle, Craig Edward

Mann, Robert Lee (Jr)

Martin, Artemio Robert

Martin, Jennifer Jane

Mathiesen, Patrick M

McCaughan, Cindy Lou McColpin, Cheri Lynn McConnell, Claudine Janelle

Korff, Deirdre

McIntyre, Monica Lynn McKenney, Jill Orlaine Miller, Brian J Moore, Craig Andre Murdoch, Michael Montgomery Naiman, Theodore Samuel Nash, Jon M Odell, Melanie Vanessa Olson, Krista Luray Orquia, Carl Michael Paul, Diane A Peck, Sheri Kathleene Peterson, Randal Lewis Peterson, Robert Laurence Phillips, Gregory Randal Pitman, Sean Devere Pittman, Robert Wayne Pittman, Ronald Ray Raitz, Sandra Ann Reeves, Craig Anthony Reid, Danielle Elizabeth Rilea, Iris Letitia Ringer, David Benjamin Robinson, Rebecca Ann Robinson, Sharlene Ayanna Rose, Melissa Dawnelle Rosete, Sharon R Schwab, Brian David Scott, Elizabeth i Wentworth Sermersheim, Tami Lynn Short, Donald Robert Simmons, Virginia Lynn Sinaga, Maya Irene Singh, Krishna Anjali Smith, James Lynwood (11) Smith, Susan Lorena Snider, Kevin A Stevens, Erich Marshall Stevenson, Jo-Anne E Stewart Kathleen Marie Swart, Kimberly Lynn Tschickardt, Monica Lee Tyncr, Erin Noelle Valenzuela, Glenn Aaron VanBcukering, Michael Villars, Kelly Catherine Wahto, Robert Warren Walter, Kimberly Maureen Weldon, Elizabeth June Wenzel, Miya Son Soon White, Haywood Edwin (III) Williams, Arlene LuAnn Wolff, Mary Lorena Wooley, Elisabeth Karen Wright, Sharon Elspeth York, Kathleen Zegarra, Robert Lee Zinke, David Dwayne Zmaj, Veronica Sue

The Summer Ministries promotion is over, but if you didn't have time to sign up for your favorite camp, you can still pick up an application at the Chaplain's Office or the Student Center desk.

On the other hand, if you're looking for that special position or need any other information, feel free to call.

And thanks to those who did come by ... you're going to have a great summer which ever camp you chose!

Thank You!!!

To all of you who are considering ICC as your summer home. If you didn't get a chance to stop by, call Mike McKenzie at (615) 859-1391.

Great opportunities await you!

NOSOCA PINES

Thanks you for your interest in summer ministries!!

ositions are filling fast, if you want to be a part of this summer's team, pick up an application in the chaplain's office, or call:

Phil Rosburg (704)535-6720

"What am I doing with my summer?"

"I am going back to Camp Kulaqua because it is exciting, spontaneous .. basically it's fun But beyond that, I really see it as a great opportunity to share Christ with kids."

Amber Murphy,

'89 Staff Member of the Yea "Hopefully I'll be at Camp Kulaqua Friends Florada, and fostering a love for Jesus in kids... I hear there is nothing like it."

Lisa Wooley,

Summer '90 Staff Applicant

To Pick Up Your Camp Application C ARE Office 238-2724 *Amber Murphy 238-2 Ilan Martin 238-3033 *Kevin Pride 396-2601

ccepting Applications for Ti

Camp Kulaqua

Summertime '90 and You...

Cohutta Springs Camp...

Are you looking for great opportunities in Christian Ministry? We have openings in:

- Camp Ministry
- 2. Vacation Bible School Ministry
- 3. Task Force Ministry

For more information, call (404)629-7951 and ask for Dave Cress or John Swafford.

...On My Mind

Camp Alamisco

"The best little camp in North Alabama'

Thanks to those who already joined "the summer adventure."

To those who haven't, you've still got the chance. Call Bill Wood at (205)272-7493

WE NEED YOU!

If you are interested in the theater, audio-visual, clothing design, or art, and you are good at what you do, we nead with you are good at what you do, you can you will we also need many socalists for the BEHOLO THE LAMB mass choir. If you've always longed to witness for Chelost, are creative and enjoy using your mind come join us. Help us give the city of Chatanooga a whole one verility of what Christ sacrificed for us so long ago. For more information call 238-274 during the day, or 28-3152 after 1928-3152 after 1928-3

sed Kieller va Kerkel Ka

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions

1) Who wrote "O Captain, My Captain"?

Name an iron structure that dominates the skyline of Paris.

Name the American religious reformer who founded Christian Science.
 Argentina seized them in 1982.

5) What did Lydon Johnson declare war on in 1964?

The Answers (December 14):

Tennyson
 Mutiple-Independantly
 Targetable Reentry Vehicle
 Dale Brown

Pargetable Reentr Dale Brown Marshall Plan Golda Meir

The Winners (December 14):

Dallas Scott
 Chris Indermuehle
 Dale Lacra

lra Mills David Koliadko Sponsored by

McDonald's

DITTE

4)

RULES: The first five cornect entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDouald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salud, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five cornect entries are received on the same day the winness will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the cornect answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most cornect answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, sugglicant others an apet sar inehtigible.

College Bowl: 1990

The annual battle of the minds.

Monday and Wednesday at 5:15 pm In a cafeteria near you.

From the Archives

Dateline. November 19, 1948

"The cold war has melted!" These electrifying words opened the talk of Elder W. A. Scharffenberg, executive vice-president of the American Temperance Society, who was guest speaker in chapel on Monday, November 8.

The "war," the students learned, was the beginning of the American Temperance Society's nation-wide fight against the manufacture and use of alcoholic beverages. The speaker stated that "given enough rope the liquor interests will hang themselves."

Notices

Earn Money Typing at Home! 32,000/yr. income potential. Details, 1-602-838-8885 Ext. T-7418.

Government homes from $1 (U-repair). Delinquent tax property. Repossessions. Call 1-602-838-8885 Ext. GH7418.

Government seized vehicles from $100. Fords, Mercedes, Corvettes, Chevys. Surplus Buyers Guide. 1-602-838-8885 Ext. A7418.

Hiring! Government jobs - your area Many immediate openings without waiting list or test. $17,840 - $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885. Ext. R7418.

Easy work, Excellent Pay! Assemble products at home. Details, 1-602-838-8885 Ext. W-7418.

VIEWPOINTS

What is your opinion on the new hair policy for men?

personal taste; it doesn't affect academic progress -Maria Rodriguez shouldn't take away the time solving important Shervi Satterfield

I don't understand their basis for this rule. Are they doing it for our benefit or theirs? -Grant Schlisner

I don't think it's necessary, we can make our own chaices. I choose to keep my hair cut -Mike Johnston

There is no Scriptural basis for this rule. My hair is a part of my body and they have no right to defile it trendy. what is trendy? -Charlie Diamond

Upcoming Events

Friday, January 19

Vespers, Student Missionary

wear their hair as the

-Lynn Gibson

choose. Women have that why don't men?

Association, Church 8:00 nm

Saturday, January 20

Church Service-Gordon Bietz

Beach Party, 10:00 pm, Gymnasium

Monday, January 22

Last Day to Drop a Class

Wednesday, January 24

SA Pep Day

Thursday, January 25

Assembly, Ray James. 11:00 am, Church

Friday, January 26

SA Reverse Weekend

Vespers, Ray Tetz. 8:00 pm, Church

Church Service, Gordon Bietz

Humanities Film, 8:00 pm Lynwood Hall

Wednesday, January 31

Last day to return textbooks

until May buyback

Thursday, February 1

Assembly, Hyveth Williams. 11:00 am, Church

Special Events in Town

Hunter Museum of Art Exhibits

"Access to Art Bringing Folk Art Closer'

"Life in the New World: Selections from the Permanent Collection of the Museum of American Folk Art."

For more information call: 267-0968

#1 Works for #1 WE ARE NOW HIRING

- · Coordinate your school schedule with a convenient work schedule.
- · Work 2,3,4 or 5 days a week.
- · Work as little as 3 hours a day.
- · Work with good people.
- · Free meals.
- · Free Uniforms. · Profit Sharing.
- · Stock Purchase
- · Premium Pay for Openers and

Closers. We're The Best, If

You Are Too, Stop By And Fill Out An Application

1020 Shallowford Rd.

Index

P. 2 Editorials

P. 3-5 News P. 6 Photos

P. 8 Religion P. 9 Humor P. 10 Sports P.12 Viewpoints

Page 10

Beach Party Photo Feature Page 6

February I, 1990

Volume 45, Number 10

On the Boardwalk: Beach

Party '90 By Allison Mayers

Saturday night, January 20, Southern College students were able to leave the dismal winter weather behind and experience a taste of summer by attending the annual S A beach party held in the gymnasium

The students arrived at 10 00 p m decked out in sunglasses, shorts, and swimsuits. Tans were provided by the glare of heat lamps.

Plenty of activities kept everyone en tertained. The favorite among the stu dents seemed to be the dunking booth, where they got a chance to dunk some of their favorite faculty like Dean Rose, Dr. Wohlers, and even the college's president. Dr. Sahly

Other activities such as volleyball, the basketball toss, the baseball throw, and the photo booth had a steady stream of contestants. Some chose to take it easy in the "giant sandbox," complete with lounge chairs and umbrellas

Many students out the opportunity to reveal their amazing by participating in one of several contests. Bruce Austin, winner of the belly flop contest, demonstrated his high tolerance for nam, while Michelle Fried displayed her awesome flexibility and won the limbo contest.

The lip sync contest, which was the high point of the evening, featured im-personations of Phil Collins, Richard Marx, and Alvin and the Chipmunks, First prize went to Kyle Tomer and friends for their impersonation of Louis Armstrong singing "What a Wonderful World.

The Beach Party, according to Deana Malek, "was the absolute, mosincredible time I've ever had at Southern College

Senators study improvements for Industrial Drive

By Darren Strang

The condition of the pavement on Industrial Drive has been a major concern, especially to village students who use the road virtually every day of the week. Many of the students, faculty, and alumni have voiced their concern When is the road some to be renaired?

Some students raised this question in a recent senate meeting and many senators voiced spreement that there was a problem By the end of the meeting, a three-man committee consisting of Darren Strang, Kenneth Neal, and Heather Williams was formed to pursue this issue

After some study, the committee found that Mr. Lacey, the head of the Grounds Department, has a plan for Industrial Drive and an appointment was made with him to discuse is

In our meeting Lacey showed us several projects related to the reconstruction of Industrial Drive.

The buildings alone Industrial Drive have been painted and new signs and street numbers have been put on each one Another project has been started behind the So-Ju-Conian Hall. You may have noticed some fresh digging at for a new parking lot for religion professors and their secretaries.

Another parking lot with two rows of parking will be placed below that for the students. These lots will more than double the amount of parking spaces in that

Another project is the implementation of gas heating in some of the buildings along Industrial Drive, and some of the road will have to be dug up to place the pipes Mr Lacey wants to be sure that no digging will have to be don after the road is paved. He also plans to put in large pipe sleeves o that other things can be pushed through later if needed.

He has not received word yet as to which buildings will get the gas ... Indusrial Cont. on p. 2

Super Party. Boring Bowl

By Daryl Cole

Yells and shouts filled Brock Hall's classroom 147, while the other side of campus, students cheered in the Student Center Both locations combined accomodated about 100 people for the Student Association Super Bowl Party on Janu-

Originally, S A officers planned for the party to be just in the Student Center. But because of cable problems, the party moved to Brock Hall. Shortly afterwards, the cable company fixed the connection at the Student Center, and the party started there.

The party in Brock Hall was complete with drinks, candy, poponti and ice cream. Unfortunately, most of the refreshments ran out before anyone from the Student Center party could enjoy them, therefore the Student

SuperBowl (ce cream scramb

Center revelers only got see cream Ken Stonebrook received an official NFL football for the closest guess of the final score. Harvey Hillyer, the Social Vice-President, said, "I think everyone had a ball."

At the end, excited 49er fans and disappointed Bronco fans left, taking with them left-over, melted are cream in hones that it would freeze again. And so ended Super Bowl XXIV.

Basketball: bringing out the worst in the best of us?

By John Caskey

"Everyone must submit himself to the governing authorities, for there is no authority except that which God has established. The authorities that exist have been established by God. Consequently, he who rebels against the authority is rebelling against what God has instituted, and those who do so will bring judgment on themselves. For rulers hold no terror for those who do right, but for those who do wrong. Do you want to be free from fear of the one in authority? Then do what is right and he will commend you For he is God's servant to do you good. But if you do wrong, be afraid, for he does not bear the sword for nothing He is God's servant, an agent of wrath to bring punishment on the wrongdoer. Therefore, it is necessary to submit to the authorities, not only because of possible punishment but also because of conscience."

- Romans 8:1-5

h's Basketball Season here on the nous of Southern College, and while the passage I quoted from Romans was clearly not intended for use in an intramural basketball program, I think it should be applied to us anyway There seems to be a lot of hatred and discontent welling up out there on the hardwood floor. I think that it's about time that we put and end to it once and for all. We started it after all and therefore, we can stop it

It's just a stupid game, guys. No one from Southern College is ever going to make a living playing haskethall. So, why do we try to make intramural basketball such a life or death struggle? Three weeks after basketball scason ends, very few people will be able to remember who or last or fouled out or fouled up But if you consistently act like a jerk out on the court, the Big Ref may see fit to lay a MAJOR technical on you

Lifestyle Editor

Adrienne Cox

Sports Editor

Jim King

Religion Editor

Andy Nash

Layout Editor

Graphic Art

Daniel Potter

Advisor

Stan Hobbs

and throw you out of the Cosmic Game. Permanently. That, my friends, is a life or death struggle

Far be it from me to assume a holier than thou attitude on this issue. I am one of the offenders. I freely admit it. I was worse last year. I will be better in the next game

I challenge every player and every ref and Jaecks and Evans and the spectators and the people who don't care about basketball at all (but just happen to be wandering around in the gym) to follow this simple

"If you don't have something kind or beneficial or good to say then keep your mouth shut."

Don't try to call the game for the refs. Don't clap or cheer when the refs make a call against the other team. Don't bellyache and moan and groan when they make a call against your team. Congratulate your teammates and the guys on the other side when they make a good play.

When in doubt, shot up.

If everybody involved in the intramural program can't do this, then I suggest that we abolish the program

I don't want to see that happen. I think a little healthy competition on the playing field is good for the human soul But, the spirit of "win at all costs" and I'm better than you" and "the ref is biased against me" and "your ugly and your monima dresses you funny" does not have a place on a "Christian

We all need to sit down and have a long hard think about our priorities from time to time. If after doing so you find that your first priority is to win an intramural basketball then you don't belong here on the campus of Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

> Rule your desires lest your desires rule you. -Publilius Syrus

Southern Accent

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper

Sheila Draper Photo Editor Sean Terretta

Additional Photography Kenny Zill Geoffrev Church

Proofreading Monique Townsend

> Word Processing Heather Wise

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Accent is the official student newspaper for So

The Student Areas I is the official stations are wapper for Southern College Steffer and the Student Students devery soften Theory College Steffer and Students a Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor

I was reading through the recent edition of the "Accent" when I came to the veiwpoint section ("What do you think of the new hair policy for men?"). I was greatly distressed at this question

I would like to personally thank the deans of Taige Hall and all others responsible for this new rule. Thanks to you our fine, young men will now look like pre-pubescent ten-year-olds

I have a friend (who shall remain unidentified to protect his hair's length) that I will call "John". John has have a little past his collar, but it is neatly groomed and looks good on him Now that he is being forced to have those locks removed, he will look like a little kid. Thanks!

I have another friend. Let's call him "Fred". Fred used to have hair the same length. He had to get his cut and does not look the same Thanks again!

I say that if a guy wants to have his hair a certain length, more power to him, as long as it's kept neat and not a rat's nest. Som guys just look better with longer hair. So many times in high school we were told to be unique. Now, when a guy wants to have a unique harrstyle, he is "shot down", so to

Why are they being told to cut their hair all of the sudden? Why not at the beginning of last semes

I agree with the viewpoints of the students. Hair does not affect academic progress and it should be the anus' choice. Nobody has explained the

Why all of the fuss about hairstyles? If Jesus walked on our campus, would the Deans make him cut his hair? Stop worrying about the guys' hair and start worrying about more important things like whether they are getting a good education. After all, are we here for an education or a hair grooming lesson? We are naving for a career-not a haircut!

Sincerely. Brenda Caldwell

...Industrial These are just a few of the one must accept delays.

Cont. from p. 1

projects that Lacey has on his overall plan for Industrial Drive Many things must be considered with a problem like Industrial Drive, the main thing to remember is that these projects take time As Mr. Lacey said, "If you want to waste money, get in a hurry." To get a quality job at a good price, buried communication cables located low enough to build the parking lot over them. This and other problems make it impossible to set deadlines or dates for the completion of Industrial Drive. No one knows how many more glitches will have to be dealt with. We just have to confront the obstacles as they come," said Mr

One such barrier is getting some

Although it may take a while, the improvements should be well worth the wait, and all will be happy to know that action is being taken on Industrial Drive.

College Bowl kicks off, more exciting than the SuperBowl

By Amy Beckwo

The questions come rapidly. "Name the legendary South American city of stupendous riches sought by the Spanish Conquistadores." Buzzzzz "El Dorado!"

What appears to be entertainment to the onlookers is really quite strenuous for the players. What is the cause of all this excitement? The College Bowl!

The seventh annual college bowl commenced on January 22. In the first round the teams of Ben Keppler and Robert Marsa battled, Marsa was vic-

This was the first game of many in the college bowl tournament. The back of the cafeteria was packed with students hoping to see their friends in

The college bowl consists of 12 teams, each with 4 members, who try mosety Card

to answer as many questions as possible to win points for their team. The team who accumulates the most points at the end of the round is the winner. The champion team of the double elimination tournament will be determined during chapel on March I Dean Hobbs organizes the bowl, and he, along with Drs. McArthur, Haluska and Woolsey are the moderators Everyone is invited to come see "the annual battle of the minds" this

Careers in the Church, opportunities money can't buy

By Julie Jacobs

Working for the church means doing the same kind of job you could do elsewhere but receiving a lower wage for it, according to Dean Kinsey, Alumni Director. One does not work in our church for the size of the paycheck

Richard Enckson of the business department, used to work as a financial manager for a major industry. Although he took a deduction in pay to work for Southern College, he found that he enjoyed this working environment much better. "I sure appreciate a smoke-free working area," said Erickson Now Erickson finds he now has something in common with his colleagues, whereas he used to have difficulty relating to his working partners.

"My enjoyment of the work environment and joh helps me cope with the discrepancy in my salary", said Jeanette Stepanske of the education department. She continued by saying that sharing a common goal and a common philosophy with colleagues makes a job much more towarding.

Some people do not feel the need for money or fame and are content with the rewards of working for God. "I've worked for the church all my life, said K.R. Davis, director of testing and counseling.

"I've always had a roof over my head and bread on the table." Jeanne Davis, K.R.'s wrfe and secretary to the president, added, "We've never gone wanting and have always had our needs supplied, plus much, much more."

Although offered other jobs outside of the church, Dean Kinsey has never worked outside the church. "When I beheve that something is right, I want to be a part of it, and I am willing to spend my energy to perpetuate it."

Century II scholarship fund growing

By Melissa L. Farrow

The Century II scholarship endowment began a couple of years ago to benefit incoming freshmen and needy students. In December 1989, one of the biggest portions of the money to date was raised and added to the ten million dollar goal. It began with a challenge to Southern College board members from a group of anonymous families. The challenge had two parts families. The challenge had two parts

The board members would give $500,000 in cash to the endowment and the group of families would match the contribution.
 Board members would raise or $500,000 in cash by Decimal of $500,000 in cash by Decimal to $500,000 in cash by Decimal $500,00

 Board members would raise or give a total of $500,000 in cash by December 31, 1989 and the group of families would contribute $90,000 in a span of two years.

Part two of the challenge was successfully met by the proposed date with a 100% participation from all board members. Part one is still in progress with a total of $362,452 given by the board. When this challenge is complete, it will have added $2,460,000 to the fund, giving a grand total of approximately $7,000,000 in cash.

all donations are invested according to conference guidelines and the interest in turn is given as scholarship. "We can't give a sub-dolarship." We can't give a what is expected from this project until our goal is reached, for obvious reasons," said Jack. McClarty, head of development "We have to invest at the current percentage rate and then wait a year to gain the interest. More money invested means more money for scholarships."

The goal is set for 1992, which will mark the centennial of the college's founding.

Students "reach out and touch" Alumni in phone-athon

By Gina McIntyre

Three cheers for students working evenings in the Alumny Public Relations offices for the Alumni Association's phone; for the Alumni Association's phone; fast, and me, which began on January 14th they are raising fluids with record progress. Students work five nights a week from 7-10 p.m. calling alumni across the nation to secure donations for the "Alumni Loyalty Fund," which will be used for scholarships and classroomflab

Dean Kinsey, associate vice president of Alumin/Public Relations, projects the goal for the four-month drive at $200,000. The campaign ends in April, but the goal is not unrealistic. Last year, the phone-athon exceeded the goal of $180,000 by $15,000.

Students employed on this drive are trained in one night and begin work the night after. According to Kinsey, eight students average eighteen calls an hour, with only half of the Alternt being home. This may seem a paltry sum for eight students, but funds are only one of the requests. Address changes, interesting facts for Studtern Colorisas, and other tudbits of information are sought as well. Kinsey, in a quick reminder, said, "Our goal is not just raising money. Fund raising friend raising are the objectives."

friend rasing are the objectives. Jeff Lemon and Jonene Burdels supervise and abuliate the funds. Lemon sates, "It's a real employment opportunity that most people does to accurate the propertunity that most people does to accurate they secure. You also get busiese for attendance, plus an hourly wage. The hourly wage goes on your bill, but a low off mose y goes straight into your pocket. [This is and opportunity for Public Relations majors. It's great to put on your resume.

Sahly: a man on the move

By Jonathan Malloch

Not many people realize exactly what being the President of Southern College involves. Just glance at his calendar and one would easily see that Dr. Don Sahly is indeed a national many from Florida to indeed a national man. Appointments from Florida to California, France, Germany and Spain keep our president on the move.

Last weekend alone was undoubtedly a long and busy one. On Thursday morning January 25, Dr. Sahly met with the Board of Florida Hospital. He has served as a member of this board since his election in 1986. Thursday afternoon and Friday be met his appointment with the Sunbelt to discuss a "Conference on Mission." On Saturday, Dr. Sahly was the guest speaker at the Cress Me morial Seventh-day Adventist Church in Orlando. The next day, he spoke at a branch for Southern College alumni in the Orlando area. He concluded his weekend at Madison Academy, near Nashville, or Academy, near Nashville, on Monday. But, "It's not always that busy," Dr. Sahly said.

Later this year, Dr. Sahly will be leaving the country and heading for Fance. Germany, and Spain. He is a member of Advisor School (Ac.C.A.) and the traveling to Colonge, Bogenhaufen, and Suganto to meet with American studens, discuss some of the problems they face improvement. He will also be meeting with faculty and administration of these colleges discussing problems and improvements they feel need work. THe last weekend in Germany will be spent as a guest speaker at the Appene

Servicemen's Conference.
"I serve on over nine boards and most of them meet at least twice a year," says Dr.

Sahiv

Fund-raising is another area that he is involved in. "I spend five days a year soliciting donations from various businesses for the Tennessee Foundation for Independent Colleges. In return they give Southern College a $25,000.00

Although it seems like much more, Dr. Sahly says, "I'm early gone 25% of the turne. It's my job to represent this institution, to build confidence in the institution."

Henning completes masters program

Ry Doris Burdick

Volker Henning, assistant professor of journalism at Southern College of Seventhday Adventusts, recently completed a master's degree in communications from the University of Central Florida in Orlando. His thesis "Church

His thesis, "Church Advertising: Views on Appropriateness Held by Clergy and the General Public," compared the attitudes compared the attitudes held by clergy and the general public toward church involvement in advertisement. Henning's research revealed a more open response from the general public than from clergy toward general church advertising.

February 1, 1990

Henning gave an oral defense of his thesis over the phone to a committee of three professors at the University of Central Florda in early December. He graduated on December 16.

Before joining the journalism staff at Southern College in 1989, Henning was the Communications Director for the Florida Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. Prior to that, he pastored the Leesburg and Belleview SDA churches in Florida.

Henning completed his M Div. at Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich. He and his wife, Linda Hanson Henning, have two children, Brian and foin

Concerto Concert scheduled

By Doris Burdick

Five student soloists from area high schools and colleges will be featured at the Southern College Symphony Orchestra's annual Concerto Concert Friday, February 16. The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church

"This will be a very exciting program with outstanding soloists playing a variety of fine Baroque, Classical, and Romantic music," predicts Orlo Gilbert, symphony conductor.

The Southern College Symphony Orchestra will accompany these gifted high school and college student who auditioned for their solo positions.

Ellen Ashton, sophomore violin major at Southern College, will be performing "Meditations" by Gla-

Andy Hong, junior at Baylor High school, will be performing, "Concerto No. 2 for Cello," by B. Romberg. Shert Peck, sophomore violin major at southern College, will be performing, "Concerto No. 2 in E

Major," by Bach.

Lynda Magee will be performing,
"Fantaisie Dialogue," by L. Boellmann for Organ and Orchestra. She is an organ major at Southern College.

Tim Evans, a senior piano major from Bryan College, will be performing, "Laszt Concerto No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra"

The public is invited to attend this special concert performance free of charge. For more information call the Music Department at 238-2880.

CII: helping students help themselves

By Shawna Dye

The Center for Individualized Instruction, or CII, was opened at Southern College this school year especially for students needing extra fielp with their college

Sponsored by the Education Department, the CII offers tutors throughout the day in math and English. If students need tutoring in other classes, the CII will try to arrange for this additional help.

The CII is located on the second floor of the library and is open on Mondays and Wednesdays, 11:00 a.m. until 9:30 p.m.; Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9:00 a.m. until 9:30 p.m.; and on Sundays, 2:00 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. busing these times, students may stop by or set up appointments before coming.

Presently there are 17 regular tutors working on alternating shifts.

Some State, attendance at the Center has been very regular and the director, Dr. Carol Haynes, is cocied about future plans for CLI. One plan is to initiate a sudent survival course designed to help students who are now to college or who are on academic probation. The program would include topical like time management skills and better study skills which would help stadents adapt to college studies and the discipline it takes to pass them.

The Center for Individualized Instruction is specifically designed to help students help themselves, and is a beneficial additive to a student's college curriculum.

Advertisement

Expect the Unexpected in the All-New 119th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus

Handsome hotdog skiers zoom penlously down a four-story-high indoor ski slope, throwing caution to the wind and executing dangerous flips and twists. A supercharged, roller-skating trio twirls and spins at breakneck speed. Beautiful women maneuver scores of shining hula hoops from head to toe. Golden statues come to life before your very eyes. You've me to expect the unexpected at The Greatest Show On Earth, and this year, audiences are treated to unending surprises when the allnew 199th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus comes to the UTC Arena on February 22-25, 1990

Among the many unique acts brought together from all corners of the globe are four young men from British Columbia who comprise The Royal Canadian Aerial Ski Squadron. Aerial skiing-midair acrobatics-is the hottest new sport in the world and was previewed recently at the 1988 Olympics. Now, these thrill-seekers bring their own power-packed, daring skiing spectacle to The Greatest Show On Earth for the first time ever.

For a spicy twist of new excitement, the 119th Edition features a rate three-ring display of whirling roller skaters and twirling hula hoopers. The Willers from England rock the audience as they spin around at dizzying speeds, performing round robin roller-skating hijinks atop a roller-skating platform no larger than a dining room table. Twirling simultaneously, the beautiful hula hoop specialists Marie Perry and Dessi Kehaiova dazzle audiences with their championship skill.

Art comes to life as the perfectly ched Living Statues display the power and flexibility of incredible acrobatic movements in time. Danger permeates the air as The Ayak Broth ers nerform a heart-stopping aerial display high above the arena floor And for the first time anywhere, female traneze artists perform sir neous triple somersaults. Hordes of hilarious harlequins, a bevy of beauti ful dancers, ponderous pachydenns and amazing acrobats are all part of this shimmering spectacle.

The all-new 119th Edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus pays tribute to the man who is the past 20 years performed for more live audiences than any other performer living or dead. Now is your tast chance to see the legendary Gunther Gebel-Williams display his mastery of training wild Siberian and Bengal tigers, Lippizaner horses and mammoth elephants. For ticket information call the UTC Arena Box Office at 615/266-7469.

New books recommended by McKee librarian

By A. Lee Bennett Jr.

The month of February brings two new books to the McKee Library. Library director Peg Bennett recom mends Thunder Gods and Get Me Ellis Rubin! to any student who entoys

Thunder Gods, by Matsuho Natto, is "a riveting and haunting tale" of the Japanese in the second World War For years, the story of the Japanese Kamikaze pilots of World War II has been a Hollywood tale of soulless fanatics diving to their deaths for emperor and country." But this book explore the reasons behind such mindless suicides as surviving pilot ret) their stor Bennett says that the "touth is both more dramatic and more fantastic. enjoy World War II stones or an interested in hoy others think, this book is highly re-Filis Rubin relates absorbing courtroom dramas from his personal experiences in his book. Bennett says that he gives 'lively, often touching...glimpses of his clients and courtroom proceed ings." This book is a must for those interested in reading about legal

Midnight madness strikes Thatcher residents

By Tammie D. Mentzel

The film "Yours, Mine, and Ours, starring Lucitle Ball and Henry Fonda in a Brady Bunch type comedy, was shown on January 27 in Thatcher Hall as this semester's first midnight mov The story focused on a widow (Ball) with eight children and a widower (Fonda) with ten. During the course of movie, Ball and love and married, combining their families to make a large "tribe." The hilanous mishaps and adventures of the family made it a film worth staying up for.

The next midnight movie, will be own on February 17 in Thatcher Hall chapel—gals only—promptly at udojahr The midnight movies have been a

Girls' Club tradition for several years While they have been rather irregular since last year, Laura Deming has revived > the tradition After being selected by suggestions during RA meetings, the novies are shown at endulable on occasional Saturday nights. So far then has been a good turn out As many as 100-120 girls come dressed in their commies, bringing blankets, pillows. teddy-bears and all kinds of interesting paraphemalia says

So, if you're female, il you like free movies and the early morning shows, then the Girls' Club's "Midnight Madness" is for you.

BEACH PARTY!

ABOVE: Playing it cool sandy beaches of Collegedate

ABOVE: Talge Hall men's club spon complete with a roving patrol who even locked up

LEFT: Gil Tamatave and Reggie Pulliam demonstrate society's changing roles for the nimies

the clowns

RIGHT: Jim King catches up on conversation oblivious to the surrounding hubbuti

LEFT: Greg Cruz makes it under the limbo pole through sheer concentration

BELOW: After a few more rounds, Greg discovers the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak

ABOVE: Debi Eldridge licks the last of her cotton candy off sticky fingers

Just what every college student needs: A roommate that cooks.

Introducing the new B.M O.C – the biggest Macintosh on campus

The Macintosh'll computer its the perfect roommate for power hungry studens who do high speed computing, video processing, engineering or graphic design.

Made with an open configuration that allows for special purpose boards, the Mac' II is the fastest, best performing Macintosh ever built. Yet with all its sophistication, it still has the same point-and-click simplicity that Macintosh has become farnous for

Which means, of course; the Macintosh II and you will be the perfect roommates. It cooks. And you clean up

The power to be your best."

East, Dest per not ritting visact intoset.
O 1988 Apple Computer the Apple top Happe large Macrotoch and Hac are required insternate of Apple Computer in The power to be your beat to a freedoment of Apple Computer Inc.

Jesus said, "Do you truly love me?" ... "Take CARE of my sheep." John 21:16 NIV

What are you laughing at?

By Andrew C. Nash

An American family huddles in front of the television to watch an "I Love Lucy" episode ...

Two Mexican boys sit on a split-rail fence and exchange their favorite tokes....

A foursome of Japanese golfers watch in amazement as a misguided ball careens off several trees and lands in a pond, driving away a flock of angry ducks....

The class klutz, attempts to do a front handspring during recess, but she over-rotates and lands on her jaw. Jeannie is undurt until she looks up to see the reaction of her "friends"....

These situations do not have much in common, except that each will be followed by a high degree of laughter. Laughter is universal, and it sounds the same in every part of the world. We choose to laugh. No one can force us to laugh (an honest laugh). Laughter often goes hand-in-hand with happiness, but not always.

The glit of laughter was given to us by God for the purpose of bringing added juy to unlives. To laugh means to take a "vacation" from the distresses of the world. Most of us enjoy humorous things such as the comics in a newspaper and the sight of playful puppies rolling around in the grass. To laught means to break down barriers and replace them with friends. Who can reach a group of first graders more effectively—the president of Disney World or Goofy? Laughter can mend, delight, and uplift. However, laughter also has the power to cause a great deal of pain, more aptly termed mocking or ridicule, this type of laughter can hurt feelings and destroy self-esteem.

Several years ago in a small town in Minnesota, a twelve-year-old boy by hobbled off the bus (he had broken his ankle and was on crutches) for his first day of junior high school. As he made he way up the rain-scaded sedwed the way the team-scaded sedwed through the high good that the school of the seventh grade. But, when he wall often see seventh grade. But, when he wally to the slippery tile. Bloot... The next thing he knew he was strawled out in front of "milltoms" of hysterical minth graders.

No one offered to help me up, and I will never forget that feeling of embarrassment and loneliness.

Laughter is a weapon that has been around for along time. All but eight people on this earth mocked the flood warnings of Noah, but in the end, the disbelievers were sorry—they laughed themselves to death.

As we continue to laugh at the jokes comical characters, and unexpected happenings of our lives, may we also remember to laugh at others as we would have them laugh at us.

STRAIGHT TO THE HEART

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2 VESPERS On Finday, February 2 at 8.00 For vespers, C.A.R.E. ministries will be sponsoring a special program that will prove to be one of the most unique vespers programs of the year. Curt Cloniger will be performing a one man theatrical

Curt Cloniger received a B.A. in theatre and commu Abilene Christian University. He has traveled extensively performing his one man shows for groups large and small. He is a mass terful communicator who uses theatre and laughter as his medium. Cloniger realizes that we live in an entertainment centered society. and believes there is a great need for quality entertainment that also presents the truth of God's love. While here Cloniger will be performing for the Collegedale Academy and holding a workshop for the Destiny Drama Company.

Ascending Prayers

Special prayer needs? Let others on campus pray with you.

Turn in your prayer requests to the C.A.R.E. office for printing in this box of the next Accent.

Behold the Lamb

By Chris Sepulveda and Alicia Phillips

The day was dark cloudy as Christ hung in anguish on the cross, dying to redeem us from

and selfishness

Now we have the opportunity to understand this understand this more fully through the remactment of His life - the ultimate sacrifice

"Behold the Lamb." a form of the Great Passion Play, is a dramatic musical portraying the Miracle, the Man, the Messiah: Jesus Christ. Premiering at Southern College, this Easter production features the music of Amy Grant, Michael W. Smith, Steve Green and many other reknowned Christian artists.

The best part of "Behold the Lamb' is that you, the student, get the opportunity to shine for Christ The production will only be a success with your help. A need exists for chorale stigets, arists, set builders, lighting and stage crew members, costume designers, and diramatists. Come and help give the people of Chattanooga u zation of what forms is sacrificed for us if you are interested in lending your time and talent, please call either #3152 after 10:00 p.m. or the C.A.R.E. office.

Bud the Hamster defies death

By DAVID STEVES

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/
Apple College Information Network

SALEM, Ore. — Cats may not be the only critters with nine lives.

Take Bud the Hamster.

Bud defied death last week, to the delight of his 6-year-old owner, when he survived a night in the family food freezer.

"I thought he would go up to heaven, and my mom would buy me a new one," Bradley Snoddy of Salem said.

Brudley and his mother, Mary Ann Snoddy, were certain Bud was spending his last days on a death bed of wood chips in the corner of the cage. Bud was 4-years-old, far beyond the average life expectancy for a hamster, which is 1 1/2 to 2 years.

Snoddy and her son were looking for a way to put Bud out of his misery. She called a Salem pet store and was advised to put the sickly hamster in the freezer, where he would "fall asleep and not wake up," she said.

"I thought that was the best way to dispose of an animal without causing any suffering," she said, describing how she bundled Bud up in cloth Wednesday night, putting him in a paper bag and placing him in the freezer.

"We had a very rough night. We were totally devastated. My son was in tears all night," she recalled.

But Bud refused to lay down and lie.

The rodent chewed his way out of the paper bag. The would-be death chamber became an arctic all-you-can-eat smorgasbord for Bud, who spent the night munching on frozen hash browns and a brick-hard loaf of bread.

the night munching on frozen hash browns and a brick-hard loaf of bread. The next morning, Snoddy went to dispose of Bud's body.

"I opened the freezer door, and flop, onto the floor fell the hamster. He sat up on his hind legs, and looked at me like 'why did you do this to me?' " she said.

Since then, Bud has had a new lease on life. In fact, he even has a new exercise wheel. "He's just fine. Just the regular, normal hamster that we had before," Snoddy said.

Salem veterinarian Stephanic Hazen said Snoddy got burn advice on how to euthanize a hamster.

"You can't kill animals putting them in a freezer. They live and live for days," she said.

Because it is a slow, often painful death, she recommended instead that people take dying animals to the Humane Society to have them enthanized painfessly.

Calaveras County contest threatened by mega-frogs

By BARBARA WILCOX

Copyright 1990, USA

TODAY/Apple College Information

Network

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. — This, folks are saying, is war. How dare anyone bring in foreign competition for an inherently American context?

The Calaveras County Jumping Frog Jubilee since 1928 has commemorated the Mark Twain short story "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," in which a shiftless stranger bets locals that his frog can beat all comers.

But for this year's jubilee,
Seattle animal trader Andy Koffman is threatening to escalate matters by entering 10 of his huge, rare Goliath

Koffman hopes to break the world's frog-jump record and win a $1,500 prize — but more important, he says, "It is the destury of these frogs to frogs imported from Africa

Fair officials fear the Goliath frogs — which can be three feet long and weigh 8 pounds — not only will outjump common bullfrogs but also will discourage people from attending the popular event.

Virtually all entrants have been California bullfrogs, with the biggest about a pound, said interim county fair manager Drane Baumann. Koffman said his superfrogs can leap as much as 20 feet in a single bound. The record is 21 feet 5 inches in three jumps by Rosie the Ribbiter in 1986.

Fair officials have not yet accepted Koffman's entry for the May 17-20 jump. The nine-member board of directors meets Friday to discuss the issue, "probably in executive (closed) session due to the possibility of litigation," said Baumann.

Baumann said at least one frog jockey has complained that the Goliath frogs could be unfair competition, and others are concerned.

"They think it's an unequal contest," Baumann said. "And if those frogs can jump as far as Andy says they'll jump, one of them could land in the middle of the crowd and hit somebody."

Basketball season in full swing at Southern

Going into week 3 of SC's Baskethalf season, one team in each division remained undetested. That changed Monday night when King of A League fell to Gay, and B League's Caskey was defeated by Getty's Mathis, in the women's division, still holds on to its perfect record as of this writing in AA Mckenzie remains the lone undeleated team at this time with a 5-0 record. It's been 15 years since a feam went through the whole season without a loss Can McKenzie pull it off this year

Johnson. widely thought to be a major threat to McKenzie's hope for a perfect serious challenge Tuesday night in the form of Taylor Taylor. the convensus whoming hove of AA at the start of the season had already proven to be tough compen tors by whipping winless Young

They trailed early by as much as 15 but fought back and held a one point lead at the half

Steve Jacobs, director of intermurals, remarked at halftime that Taylor would be the team to watch in the second half of the season Taylor forced the game into over time, however, Johnson prevailed This sets the stage for the big show down between Johnson and McKenzie

basketball photos by Sean Terretti

Racquetball: court position

New Wellness program offered

By Richard Gallagher

Fitness, the craze of the '80s, is moving into the '90s, and Southern is moving along with it

Beginning pext fall the Health Physical Education and Recreation De partments will be offering a four-year Bachelor of Science degree in Corporate/Community Wellness Management. "One of the main reasons wellness programs are being initiated is economies," said Dr. Phil Garver, Department Chairman "With the aidministration of these programs, corporations are finding that insurance costs drop and productivity increases as a result of fewer absentee days

Previously, students haven't had a vehicle to get into this field. The Physical Education degree required students to take unnecessary courses and the Health Science degree basically prepared students for graduate

Dr Garver went on to say, "We'n very excited about this program. It's very marketable. Only two new classes are being added to the curriculum: Drug Education and Methods/ Materials of Health Promotion.

Basketball Standings

AA League		A League		B League	B League
McKenzie	(5-0)	King	(3-1)	Caskey	(4-1)
Johnson	(4-1)	Gay	(3-1)	Gettys	(4-1)
Faculty	(3-1)	Eisele	(2-1)	Nash	(1-3)
Oshorne	(1-3)	Moreland	(2-I)	Scott	(0-4)
Taylor	(1-2)	Thedford	(2-1)
Young	(0-5)	Fulbright	(2-1)	Women
		Duff	(1-3)
		Lawhorn	(1-2)	Mathis	(3-0)
		White	(0-3)	Richards	(3-1)
		Malone	(0-3)	Green	(2-1)
				Peters	(0-3)
				0.11	10.21

Give Your Valentine Something Special

Give Them A Cake Or Cookie

From The Village Market Bakery

Decorated 6" Choc. Chip Cookie $1.99 Decorated Heart-Shaped Cookie $3.99 Decorated Heart-Shaped Cake $3.99 Two Laver Choc, Cake $7.99 Silk Flower Arrangements

Call 396-3121 to order yours today or stop by and pick one up.

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions:

- Its surface, at 1292 feet below sea level is the lowest point on Earth.
- 2) He pardoned Nixon
- 3) The second wife of Henry VIII, mother of Elizabeth I.
- 4) He said, "I'll huff, and I'll puff, and I'll blow your house do 5) An ancient Greek mathematician; the founder of the study of Geometry.

- Walt Whitman Fiffel Tower
- 31 Mary Baker Eddy 4) Falkland Islands 5) Poverty

- 1) Melame Sanders Craig Mahrle 3)
 - Travis Barefoot Dallas Scott David Koliadko

Sponsored by

4)

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible.

Lunch with the President

The Senate Student-Faculty Relations Committee is mester, Dr. Sahly sponsoring a new program this semester. "Lunch with the President" is an effort to increase communica- complements, or tion between students and the administration. Several days this sewill eat his lunch in the back of the cafeteria, where he will gladly address any questions, complaints about school policy.

Program dates: February 14 February 21 February 28 April 4

From the Archives

January 14, 1949

Sunday morning--it's amazing how many activites go on in Lynn Wood Hall on Sunday. Soon after the seven o'clock whistle sounds, Mr. Harter is busy recruiting the boys in cleaning up the building. In no time at all one can hear some enthusiastic musician practicing an organ lesson, chairs being moved about, a telephone ringing and the clicking of typewriters in offices upstairs and down.

Notices

"ATTENTION - HIRING! Government jobs - your area. Many immediate openings without waiting list or test. $17,840 - $69,485. Call 1-602-838-8885. EXT R7418."

COLLEGE REP WANTEO to distribute "Student Rate" subscription eards at this campus. Good income. For information and application write to: COLLEGIATE MARKETING SERVICES, 303 W. Center Ave. Mooresville, NC 28115, 704/663-0963.

Austin Peav State University is offering scholarships in reading and music for qualified black students who plan graduate programs in these fields. The Vice President for Academic Administration has application forms. Applicants must be residents of Tennessee

VIEWPOINTS

"What would be the perfect Valentine's gift to you?"

-Jon Elliston

A trip to Hawaii with one special. -Michael Drguia

To be able to beat Stephanic at racing through Atlanta.

A dozen red roses from Mr. Right -Janesta Bryant

Seven baby gerbus and a puce baske -Daryl Cole

by a lake -Heather English

the fountians turn on. -Richard Moody

-Davenie Susi

photos by Suzanne Lettrick

Upcoming Events

Friday, February 2 Vespers, Curt Cloniger

8:00 p.m. Church

Saturday, February 3

Church Service, Gordon Bietz

Pops Concert 8:00 p.m. P.E. Center

Sunday, February 4

Week of Prayer, Dave Osborne 7:00 p.m. Church

Pranist Brace Ashton 8.00 p.m. Ackerman Auditorium

Monday, February 5

Evening Meeting, Dave Osborne 7:00 p.m. Church

Tuesday, February 6

Assembly, Dave Osborne 11:00 a.m. Church

Evening Meeting, Dave Osborne 7:00 p.m. Church

Wednesday, February 7

Evening Meeting, Dave Osborne 7:00 p.m. Church Thursday, February 8

Assembly, Dave Osborne

11:00 a.m. Church Evening Meeting, Dave

Osborne 7:00 p.m. Church Friday, February 9

Vespers, Dave Osborne

8:00 p.m. church

Saturday, February 10

Church Service, Dave

Pizza and Movie, 8 00 p.m.

Sunday, February 11

Cafetena

SA Valentine's Banquet

Tuesday, February 13

Organist Robert Paris

8:00 p.m. Church

Wednesday, February 14

C.A.R.E. Day Valentine's Day

Thursday, February 15

Assembly, SA Election Speeches 11:00 a.m. P.E. Center

Marcia Stair

Dean Qualley and Steve Jaecks on the bench during McKenzie – Faculty basketball game. (p.10)

Volume 45, Number 11

Dave Osborne speaks of "Joy" for Week of Prayer (p.8)

February 15, 1990

A Knight of Chivalry

The campus of Southern College was strangely quet last Sunday night. The Student Center and Library were virtually abandoned. The parking lots, usually filled to capacity with illegally parked vehicles, sat empty. Happy Valley rested in peaceful sections on High atop Lookout Mountian the scene was very different.

There, at the Faryland Club scene of the annual SA Valentine's Banquet, over 150 SC couples had crowded into a large banquet hall for socialization, dinner and entertain-

The couples were decked out in all manner of finery. Many of the men sported tuxedoes, while their dates were elegant evening gowns. A jovial mood prevailed. They were expecting a memorable and romantic evening, and they were not to be disappointed.

Upon their arrivial at 5 pm, the couples were invited to have pictures taken to commemorate the event. Then, after much socializing and general milling about, dinner was

The buffet style meal consued of salad, lasagna, proceeds and another tubular pasta substance, identified by some as Ziti which, according to Laurie Ringer was, "good, but not warm enough for my taste." After dinner, the entertainment portion of the evening began

After a bit of unexpected sword play between Harvey Hillyer and Daryl Cole, the Master of Ceremonies, E.O. Grundset, introduced the rest of the eventuals entertainment

Kathy Stewart and David Koliadko sang first. Next, there were Shakespearian readings and an anachronistic musical number by a group called the Jesuits.

The next act, a juggler, provided some excitement. Due to the subdeed lighting in the hall, he lost track of one of the rubber balls he was juggling. It promptly bounced onto the nearest table up-eting a glass of tea.

and sending part of its contents on to Andrea Nicholson's dress. Daryl Cole said that he 'spotted' Andrea's predicament immeadrately and rushed to her rescue keeping the the banquet's theme: 'A Knight of Chivalry'

The piece diresistance of the evening was the preformance by Bob Martin's band. They played several contempary love songs featuring Bob's widely acclaimed saxuphone.

This brought an end to the evenings offical entertainment. However, many couples lingered outside on the terrace where a nearly full moon, a starry sky and the lights of Chattanooga far below lent a romantic aire to the evening.

College Bowl action heats up

The 1990 College Bowl season is now well under way. After Monday's matches, only six of the 12 original teams remain in the competition, Moreland has been eliminated. Keppler fell, after a valiant struggle, to Nelson who was subsequently crushed by Moody 260 to 100.

Mark McKenzie ran up the white flag on Wednesday, February 7, as his team fell to Eklund.

On Monday both Eklund and Suddeth were eliminated by forfest. According to Stan Hobbs. the director of College Bowl, two matches have never been decided by foreit on the same day in College Bowl history. Keeping with tradition, Springert and Moody, the teams which advanced by default, played anyway against a team selected from the audience. The Ad Hoc team won both

While the Accent is at the press on Wednesday evening, two crucial matches will be decided amongst the four teams which remain undefeated.

In the first game, Marsa, one of the pre-season favornes, will attempt to maintain its perfect record against upstart King. Marka set to be seriously challenged in the competition. King has been consistant, but unspectacular in its bus presents with

The second game between DeCarmo and Grange, both highly ranked at the onset of the season, promises to be the best game to date. DeCarmo struggled early in its game against McKenzie but finished strong and later swept to College Bowl...cont on p. 7.

SA election drive gets underway

The election drive for 1990-91 Student Association officers is under way. Campaign posters began popping up all over campus last Monday as the candidates started trying to woo voters.

The original deadline for submitting petitions for candidacy was extended from February 6 to February 12 for the offices of Southern Memories Editor, Joker Editor, and Strawberry Festival Director since these Election... Cont. on p. 7

The few, the brave, the candidates

By John Caskey

"If we take the generally accepted definition of bravery as a quality which knows no fear, I have never seen a brave man. All men are frightened. The more intelligent they are, the more they are frightened."

-George S. Patton, Jr.

This is a salute to the brave men and women who have stepped forward in the past weeks and volunteered to run for Student Association offices, These people are brave because they have faced their fear of failure and rejection and decided to take the risk. They have placed fragile human egos in the path of the juggemaut of public opinion because they feel that their efforts can make a difference in the lives of fellow Student Association offices are almost universally difficult, thankless and underpaid positions. They involve long hours, neglect of all-important school work and constant criticism.

Thomas Jefferson said, "When a man assumes a public trust, he should consider himself public property." The public seems to take great care in the way they select their in the way they select their property. Once they have selected it, they should treat it with the care and respect it deserves.

In all contests there exists the withness and losers.

must be winners and losers.
The losers will get over the "agony of defeat" in due course. The plight of the winners will be more prolonged and agonizing. I passed

Harvey Hillyer, this years Social Vice-President, on the sidewalk the other day and said, half jokingly, "Are you glad it's almost over?"

"I can't wait", he replied.
I find myself in complete agreement.

The SA election process is an important responsibility for each and every student here at Southern College, but the responsibility does not end once the ballots are cast and tallied. If your SA officers are to be effective, they will need your support year round.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

--Abraham Lincoln

Southern Marcent

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper Lifestyle Editor Adrienne Cox Sports Editor

Sheila Draper

Photo Editor
Sean Terretta

Religion Editor Andy Nash

Proofreading Monique Townsend Andy Nash

Layout Editor

Daniel Potter

Word Processing Heather Wise Daniel Potter

Advlsor
Stan Hobbs

Jim King

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Access is the official student newspaper for Southern Colleges (Sevrath-day Adventitis and is released every other Thursday during the school year with the exception of casm weeks and wantions. Opinions expressed in the Southern Access are those of the outbern and non in encosarily reflect the views of the editors, Southern College, the Seventh-day Adventist church, or the advertisers.

The Southern Access witchness your letters which must come alm the writer's muns, oldress, and phone number. Letters will be about the region and clarity. All letters must have the writer's better for space and clarity. All letters must have the writer's better the region of the region. Face letters with the Sanday Before publication as now. Face letters under the door of the Access Politica of the region of the region

Letter to the Editor

Dear John and the rest of the Accent staff,

Although 1'm at Newbold his year, I've still managed to obtain copies of the newspaper and I must say I'm impressed I still love reading David Denton's satires relating to campus life, and I also liked several of the editorals, not to mention the VERY FUNNY Pomp and Circumstance carroons, the pictures, and the Viewpoint on the buck pase.

With your variety of backgrounds in the newspaper staff, you have managed to pull off a very challenging task. I especially appreciate it because here at Newbold our school newspaper is rather primitive. The issues are run off on the copier and hand-folded. They don't have an advanced computer

Newbold is a wonderful place, and I have really "broadened my horizons" while studying and traveling here, but I definitely have a love for SC, and can't wait to return in the fall.

Keep up the good work!!

Sincerely, Holly Miller (SC student 1988-89 school year)

The cat and the squirrel: a parable

By Virgil Covel

As I was walking through the student park last week I noticed a squrrel. I've seen a lot of squirrels but this one was being a tad obnoxious. He was sitting at the tip of a ragged, broken-off branch, thinking his whole purpose in life was to look tense and scream.

I wondered two things: What was he screaming at and why was he screaming

The answer to the first question quickly became plain. The squirrel was staring at a spot which contained a contented, sleeping cat.

The second question was not so easily answered. The squirrel was safe. He was 30 feet up in a tree that was 40 feet from the sleeping cat. The problem was merely that the cat was there

Now, I bet in the past the cat liked squirrels, or at least tolerated them but I wouldn't be surprised if that cat was not becoming some what irritated at squirrels that sat and screamed at a peacefully sleeping cats.

As I watched I noticed that the cat continued to sleep. Although his opinion of squirrels had undoubtedly dropped several notches.

And the squirrel? Well, as he continued to look tense and scream he began to visibly tire. All for what? I don't know, but as he grew tired his screams began to weaken, his head began to droop.

Then I noticed. The squirrel had a

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions:

- Name the tiny independent nation located within Rome.
- Who said, "Soldiers, from the summit of yonder pyramids, forty centuries look down at you."
- 3) What basketball coach has won the most NCAA titles?
- 4) Aaron Burr killed him in a duel.
- 5) George A. Custer died in this battle

Last Weeks Answers:

- Dead Sea Gerald Ford
- Anne Bolevr The Big Bad Wolf
- Euclid
- Last Weeks Winners: Kimberly Levi
- 2) Dale Lacra 31 Melanie Sanders
- Todd Fox

RULES:

4)

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by a random drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible.

Welcome to the '90's.

- · Are you ready for school spirit and pride?
- · Are you ready for unity?
- · Are you ready to feel like you belong at southern?
- · Are you ready for a Christ- centered atmosphere?

If so, then VOTE Jeff Gang S.A. President

"Southern and you, perfect together"

From the Archives

March 13, 1957

Edgar O. Grundset, presently on the staff at La Sierra College, will teach in the biology department next year. Mr. Grundset is a graduate of Emmanuel Missionary College and will receive his Master's degree in biology from Walla Walla College this summer.

Buckle Up For Spring Break '90

Winter Park Resort

March 1-5, 1990

Everyone's Invited !!!

For More Info . . . Rocky Mt. Conf. 2520 S. Downing Denver, CO 80210

303/733-3771

Dream Alive

By Andrea Nicholson

"Dream Alive," a multi-media pres entation by Kim and Reggie Harris, will be presented Monday, February 19, at 7 p.m. in the Physical Education Center as part of Black History Week celebrations at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

The husband/wife duo combine entertainment, education, and inspiration to bring to light the stories of significant black Americans from every wall of life. Heroes, artists, inventors explorers, scientists, poets, and other important contributors to the life and culture of American and the world come alive during the performance

Married since 1976, the Harrises studied at Temple University where Kim earned a degree in radio, television, and film communica Reggie majored in English. Both sing play the guitar, and write much of their performance material. They have composed music for radio and television commercials as well as multimedia presentations. Their perform-

Kim and Reggie Harris

ances have taken them to more than 300 colleges in 37 states as well as the Kennedy Center, the Smithsonian Institution, theaters, museums, clubs, festivals, and schools

The Harrises released "Stranger in the Shadows," their first single, in 1981 on Ascension Records. "Music and the Underground Railroad," their first album, continues to be praised throughout musical, cultural, and historical circles.

The public is invited to attend this special celebration during Black History Week at Southern College Admission is $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and children under 12 and $10 per family. SC students will e admitted free

February is Black History Month

By PAM PLATT

©Copyright 1990, USA TOOAY/ Apple College Information Network.

In 1955, the black, expatrate American writer James Baldwin said, "The world is white no longer, and it will never be white again The world never was white although it is hard to arrive at that conclusion after reading U.S. history books written from a mostly white, mostly male perspective. But other voices have always told other histories, and in 1924, people started listening. That was the first year a week was set aside to observe the achievements of blacks in U.S.

Since 1924, the name of the observance has changed several times and in 1976, the length was extended to a month. But the intent has always remained the same: to honor the rich and invaluable contributions of black Americans to this nation's history

Here's a quiz designed to introdu the people and milestones of early U.S. history, in honor of Black History

WHO WERE THEY?

Benjamin Banneker He was a black astronomer, mathematician, almanac author, and inven tor. When he was 22, he was the first person in North America to build a clock. In 1791, Benjamin Franklin minated Banneker to be a member of the commission charged with laying out plans for the city of Washington, DC

- Ebenezer Don Carlos Bassett In 1869, he was named U.S. nister to Haiti, making bun the first black to receive a diplomatic appointment - Filen Craft

A 19th-century abolitionist lecturer, she escaped out of slavery with her husband. In 1868, the Crafts returned to Georgia, where they opened the Southern Industrial School and Labor Enterprise for blacks to study agriculture

Sarah Harris Faverweather In 1831, she applied for admission to an all-white, all-girls school in Canterbury, Conn., making her the first student to challenge racist admission

- Margaretta, Sarah Louisa, and Harriet Forten

They were the daughters of James Forten, a Philadelphia black who served in the Revolutionary War. The American Anti-Slavery Society was started at the Forten home, a popular meeting place for abolitionist

The sisters became members of the Philadelphia Female Anti-Slavery Society and worked their entire lives promoting equality for all races and sexes.

Matthew Henson A black from Maryland, Henson

as an adventurer who went with Admiral Peary to explore the Arctic in 1891. In 1909, Henson planted the flag on what was believed to be the North Pole

- Ohver Lewis A black jockey, he rode the horse

from the New England

Hospital for Women and Children, and her success paved the way

for other black women

the medical profession

He was the first black elected to the U.S. Senate, represe

1870. Revels was on of 22 blacks to serve in 1870 and 1900: 13 of them were ex-slaves.

- John Rock

first black admitted to practice law before the

upreme Court

Woodsor

- Carter G

In 1865, he was the

ıng Mississippi in Congress between

- Hıram Revels

who wished to enter

Aristides to victory in the first Kentucky Derby in 1875 - Mary Eliza Mah

She was America's first black professionally trained nurse. She graduated

The founder of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History in 1914 Woodson is reparded as one of the fathers of the black history movement. The son of slaves, he received his doctorate in history from Harvard University. He was instrumental in launching the first black history week.

TRUE OR FALSE O. The first blacks came to the New World as slaves A. False. One of Christopher Columbus' crew members was a black man named Pedro Alonzo Nino Blacks also were members of the expeditions headed by Balbon, Ponce de Leon, Cortez, and Pizarro. The first black slaves were brought to the United States in 1526.

Q. George Washington never med, bought, or sold slaves A. False. When George Washingt acquired his Mount Vernon estate, 18 black slaves came with it. Ouring the time Washington lived at Moun Vernon, the number of slaves grew to 200. However, his will called for the release of the slaves upon his death. Q. The Declaration of Independence denounced slavery

A. True and False. In the original document, Thomas Jefferson included a denunciation of slavery. An amended version of the declaration, without that controversial passage, was adopted in

Q. Blacks fought in the Revolutionary War. A. True. Although the Continental Congress initially barred blacks from the Revolutionary Army, there were 10,000 black soldiers in the army by the war's end.

References used for this quiz were The Negro Almanac: A Reference Work on the Afro American," edited by Harry Ploski and James Williams; "A Pictorial History of Black Americans," by Langston Hughes, Milton Meltzer, and C. Eric Lincoln; the Negro Heritage Library's "Profiles of Negro Womanhood," by Sylvia

Dannett; and World Book encyclope-

Black college enrollment

A college education and graduate school training are seen as important preparations for leadership, but black enrollment has not been marked by a steady upward trend. The number of black undergraduates actually has declined since 1980. The number of blacks in graduate schools only reached its 1976 level again after a 10-year period.

Gannett News Service

Classic designer clothing for men and women.
Bring your college ID and receive an additional 15% off the ticketed price.

J.CREW STORE

Warehouse Row • 1110 Market Street • Chattanooga, Tennessee • (615) 756-0815

Discount applicable on nonsale items only Offer expires March 15th

For the Health of It

By Darlene Almeda, R.N.

Q: Why is the gallbladder so readily removed? Doesn't it have a specific

A Yes, the gallbladder has specific functions and they are to store, concentrate, and release ble when stimulated to do so. Upon removal of the gallbladder or a cholecystectomy, the patient is no longer able to store bite, a substance which increases the action of gastric enzymes and enhances the absorption of fatty acids.

The main source of bite is the liver which continues to function despite the removal of the galibbladder in linear of releasing bite into the galbladder for storage, during surgery the liver's duets are directly connected to the small intestine thus releasing bite directly son its destination point.

So as you can see, although the gall bladder does indeed have a specific function, we are able to exist without it. This is why when a patient arrives at the emergency room with positive gallbladder problems the physician will usually get right to the source of the problem without much hesitation.

Journalism students published in Insight

The year has only just begun and already Southem's journalism department is well represented in the Adventist publishing world.

Julie Jacobs, journalism jumor, included one of her poems in a portfolio she sent to "Insight" magazine as part of her application for a summer internship.

She hasn't heard yet whether or not she got the internship. But the editor bought the poem, Juhe received a check, and the poem will appear in a future issue.

Lori Pettibone, journalism freshman, was published in the January 20 issue of "Insight." Her story, "The Broach" was the first prize winner in the student short-story category of Insight's 1989 writing contest.

BEFORE YOU CAN FOLLOW YOUR DREAMS, YOU'VE GOT TO FOLLOW THE RULES.

The second secon

Men who don't register with Selective Service aren't eligible for federal student oid, job training, and most federal employ ment. So register at the post affice within a month of your 18th birthdoy, It only takes five minutes to fill out a simple card.

Register With Selectice Service.
H's Quick. H's Easy. And H's The Law.

DEFEND

YOURSELF

against the alcohol

or drug impaired driver

On weekends between 7:00 pm and 3:00 am, in some parts of the country, 10 percent of all drivers are legally impaired or drunk

BUCKLE UPI

Candidates for S.A. President characters, while dreaming and reaching for new goals. The Student Associati plays a major role in our lives while we are here. Because of SA's importance my goals are to create a sense of school spirit and pride which will be a part of everything we do. I want everyone to feel like they are a part of Southern While I can not accomplish this myself I will strive to unite my officers so that the Student Association can promote a sparit of unity. No matter who you are you are a part of this school. Along with these goals I want to provide spiritual leadership as I work with

Lalso want to be a voice to the Administration. I will voice you misconceptions that arise at times will be an Administration that will listen to you and get you involved.

activities

C.A.R E. in creating exciting spiritual opinions and feelings while cleaning up

Most of all I want your input. This

If I can put these goals to work for us

we can have a school we can be proud

I will be dedicated and responsible creativity to work So, I'm asking for a

Association President and together we Don't forget-Southern and you are perfect together!

can make next year a year to remember.

while putting my leadership and chance to work for you as Student of. I am committed to Southern College

I desire to brung the college into a closer relationship with God

I want to uphold the traditions of leadership that has been displayed in the past.

To maintain as a go een for student and faculty offsire

To serve God's people 4 in any manner that He asks of me to do.

To bring prayer activity into the lives of all at SDA College.

To put the SDA back in front of Southern College. To help maintain current projects and support them (i.e., CARE etc.). I want and have prided myself on being a leader and to lead God's people is the highest calling and honor to me To experience leadership on a College Level. If elected that God may use me how he sees fit due the

Kenneth D. Neal

Dedication to Service The following are my goals for next year's S.A

TO LET THE STUDENTS VOICE BE HEARD. My ultimate duty goes to the students of S.C. 11. To plan and promote activities ed at increasing school spirit. III To aid and promote the spiritual growth of the students and demonstrate God's desire to be a part of their lives. Also to plan activities where the students can participate in a spiritually productive event. To improve student/faculty relations. Together we can make things

To plan activities based or what the students want to see happe Communication is as vital to the S.A. as it is to any other human relationship. If we know what the students want, we can serve them that much better. W

To work hard VII. To be responsive to the students needs. To work to solve their problems as far as possible. To respond to all issue: brought to my attention with equal dedication.

As a candidate for S.A. President, it is important to have a vision of what needs to be accomplished and the determination to accomplish the things envisioned. My vision of the S.A. one year from now is simple: An S.A. that is working hard for the betterment of life here at Southern, and an S.A. that is committed to being exactly what it is supposed to be-an Association of Students. Here at Southern, we have a wide variety of students representing man different backgrounds countries and cultures, each with different desires and different interests. I believe the S.A. President's obligations go beyond only continuing social activities, and maintaining the status quo; I envision the S A. President to be the spokesperson for each of these different seers of students Having been here at Southern for three years. I have learned many things. One, is that the students of Southern want, not only an S.A. President, but someone who will be their representative to the sometimes arbitrary Administration'; someone who will stand up and defend the rights of every student. As the S.A. President, I would be dedicated to defending these rights and to making next year the best year imaginable. How can I help make next year so good? Simply by working my hardest for you, the students of Southern College. I don't have a flashy slogan, or a campaign full of hype-only a platform that pledges change, a platform that is tailored to the individual student, a platform that promises a fun and exciting year, and a platform that expresses my desire to represent the interests and desire of the student body of Southern College. I want to help you run "Your S.A .-- Your Way!

> Editors Note: In the interest of fairness and impartiality these platforms have been published exactly as they were originally submited. We have refrained from correcting grammar but have corrected obvious typographical errors in the original documents.

Candidates for

Alex Bryan

Southern College and the students of Southern College are very important to me. As Executive Vice President I would help to make the life of the student better in two ways:

First, as Executive Vice Presient I will also be chairman of the Southern College Student Senate. I strongly believe that Senate is one of the most important ways for student projects to be accomplished and student views to be expressed to the administration and faculty. As a Senator here at Southern I have had the important opportunity to participate in the interworkings of this representative body. As chairman of the Project Committee this year I have worked with many ents and faculty members. 1 think this experience has been extremely important in my understanding of how to best get accomplished items which students would like. As leader of the the Senate I will seek to make the Senate more responsive to the views of their consituents and more visionary in plans to better the life of the

Secondly, as Executive Vice President I will be an officer of the Student Association., I believe in continuing the good programs and activities we have enjoyed in the past. However, there is always room for betterment and improvement. The Vice President is of course a key advisor to the SA President . I am confident that I can work effectively with any of this year's Presidential candidates

A better Southern College and a better life for the Southern student is my primary goal.

I, Izear Feagins, III has chose to run for Executive Vice-President of the SASCSDA because I claim to have three ingredients. They are dedication, determina-

office granted

Southern College is an awesome place to be! In my three years here at Southern I have seen it grow into one of the top schools in the SDA Der tion. Much of this credit can be given to the student associations and leaders who have dedicated themselves to serving their school. I want to continue this tradition while serving you next year as president of the Student I believe that Southern and you really are perfect together. We make friends and form relation ships here that will go with us for the rest of our lives. We make memories that we will keen forever. We learn lessons and make mistakes that build our

S.A. Vice President

tion, and dependability. And with these ingredients, I plan to bake a onstrous cake

I want to strengthen the Senate by listening to the students' cry of change. Through the Senate and under my leadership, the cry of change will turn into a ery of strength whereby administration will listen and take action to what our cry of strength is.

However, the Executive Vice-President needs to be a strong leader, motivator, spokesman, teacher, instructor, and most of all a servant to be students. These are qualities or traits that I have to do this job. And I believe I have these traits to communicate with both administration and the students through the Senate which will be made strong, so that the ingredients of my cake will rise to the extent that everyone would want a piece of

Dear Fellow Student

Southern College needs you and your input. It also needs leadership, the kind of experienced leadership I would like to provide for you. I have had three previous years of experience working with a student association. During these years, I've held various offices, the most prominent being president The student association elections are approaching and I. Kevin Snider, arr running for executive vice-president.

What I hope to accomplish as your executive vice-president are the changes that you, the student body, deem important. After talking with some of our fellow students, it has been brought to my attention that several issues need to be addressed A few of them are the following:

- I. campus safety,
- 2. revised auto parking
- 3. more weekend activities
- 4. increased senior privileges. the hair issue, and
- 6. classroom attire (shorts).

With the coming of the election, I would appreciate your supporting vote for executive vice-president Help me to help YOU!

Sincerely, Kevin A. Snider

Candidates for Social Vice President

As a candidate for the position of Student Association Social Vice-President I believe that it is my first responsibility to plan and execute social activities for the students that would be immensely enjoyable and well worth attending.

I believe that another foremost reponsibility in filling the position of Social Vice-President is to make the students feel at home from the beginning of the school year at the Welcome Party to the very day of graduation. I feel that the time spent with friends in college is very ortant, and I would like to make it as fun for Southern students as possible

One of my main goals for the up coming year is to interest and involve more students in the weekend activities that the SA plans, as well as all other activities I have many new ideas about parties, ban quets, and other SA activities, and a lot of helpful information about the ones in the past. I am very open to any suppostions and comments that you would propose to me, and I ould try to execute them to the best of my ability

I have enjoyed being your SA Secretary this semester and working with the other SA officers. It has given me a lot of great experience in planning banquets, working with the Beach Party, and getting to know more of you as students here at Southern. I am already very interested in helping plan a new year and excited about getting started a Moore, feel very qualified in running for Vice Presi dent of Social Activities. Considering my past experience with campaigning. Throughout my Senior ear at Central Gwinnett High School, with a population of 1700 students. I was elected Executive Vice President. My Junior year, 1 was the President of "The Youth against Cancer Club." While working at United Parcel Service in 1987, I was elected Vice President of Social/Safety events. I am currently a Juntor here at Southern College, where I have attended for three years.

A couple of ideas I've come un with are ways to get the student body involved:

I. Senior Banquet (Recognize Honors, scholarship, entertainment) "A Night in Venice (Be imaginary, Dress, Decorate live a night in Venice). 3. $1.98 Beauty Contest (Girls and guys look their worst, tell jokes, do tricks) 4 All Nights Festival (Activities food) 5. Hand-shaking (Freshman get aconsinted) 6. Game Night (Several types of 7. Faculty Family Night (Teachers wanting to get involved randomly choose students, planning fun outines and having worship with

As part of Southern College student body, I will do the best of my ability to make 1990 full of fun and excitement. To help make this year successful vote Deanna Moore for Social Vice-President.

Election . . . Cont. from p. 1

offices had not attracted any potential candidates by the first deadline. Running for President are Woody White, Jeff Gang, Ken Neal and Robert Browning. Vice-Presidential candidates include Alex Bryan Kevin Snider and Izear Feagins. The candidates for Social Vice-President are Annette Crosier and Deanna Moore. Tim Burrill is running unopposed for Southern Accent Editor DeAnn Champion has submitted a late petition for Joker Editor, Daniel Potter has submitted one for Southern Memones and Ervin Brown has elected to run for Strawberry Festival Director Thesi candidates must still meet with approval from the Senate Publications commute before their names can be out on the ballot.

Upeoming election events include: speeches by the candidates in today's Assemby, Primary Elections on Tuesday, Febraury 20, a press conference in the cafeteria at moon on February 22 featuring the two candidates who received the most votes in the primary, and finally, the General Election to be held Tuesday, February

College Bowl . . .

Cont. from p. I

an easy victory over Sudduth. Grange crushed Moreland and Eklund in its two previous games. When asked about the game, Angel Echemendia, a member of DeCarmo's squad said, "This should be an exciting game 1 predict that the outcome of this game will determine the eventual charm pion."

The winners of Wednesday's matches will have a place in the semi final round to be held in Lynn Wood Hall Auditorium on February 21st and 26th The time for these games will be 6:00 pm

The losers will face Springert and Moody in the Consolation bracket in their attempt to win their way to the finals to be held in Assembly on March 1.

Candidate for Joker Editor

......

Being Memories' editor entails a lot of responsibility

I am very familiar with such

Candidate for Memories Editor

responsibility. For the past seven years I have worked with all aspects of yearbooks and newspapers, including editorial positions, and am currently working as layout editor for the Southern Accent. Having a quality yearbook is just as important to me as it is to you, and it is you, the student body, that will be the focus of the Southern Memories in 1990-91 if I am elected editor Let's make next year's yearbook a yearbook we can all be proud of?

Help me to help you obtain that goal!

candidate photos by Sean Terretti

Jesus said, "Do vou truly love me?" . . . "Take CARE of my sheep." John 21:16 NIV

"Setting our Sights on the Saviour" COLLEGIATE ADVENTISTS REACHING EVERYONE

Ascending Prayers

Special prayer

needs? Let others on Turn prayer requests tothe C.A.R.E. office for printing in this box of the next Accent.

Osborne returns to Southern as Spiritual Emphasis speaker

By Wanda Vaz and Andy Nash

Former Southern College student Dave Osborne returned to campus as Pastor Dave Osh Week of Spiritual Emphasis, February 5-10

Termed "one of the best speaker we've had" by J.C. Belliard and "very upbeat" by Lori Marchant, Osborne seemed to have a great impact on the students of southern College

Osborne's talks, nine in all, covered a broad range of topics, but his theme-the importance of a positive Christian attitude-was present throughout the week. According to Osbome, "being a Christian is excit-Osborne's views on diet, social relationships, and the power of prayer were appreciated by many. Freshman Omie Hutchinson remarked "He's very good at keeping the attention of his audience.

Other student descriptions of Osbome included: "vigorous speaker...direct and to the point...extremely humorous...seemed to really care." Besides speaking at the church for worships and assemblies. Osborne visited the dorms and soon made a loa of friends on campus, or as he put it. "I rejuctantly met the children of my former classmates

For many, the highlight of Week of Prayer was Friday night vespers, when students and community people alike joined with Osborne for the communion service

Pastor Dave Osborne concluded the week on Sabbath with a sermor entitled "Attitude of Gratitude " is which he once again challenged his listeners to "Praise the Lord in everything you do!" Shortly thereafter, Oshome left for his home in Loma Linda, CA but he can be assured that his message will remain in the hearts and minds of the students at Southern

Student missionary writes from Thailand

Student of Southern College,

What's happening? Did you have a good Christmas break? It went by fast, huh? Mine did too since it was only a total of 24 hours. I guess I really shouldn't mention Christmas because by the time you read this Christmas will have been over months ago. I just love the swiftness of the mail service. I want to tell everyone that Thailand is the place to be. There is so much to

For one thing, I have done a lot of traveling here. Just last weekend I went to an awesome little island called Tarutao. Thanks to SC for sending some extra Christmas cash, I was able to buy a snorkel set and snorkeled my heart out. I should say snorkeled my nose in. Those masks sure can do a job on your nose. I almost look Thai now. Anyway, there is a lot to see in Thailand and traveling has definitely been one of the high lights.

As for our wonderful school here in Haad Yai, we have three teachers, Monica Herron, Glenn Carter and myself. Actually we really need a fourth. So if there is anyone who

please don't hesitate to call at (074) 246-102

In this land of luxury we have excuse me-we had two maids. But recently a disaster has taken place One of our maids quit and the other one has been my! sa-by (sick) all week. Therefore one morning, that is all morning, Monica did the laundry. No, we don't have one of those fancy push button machines. She did it all by hand! I think she did a great job and I don't think Glenn minds too much that all his underwear are red That same day, I thought I would be the chef. It's rather difficult to make the same things here that I usually made in the States. Cookses, bro and cakes don't turn out too well without an oven. But I did try to make cookies in the toaster oven once. Yes, I did say once. Anyway, in that day I thought I would make beans for our Thai Haystacks". Has anyone ever had beans that are hard as peanuts on your haystacks before? After that credible meal everyone has decided to just cook for himself.

Teaching? Oh, yes, I do teach here.

It's a real expenence. I can't decide who understands English morestudents or the rats in our walls. But it's lots of fun and I wouldn't change it for the world. Maybe for some sleep, though, I am always yawning in class.

For a more serious note. I really want to thank SC for all their prayers and letters. Please continue to pray for us. There is a lot of work to be done in this 99.7% Buddhist country. It's unbehevable what little they know about classes are a real challenge It's all such a new idea for them And many find it hard to accept.

God Bible

Bur if they only knew how happy they ould be with Jesus in their I Well, that's the scoop here in Thailand. For all those who haven't had a chance to memorize my address. Please let me be so kind as to share it. P.O. Box 129 Haad Yar, Thailand 90110

Take Care. Ingrid Eklund

New books recommened by McKee librarian

By A. Lee Bennett Ir.

Never Too Young to Die: The Death of Len Bias, and My Traitor's Heart are this week's books recommended by McKee Library Director

Peg Benent.

A Trages story of the #1 draft pick by the NBA's Boston Coltes in 1986. "News Too Young to Die reads mote like a true crime story rather than a sports biography." In details the events deading to Blass' death, a description of the police un-vestigation, and the trail of Brian Tribble, a friend of Blass' who was accused of supplying the occare." The book is "a harrowing tale from which no one energes unaffected."

Rian Malan writes his own life's story in My Traitor's Heart, a tale that will "rearrange our superficial ideas about South Africa."

"As a youing man, the author "As a youing man, the author (Malan)—ashamed because he was a decemendan of the architect of apartheid—field to South Africa. After 8 years be finally went home to wrestle with the paradoxes existing there." South African blacks constantly face possible death because "Two civil wars wage (there]: in one, whites murder blacks in tribal conflicts."

"Malan looks behind the stones of vicious crimes—those distorted by the media and those ignored by it."

One Rambo is enough

By Mike Hernandez

I have always attempted to exhibit some of the characteristics of my heroes; however I have found that this is impossible and even potentially fatal in some cases. Rambo is a good example.

I usually do not watch Sylvester Stallone movies, but one night I was feeling particularly manly, so I went to the local World O' Video store and rented Rambo XVIII.

I won't bone you with the plot of this movie if, indeed, there was one, but I will share some of our muscular heroe's adventures as John Rambo. He survived the crash of a helicopter that plummeted 100 feet from the sky and exploded. Naturally, he wast's scratched. He single handedly defeated roughly 1,000 machine gun toting Russian soldiers. Rambo makes

Indiana Jones look like Little Bo Peep, After watching this movie, I felt this strange destre to go outside and set fire to myself purely for amusement. There is probably some sort of subliminal message in Rambo, like there is in the song "Another one bites the dust", which, as you all know, causes you to smoke maryjuana and leaves you unable to have children, It has been proven that 75% of all the violent crimes in this country are committed by people who have just watched Sylvester Stallone or Amold Schwarzenegger annihilate a small country. If these movies cause this kind of reaction in the common people, what happens when the president watches one? Do his body guards have to hold him down until his urge to push the nuke button subsides? If we support these movies in the box offices and video stores to box offices and video stores to produce them. They will still be around when our children are our age I can see it now. RAMBO MCXII Rambo escapes from the nursing

Rambo escapes from the nursing home, swims across the pacific, destroying two enemy submannes with his bare hands, destroys the entire Labyan army using only his walking cane and rescues his brother (played by Arnold Schwarzenegger) who had been taken cantive.

What an utterly disgusting thought.

McKenzie beats Johnson, falls to Faculty

McKenzie played Johnson Monday night in AA league basketball in what Steve Jaecks, director of intramurals, described as, "the most exciting game of the season." "It was nip and tuck all the way," he continued.

The lead shifted back and forth throughout the game. McKenzie held a slim three point margin at the half.

Team captian Alex Johnson said after the game that his strategy had been to keep Mark McKenzie out of the paint and force him to shoot from the perimeter. The plan seems to have worked since McKenzie was able to hit only 6 shots out of 22 attempts.

Johnson's team was handicapped by the absence of starting guard Kevin Pride. McKenze admitted that he was pretty cold from the outside. He also indicated that Johnson's tram dominated the boards. Some of McKenzes's rebounding souther might have been the to the absence of stanters. Ted Mitchell look up the stake with outstanding dicfense, according to Jacks. Alex, Johnson credited Mitchell's scoring ability as a key factor in McKenzić's success. We just couldn't find anybody to guard him," he said.

With about three minutes left to play, the momentum appeared to be

AA League

Left: Sean Johnson slams one home, adding momentum to his teams stretch run.

Right: Chris Harter recieves medical attention after colliding with Mark McKenzie. The wound required six stitches.

Accent plotos by Geoffrey Church shifting in Johnsons favor after Sean Johnson's slam dunk. Unfortunately, Chris Harter suffered a severe mouth injury seconds later when he ran into Mark McKenzie's elbow. The game had to be stopped for about ten had to be stopped for about ten minutes because of Harter's injury. Alex Johnson stated that the loss of Harter and the loss of momentum due to the suspension of play turned the nde against his team. "We went back out and took some bad shots after that," he said. "They were able to convert, and then it turned into a free throw shooting match."

McKenzie went on to win by five.
The final score was 65-60.
On Tuesday, McKenzie's hope for (6-1)

(6-1)

(2-4)

(0-7)

a perfect season was dashed as it lost 66-65 to Faculty. This leaves the door open for Johnson to claim a share of the AA title by beating McKenzie in a possible rematch which has yet to be scheduled.

(5-0)

(4-2)

(3-1)

(0-3)

(0-6)

Basketball Standings

B.League

McKenzie	(8-1)		King		(4-2)		Cas
Johnson (7-2) Faculty (6-3) Osbome (2-6)			Gay Eisele Moreland		(5-1) (4-3) (3-2)	Get Nas
						Scc
Faylor	(3-5)		Thedford		(5-1)		-
Young	(0-8)		Fulbria		(2-3)
- 02/16	(0 0)		Duff	ш	(1-4)
			Lawho
				m	(2-3)
			White		(2-4)
			Malone	3	(1-5)
	se" neering				•		۱.
Clarencu 'Bighous four-year college '	e" Gaines is negring he The top ten winning coa	s 600th win as iches use Years	s e besketball d		-	>
Clarence Bighous four-year college Coach, school,	e" Gaines is nearing he The lop ten winning coa years	s 600th win as iches use Years coaching	s e basketball o	PoL
Clarence 'Bighous' four-year college ' Coach, school, 1 Adolph Ropp,	o' Gaines is negring he The top ten winning coa years Kemucky, 1031-72	Years coeching	Won Lost	Pot.			C
Clarencu Bighous four-year college Coach, school, 1 Adolph Rupp, 2 Clarence Galo 3 F.C. Phog* A	o' Gaines is nearing he the lop ten winning coa years Kentucky, 1631-72 ss, Wristen Saler	Years coeching 41 119426	Wen Lest 875 190 756 390	Pol. 522 572			C
Clarence Bighous four-year college Coach, school, 1 Adolph Repp, 2 Clarence Galo 3 F.C. Phog* A 4 Henry Ba	o" Gaines is nearing he the top ten winning coa years Kentucky, 1031-72 as, Wristen Saler Ben', Kansas, Okarborta State, 1	Years coeching 41 19425 19 20-46 935-761	Won Lost #75 190 756 380 770 233	Pet. 522 572 768			C
Clarence "Bighous four-year college" Coach, achool, 1 Adolph Rupp, 2 Clarence Galls 3 F C. Phog* A 4 Henry Bar*, 5 tid Diddle,	e" Gaines is nearing he The top ten winning coa years Kertucky, 1931-72 isk, Wirsten Saler Ben", Kansos, Okarhora State, Western Knabacky, 192	Years coeching 41 19425 19 20-46 935-761	Won Lost #75 190 756 380 770 233	Pol. 522 572			h C
Clarence "Bighous four-year college" Coach, school, 1 Adolph Rivpp, 2 Clarence Galo 3 F C. Phog" A 6 Henry Bar", 5 Ed Diddle 6 Ray Meyer,	e" Gaines is negring he the top ten winning coa years Kemucky, 1601-72 list, Wirsten Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler, Okuherta Saler,	6 600th win as iches use Yearn coeching #1 #1 194785 19 20 46 935-761 3 84 42 42	Won Lost 875 190 716 380 770 233 767 338	Pol. 822 .672 768 694			h C
Clarence "Bighous four-year college" Coach, school, 1 Adolph Repp, 2 Clarence Galin 3. F.C. Phog" A 4 Henry Bat", 5. In Diddle, 6 Ray Meyer, 7. Dean Smith,	e" Gaines is negring he fine top ten winning coa years Kernucky, 1031-72 Me, Wirsten Saine, Okarheyna State, 1 Western Kephacky, 192 DoPack, 1943-83 North Canaliza, 1962	6 600th win as sched use Years coeching #1 19428 19 266 935-761 3 84 42 42 .	Won Lost 675 160 756 390 770 233 767 338 759 302 724 354 679 196	Pol. 822 872 768 694 715			h C
Ciarence "Bighous four-year college Coach, achool, 1 Adolph Repp. 2 Clarence Gains 3-F C. Phog" & Honor Bar", 5-tid Diddle, 5-Ray Meyer, 7. Dean Smith, 8. Jim Pheten,	e" Gaines is negring he the top ten winning coa years Kernacky, 1031-72 as, Wirsten Saler Ben", Kancas, Okarheeta Saler, 1 Western Konacky, 192 De Pack, 1943-83 North Carelina, 1962 Mt. St. Mary Jaid I.	6 600th win at schedure. Years coeching. 41 in 19425 19 20-86 935-761 936-42 -42 -42 -48 1959-36	Won Lost 875 190 756 380 770 233 767 338 759 302 724 354 679 196 670 305	Pol. 522 572 768 694 715 672			h C
Cizrenco 'Bighous four-ye ar college 'Cosch, school, 1 Adolph Rupp, 2 Clarence Galis J. F.C. 'Phog' & Henry Bath 5. It Diddle. 5 Ray Meyer, 7. Dean Smith, 8. Jim Pheten, 9. John Wooden' 9. John Wooden'	of Galnes is negring he the top len winning cos years Kirmucky, 1931-72 let, Wristen Sales (Ber), Raccos, Okarhorta State, 1 Wristen Scales, 1 Wristen Scale	6 600th win as iches are Years coeching 41 n 19425 19 20-46 935-761 936-42 -42 -48 1959-36 75 29	Won Lost #75 190 716 380 776 233 767 338 759 302 724 354 #79 196 570 305 567 161	Pol. 522 572 768 694 715 672 776			C h
Clarence "Bighout four-year college" Cosch, school, 1 Adolph Repp. 2 Clarence Sale 1 F.C. Phog" A 4 Henry Sar", 5 Ed Didder, 6 Ray Meyer, 7 Dean Smith, 8 John Wooden 10, Bloome Sall Remis Ray Meyer, 9 John Wooden 10, Bloome Sall Remis Ray Meyer, 10, Bloome Sall	e" Gaines is nearing he the log len winning cos years Kernucky, 1031-72 Kernucky, 1031-72 Northorns State, 1 Western Kondonky, 192 DoPack, 1943-83 North Carellous, 1962 Mt. St. Mary's (Md.), ", UCLA 1946- van, Sc. Oklaine	9 600th win as Years coeching 19 20-46 935-761 3-84-42 -42 -49 29 1958-38 75 29 -42 -43 -45 -45 -45 -45 -45 -45 -45 -45	Won Lost 675 190 786 380 776 333 767 333 759 302 724 354 879 196 670 305 567 161 662 235	Pol. 522 672 768 694 715 672 776 687 806 73			in CC ho

A League

Oakwood, Southern All-Stars to play here

Women

Mathic

Green

Peters

Smith

Richards

On Saturday night, February 24th in Iles PE Center the Southern College Intramural All-Stars will host the All-Stars from Oakwood College in a charity benefit basketball game.

Southern College Gym Masters are sponsoring this event. Ticket proceeds will benefit Gym Masters, a traveling gymnastic team.

Before the game, there will be a 3-point Shoot-out and a Slam-dunk contest. The Gym Masters will preform at half-time.

Tickets will be available at the door on a cash only basis. General admission will be $4.00. SC and Oakwood students will recieve a $2.00 discount if they present their ID card when purchasing tickets.

.....

Get your hands on a Macintosh before your hands are full.

Homework has a nasty way of piling up, doesn't it? One day, you feel on top of it all—the next, you're behind on your notes, your research, your term paper.

Our advice: Get in front of a Macintosh® computer.

True, it may not turn a lifelong procrastinator into an overachiever. But it will make an enormous difference in how quickly you can write, rewrite, and print your assignments.

Not only will a Macintosh change the way you look at homework, it'll change the way your of the control of the property of the control of the homework looks—with an endless variety of type styles, and graphics that'll make your professors think you bribed a friend in art school.

And as for all those classroom scribblings, research notes, and assorted scraps of paper that litter your desk, we give you HyperCard — an amazing new program that provides an easy way to store, organize, and cross-reference each and every bit of information. (HyperCard is included free with every Macintosh.)

So come in and get your hands on a Macintosh today.

Before your homework slips completely through your fingers.

The Greatest Show on Earth Salutes the Legendary Gunther Gebel-

Williams
"In imperial Rome, the crowd's

"In imperial Rome, the crowd's accolade for him would have lapped over the rim of the Colosseum like a tidal wave; he would have been installed in public office "—Edward Hoasland, 1973.

In a lifetime of achievement and triumph, there ultimately must be a last, best performance. When the legendary Gunther Gebel-Williams steps into the spotlight at the UTC Arena, February 22 through 25, it will be the last time local audiences will the The Gratests Wild Animal Trainer of All Time in regular.

performance
Producer Kenneth Feld's all-new 199th Edition of Kingling Bros. and Barman & Balley Circus is a stellar salute to the legend who for the past 20 years has bed audiences spellbound with his electrifying and intringung mastery of training with amonals in this final performance in the final performance superstand quality the unique training syste that has made him Led of the Rings. With masterial voice commands he controls 18
Sterman and Bengal tigers in the Giant Steel Cage, 17 Lippizaner horses, and three rings of African and Asian elephants.

To honor this Caesar of the Circus, the glories of ancient Rom are re-created in "Circus Maximus"-a majestic production spectacle that sparkles with visual delights. A golden pageant of gladiators, ancient gods, temple maidens and clown jesters-joined by Middle Eastern potentates on camels and soldiers on horseback presents a triumphant tribute Temple floats carrying the emperor empress and the royal family parade regally around the hippodrome track to the sounds of "Grand Roman Fanfare" and "The Glory That Was Rome

Tickets are now on sale at the UTC Arena Box Office and other outlets. To charge tickets by phone call (615) 266-6627.

THE ANNUAL SHAREHOLDER MEETING

Sunday, February 25, 4 p.m. Collegedale Academy Gym

- Week For Two in Honolulu, Hawaii (Members 18 years and older eligible)
- Color Television (Members 13-17 years old eligible)
- Electric Car
 (Members 0-12 years old eligible)

Only mambers are eligible for drawing and must be present to win. Tickets are available in odvance at the redd union

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT . GOOD FOOD

NEW MEMBERS WELCOME-Collegedate Credit Union is a communit credit union and accepts members who live in Ooltawah (37363), Aplaot (37302), Collegedate (37315), McDonald (37333), Cleveland (37311), and standies (38117821).

FO BOX 2098 - COLLEGEDALE, TH 37315 + 615-396-210

A melting pot Except for 6,716,000 American Indians, we trace our origins to nations around the world. Top five ethnic origins: People in millions 49.6 40.2 21.0 12.9

Most popular hymns Amazing Grace 1.788 How Great Thou Art In the Garden Number votes The Old Rugged Cross What a Friend W e Have in Jesus aper Enterpris

Marcy E. Mulins, Gannett News Service

Upcoming Events

Friday, February 16

Vespers, SC symphony Orchestra 8.00 p m. Church

Source: U.S. Bureau of the Census

Saturday, February 17

Church Service, Gordon Bietz

Rees Series

7:30 p.m. P.E Center Girls All-Star Game 3-point Shoot-out Slam Dunk Contest Championship Game

Monday, February 19

"Dream Alive" by Kım and Reggie Harris 7:00 p.m. P.E. Center

Tuesday, February 20

Student Association Primary Elections

Wednesday, February 21

SA Pep Day

Julie Stacey, Gannett News Service

Thursday, February 22 Assembly, Viveca Black 11:00 a.m. Church

SA Election Press Confer-

12:00 noon, cafeteria

Friday, February 23

Vespers, Walter Pearson 8.00 p.m. Church

Saturday, February 24

Church Service, Ward

Sumpter

Tuesday, February 27

SA General Election

Thursday, March 1

Assembly, College 11:00 a.m. P.E. Center

""Spring Break""

In the Cafe... Page 6 Volume 45, Number +3-1-3 SOUTHERN ACCENT

The Official Conduct No.

Photos by Sean Terre

Karla Worley ends a musical weekend Related story page 11

Merch 22 February 1, 1990

Southern's first Yearbook of the '90's nears completion

By Gina McIntyre

The yearbook is nearly completed. With 89% of the pages already completed, Andy McConnell, Southern Memories Editor, still had a challenge ahead of him.

According to McConnell this yearbook is 24% larger than last year's book, jumping from 200 to 248 pages, those were the only secrets he would reveal.

The big word in yearbook circles is "DEADLINE". A deadline is a date which the yearbook company sets to receive a stated portion of the book. The Southern Memories had four. McConnell put in several 60 hour work weeks to prepare for his last two deadlines.

"Being in charge of the yearbook means having to juggle a lot of different responsibilities, money matters, budgets, job assignments, appointments, and time management, said McConnell.

Mike Magursky, Memories art director, has been working hard. "I've swom after every year that I've worked on a yearbook that I'd never do it again. I guess I never learned my lesson." This is his fourth year of experience.

"One thing I've learned about myself during this project is that I survived on less sleep than my mom thought I could," stated McConnell, The general consensus stated by Magursky is "If you find any errors in the book, we put them there on purpose. Some people are always looking for the wrong...and we're just trying to please everyone!"

Janesta Bryant, Andy McConnell, and Mike Magursky put the finishing touches on the 1989-90 Southern Memories.

Anderson lecture series looks at Japan tonight

By Andrea Nicholson

"What are Americans Learning From Japanese Manufacturing Praetices?" is the tille of a lecture to be presented by Jack B. Sample Thursday, March 22, at Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists.

The lecture, beginning at 8 p.m. in Brock Hall Room 338, is the seventh in the E.A. Anderson Lecture Series, an annual feature of the business curriculum at Southern College.

Sample is presently the general manager of Komatsu Dresser company, a company which he joined in 1986 as director of human resources. Prior to joining Komatsu, Sample was employed in the area of human resource development with the electric Power Board of Chattanooga.

He holds a B.A. and M.S. degree from the University of Tennessee at Knowille. He is an accredited personnel manager of the American Society for Personnel Administration and is a certified compensation

Sample has served in many leadership positions in various Chattanooga

Jack B. Sample

area organizations. He is a native of Chattanooga where he resides with his wife and two children.

The E.A. Anderson Lecture Series is made possible by the generosity of E.A. Anderson of Atlanta, Ga., for the purpose of giving the listener a broader understanding of the business world.

The community is invited to attend the lectures free of charge. Continuing education credit is available for a fee.

The subsequent lecture in the series will be March 29. William Peterson, Lundy Chart Professor, Philosophy ol Business, at Campbell University in Buies Creek, North Carolina, will speak on "Our Second Democracy." For more information, contact the business Department at Southern College at 238–2751.

Senior Celebration Weekend starts today

By David Barasoair

Senior Celebration Weekend will officially begin March 29, during the 11:00 a m assembly in the Church The Senior class will march in full graduation regalsa for this assembly. Seniors can pick up their robes and gowns in Dr. Greenteaf's office on March 26-28. Class members will need to meet in the church a half hour prior to the assembly in robes at 10:30 a.m. The speaker for this assembly will be Paul Conn, president of Lee College. This unique chapel ceremony is being conducted to boost the spirits of the Seniors. It will also allow underclassmen, who aren't staying for the actual ceremony, to see some of their friends

On Friday evening, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. an assembly will be held for Seniors in Lynn Wood Hall. The evening's topic will be the "Monday after the Sunday." Those attending will discuss several topics including what they will be doing the Monday after graduation and how they will conduct themselves in the "real world". The speaker for the Friday evening service will be Dr. Ron Springett.

On Sabbath, March 31, at 9:45 a.m., a Sabbath school and church service for Seniors will be held at Red Clay Park. If you need directions to the park, see the map below or meet in front of Wright Hall 21 9:00 a.m. on March 31. The Sabbath school lesson will be taught by Senior religion major Bruce Whidden. The sermon will be given by Senior Class sponsor, Dr. Derek Morris. Blue jeans and tennis shoes are acceptable attire for the service If you want a sack lunch for the moon, be sure to sign up in the cafeteria by Wednesday, March 28. A nature hike will be directed by Mr. Houck after church for those wishing to tour the area.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This letter is written is response to the article titled "Bas-ketball: bringing out the worst in the best of us." It was in the Feb. 1

Alternative perspective on antheties, which includes baskerball. Bask erload in the state of the

To say that "no one from Southern College is ever going to make a living playing basketball" is probably an accurate statement However, why should one close the door on an activity that brings enjoyment just because it is not perfect.

perfect.

Dare I mention that other activities like singing or playing a musical instrument will hardy provide a means for support for the greater majority of Southern College students. These extracuricular activities are held in higher regard and to think the same competative nature is not in their paraticipants would be foolish. Pride, ency, fustration and jealousy are certainly present but because it is hidden easier and very subtle, public accom is not levired as

God has given and ability

The man who never alters his opinion is like standing water, & breeds reptiles of the mind.

--William Blake

Southern Accent

Editor John Caskey

Associate Editor Laurie Ringer

Contributing Editors Pamela Draper

Pamela Draper Sheila Draper

Photo Editor Sean Terretta

Proofreading Monique Townsend

Word Processing Heather Wise Lifestyle Editor Adrienne Cox

> Sports Editor Jim King

Religion Editor Andy Nash

Andy Nash

Advisor Stan Hobbs

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Accent is the official student newspaper for Southern College of Seventi-day, Adventista and is released every other Thursday during the school year with the exception of exam weeks and vacations. Opinions expressed in the Southern Accent are those of the suthors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editors, Southern College, the Seventib-day Adventist church.

The Southern Accost welcomes your letters which must count in the writer's name, address, and phose number. Letters will be edited for space and clarity. All letters must have the writer's with the distribution of the state of for sports to certain individuals and it is one that should be taken advantage of. Sports is a valuable witnessing tool that can be used to reach people. Let us take pride in individualism and be happy that differences and competition makes life exciting.

In ending, I would like to say that issues like premarital sex, alcoholism, drugs, racism, and cheating are topics ssues like pre-

South Africa...

Dear Editor,

Considering the current affairs within the South African political arena, it is my objective in view of issues mentioned during chapel, February 22, 1990, to provide the Southern College students with the alternative point of view.

alternative point of view.

J respect the rights of individuals to hold opinions on any issue—social, religious or political; however, 1 expect the relevant facts, both negative and positive, before such a person attempts to address a congregation of people

Addressing the issue of labour umons, the speaker gave the impression it was impossible for black workers to protest peacefully or to approach labour relations officials out working problems without being harassed or arrested by South African Police in the early 1970's. He did, however, fail to mention that until 1979, unions were illegal in South Africa, and therefore, any form of strike was illegal...Labour relations were only addressed by a commission of inquiry on legislation in the late 70's. Government statistics show labour union membership in 1979 as zero, growing to more than 600,000 in 1985. All unions prior to 1979 were unregistered and therefore, unlawful

With regard to the African National congress (ANC) having the support of all South Africans, he failed to mention Gasha Buthelezi, Paramount Chord 6 of. a million Zalus who constitute one third of the black population in South Africa, Buthlezi enpoys the majority of white support and se acclaimed by international communities. He also is frerely opposed to the ANC.

Furthermore, the speaker stated the ANC only uses violence as a means of defense. How much defense is needed against innocent women and children of all nationalities? Limpet mines and plastic explosives placed in restaurants and shopping centres frequented by all nationalities are by eans a line of defense. The ANC by its own admission is a nist vehicle. The ANC's Radio Freedom on May 11, 1986 stated: "If Botha expects to buy time by appealing to non-existent, no communist, ANC leaders, then Botha has missed the freedom boat (Talking with the ANC,.. Perskor, 1986)

Since August 1985, 381 black people have died during South that are more important and should be addressed more often. Or, would addressing these issues in public be an admission of their presence on our campus?

Scott Wakefield

African Police action to quell riots as opposed to 496 blacks killed by black radicals (Talking with the ANC...Perskor, 1986).

With reference to education, (many of us were led to believe the Chapel hour would deal with the future of SDA schools in South Africa) he failed to mention the numerous private and governmental institutions which have been multi-racial for the past ten years. A new education dispensation was formulated in the White Paper on the provision of Education (1983) and established the National Policy for Education Affairs Act (Act 76 of 1984) to place education levels for all racial groups on a level footing. What of the five "black only" universities in South Africa? All so-called white universities are fully multi-racial and have been for many years. University of South Africa which is the largest correspondence university in the world has a predomi nantly black enrollment. The oppressed black school graduate also receives 67% of government scholarships to continue his education. The South African Breweries, largest company in South Africa, only awards scholarships to blacks. Black schools are burnt down and classes boycotted by students at the insistence of black radical leaders within the schools.

Nelson Mandella returned to the dusty streets of Soweto. I wonder how he will enjoy his $250,000 mansion constructed by ANC funds, as he lives in poverty with his people?

What place did all this misleading bave in our church? Liberation Theologists such as Desmond Totus, Professor Pyetren-Naude, Alan Boesak, and Desmond Hottley have split their denominations in half for preaching politics from the pulpit. Politics has its place, but not in church, and we at least expect a balanced, credible preventation from the most time.

What about Seventh-day Adventst schools in South Africa? How do labour unions, the ANC, Nelson Mandella, and recent political events have any baring on decisions that lit solely with the SDA Conference? The speaker was too wrapped up in politics and Gragot to mention it. I was too wrapped up in applying the alternative view to ask. Nkosi Sikelele e' Afrika (Ged Bless Africa)

Wayne Openshaw

David Denton's

Bits and Pieces

I watched the recent SA elections with much interest, and there were times I couldn't help thinking I was the only one interested. According to the official announcements posted the day after the election, less than half of the student body took the opportunity to vote. I find this fascinating. Mind you, I'm not so much concerned with why less than half of you voted, as I am with how this trend could affect future S.A. elections

After considerable cogitation and a prepanderance of pondering, I've reached a conclusion. One that is at the same time frightening and intrigu ing. Whereas in recent elections it has been fashionable to make student involvement the focus of a candidate's campaign (for example: Mark Waldrop's "You Belong", or Woody White's "Your S.A. Your Way"), in the future it's very likely some innovative student will attempt to capitalize on the general student body apathy by incorporating it into his campaign. Imagine someone running for S.A. President with the slogan "My S.A., My Way," or "Vote For Me, I'll Leave You Alone." It could happen. If this trend toward non-involvement ies we might hear a campaign speech like this

Southern College students, are you tired of student leaders continually hassling you to get involved in campus life? Are you tired of being told you should vote for this office or that office? Do you sometimes wish these student leaders would just disappear? Well, now you can do something to make those dreams come true

As Condidate for S.A. President I recognize that the majority of you couldn't care less about what happens on this campus, and I'm prepared to stand up for your right to be unin volved. If I am elected S.A. president

1. I promise to do away with S.A. chapels. They're boring, and mos students would rather curl un with a good chemistry or anotomy textbook

2. I promise never to try to get you involved in anything, at anythme, ever 3. I promise not to solicit you opinions or suggestions, nor to listen to any opinions that are offered. Southern College is a great school, and I believe it can become even greater as student leaders realize they weren't elected to coax regular students into doing their jobs for them If you believe apathy is a virtue, then vote for me. It'll be the last thing you'll ever have to do. I promise.

Now, I realize that if my perceptions are correct and most S.C. student really are disinterested in the S.A., then this column is an exercise in futility. Less than half of you will read it. But that's okay, those who don't probably aren't aware we even have a school naper.

Journalism department brings 'editor-in-residence' to campus

By Richard Gallagher and Lisa

"A Picture Is Worth a Thousand Complaints" is the title of an evening assembly meeting with Alan Horton, charman of the Ethics Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, 7:00 p.m. April 1 in Brock Hall 147. Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 6:00 p.m. Assembly credit will be

The meeting is the first editor-inresidence program held under the auspices of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and joint sponsored by the Journalism Club the Journalism and Communication Department, and the Southern Accent.

Horton's presentation will feature 20 slides of controversial otos recently published in the Naples Daily News (Fla.), a Scripps Howard newspaper where Horton has served as executive editor since 1927. The presentation will consider the ethics of pictures selection. "I get more complaint about the pictures we publish than about articles and editorials," he

Horton, a graduate of Yale University, has worked for a number of newspapers, mostly in the Scripps Howard chain, including the Scripps Howard Washington Bureau, where he covered the Pentagon during the Vietnam War. re he became editor of the Naples Daily News, he was publisher at the Southern California Publishing Col., which produces 24 weekly newspapers with a circulation of 450,000 in the Los Angeles suburbs "The editor-in-residence program brings the workplace to students said Lynn Sauls, journalism department chair. "It helps students become intelligent consu mass media." This is the first year Southern has participated in the program. Editorin-residence first semester was Paul Neely, managing editor of Chattanooga Times. Other meetings in the program will be held Monday, April 2, and are open to the public:

8:00 a.m., Brock Hall 146-"Journalists as Nitch-players" will explore how journalists are discovering what interests readers

9:00 a.m., Brock Hall 146-"What Is News Today?" will explore the determinants of news in the 90s 12:00 p.m., Cafeteria Banquet

Room-"Southern Accent-Pluses and Minuses" will provide a critique of the three most recent

1:00 p m., Brock Hall 146-"Advertising and Reporting-Journalism's Separation of Church and State" will explore why editorial and advertising departments of a newspaper need to

2:00-4:00 p.m., Brock Hall Seminar Room-Individual confereners with students about newspaper careers and journalism in general (A sign-up sheet is provided in the Journalism Department).

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions:

- 1) Name the LMU basketball player who died on the court recently 2) Name the Baltic states which is busy declaring it's independance from the
- Soviet Union
- By what name did Julius Ceasar know the date March 15?
- Who is the editor of this years Southern Memories' 5) Do you think you got the other four answers right?

John Caskey 21 Woody White 3) Grange and Marsa

Yes, I want Free Food Maybe they secretly like cafeteria food.

Last Weeks Winners

Beverly Ericson Cason Holley Darin Stewart

Mike Magursky Charles Kilgon

The first five correct entries received in the Accent office will win a free meal at McDonald's . asisting of a Large Sandwich or Entree Salad, Large Fries and a Large drink. Entries can be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 10:00 p.m. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winners will be determined by indom drawing. Should no entries with all the correct answers be received within seven days of the date of publication, the entries with the most correct answers will be declared winners. Members of the Southern Accent Staff, their families, significant others and pets are ineligible.

From the Archives

March 13, 1957:

First SMC Museum For Stuffed Animals Begun (really)

German Sabbath School organized on campus

By Richard Gallagher

"Guten Morgen! Herzlich Wilkommen zum Sabbatschule!" (Good moming! Welcome to Sabbath school). These were som of the first words spoken 10:00 Sabbath, March 17 at the newly formed German Sabbath school.

"We've been thinking for quite some time about having one," sai Dr. Helmut Ott, chairman of the Modern Languages department. Several students in Intermediate

Dr. Helmut Ott

German told him they thought it was a good idea to have a German Sabbath school, and they asked if one could be formed. Dr. Ott decided it was time to get the program started.

It follows a simple format so it is easier to understand. Song service is first, followed by scripture and prayer, the special feature, and finally, lesson study.

lesson study.

The special feature in the first class was Brigett DeMemmo's slide presentation containing pictures of East and West Germany. The special feature will be a regular part of the program.

Waldemar Ehlers, a retired minister, gave the lesson study. It discussed Matthew 24 and was taken from the Sabbath school quarterly for that week.

Sabbath school quarterly for that week. Dr. Ott had his students in Intermediate German study the 24th chapter of Matthew in class before the seventeenth. He also has the Intermediate Spanish class members read portions of the Bible during class.

The students of Spanish have an opportunity to attend a Spanish speaking church here in Collegedale. The opportunity to visit a German-speaking church is not available to students of German.

On thinks it is important for the students to read the scripture in the foreign language. The religious vocabulary used in the Bible is quite different from everyday speech, said Ott.

The class will meet two more times, April 71 and April 21. The meetings begin at 10:00 a.m. and are held in Daniels Hall. Anyone is welcome to come, but Dr. Ott cautions, there may or may not be an interpreter.

Measles feared to be reaching epidemic proportions on college campuses nationwide

By LUCY YOUNG

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/Apple College Information Network

Once on the brink of eradication, measles is striking back with a vengeance.

The disease has killed 15 people nationwide this year, and the cases are mounting faster this spring than last year, which ended with an alarming 16,240 cases and

With schools across the country breaking for spring vacations, public health officials are worried that measles will spread farther, wider and faster.

45 deaths

"There's a good possibility that we will have spread where we have measles outbreaks," said
George Seastrom, a consultant with the Centers for Disease Control. "If (students) internix, they'll pick it up."

Spring break meccas such as Florida's Fort Lauderdale and Daytona Beach and South Padre Island, Texas, will literally become measles hotbeds: fun, sun and a hardy virus that can survive in warm humid conditions for three hours.

"Rather than keeping measles within certain college campuses, it's going to be spread to various schools this way,"
Seastrom said.

Inadequate immunization among students is just part of the problem; about half of the cases are pre-schoolers, many in immigrant or inner-city families who are not aware of the need for vaccinations.

As of Feb. 17, 52 outbreaks of meastes have been found in 16 states: Maryland, Florida, Illinois, Wisconsin, Texas, California, Alaska, Pennsylvannia, Missouri, Oregon, Maine, New York, Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma and Michigan

"It's everywhere," said

Judy Gantt, a CDC health education and information specialist.

The outbreak in Los Angeles County persists after an unusually long 2 1/Z years, making more than 3,260 people sick. Chicago has reported 2,370 cases since its March 1989 outbreak. Dallas has seen 1,200 cases to date over a similar period.

In Fresno County, health officials suspect that cultural misordicals suspect that cultural misunderstanding of vaccinations contributed to the measles deaths of nine Laodan children. That spurred officials in St. Paul, Minn., to launch a door-to-door immuzation program targeting Humong children from Leos.

Both counties have heavy concentrations of Hmong who live in cramped quarters, making them particularly susceptible to contagions like measles.

All states require children to be immunized before starting sehool. Because the measles vaccine is considered 95 percent effective, the COT ercommends a two-dose immunization: one for infants at 15 months old and another before the child enters school. People are considered immune if they immunicated immune if they immune immune if they immune immune if they immune immune mmune if they:

— Were born before 1957 since they likely had childhood exposure to the dis-

- Already had the ease.

measles.

— Are adequately vaccinated according to standards

Inadequate immunizations have created an entire generation of young people who may be vulnerable to the viral disease.

People born between 1957 and 1976 may have been vaccinated too young for life-time immunity while those born between 1976 and 1980 may have gotten ineffective vaccine doses, the CDC said.

The deficiency is emerging nationwide on campuses like the University of Maine, where 400 students without current immunization records are being excluded from classes until March 19 because of an outbreak among 45 students.

Earlier this month, a 30case outbreak in Allegan County, Mich., caused a high school baskerball game to be played without fans. The University of Oregon, citing the growing number of cases among young adults, will require all new students pext fall to have been vaccinated for the dis-

That requirement is fast becoming standard policy for colleges, Seatron said. "An outbreak really upsets the whole routine of a university. After spring break, they have final exams coming out, seniors are going to job interviews. These people can't afford to have the disease at this time."

Outbreaks also have hit Arnish communities in Canton, Minn., and Cattaraugus County, N.Y. In Canton, the measles struck 17 people in five families and curtailed visits until the outbreak subsided. Amish traditionally oppose vaccination for religious reasons.

Twenty year ago, hopes were high that measles would be vanquished. Public vaccination programs moved successfully toward that goal and in 1983, the number of cases hit an all-time low of 1,500. Since then, however, the number of cases has surgest.

Number of measles cases Messles cases in the United States hit an al-time low at 1,500 in 1930 before soaring to 16,236 last year. "So far this year, there have been 1,150 cases, more than double the united reported by this time last year."

*The 1989 number is preliminary. Source: Centers for Disease Control

Scott Davis, Gannett News Service

Protesting administration policies can backfire

Students should be aware of what they can expect to achieve

By CAROL BRADLEY

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

WASHINGTON — It may be months before a true victor emerges from the two-week sit-in at Tennessee State University, but a rash of similar campus protests in the past year have yielded mixed results. For every Howard University in Washington — where Republican National Chairman Lee Atwater resigned from the board of trustees last March after angry students occupied a building for three days — there is University of Massachusetts. There, Pentagon supported research rolls along despite a series of student demonstrations opposing it.

Last May at Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif., 53 students sezzed President Donald Kennedy's office for a day to protest racism on campus and the scarcity of minority faculty at the school.

Stanford is seeking minority hires, but had started the search before the protest, administrators say.

In the meantime, a judge convicted each of the students of trespassing and sentenced them to six months of probation and 40 hours of community service — on top of 75 hours of community service meted out by the

At TSU in Nashville, students ended their sit-in March 8 with an agreement to pay for damages caused to the administration building and for long-distance phone calls they made. They also agreed their behavior was

"improper."
In return, the administration has promised to make financial records available to students, put greater emphasis on maintenance and repairs, and form a committee to monitor concerns — prompting both sides to declare victory.

The success of student protests is not always absolute, however.

The same month of the Stanford protest, black students at Michigan State University in East Lansing ended a weeklong six-in at the administration building after school officials agreed to consider the protesters' 36 requests regarding minority concerns.

Among their demands was that Michigan State appoint a vice presicent or assistant provost to monitor minority affairs. The school did create a position of minority adviser, though somewhat lower on the flow chart.

omewhat lower on the flow chart.

The person who filled the new job.

Lee June, said that while some of students' remaining requests have been addressed — for instance, the school has held a conference on black issues — officials have been "generally slow" to respond to other concerns, such as hiring minority faculty. Regardless, June said, the protest served a purpose; At a school where

Regardless, June said, the protest served a purpose: At a school where blacks comprise only 6 percent of the 42,000 students enrolled, "They got the administration's attention and moved along the agenda further."

The key to a successful protest may lie in knowing in advance what concessions a college or university is willing to make, said Dave Cutler, a representative of the Washingtonbased United States Student Association.

"As long as students are aware of what they're capable of achieving, a sufficiently organized student body can get just about anything," Cutler said.

At tmy Paine College in Augusta, 0a, 300 of the school's 550 students staged a 27-hour sit-in last September to protest security conditions in the wake of an on-campus shooting. The school responded by installing highintensity lights on campus, arming its five security guards at night and setting us security booths at both earmous entrances.

The only demand not agreed to, Paine spokeswoman Therese Griffin sard, was to fence in the entire 54-acre

At Gallaudet University for the deaf in Washington, students convinced the administration to replace a new hearing president with a deaf president

The school overlooked a more muor request: that a majority of the university's board of trustees be deaf. Though additional deaf members have been added to the 16-member board, the majority — nine — are still hearing.

Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles appointed an 11-member commutee of foculty, alumni and community leaders to monitor race relations after five students walked into President James N. Loughran's office last April and refused to leave until he addressed racela mobilems.

Just last week, students at Morgan State University in Baltimore ended a weeklong protest by convincing the administration to install more lights and hire six more security guards.

No progress was reported, however, on the students' biggest request — for more state aid.

WSMC to host Adventist Radio Network Conference

By Lisa Rosaasen

The annual Adventist Radio Net work (ARN) Conference will be hosted by affiliate WSMC March 28-30 on the Southern College campus in Lynn Wood Hall 206.

Dan Landrum, program director at Southern College's radio station WSMC, said he is excited not only about WSMC's renewed involvement but that they have been chosen as the host for this year's conference.

Approximately 30 radio stations representatives from North America with the farthest being from station VOAR in Newfoundland will attend, as well as representatives from 11 Is Written and Adventist World Radio.

The largest topic of discussion will focus on the planning of the coverage of the General Conference Session to be held July 5-14 in Indianapolis, Indiana. The coverage team has already been appointed fro this upcoming conference. Landrum will be working on the team as a reporter.

Another emetal topic will concern the structure of Adventist Radio Network and whether it should become a part of Adventist World Radio.

Additional topics of discussion will include network programming, new stations interested in network affiliation, and reports from current station members and officers that one members and officers that station management problem-solving session with Lee Meinyre, the representative of KSON in La. Sierra, California. Officers for

Adventist Radio Network will be elected.

The National Association of Broadcasting (NAB) meeting will be held in Atlanta the week before the ARN Conference. Steve Vistaunert, current president of ARN, said they to hold both conferences at about the same time and place so that representatives are able to attend both meetings.

The Cafe Staff: Photo feature by Sean Terretta and Heather Wise

Sure, we all eat there (most of us, anyway), and sure, we say "hi" to the servers and checkers, but we rarely notice the people who are working "behind the scene" to produce balanced meals, three times a day, seven days a week, on time.

Tuesday night was pizza night, making things a little easier on the staff, but there was still plenty to

Marie Featress pouring soy milk

Doris Lasao and Dan Woodruf preparing dessert and checking stock

James Choi has perfected his pizza slicing technique.

Kim Chang carving the loaf

Chris Fuller washing up

Miller sliding another set of pizzas into the warme

Recycling: a fun, easy way to save the world from near certain destruction at the hands of uncaring Reagan administration environmental policy makers (really)

By MARY DOLAN

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Most everyone agrees that recycling is a good idea, but few find time to

People get sick of the newspapers piled in the basement and throw them out with the trash. Out, too, go all those empty cans and plastic soda bottles they planned to return to the store. Feeling guilty, they chuck glass in the garbage

It's just too much of a chore to sort trash or spend the morning hauling junk to separate recycling centers. But there are things everyone can do to make the recycling chore easier. First, get organized. There are many products to help get a handle on the mess. For example, tying a knot around a slippery pile of newspapers can be tricky. But not if papers are stored in a rack, available through catalogs. A wooden model, decorated with carved ducks, can be ordered for $34.95 plus shipping from Svoboda Industries in Kewaunce, Wise. Call (800) 678-9996

Hold Everything, a subsidiary of Williams Sonoma, sells a wire

wspaper rack for $7. To order, call (415) 421-4242

The company also sells products to help recyclers get a grip on empty bottles and cans. Its recycling cenwhich sells for $45, holds three, 13gallon plastic trash bags, useful for sorting returns and recyclables.

There's a space to stack newspapers, complete with spools to hold string. Rubbermaid also makes conta that make home recycling easier Available locally at hardware and home stores, the company's squansh 15-gallon bins stack to save space. Use one for newspapers, another for cans, a third for bottles. Handles and drain plugs make the bins easy to carry and clean. The containers are made of recycled plastic and sell for about $12

Other Rubbermaid bins are sized to hold three grocery bags in a row, or newspapers spread flat. These range in price from $6 to $11.

Once those eans, bottles and plastics are organized, it's time to attack the organic garbage. Grass clippings, along with kitchen scraps such coffee grounds, egg shells, fruit peelings and vegetable tops, can be recycled by throwing them in a backyard compost pile. Spread the deteriorated mixture over zucchini or roses and watch them thrive.

Annual Talent show scheduled for Sunday

By Daryl Cole

"The Few, the Proud, the Talented," the 1990 SA talent show, will occur in the gyn sium on Sunday, March 25 at 8 o.m. Entrants will perform their talents and compete for east prizes. Winners will receive $100 for first place, $75 for second place, and $50 for third place. But all entrants that have passed the screening committee will receive $25 just for entering and performing Harvey Hillyer, the SA social vice president, and Daryl Cole, Hillyer's assistant will emore the show. They will stall for me between acts by hosting "Amazing Gerbil Tricks" and other time fillers

The show is open to anyone who wants to come "The young, the old, the married, the single, those in love, or those just casually dating; all are invited to experience Southern's talent," said Hillyer

The Southern College Symphons Orchestra will join organist Judy Glass and planist Bruce Ashton in concert on Saturday, March 24, at 3 p.m. in the Collegedate Seventh-day Adventist Church "Concerto for Organ and Orchestra" by early American composer, Horatic Parker, will feature Judy Glass as the soloist. She will perform on the Anton Heiller Memorial Organ, one of the Jaroest North American trackers built in this century.

Bruce Ashton, pranist, will perform 'Andante," the third movement of Brahm's Piano Concerto No. 2

Two works featuring the Symphony Orchestra include "Symphony No. 8 in b minor," by Schubert, and three movements of "Brandenburg Concerto No. 1" by J.S. Bach. The latter will feature two homs, three oboes, a bassoon, a piccolo violin, and strings

The 70-member Symphony Orchestra is conducted by Orlo Gilbert, professor of music at Southern College. The group will perform for a dinner concert on April 22. Tickets are $15 and may be purchased through the Music Department at Southern College

Judy Glass has been associate professor of organ at Southern College since 1975. She studied with Anton

Ashton and Glass in concert Saturday night

By Andrea Nicholson

Heiller at the Vienna Academy of Music, and has participated in the International Organ Course in Haarlem, Holland. In 1981, she was the guest soloist and lecturer for the Northwest Regional Convention of the American Guild of Organists. She is currently the organist for the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church and the First Presbyteman Church of Dr. Bruce Ashton has served

Southern College as assistant professor of music since 1968. He received his doctorate in music from the university of Cincinnati in 1971. Ashton is a member of the Southern College Symphony Orchestra and has composed works for significant college events

For more information about this free concert, contact the Music Department of 238,2880

FORBIDDEN FORTUNE $30,000,00 PER MONTH EVERY MONTH!

mand everywhere, yet few people even it casts. Within 30 days you can be ing $30,000.00 a month, every month enjoying $30,000.00 a month, every month Don't Enry me Jolo me! Imagne, never again having to worry about your financial status. Imagine purchasing that special home for your family or driving a Brand New Mercodes. All this and much more are now possible for you to achieve, with my easy-to-follow Deluxe Bossessi. m. When you order my Deluxe m today, I will offer you FREE, ed, telephone consultation, included manual is my unpublished phone number for your personal use. Call any and I will be happy to help you with

No, this has nothing to do with Real Strate proving the Latterion Gernhilly. "PERFECTLY LEGAL and does not require special talent or long hours. It's verunissed and uniquely designed for each person that uses it. There is no "face to face selling or large timestiment required.

NO INVESTMENT NECESSARY I started my program for under $15.00 and you can do the same. It's as valid now as it was 2 years ago, In fact, with the trend of the Nation's economy today, my program is even your program 2 months ago and I now make more money in 1 month than I did all last year. Thank-you so much for your easy to

M.L. Sterling, Vo. File #225 I have never seen M.L. Sterling, Vo. File 1225 I have never seen procurate to easily to commit at thems. Believe me I have sent for numerous so called get rich schemes. None of them worked and they just cast me money. I storted your program for less than $10.00 and I now are never $24,000.00 per month. Thank-you so works.

TAKE THE $25,00 CHALLENGE

Joey Pollom to give vespers concert

Christian Singer, Joey Pollom, will appear in concert Friday, March 23 at 8 p.m. in the Collegedate Academy

Having previously appeared the musical groups Ecanto uri, Die Meister, and Something Special, Pollom now

Pollom's love for God motivates him to sing. "I like to sing songs that convey experiences that I've had in my spiritual journey," said Pollom, "They come from the heart, and people can

Pollom graduated from Southern College with B.A. in Religion Currently he is a Job Specialist at Soddy Daisy High School. Pollom's wife. Debbie, is presently in the nursing program at Southern College They have three children.

The concert will focus on a practical life with Christ. Admission is free, but a love offering will be taken.

PDC Corporation Chemanyo Rd. New Hartford, NY 13413 Dept. 9003

Dear Ros.

vers
Name
Address
City
State	Zup

ston, Tx. File #195 I was working 2 handling of your package, ust barely getting by. I begon using

Jesus said, "Do you truly love me?" . . . "Take CARE of my sheep." John 21:16 NIV

"Setting our Sights on the Saviour"

Destiny Drama Company does California during Spring Break

By Rick Mann

It was raining the afternoon of March 1st when Destiny Drama Co. left Southern to head for the West Coast. It was the beginning of their California Spring Break Tour (March 1-12) that would include performances at Pacific Union College, seeing the

tion, the participants not only learned about becoming better performers but also more about themselves and each other

Before heading off to their first academy performance, Destiny visited such places as St. Helena, Elmshaven (Ellen White's House), and Calastoga. Also, they stopped by 'Frisco (tourist lingo) to see the Golden Gate Bridge and Lombard St., the world's curviest street

Throughout the next week. Destiny bit four academies in Northern California: Rio Lindo Academy, Golden Gate Academy, Monterey Bay Academy, and Lodi Academy. Everywhere the drama troupe went, they were well received. Stanley Baldwm, principal of Lodi Academy said, "You guys were right on ... you addressed issues important to our school

While performing for all those academy young people, Destiny took some time out between performances to take it easy and see the sights...it WAS Spring Break after all. San Francisco was visited again, but this time it was to ride the famous cable cars and visit Fisherman's Wharf, where one can see street performers, "weirdos" and Alcatraz Penttentiary. Also, they stopped by a few Northern California beaches. Goat Rock was the favorite of most of Youth Summit rallies all over the country. "It was a real privilege to be part of the first one," commented Allan Martin

When it was all over, Destiny and the leaders of Youth Summit talked about the day. "Destiny helped fill a void," said Steve Case, "You were there to bridge the gap between us and the kids." Blake also had several words of appreciation after the one-day rally was over

In the span of only twelve days, the Destiny Drama Co. performed fo rover 4000 people. It's difficult to say if their performances had a direct effect on people's lives, but Destiny member Tricia Greene said, "If the Holy Spirit used us to help only one person grow closer to God it was worth it "

Destiny sets "Eyewitness" performance for April 6

The Destiny Drama Company will perform the play "Eyewitness" at 8:00 p.m., Friday evening, April 6, 1990, at the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Students, faculty, administrators, and staff are invited attend this home performance. The Destiny Drama Company's home performance is an annual event which ends their touring season "Eyewitness" is an original work commissioned to commemorate the troupe's tenth anniversary season. "Eyewitness" is a stirring portrayal of a modern Christ and the significant effect He has on His contemporaries. Powerfully bringing the pertinence and personality of Jesus Christ into a 20th century setting, "Eyewitness" explores the relationships of 1990's men and romen to living Messiah. Co-written and directed by David Denton, Destiny's 6-year veteran, "Eyewitness" is sure to carry the exceptional humor, drama, and message characteristic of this troupe Utilizing pantomime, vignettes, plays, and street drama, the Destiny Drama Company performs throughout the United States for high schools, colleges, and youth rallies. To support Destiny's outreach ministry, a freewill offering will be taken following the

For more information regarding the Destiny Drama Company home performance of "Eyewitness," eall Allan Martin at 615-238-2724.

Golden Gate Bridge, visiting numerous academies in Northern California, and concluding in Sacramento for the country's first ever Youth Summit The schedule was full and everyone in the troupe was ready for a "West Coast Experience' The first leg of the California Tour

ook Destiny to Pacific Union College Everyone in the troupe was excited and nervous at the same time about being on the PUC campus; they were unsure how a group of "Southerners" would be received on the West Coast so everyone remained on their toes

Close to 1500 people attended the vespers program at the PUC church that Friday night. Destiny's program which included the pieces "The New Christian" and "Soldiers of Light" was well received by the audience

The fears of the troupe were relieved when they heard loud laughing and hardy "AMEN's". Also, many its came up and personally thanked the members for the vespers program.

Sabbath morning, the drama trop put on a Sabbath School for 400-500 people in Paulin Hall (Ackerman equivalent). Destiny performed some of their street drama material which focuses in on "forgiveness" and a "strong foundation in Christ"

Later that afternoon, Destiny put on a 2 1/2 hour drama workshop emp sizing the seven precepts of Christian Drama. Learning such skills as projection, diction, and characteriza the troupe because of its eliffs, rocky coast line, and its spectacular view of the crashing waves. After a busy and relaxing week all rolled up in to one, Destiny loaded up the van and headed for Sacramento for their last exciting weekend. to end the tour, Destiny took part in the country's first every Youth Summit, a youth rally sponsored by Insight magazine to kick off their new evangelistic publication Insight/Out which was held at Carmichael SDA Church. Led by Steve Case, youth pastor at Carmichael, and Chris Blake editor of Insight, the estimated crowd of 100-125 youth swelled close to 300. The idea of Youth Summit is to bring youth closer to God by letting them know that being a Christian is a lot of fun. Blake's goal is to have

For the Health of it

By Darlene Almeda, R.N.

Q: Why do some people have such adverse reactions to caffeine products such as No-Doz and Vivarin and some of us don't?

A: I believe it all depends on how sensitive one is to caffeine. Many people are not aware that taking over-the-counter caffeine medications is not quite the same as drinking a Coke or Manutain Power of the warker.

Mountain Dew to stay awake.
Did you know that No-Doz has 100 milligrams of caffeine and Vivarin has 200 mg? One can compare those figures to the 46 mg in Coke and 54 mg in Mountain Dew. So as you can see, taking one Vivarin equals 3.7 cans of Mountain Dew. Adverse reactions to caffeine products include rapid pulse, respirations with hyperventilation, confusion, irritability, nausea, hallucinations, convulsions, and in extreme cases, coma. It takes approximately 5-6 hours for the body to metabolize half the amount of the caffeine ingested by an adult. this means that the symptoms will remain with you for a while.

The harmful effects of caffeine are quite evident, yet many not only choose to ingest it but go as far as sharing with their friends No-Dox and Vivarin as an aid for staying awake to study. That is a great responsibility to take into one's hands knowing that everyone reaces to caffeine differently. You'd be a fool for giving it to a friend and a greater one for taking it.

The G.P.A. Reaper claims another victim.

A scramble to the top We sat an everage of 244 agos a year. We not at 8 worde eggs than woman. How we like them: Percent Preferred Prescribed 34% Boulon MTCA Internation Bourton MTCA Internation

Suggested reading from McKee library

By A. Lee Bennett, Jr.

Author Denny Rydberg has written a book that should be of great interest to many college students. How to Survive m College is a "survival system". Awritten in a consfortable style that makes reading about both work and play in college easy. Rydberg includes good general information succeeding in courses, as well as specific advice on ways to review for vanous types of tests. This includes information on attending Christian colleges and generally has a Christian

"Those of you interested in escape stories will like this one." The Longest Tonnel, by Alan Burgess, "focuses on 'the great escape' of World War II and its consequences. Burgess provides insight into the haphazard nature of the final months of the Nazi regime and a description of survivor's fates."

NCAA Tournament Sweet Sixteen filled with surprises

By MIKE LOPRESTI

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network. Texas?

Ball State?

Xavier's What if they gave an NCAA regional and nobody you expected

Bloody Sunday is over, and the NCAA Tournament is down to the Sweet 16 It doesn't have No. 1 seed Oklahoma, Or No. 2 seeds Purdue, Kansas or Arizona - a shocking 22 point loser to Alabama. Or Geor getown, Louisville or Missouri. One after another, the big names were carried out on their shields, while the little guys danced at midcourt. The

NCAA bracket is beginning to sound like the NIT It doesn't have defending champion

Michigan. Not anymore. It doesn't have one team from the Big Eight, the league that controlled the top of the polls all season. The Plains went ploohy.

Of the 16 teams seeded in the top four in each region, nine were uoset Last year? Only three took the early

But it is March, and drama has hit the eround running

They played 16 games Saturday and Sunday. Twelve were decided by four points or less. The Super Bowl, this isn't "There are no easy teams left," Texas coach Tom Penders said after his Longhorns sounned Purdue, "But I didn't see any, anyway Nobody was safe. Michigan State, pride of the Big Ten, huffed past Murray State and puffed past California-Santa Barbara There is a 12th seed still running Ball State is in the regional for the first

So is 10th-seeded Texas and 6th seeded Xavier

"The big thing was," Xavier coach Pete Gillen said after his team beat Georgetown, "our players believed they could win. We're closing the gap on these superpowers

They all believe now. From Prince ton to Northern Iowa.

Before this past week, Ball State and Yavier had each won one NCAA tournament game in history. Now they're both in the regional. Proud old names of questionabl current strength also moved in.

There is UCLA, which hasn't been this far since Larry Brown took the Bruins to the national title game in 1980 There is North Carolina, which spent much of the season answering questions about why it was supposedly the worst Tar Heel team since either the Neanderthal era or before Dean Smith was coach, whichever came

"Now," said Rick Fox, the Tar Heel whose basket sank Oklahoma, "people will look at us differently

Meanwhile, Loyola Marymount builds on a story for the ages. Emotion has driven the Lions to an unimagnable level - 149 points worth against Michigan Sunday. With each assing victory, another layer goes on

The Big Eight had the best rankings this season. The Rig Ten had the most teams invited. Seven But now that we have a Sweet 16, mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the sweetest of them all?

The Atlantic Coast Conference Five teams came in, four are still going. And Virginia just missed. The Big Ten, meanwhile, is down to two

The bad-news league goes good. The league that gave us probation at Maryland and a cesspool at North Carolina State also gives us one-fourth of the remaining field. An early look at the four region-ale EAST - Connecticut is the one top seed that breezed through the first weekend, the Huskies' pressure defense is beginning to look like a ticket to Denver. Next up for Connecticut is Clemson, which spent the weekend on the brink; winning only because BYU missed a late layup and rallying from 19 back to beat La Salle

"God gave us this game Clemson's Ricky Jones said after the BYU scare. "The rest we have to win on our own

In the other game are Duke and UCLA, who last met in the tournament in 1964, when a man named John Wooden won his first champi

Duke has won three of the last four regionals played in East Ruther-

SOUTHEAST - Top-seed Michigan State made its way through the early rounds with defense, but will have to turn things up to get past Georgia Tech in New Orleans.

Minnesota and Syracuse meet in the other game. This is the one region that went almost exactly according to MIDWEST - This was a disaster area for the favorites. The top three seeds are cone.

No. 4 seed Arkansas is the favorite. but the Razorbacks have serious obstacles in Oallas, beginning with North Carolina, which may be just hitting its peak.

Or do the Tar Heels have a letdown after knocking off Oklahoma? "Not a chance," guard King Rice said. "We've struggled a lot, and we're not going to lapse now. We want to make the final show. The other game is the duel of the underdogs, with Xavier against Texas, which had the rotten luck of having to play Purdue in Indianapolis, but comes back to Texas for the regional in Dalles

"A lot of people booed us there during the Southwest Conference tournament," Penders said.

WEST - All hearts will go out and all eyes will be on Loyola, which was dropped to 11th seed because of Hank Gathers' death. The Lions meet

Nevada-Las Vegas would appear to be the favorite, especially in the first game against unheralded Ball State, the first Mid-American Conference team to get to this round in 11 years,

In celebration of April Fools, humor, and Southern wit: presenting the first (and maybe last) annual April Fools

PHOTO CONTEST

$15

Submit your fabulously funny photos or sublimely salacious snapshots to the Accent office by March 27. A cash prize of $15 will be awarded to the best (or maybe the worst) of the entries. Any submissions may be used in the Accent, but will be returned to you.

Jeff Dionise, Gannett News Service

Egg controversy rages

Will an egg balance on end only on the first day of spring? Several Southern College students believe so.

Andy Nash, freshmen PR major, Accent Religion editor and charter member of the Viking Club is one of the foremost proponents of this theory. He brought his egg balancing act to the student center Tuesday afternoon This only works on the first day of spring. I challenge anybody to balance an egg Thursday," said Nash.

Greg Bush agreed, "It may have to do with the internal biorythms of the egg. The yolk expands and sinks lower causing the egg to balance."

According to Daniel Potter, "the gravitational pull of the moon on the yelk auses the balancing effect."

However, there are skeptics.

Jon Nash stated that the whole thing is est an old wives tale like the Groundhog Oay legend

In an attempt to resolve this versy, the Accent staff contacted Dr. Henry Kuhlman, professor of Physics, by ne on Tuesday evening, Kuhlman stated, "I know of no rela onship between the celestial happenings and the internal mechanics of an egg."

When told of Kuhln Andy Nash replied, "Dr. Kuhlman hasn'i seen my egg!"

Andy Nash, Beverly Keyes and the incredi

Southern invaded by Music Festival participants

Academy students from all across the Southern Union, gathered here this past weekend for the 32nd annual Southern Union Music Festival, Southern because of the wonderful Nearly 350 kids began arriving Wednesday might, with their music memorized and ready to be directed by Southern College's professors of was, Dr Marvin Robertson. Accompanying on the piano was, Dr Bruce Ashton. The festival strings were directed by Orlo Gilbert, and conducting the festival band was Patricia

'The kids really enjoyed their stay here at Southern. I got a chance to talk to some of the girls, and alet of them are considering coming to experience they had here," said

Shannon Johnson. Dr Marvin Robertson said, " They were one the best groups as being prepared, and talented, considering past music festivals."

Bags were packed and buses were loaded Saturday night as all the kids left just as quickly as they came Another Southern Union Music Festival come and gone, and everyone had a great time

Sign up now by completing the coupon, or call us toll-free at 1-800-USA-0001, and ask for Operator 513.

USA AT PLAY

TO

VIEWPOINTS

What do you think of the plan to install security monitors in the girl's dorm?

I'm against it because people shouldn't be spied on when they walk down the hall

If we have to have cameras the guys should, too. -Rebecca Webb

I feel it's an invasion of the ladies' privacy. -Rodney Brown

Girls are gonna be more sneaky with these monitors around. -Jeff Newell

I thought we were living in dorm rooms not

-Bobby Stover

I don't livein the girl's dorn so I don't care -David Koliadko

There are other ways of doing security. We don't need to be monitored. -Heidi Bergstrom

The girl's dorm is their home. I wouldn't want cameras in my home. -Daniel Potter

Upcoming Events

March 19-30

Advisement for Summer/ Fall

March 23-24

SA Reverse Weekend

Merch 23
Southern College Concert

Band Vespers 8 p.m.

Joey Pollom, Christian Singer Collegedale Academy 8

March 24
Organ (Judy Glass)
SC Symphony Orchestra

Piano (Dr. J. Bruce Ashton) Concert Collegedale Church 3 p.m.

"Something Special" Collegedale Academy 8 p.m.

March 25 SA Talent Show March 29

Senior Recognition Assembly Collegedale Church 11

March 30

Robert Folkenberg, Jr. Collegedale Church, 8 p.m.

March 31

Andrews University Gymnics P.E. Center 8 p.m.

April 1

Time Change! Set clocks forward one hour.

International Extravaganza Cafeteria 6:30 p.m. (Tickets on sale in Student Center and in Summerour Hall, can be charged to Student ID card).

We just wanna have fun

When saked what's more important — work or lelaure thin — work no forger wins. How althodes have changed:

| Work | Lelaure |

The Public Pulse survey of 2,000 soults

Suzy Parker, Gannett News Service

Page 4

Volume 45, Number 14

Not the unofficial Student Newspaper for any southern college we know of

Page 2

March 32, 1990

=xtra xtra

(There's really nothing extra in this issue but we just always wanted to do a headline like this!)

Wright Hall collapses forming large pile of rubble

Tunneling C.A.R.E. workers blamed for damage to historic structure

By Edgar Allen Poe

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

At about 2 00 am on Sunday, March 25, 1990, the residents of Collegedale were awakened by the sound of shattening glass and crumbling masonry Talge Hall resident Ted Showalter rushed to his window to see what was going on. "It was amazing," he said. "I saw Wright Hall tumbling to the ground right before my tioned about the very eyes

Rescue workers, log and Jeremy Greenleaf were among the first Herman had been on the scene "We were able to determine fairly quickly that no one was in the building," said Joe. "However we brought in Stan Hobbs' dog Butch to sniff the rubble anyway just in case." "We were hoping a fire would break out so we could ride around on the back of the fire truck and spray water on it but it wasn't to be so everybody just went back to bed."

On Monday, inspectors from the Service and Engineering Departments moved in to check on the damage. In the process, they discovered the cause of the collapse. A tunnel had been constructed under the building An expert Spelunking team lead by Jo-Anno Stevenson ventured into the riurs of the tunnel and found that it lead to the room of CARE director Ed

Santana. When ques tunnel Santana con fessed that he and Jim attempting to tunnel into Thatcher Hall "We got off course somewhere under Taylor Circle and abandoned the project about two months ago," he said. Investigators were puzzled as to why it had taken so long for the tunnel to cause Wright Hall to collapse until they found out that Amy Grant's "Lead Me On" had been playing on the stereo in the Southern Accent office that night According to Dr. Henry Elvis Presley , freshman Music major, shakes hands with former President Richard Nixon who flew in from San Clemente Tuesday to inspect the damage to Wright Hall.

Kuhlman, the harm nic vibrations of the Heavy Metal Rock Music combined with a the high tides in southern Nova Scotia that night caused a weakening of the tunnel's supporting beams. When the beams gave way, Wright Hall went down with them

Experts from the Deptment of Auto Body Repair have been at work on Wright Hall since early Wednesday. "With a little Bondo and some minor repairs to the trim, we'll have her fixed up good as new in no time."

Qualley suffering from rare disease

By William Blake

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Ron Qualley, Dean of Men, was rushed to Zoo Atlanta last Monday evening after suffering a severe attack of lycanthropy over the weekend. "He can be a real bear sometimes." his wife commented. "but I've never seen him get this bad before

Doctors at the University of Georgia's Center for Lycanthrop Research and Control said that Qualley suffers from a rare mutation of the disease. "Most people turn into a werewolf when they have an attack," said Dr. Alfred Einstein director of the Lycanthropy Control Unit at Zoo Atlanta. "Qualley turns into a bear

The attack was apparently brought on by anxiety induced when Angel Echemendia failed to bring Qualley a cap from the NCAA tournament held recently in Knoxville. Qualley's wife reported that the dean had not been sleeping well for over a week because of the incident "He would toss and turn and mumble to himself comething about 'that dirty rotten Angel. First he breaks my Doctors expect that Quality will return to normal within the next few weeks "He's resting comfortably now. He attacked one of the handlers earther today because he was wearing a Oakland A's 1990 World Champions T-shirt. But, we've all put on San Francisco Grants caps now and he's calmed down considerably."

Qualley recovering at zoo

basketball goal, then he doesn't get me a hat," she said

Letter to the co-co-editor

I'm in charge here...

Dear Editor,

In light of the hectic events of the last two weeks, I would like to point out to those misanthropic individuals who feel the need to deride Nev Mexicans in order to uplift there own personal states, that, under the current state of martial law, the editor of the official voice of Southern College is also the official censor of Southern College.

1 am therefore empow ered to stop any and all public statements against the fair state of New Mexico and its inhabitants. Needless to say my emergency powers give me full right of summary suspension and arbitrary expulsion. Having said this, I would like to point out that supreme control is now within my grasp

As new dictator/editor of Southern College and therefore of Collegedale, itself, I ently expel anyone who publicly denies that the board of trustees fired Don Sahly and the rest of the administrative faculty for gross negligence during the past two weeks.

That formality out of the way, I would like to point out that all able-bodied Collegedale personnel who do not report to my personal army within the next twenty. four hours are also subject to summary expulsion from Southern College for action contrary to the military press.

Logically, the next step is to overcome the citizens of Chattanooga (who have no strong ties to the Union, anyway, since that Civil War fiaseo) with our crack invasion team and forcibly enroll all of them in Southern College, thereby subjecting them to my ever-strengthening power

This serves the two-fold purpose of lowering next year's tustion rate and swelling our ranks Apply this method recursively, and I am, by default, the supreme ruler of the world. Ha, ha, ha, all mankind trembles at the thought. Bow low before THE EDITOR OF MAN-KIND. Death to the Bush tyrant1117 Lone live Emperor

"Hang on, what's this patient doing in the office."

"I don't know. Hey, I think the DictaPhone's still on "Well, turn it off..."

"You're expelled... you're al-I-I-I expelled.. bow low before .."

> Monte Mitzlefelt, Deranged Student

Southern Accident

Editor Armand Jean du Plessis. Duc de Richelieu

> Co-Editor Rene Descartes

Co-co-Editors Erich Stevens Tim Burrill Co-co-co-Editor Co-co-co-co-coco-Editor in charge of taking over small countries Mikhail Gorbachev

Bond, James Bond Co-co-co-co-Editor Joseph Goebbels

Final Editing and Proofreading The Spanish Inquistion

Co-co-co-co-co-Editor in charge of putting things on top of other things Heather Wise

Trained Moose provided by: Ted Evans

This results reverges to completely relacation. The sames of some of persons proper for throw these not singuistful are failed in the resultance to premate proper for throw these not exclusive the resultance of the resultance of in that last part but we couldn't help ourselves.) So

Students placed on CP, expelled after school song incident

By William Wordswort

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Elvis Presley, fteshmar music major, was expelled, and Edgar Allen Poe. Walla Walla transfer student, was put on lifetim Critizenship Probation last Sunday following an impromptu perform ance of the Southern College school

The duo set up their band in the middle of Taylor Circle and played to the homeless and the uto-body workers repairing Wright Hall. Students rushed from their dorm rooms to hear the music. This is the first time students anywhere have voluntarily attended a performance of a school song.

When asked why they chose this particular piece, Poe said, This is a song we utterly loathed for fifteen long years, but now we resurrected it in a slightly more tricky form to make it a little more fun to play Elvis agreed, "Yep."

Obviously, the students enjoyed the performance. Even the radical militant feminists left off their heckling long enough to listen in on the concert

But not everyone was happy Dr. McArthur, history department chairman, called the performance "an abomination...literally shame and degradation... worse than burning flags. McArthur contacted Dr Sahly who had been conferring with Richard Nixon on methods for student control Sahly immediately unplugged Elvis' microphone, abrubtly ending the concert

Suhly said, "In light of the hectic events of last week, it wouldn't be prudent at this juncture to allow this sort of behavior. Before Sahly, rock With Sahly, no rock After Sahly, who can say? All I wanted was to be assured of my place in history."

Grates for the homeless

Δ Modest Proposal

Ry Mohatma Gahndi

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Annie College Information Network

In a desperate attempt to alve the homeless question once and for all Clifford Olsen, instructor of business law, gave a rousing speech in support of "Ohms for the Poor," a con servative reformist coalition

Calling on students, faculty, d the Committee of 42, Olsen said, "We have been ignoring the misfortunate long enough. It's time to stop talking and do something. Calls from the pulpit, appeals to our refined sensibilities, nothing seems to work."

Olsen went on to explain how this Practical Solution would be implemented in much the same way as the old self-cleaning bug zappers in horse barns. He said, "Vagrants will be attracted to the heat, get comfortable on the grate, then each half hour-zan!

Robert Merchant, Ohms for the Poor Treasurer in Chief, says this can be implemented at a cost of only $19.95 monthly per grate

According to Elvis Presley, founder and charter member of Ohms for the Poor, "It's now or never. 1 ain't askin' much of you. Suspicious minds don't get all shook up about vagrants on local grates. People Olsen went on to suggest a more per manent solution. He calls his plan, "Grates for the Homeless.

But there is a twist These are no ordinary grates," Olsen says. "New York has grates, D.C. has grates, and all well populated. But Collegedale's grates ill be different. Ohms for the Poor has discovered a far more Practical Solution electrified grates would rather see the jailhouse rock from overcrowding than actually solv ing the problem at its source. Don't be cruel, give them hound dogs a break from the heartbreak hotel These same respectable people who are so apathetic about a live burn will really get excited about a dead one. Take me for example...

1988-89 Accent Assitant to receive coveted Martin award

RY H I Mencken

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

The 1988-89 Southern Accent has been posthumously selected to receive the coveted Martin award for excellence in assistant editorship The Amencan Society for the Protection of Martinism and Prevention of Coselty to Small Furry Animals (ASPMPCSFA) instituted the award only last Thursday during a heated session of the Executive Steering Committee for Deciding What Kind of Award We Should Give Out Every Year (ESCDWKAWSGOEY).

Brian Miller, former Viking Club president and member of the ASPMPCSFA ESCHWKAWSGOEY, said. "Once we finally decided that we were going to give the award out we found that the only candidate which met all the requirements was the assistant editor of the now defunct '88-'89 Southern Accent. We carefully screened all the possible candidates and found he was the only one who faithfully adhered to the tenets of Martinism and was also extremely kind to small furry animals Unfortunately, no one can remember his name so we're just going to have a kind of generic plaque made up in his memory '

Elvis Presley, acting Chairposthumous-personage of the ASPMPCSFA called last years paper, "the greatest college newsp per in the history of the whole world_realty " "Don't be cruel, I just wanna be your Teddy Bear...Unh-Huh!" he added.

Edgar Allen Poc, executive assistant to the acting Chair-posthumous-personage, stated that he really liked, "the positive upbeat tone of the newspaper." "I'd like to say more about the truly outstanding nature of the Accent but there seems to be a gentle tapping at my chamber

The generic plaque will be awarded at a special ASPMPCSFA awards hanquet scheduled for April 31 Everyone is invited to attend. Please bring your own stolen silver ware from the cafeteria to cat with as the ASPMPCSFA Committee for Stealing Silverware From the Cafeteria has only been able to smuggle out three spoons and half of a salt shaker so far this semester.

Anyone who is interested in joining the ASPMPCSFA should contact Alex "William Jennings" Bryan at 238-3174 and send $100.00 in small demonimations of unmarked currency to the Southern Accent office Suspected chemical weapons plant targeted by Israelis

By Benjamin Disaeli ©Copyright 1990, USA TO-

DAY/Apple College Information A previously disregarded letter from a Southern College SM in Lebanon was translated early this morning by Dr. L. Hanson, former Lebanese mathematician The letter outlines secret details of a joint Israeli-West German strike on the pipe organ which they ap parently believe to be a clever disguise for a chemical weapons plant. When asked for comment, freshman pre-engineering major Dallas Morisette said that he suspected something like this

Olsen agreed. "It was this Proposal- p. 8

Southern College students file multi-million dollar suit against pop singer McFerrin

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Edgar Allen Poe, a postgraduate transfer student from Walla Walla College, and Elvis Presley, Jr., a freshman Music major originally from Memphis, have filed a lawsuit in Hamilton County District court against singer-songwriter Bobby McFerrin.

The multi-million dollar sunt alleges that McFerrin stole the idea for his Top 20 hit "Don't Worry-Be Happy" from the duo.

At a preliminary hearing held last Wednesday, Presley said that Poe wrote the song sometime back in 1986, and Presley had been perform ing it on the sidewalk in front of the Red Food store in Ooltewah for over a year when they first heard the McFernn version. "Edgar and I we shocked. He took the whole song from us-every word, every note. He

Elvis Presley performs "Don'i Worry, Be Happy" at Red Food did leave out the verse about the ravens and the teddy bears, but, other than that, the two songs are identical." Poe was also asked to make a statement to Judge William "Wild Bill" Wohlers, but the bailiff determined that he was too badly decom-

Wohlers is expected to rule on the case sometime before next Friday unless there is a new moon on a Thursday any time during 1991, in which case he will not rule at all but just make some kind of mamby-pamby remarks and beat around the bush a lot.

Feminazis' attack on Accent repulsed

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

Militant feminists and animal rights activists met with a bloody repulse last Tuesday when they attempted to seize the offices of the Southern Accent. John Caskey, editor of the Accent, and Stan Hobbs, the newspaper's advisor, are believed to be holed up in the office which is currently reported to be under a state of siege

"We know they're in there, said Molly Yard, leader of the Fernina zis. "We can hear them listening to the Rush Limbaugh radio talk show We'll have them out pretty soor though: the Crack Environmental Suicide Squad members are strapping bombs to all over their bodies even as we speak. Death to male-chauvinist pigs! Death to frog-mutilators!"

When asked what Caskey had done Yard replied, "He's rude and wears a florescent green PING hat What more do I need to say

President Don Sahly has declared martial law on the campus of Southern College The declaration meludes a dusk to dawn curfew and provisions for arming SC's security police with rubber chickens

In an appeal broadcast to the feminists over WSMC radio Sahly called for the Feminazis to pull back and allow UN peacekeeping troops to take up positions around the perime ter. "We want to work toget peacefully for a negotiated settlement," he said.

No one is being allowed to go near the building, and there has been no independent confirmation of casualties; however, the feminist and Red Cross to set up a first aid station near their encampents in front of Daniels Hall. A Red Cross worker who asked to remain anonymous said, "We've treated hundreds of paper cuts and verbal abuse here in the last few hours. I only hope the carnage will end soon

Caskey had been holed up in animal rights activists have allowed the the Accent office for over two weeks mumbling to himself incoherently about the inconsistency of women and the merits of animal dissection. He had reportedly received death threats from women and animal rights groups all over the country.

Hobbs had gone to the office to attempt to convince Caskey to come out when the attack occurred sen, RN treats a severe paper cut suffered by one of the Feminazis during the attack on the Accent office.

Fiendish potato plot foiled by Chris "Indy" Indermuehle, unexpected Spanish Inqusition

By Salvador Dali

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

"Hello, and thank you for calling Dial-A-Menu! Today for dinner we're having baked potatocs, boiled potatoes, mashed potatoes, scalloped potatocs, tater-tots, french fries, early fries, cottage fries, Mexibites, and potato salad. Our hours are eleven-thirty to one.

It was with this depressing message that Chris "Indy" Indermuchle, began what has, without a doubt, been his greatest adventure ever, uncovering a terrifying web of international intrigue, espionage, and why the cafe only serves potatos

The Accent Co-co-co-editor reports that Indy sneaked through a rd floor Accent office window just after it started raining up. The militant feminists initial confusion due to this unexpected event gave Indy the time he needed to scale the outside wall and relay his story.

Indy said, "As I listened to that fateful message a cold chill ran down my spine. I could all but feel the insidious forces at work behind what I was hearing. For several months, I noticed a tuber trend in Southern's cuisine, but had passed it off as one of those oversights so often seen in collegiate cafes But I had obviously been wrong, and now a terrible pototo crisis has reared its bulbous head and tiny black eyes

According to Indy, Monte Mitzelfelt, sophomore computer seience major discovered that the transcendent aura and focusing power of the common potato greatly resembles that of the quartz crystal, during his travels in Belgium. After several minutes of intensive study, he ded a new menastic order cor ing elements of Lutheranism with the iato, a down to earth source of powerful harmonic vibes. He called it The Potato Head Groove Thing.

Committed to uplifting the Southern College intelligence quotient, Mitzelfelt abandoned his plan to build a pyramid over the campus and instead implemented potato power. He nuited huge numbers of converts who began performing daily rituals deep underground and cooking cold

To meet his ever increasing demand for tuber products, Mitzelfelt eventually had to set up a smuggling ring. He sold Reuben sandwiches to Mark Peach, his agent in Germany, in exchange for potatoes and obscure Arab fruit juices

To keep track of the finances,

a group of his acolytes kidnapped Bradley Hyde of the computer science denartment and the NeXT computer. but Mitzelfelt ended up doing all the accounting by hand when Hyd spent every waking moment playing che against the NeXT

Most recently, Mitzelfelt's monks found Jo-Anne Stevenson exploring dangerously near their catacombs and captured her

Indy ex plained that he had notified Dr. Douglas "Cardinal" Bennet of the Spanish Inquisition, and was on his way to rescue Steven-

When asked to comment about Mitzelfelt, Bennet said, Monte Mitzlefelt: deranged student

"Amongst our weaponry are such diverse elem surprise, ruthless efficiency, almost fanatical devotion to Sahly, and nice red uniforms. If the infidel does not confess, we will first poke him with the Soft Cusions, and then force him to sit in the Comfey Chair until lunch, with only an hour's break for a cup of tea around ten!"

Bones found encased in bell tower believed to be remains of former teamsterJimmy Hoffa

By John Donne

@Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Net-

Late last Thursday evening, the remains of an unidentified body were uncovered in the bell tower's concrete base during repairs. Bob Heller, bell tower contractor, was working at the time installing a new amplification device for the Elder Hostel's retirement getaway. Heller states,

"We were drilling out a hollow for the wiring when we hit some sort of metal. At first we thought it was a strut, but it turned out to be an old ring surrounded by bone fragments

Prominent sources at the Collegedale Police Department report, "The ring was badly damaged, but it was still easily identifiable as a Teamster's signet." Investigating authorities are reluctant to jump to conclusions regarding the identity of the body; however, an anonymous source echoes the general feeling of the nvestigation committee "It's Hoffs. It has to be. Look at the parallels. Foul play, Teamsters, for land's sake, the bell tower was built three hundred years after Nostradain 1978 (the year of Hoffa's disappearance). Everything matches. There's no doubt in my mind that the Hoffa case is going to be reo-Dental prints are now being analyzed at the Tennessee State Crime Lab to positively identify the remains, and, in a joint effort, a special forensic chemistry lab is being run by Dr. Mitchell Thiel, Southern College Chemistry professor. Thiel states, This is a very exciting opportunity for my students. Not often do we get access to a true specimen. I'm very pleased with the happenings." Shirley Devercaux, Chattanooga Times columnist, shares in the spreading excitement. Devereaux feels know anything about this that this incident "is a direct fulfillment of Nostradamus' 1658 prophecy which states 'Central standing stone of olde raises ve Westron Prince from his forgotten army.' I've always felt that the bell tower was actually a missing central monolith from Stonehenge." She is uncertain of the consequ of these events; however, she advises Southern students to be aware of the situation. "Look out for the worst Don't be afraid to run if you see the tower emanating a swirling vortex of blue planar energy. That could be potentially bad." She strongly urges us to "not let the prophecy go unheeded." Remarkably, Ted Naiman, Southern College freshman, claims to have made the same prediction over mus' death. "I knew something like that was going to happen someday. That bell thing is just psycho. It bongs every hour, time after time. I just stay students express the same fears. Jon Nash, senior physics major, is worried "It's really cerie at night when it's foggy, especially when you're late for worship. I never go through the parking lot alone worker, who prefers to remain unnamed, is worried also. "I don't woo-woo kind of thing, pumping power to the baby for ages. I don't see how it can run withou electricity-maybe it's solar or something. Even once in a while I recharge my car battery by parking next to it. I hadn't thought about it before, but it's kind of weird."

It certainly is Perhaps the matter will seem less unusual as more facts are uncovered. Until then, the Southern Seco force assures us that. "Campus protection will be as good as ever. Whatever happened, happened a long time ago. uthern students can sleep secure tonight."

The bell tower: Has it been tolling for Jimmy Hoffa since 1978?

Slice all you want... For more information about .. We'll make more animal dissection in cl CALL TOLL FREE DISSECTION INFORMATION HOTEINE 1-800-922-FROG (3764)

Carolina Biologogical Supply

Secret security surveillance systems existence revealed by Thatcher deans

By Sigmund Freud

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

In an impromptu press conference on the morning of March twenty-third. Thatcher deans revealed that a hidden surveillance system is already in limited use in the women's residence hall. After the furor among the assembled iournalists died down. Dean Rose said, "We hope to go full scale with the system within a month. No more night check, no more sneaking around. A computer will monitor all the cameras and ensure everyone's John Beckett, installation manager for Project Godiva, declared that "computer services will be writing an artificial intelligence program to protect the girls' best interest by making sure they are in on time and that no 'Peeping Tom's' are in there with them. In our minds, the sooner we get this system up, the sooner thievery and terptitude will

The Accident spoke to a number of the Ferninazis who sentiments of the student body. been planning some sort of demonstra tion for the past couple of weeks," said one activist. "This is only the most recent outrage of many committed against us.

"Shouldn't this be unconstitutional?" whined one particularly distraught student. "We're old enough to regulate our own lives. We don't need this invasion of our privacy

When Dean Engel was approached with these expressions of student sentiment she retorted, "They don't have to go to school here if they don't want to abide by our rules. We are only attempting to provide a securenvironment for our residents." On hearing this, Dean Hobbs is reported to have snorted. "How do we know what all those pictures are being used for? 1 think its a blatant infringement of the girls' privacy."

Shortly after the disclosure of the existing surveillance system, the Accident was unexpectedly contacted by an SC psychology graduate who has requested that she remain anonymou In an unprecedented show of loyalty to the Feminazi movement, our informant revealed that the data used in her senior seminar paper had not been collected body survey, but had been compiled from Thatcher Hall surveillance records.

these new facts Floyd Greenleaf, conseillance committee spokesperson, refused to offer a direct comment but asserted that any monitoring of the residence halls 18 not a violation of student rights Lauding the system Greenleaf pointed out that it had recently enabled them to avert a potentially scandal ous situation involving a pron though Greenleaf refused to disclose the identity of the Expert computer hacker, Linden DeCarmo. star, sources for The tapped directly into Thatcher's video surveillance National Engineer system to download this clandestine image. have placed Rob Lowe in the vicinity of Chattanooga at the time in question. When contacted at his California home Mr. Lowe had no comment, but did send his warmest greetings to the residents of Thatcher 207

Approaching the investigation of the surveillance system from another angle, the Accident contacted John Negely, a sophomore business major who works for the SC accounting office After being guaranteed total anonymity he revealed several purchase orders signed by Larry Williams which would seem to indicate an involvement in the surveillance system installation and nance on the part of the psychology department.

Acting on this piece of plun dered information the Accident unofficially sent a representative to the psychology department. Finding the building locked, alleged physics ninja, Robert Marsa, surreptitiously entered merour Hall. A thorough rifling of William's office revealed an automated digital video imaging work station, a collection of video tapes and a filing cabinet filled with pertinent research

Further investigations by the Accident staff unearthed a moldering maintenance worker who admitted to installing the system for Williams during his first year at Southern. "I wasn't sure what they were, but they seemed harmless enough. Now that I think about it, those things did look like ray guns.

In an unsolicited statement to the press, Marcie Woolsey admitted reading several of Larry William's most recently published papers. Frankly I found them highly fascinating.

Upon hearing of the fiasco President Sahly said, "I think more faculty should be involved in active research. I really don't know what all the fuss is about.

Andy McConnell's Assembly Service

Tired of those long, boring Assemblies? Let Andy McConnell and his friendly staff fake you away from the hustle and bustle of college life.

"We'll get you to the cafe ahead of the crowd." Rates: $5.00 per Assembly credit Call 238-3218 today.

Nothing at all — continued from p.8

(Stop! Don't read this until you read the beginning part on page 8!) sidewalks, and I'll give you these!"

Nobody's eyes wandered over and rested on Wohlers. It grinned. "I dare say, my good fellow," it said. "You seem to have brought me a bloody delicatessen!" And a tentacle knotted itself around Wohlers' tie. Wohlers, though in a state of shock, overed enough to ask, "What's going on here, Reggie?"

"Nothing," I said, backing away slowly.

"Well, nothing's against school policy. And who is this creature?"
"Nobody," I said, then turned and Wohlers followed suit, but Nobody had a grip on his tie, and, last I saw Wohlers was running through Wright Hall, yelling "Nobody's after me!" The receptionist just shook her head and flipped to "Psychiatry" in the yellow pages. So if anyone ever tells you nobody likes it here, it's true. I met it And if anyone ever says that nothing happens at Southern College, believe him. I've seen nothing happen, and it's not a pretty sight." Nobody knows why, but it ssed for more details, Horton will insist he knows nothing-so don't bother asking him

Unusual precipitation troublesome to area residents

Ry Poul Runyon

©Copyright 1990, USA TODAY/ Apple College Information Network

It has been raining again in Collegedale, but this time even the natives were upset. Though past studies proved there are at least 358 rainy days a year at Southern College, this was not everyday min.

It was raining up—literally. For the past five days, Collegedale has been subjected to the oddest meteorological phenomenon this side of Apison. A steady shower has been pelling upwards out of the ground and vanishing somewhere above in a cloudless sky.

answer in Actionaries says, or a marker of This has caused in dominion and the common and the c

Clothing is another fundamental problem. Most students' apparel is designed to shed water falling from above, but even the most expensive trench coat is at a loss when the rain falls up.

"It is particularly annoying," sand Ginger Bromme, "when you're wearing a skirt. Somebody needs to do something." Dean Engel quickly proclaimed a temporary ban on skirts and dresses and commissioned Dr. Ray. "Doc." Hefferlin to solve the problem.

Hefferlin promptly developped "Umbrelloots" as he calls them, a pair of tiny inverted umbrellas to be strapped under one's boots. "It's not convenient for walking," he said, "but they sure look neat!"

(You can purchase them in florescent fuchsia at Daniells Hall for just $19.95.)

Meanwhile, Thursday evening, Craig Lastine and Woody White formed a committee to study the feasibility of researching the probability of discovering viable opinion towards a working solution to the inverted precipitation and closeed themselves in a deserted room of the old Tab.

Friday morning, Douglas Morgan of the History department took matters in his own hands and formed a spelunking group to ascertain just what was causing this unusual weather.

Willard Scott of Today Show fame stood by as the group crawled into the tunnel Ed Santana and Jim Herman had dug months earlier. When asked what they hoped to accomplish, Poe said, "Maybe they'll get buried alive. I always enjoy that bit."

Dean Engel, however, was more worried. "Jo-Anne Stevenson is still down there. And Morgan is single!" she said. "And look what happened with Peach."

Damp and shivering, everyone waited through Friday and Saturday. Suddenly, Sunday morning, the rain stopped as a grey mist shot out of the tunnel and vanished over the Moments fater, Morgan and his group emerged. All America watched, glued to their televisions, as Willard Scott asked him what had happened.

"Apparently," Morgan said,
"a small rain cloud was trapped when Wright Hall collapsed last Sunday. It got lost in the labryonth of caves beneath Collegedale, lonesome and frightened. Terrified at the sight of a blonde Amazon racing through a cavern, it started to cry. Distoriented in the dark, it rained up—quite simple, sensult or

The cloud followed Morgan's directions, and found its way out. Dean Mathis says, "It is only a matter of time till the dorms dry out a matter of time till the dorms dry out and guys can use their bunks again." As of this writing, nothing has yet been heard of either Jo-Anne Stevenson or Lastine and White.

Funny photo contest winner

Allen Giles, halfway down a Colorado ski slope, suddenly missed a turn, and Greg Parkhurst captured the moment.

(Runner up Michelle Sykes' shot of Matt Cromwell being himself may appear in a later issue if we can possibly stand it.)

DALE WALTERS & JEFF NEWELL

Auto-Detailing Service
This week only, all jobs half price!

"We do it our way." call 2863 or 3347 for details

Of Mice and Men

By Rock Hudson

©Copyright 1990, USA TDDAY/ Apple College Information Network

This week the Accent takes a serious look at another growing social phenomenon in the world. The problem of Mice and Men. Just what is it that makes a man want to be a "Well, it's not a question of wanting to be a mouse...!t just sort of happens to you. All of a sudden you realize that's what you want to be," says an anonymous Southern College student recently interviewed by an anonymous Southern Accent reporter.

Anonymous Reporter: When did you first notice these tendencies? Anonymous Student: Well...my Freshman year I went to this parry with some friends at UTC, and, er... we drank a lot of Doctor Pepper and then some of the guys, uh...started handing cheeve around. So, just out of curiosity I tred a bit...and well that was that.

AR: What else did these friends of yours do?

AS: Well some of them kind of dressed up like mice a little and then, when they got the costumes on they started...you know, squeaking.

AR: What was your reaction to this?

AS: I was shocked at first. But, er...gradually I came to feel that I was more at case in the company of other

This is a typical example of the Mouse problem. A problem which is sweeping over our campus faster than Michael Gorbachev can overrun

According to Larry Williams, of the Psychology department, at least 8 percent of the population will always be mice. "There's something of the mouse in all of us," he said.

Wilhams is trying to create an atmosphere of sympathy for mice on campus. "How many of us can honestly say that at one time or another in our lives we haven't been attracted to mice. I know I have. Most normal adolescents go through a stage of squeaking once or twice a day but they grow out of that," he says

"On the other hand, teenagers are attracted to the Mouse seene by the every illegality of it. It's like murder-make a thing illegal and it acquires a mystique. Look at arton-How many of us can honestly say we haven't set fire to some large public building or hospital of something at one time or another in our lives. I know I have."

However, students are clearly hostile to mice. "I understand that they can't help themselves," says Mike Hermandez, "But there nothing we can do about it either. So I say we should split their nostrils open."

"I'm a conservative," says
Alex "William Jennings" Bryan. "I think that these mouse offenders

clearly deserve the death penalty."

Darin Stewart said, "I'm an Accounting major and consequently too boring to have anything of interest

The Collegedale police alvo take a dim view of mice. "We know that these things (Mouse parties) are going on in the area," said Elvis Presely, temporary deputy. "We have undercover people working the mousecine They've made several buys in the area recently...Brice, Camembert...even some of the harder souff like Cheddar and Gouda. We're very close to a major bust."

Perhaps we need to know more about these men who would be mice before we judge them. Then again, perhaps we don't. Anyway this is the end of the article. The clock has just struck one and I can hear the farmer's wife coming around the corner. Squeak! (Editors note: If you feel that you might be a mouse, a toll-free hotine, 1-800-4-SC-MICE, had been established to help you cope with your mouseness. Trained mice man the phones 24 hours a day.)

Southern Security Nabs Nobody Doing Nothing

y Giovanni Boccaccio

The past weeks of unmitigated horror ended with a rather odd occurrence late Sunday evening.

Administration stubbornly refused to let Accent staff write an article on the incident, insisting that nothing had happened, so here, in the words of Reggie Horion, SC security officer, are the screen death.

the bizarre details.
"It is all true," he claims, "except for the good bits, which are entirely fabricated.

Yesterday evening, as I followed my routine beat towards the cafeteria, nothing caught my eye. I stared at it, and sure enough, nothing was there. And it was spreading.

Even as I watched, Southern's scenery was vanishing—and in its place was nothing. After half a hillside, two sidewalks, and three junior accounting students were swallowed up, I decided to take action swallowed up. I decided to take action

I turned my back, folded my arms, stomped my foot, and yelled, "Enough already!" That seemed to work, for when I glanced over my shoulder, nothing was happening, and fast. It should spreading and instead coalesced into nobody.

Now don't get me wrong Nobody is not the cute, rounded, Casper-the-Friendly-Ghost figure you commonly see in Family Circus cartoons. Obviously, Bill Keane has never seen nobody. I have. Nobody is tall, purple, with fourteen tentacles, three mouths, and an eye or two all vying for a place on its bulbous forehead.

Nobody glared around for a moment, then shifted its gaze in my general direction. It suppose, in said in a startling British accent, "you'll be complaining of indigestons shortly." And its tentacles writhed in a particularly dispirited manner. Hastily quelling the queasy feeling in the pir of my stomach, I assured it I was quite well, thank you. "Hom," it rejoined

Another eye swivelled round, shoving aside three particularly purple arms, and blinked slowly. "I dare say," it said, "you might bring one something proper to eat if

Usually, nothing scares me in the dark. But when nothing is standing there actually talking to you, it is rather disconcerting. I ran to the cafe.

borrowed a double of each entree, and hurried back down Nobody was there. It glared at the offering, then took a huge helping of Special K loaf. At the time, this seemed the an irrelevant detail

I did worry, however, when nobody dropped the rest, turned a distressing shade of chartreuse, then screamed, "Aspmpcsfa Escdwkawsgoey!" I fled with the leftovers back to the cafe and found

Mr. Evans, the food service director, "Nobody ate this," I told him, and nobody turned yellow-green and greenish-yellow and I don't think nobody liked it." "Nobody didn't like it?" asked Evans carefully "Right," I insisted.

"I have other things to do," said Evans, "When nobody likes the food, let me know. Then we'll have something to worry about it."

"Nobody finished the Special K loaf!" I called after him, but he had already vanished among the refrigeraBack outside, nobody was still hungry. Another sidewalk was missing, and two education majors with it. Then it but me, probadicy with it. Then if in time—nobody chose its food from the realm of the irrelevant. Its choice of majors was clear proof.

It is terribly difficult to find something totally irrelevant when you really need to (almost impossible, by definition), but I tried. I hastily collected my orange airplane guidance flashlights, some mismatched socks, World Clv. II notes, and Dr. Wohlers, Vice-President of Student Affairs.

Nobody gave me a moments notice, so I yelled, "Put back the

Nothing-p. 6

Jack Ferneyhough. Southern College's new treasurer, catches up on back accounting.

Proposal — continued from p. 3

very apathy towards community service that prompted us to propose our Practical Solution Maybe once they realize what's going on, people will get off their ... well, they might finally do something and make our solution unnecessary. But until then, it'll pretty much take care of itself."

When Ron Qualley was asked why he joined the coalition, he only stopped polishing his Mercedes long enough to growl in a rather lycanthropic manner

The Cast:

John Caskey as: Edgar Allen Poe William Blake John Lennon George S. Patton, Jr. H.L. Mencken Rock Hudson Sean Terretta as;

William Wordsworth Mahatma Gahndi Paul Bunyon

Giovanni Boccaccio Monte Mitzlefelt as:

Benjamin Disreali Sigmund Freud

Jon Nash as: Salvidor Dali Greg Bush as: John Donne

Special thanks to Kerri, Mon-e-que, and Laurie

With his guitar strapped to his motorcycle, Elvis Presely, expelled from Southern College for singing the school song, leaves Collegedale forever.

Looking Back ... p. 6

Volume 45, Number 15

The Official Student Newspaper for Southern College of Seventh-day Adventists

Looking Back ... p. 6

April 19, 1990

President Sahly discusses his vision for Southern in the 90s

vears

By Amy Beckworth

Interested in Dr. Don Sahly's goals for Southern in the 1990s? In an in view on April 6, Sahly said the enrollment, quality of academic programs, science facilities, spirituality, and hiring more minority faculty are his five major goals.

What are your specific goals for Enrollment is the most important thing to a college, We want to keep the enrollment growing, but national demo graphics projects a number of students between now and 1995. This will affect our college. It is our hope that Southern will meet our growth projection. If our projections are not met, we hope to at least maintain the students. This past year enrollmen move in that envision this topic coming up for further discussion changing the name?

What would be the benefits of The benefits of changing the name are strictly those that hit you from a public relations, marketing, fundraising, and recruiting potential Is it your goal to keep Southern's tuition the lowest of all SDA col-

Yes, it is our goal to try to maintain the lowest cost in the den with the exception of Oakwood. The General Conference subsidizes Onlywood. It is a real challenge to keep turtion low. We want to maintain our quality. If low cost becomes associated with low quality, we really will not have anything to market. We are still the least expensive.

leges?

new building. I envision addressing this within the next two academic

As I look to the 1990s it is my goal to have a spiritual revival, not just on campus but in the church at large. The ared to the rest of the world.

The final goal I want to address is creating balance in the diverse population on this campus. Southern needs to attract more minority faculty so we can meet the needs of far it has been a

been telk about chapping the school. Is it true

Southern College

Southern Univer-

That ic a may change to

topic for discussion right now.

The faculty has given that some

is no action to present time there sity?

name of our real challenge

all the students So

There box

is in a pathetic state especially when rch growth here in North America

Strawberry Festival

for the annual Strawberry estival, which will take place in the gymnasium at 9 p.m., April 28. "We have good coverage of the students," said Ervin Brown, the assistant producer of Strawberry Festival, "If they got involved, we probably have at least one picture.

Kenny Zill, the producer of the show, chose "Pieces of Life" as the theme. The show will include conemporary music along with around 2,000 pictures of "life" at Southern. To make the show complete strawberries and ice cream will be served after the slide presentation

Financial aid options revealed

By Gari Cruze

One of the most common problems Southern College students will face next year is, of course, how to pay for Many students do not realize the thought, and at the number of options available to them "There are many types of grants and loans students can receive," says Ken Norton, Director of Student Finance Some of these include Restricted Scholarships, Pell Grants, State Grants. Supplemental Educational Opportunity > and Work-Study Programs, Restricted Scholarships are given to students who maintain high academic achievement and/or meet the require its of the individual scholarhair For example, a Dora McCleHan Brown Scholarship is for theology

Grants, Stafford Loans, Perkins Loans

majors and a George Alden Nursing Scholarship is for nursing students from Florida Many m scholarships are listed in the Financial And section of the Southern College

Grants are obtained by students who can show they have a great financial need. Not just anyone can obtain a grant. The student must apply for federal aid (grants) and then submit a letter of request to the Loan and Scholarship Committee. The committee will then look at the student's grade point average, ACT scores, citizenship record, and work record to see if the student is really putting forth enough effort to be worthy of financial aid. The student must have a real need and must already be working before real consideration is given. "You demon strate you're doing your part, and we'll work out a program," says Norton.

Loans are obtained by borrowing money from the federal government through the school or by borrowing from a bank. Most loans are guaranteed by state agencies. In a Parent-Plus Loan, parents may borrow up to $4,000 a year to a limit of $20,000. Beginning times for paying back the loans vary anywhere from 60 days to nine months after graduation or when the student drops below a half-time enrollment status.

Through the Work-Study Program, the government pays for most of the student's wages, and the rest is paid for by the employer. Information on who is eligible for the program is available at Wright Hall.

Pamphlets, applications, and more details about any of these programs are available at the Financial Aid office present level of went up nearly

The next goal we want to look at is the quality of the academic program We want to maintain and improve the majors we presently offer. We, especially, want to upgrade our unting program to a full masters level. We plan to do this next year. Southern has just introduced a market ing major in the business department Our hope is that the current interest in marketing will continue to mature and grow into a solid major.

Another goal we must address during the 1990s is the quality of our science facilities. Our present labora tones and classrooms are the oldest parts of our campus. We are going to have to completely renovate Daniels and Hackman Halls or build a new science complex Presently, we are giving study to total renovation or to a

Do not be afraid of enemies; the worst they can do is kill you. Do not be afraid of friends; the worst they can do is betray you. Be afraid of the indifferent; they do not kill of betray. But only because of their silent agreement, betrayal and murder exist on earth.

...Brupo Vasienski Soviet novelist

Let us begin by committing ourselves to the truth--to see 11 as it is, and tell it like it is--to find the truth, to speak the truth, and to live the truth, -- Richard Milhous Nixon 37th President of the United States

If liberty means anything at all, it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear. --George Orwell

Writer

The policy of Russia is changeless...Its methods, its tactics, its maneuvers may change, but the polar star of its policy-world domination--is a fixed star. -- Heinrich Karl Marx

Communist

The Staff:

Chief Coordinator John Caskey

Grammar Coordinator Laurie Ringer

Religion Coordinator Andy Nash

Photo Coordinator Sean Terretta

Layout Coordinator Daniel Potter

Proofreading Coordinator Monique Townsend

Advisment Coordinator Stan Hobbs

Word Processing Coordinator Heather Wise

Complication Coordinator Kerri Stout

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press

The Southern Accent is the official student newspaper for Southern College of Sewenth-day Adventises and is released every other Thorsday during the school year with the saception of exam weeks and worsdons. Opinions expressed in its Southern Accent under an special time. He memory 1900 the term between the special time and some extensively product the vicence are those of the authors and do not executally pointed the vicence the sed first product the sed first prod

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor.

I have attended Southern for three years. Within this short period of time, I've seen and experienced a lot of things that God might not gove of. God has given the leaders of this school opportunities to preach and speak his words. I'm speaking of leaders like teachers. administrators, and most importantly the pastoral staff. The spiritual leaders here have a great deal of responsibility to lead the young in the

I can imagine that the deans are probably wondering why instead of trying to get to worship, the students are trying to get out of worship. When we do go to worship. we have no reverence. It's as though we are anywhere but the House of the Lord. Friday night vespers is like going to Marcey's Massage Parlor Girls and guys can't keep their hands off their companions. "Preach the Word

I feel as though the pastoral stoff doesn't fully realize the responsibility that lies before it. The pastors need to come to some of the students' rooms and listen to some of their Satame music. They should also witness their Satanic symbols that hang in their rooms. We must remember that Satan has control of much at the world, and here, on Southern College campus he's doing every thing in his will to lead us astray, eventually causing us to be lost in total darkness. "Preach the Word '

Many students and faculty members agree with me when I say this style of preaching for worship services just doesn't fly. Th pastoral staff here would be surprised at how many students would love to hear the Word of God preached. "Preach to Word

"Once upon a time," how many times have we heard this phrase during worship? This is the phrase used for fiction story books. This is the line we read to our children at bedtime in order to put them to sleep. And this is just what's happening when someone begins a sermon with a phrase like this We come to church to wake up spiritually, not to go to sleep "Preach the

I must tell students at S.C. no to do as I did. I ran around like a chicken with his head cut off. I ran from church to church looking for some pastor to save my soul; however, instead I found pastors who are afraid to burt someone's feelings They sugar cost God's words They don't "Preach the Word," with authority. We must realize that pastors and Church leaders can cause us to be lost rather than saved We must remember that God uses ministers as tools to reach his people through the Bible, the Spirit of Proph ecy, prayer, and most of all the Holy Spirit. Pastors don't have the right to preach the way they want to. "Preach the Word.

Reggie Horton

Dear Editor

In conversations with students at S.C. as well as in articles and editorials appearing in the Accent, I frequently note the use of the word "arbitrary" in referring to the rules and regulations at S.C. I have also noted that if one tries to discuss the rules and regulations with faculty and administrators in terms of moral principles, many will quickly discourage such an approach and freely admit that many of the rules and regulations we endure are in fact arbitrary. The reason, I believe, for discomfiture at the mention of principle is that if we try to understand just one rule or regulation in terms of ornesple someone might ask why not evaluate all rules and regulations in such manner. No one in authority here at S C wants to do that because they very well know, though it may be heatedly denied, that Biblical and Spurit of Prophecy principles play a very small role in determining today's S.C. rules and regulations

Many self-supporting schools claim to carefully follow Spirit of Prophecy counsel and thus make life dull and monotonous in everything from diet to dress to recreation Conference and union schools tend to beheve that if they are going to rectuit and hold energetic, up-beat and vibrantly alive young people they must minimize Ellen White's counsel on lifestyle in particular. In the view of this writer, both positions err

Several faculty members have told me that organizations and institutions have a right to make whatever rules they wish even if the rules are arbitrary. This may be true for worldly institutions, but I do not believe it is true for institutions claiming God as the head. Procedural rules and regulations established for the sake of convenience may be arbitrary But where there is a moral issue involved the rules must be arbitrary This is the stuff of which tyrannies and despotisms are founded. It reminds one of nation-states in which constitutions are frequently suspended, the press censored, and basic human rights routinely violated. When everything is arbitrary there is no safety at all except where God mandates special intervention God does not govern this way. I do not believe He wants His earthly institutions governed this way

I want those reading this to know that I appreciate the candor and honesty of the faculty and administration of SC am only one Seventh-Day Adventist. However, my perspective on much of what is being done at S.C and especially the way it is being done is clearly different from that of the administration and much of the faculty. I am as concerned as anyone to have the college project a positive and favorable image to the constituency and the non-Adventist world. However, I am not so concerned with image that I want to distort in my own thinking, and that of others, the character and government of God, and end up treating my brothers and sisters in the Church in ways that Christ never treated anyone.

Harry Hogdon

Screaming high school seniors invade Southern during annual College Days

By Gina McIntyre

Collegedale—"The Splash is up to YOU" was the theme of the 1990-91 College Days. On April 8-9, 553 students from the Southern Union and other areas across the United States and Canada came to tour the campus.

The schedule of events included an orientation after the Seniors from the various academies were escorted in by police cars with strens blanng.

The students were entertained on the first day by the music departments production, The King and I, and at 8:00 by the Gym-Master Home

Macki Rucker, from Madison Academy said, "I enjoyed taking the Bible test. It's also good to see old friends. Today I saw a friend that I hadn't seen since eighth grade! "He also added, "I've found the program Geological ground grown of the program instruction." One Senior from Allanta Adventist Academy stated that in order to get much out of College Days, one data to be self-motivated. Most responses to the general program were positive, however.

Ron Barrow, Vice President of Admissions said, "We had fewer students than anticipated, but we had a good group Everything went very well We had a good time."

He also stated that more applications came in as a result of the two-day event than last year even though there weren't as many students participating

ORDER NOW AND SAVE! call 1-800-USA-0001, ask for Operator 513

39 weeks for $65.25 (save $32.25)

Choose your savings: 52 weeks for $87.10 (save $42.90) 26 weeks for $43.50 (save $21.50)

13 weeks for $21.75 (save $10.75)

FREE FOOD

This weeks trivia questions:

- Name the German sociologist of the late 19th century who wrote extensively on the Protestant Work Ethic.
- Name the Italian religious reformer of the fifteenth century who whipped up popular fervor against church and state corruption.
- Who is the most popular radio talk show host in America?
- Who was the "King of Swing"
 What is this symbol called: &

Last Weeks Answers:

Last Weeks Answers

If you got 'em, you know 'em, If you didn't, you didn't care...

Last Weeks Winners:

The few, the proud, the gatherers of useless information... You know who you are... (we forgot) Sponsored by

McDonald's

Shallowford Rd

RULES

The first five correct entres received in the Accent office will wan a free most all McDouds's consisting of a Large Sandwich or Bitter Sand, Large Fries and a 1. — drink. Entries om be slipped under the door of the Accent office and will be judged every day at 1000 pm. In the event that more than five correct entries are received on the same day the winters will be determined to the same of the same of the Accent Sandwick of the Sandwick S

"Doesn't every Pre-med deserve a choice?"

Tom Garcia, M.D. (UAG '75) Cardiologist Houston, Texas

"The right choice was there when I needed it. I made that choice, and now I'm a physician. My alma mater may be just right for you. It's your choice."

Universidad Autónoma de Guadalajara School of Medicine Guadalajara, Mexico

The International Choice

For your free video preview call: I-800-531-5494

From the Archives

Dateline: 1956

READER'S DIGEST FEATURES SMC

The Readers' Digest, national magazine with a circulation of over 18 million copies, will feature Southern Missionary College activities in the March edition in an article entitled, "The College With the Built-in Pocket-book,"

Music department presents "The Kina and I"

By Melissa Farroy

"The King and I", a musical play, was presented by the South em College music department. It was staged at the Collegedale Academy auditorium on Anni 8 9, 10 and 12

The play is based on historical facts about the King of Siam in the 1860s and an English totor, Anna Anna taught the royal children and waves elements of Western culture: conventions of society dignity of the human being, and the immorality of slavery . The King and his son, the future king, were greatly influenced, and they

The cast of "The King and I" at rehearsal eventually changed the dictatorial customs of their society. "The play went well. We had a good cast," said Marvin Robertson, producer and vocal director. "The turnout was what I expected, but it can always be better. But, we did well."

"The King and I" had a 62 member cast and a 21 piece orchestra. The re of the King was played by Larry Blackwell Kathy Stewart played

Engineering and Technology club formed to encourage and assist students in those fields

By Lisa Rosaasen

Brian Hartman, sophomore engineering major, has formed an Engineering and Technology club to assist, encourage, and involve engineering/ technology majors. "As a freshman, I found that the engineering/technology majors did not have a support group to offer them beneficial activities," said

The club's first activity was a tour of the campus telephone and computer facilities on March 27. Four engineering majors attended along with Mr. John Durichek, chairman of the technology department.

Their second meeting was a departmental chapel on April 5. Bill Belles, interstate architect and president of Kirkman and Belles Architects in Cleveland, was the guest speaker.

He addressed the importance of the relationship between engineers and architects. In his discussion, Belles stressed that engine cring majors shouldn't let the difficult math courses discourage them from pursuing the field of engineering. He said the engineering work field is different from the required engineering educa-

Twenty-five students, mostly engineering majors, attended the meeting Belles is doing architectural work for Southern College, designing a proposed science complex and redesigning

A third tentative activity, that Hartman has planned for this year, is a field trip to a local compact disc plant Although this school year is almost over, the club chose officers to finish the year. Hartman was elected as acting president. Bill Fentress, a sophomore engineering major is acting secretary-treasurer, and Mr Durichek is acting sponsor Hartman said officers for next year could have been chosen this year, but since the engineering major spends only two years at Southern, he wanted to give the freshmen an opportunity to be officers as well Although Hartman and Fentress will be transferring to Walla Walla college next year to complete their degrees, he wants to see the club contintue. Mr Duricheck said he will encourage the club to continue, but he wants to have a strong student leader that will take care of most of the planning Some of the activities Hartman would like to see offered next year are a field trip to a Lockheed airplant plant, a field trip to a TVA electrical plant and control center in Chickamauga, and an egg-drop contest. Hartman's goals for the remainder of this year and for the club in the future are to provide a support group, to provide special diversions and learning experiences, to provide a practical organization that will balance the theoretical math and physics clubs, and to provide field trips that will give engineering students a view of the prospective work environment as well as local contacts. He also plans to write very long sentences

Changes in store for faculty

By Shawna Dye

The 1990-91 school year will bring some new faces to the outhern College teaching staff and take away some of the present staff. In an effort to not have as many contract teachers next year, several departments will be taking on fulltime teachers

The biology department will be taking on Dr. David Ekkens from Kettering College, and also Bill Hayes who is presently completing a doctorate at the University of Wyoming. The department will be losing Marcie Woolsey who will be getting married.

Pam Ahfeld will be joining the nursing department along with one more, yet undecided, teache Behavioral science will be losing Larry Williams, who will be studying for his doctorate at the University of Tennessee at Kn-

Terrie Ruff will be taking William's place. She attended Southern College several years ago, but graduated from the University of South Carolina with a masters in

Robert Moore will also be teaching at Southern next year in the math department, but his is not a completely new face. He taught at Southern four years ago and is now returning with his Ph.d. in mathe-

Stepanske to lecture in the "land down under"

By Shawna Dye

Jeanette Stepanske, Professor of Education, will be doing some unusual lecturing this summer. She'll be doing it "down under".

On June 4 she will leave Collegedate for Stanton, Virginia where she will chair the Small School's Language Arts Committee for three weeks On June 24 she, along with Elaine Plemens, Associate Superintendant of Education for the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, will be flying from Washington D.C. to Auckland, New Zealand.

They will then be going on to Sidney, Australia where they will be met and hosted by Dr. L.D Devine, the Educational Superintendant for the South Pacific Division

From Sidney, they will go on the Howque, Australia where Stepanske will give a one week seminar/workshop for principals and teachers from the South Pacific Division. The subject will be "management of small schools"

The two will then go on to Melbourne, Carnes, and on July 12th they will fly out of Australia to Honolulu, Hawaii, and then home on the 19th of Stepanske comments on her trip. "One of the things I hope to get out of this trip is to visit schools in other countries and compare their educational programs with American education.

Automobiles

high-quality multigrade oil fo efficiency

 Avoid options that cut fuel economy; a light-colored car with tinted class reduces the need for air conditioning

■ Tune engine every 5,000 to 10,000 miles to keep engine running cleanly. Radial tres require 4 percent less fuel to use Moderately paced driving boosts ges mileage; accelerate and brake slowly.

Source: GNS research Frank Pempa, GNS

Water

Instali low-flush toilet or put a water-filled bottle in the tank to displace water Install a water-saving shower head Water lawns early in the morning when evaporation is Forget beths (30 gallons); take five-minute showers (15 gallons). Repair leaks quickly; a moderate drip wastes two gallons per hour.

Source GNS research Frank Pompa, GNS

EARTHTIPS

Electricity

Avoid setting refrigerator's top low: The proper temperature is 3B degrees Fahrenheit for freezers, 5 degrees. Buy energy-efficient appliances. They cost more to buy but less to run.

Use a clock-driven thermostat for self-adjusting heating. Use fluorescent lighting instead of incandescent bulbs. Run dishwasher only with full loads and use energy-saver mmle

Source: GNS research Frank Pompa, GNS

Chemical substitutes

instead of ammona cleaners, use water with vinega or baking soda. For furniture polish, use 1 part lemon juice, 2 parts ofive or vegetable oil. For disinfectant, use half cup of borax in gallon of water. To clean rugs and upholstery, sprinkle cornstarch, then vacuum Instead of mothballs, use cedar chips, newspapers or For roach killer, mix baking soda and powdered sugar. To stop ants, spread chiti powder.

or GNS research Frank Pompa, GNS

Recyclables

Ask for pao grocery bags

stead of plastic: don't bag small

Buy eggs, milk and cereals in cardboard cartons. Senarate newsnaners glass, plastics and aluminum for recycling; urge local officials, friends, and relatives to recycle.

Take used motor oil to a reclamation center. Buy and urge local governments to buy recycled products.

Source GNS research Frank Pomos GNS

Thatcher residents opposed to surveillance camera plans

By Tammie D. Mentzel

"It's an invasion of our privacy," said Delbee Dent, sophomore in Thatcher Hall where controversy over placement of surveillance carneras in hallways is causing

The cameras were a suggestion from Dean Lydia Rose after seeing a similar security system at Pacific Union College The proposal was added to the departmental "wish list and submitted to McKee Baking Co. who donated funds necessary to purchase the earnerns, said Rose

"It's not a matter of spying on anyone or watching them walk down the hall in their t-shirts," said Rose. "We only want what is best for the Residents of Thatcher have mixed opinions about the cameras being placed in their dorm. Sophomore. Karen Crismond, says she feels it wouldn't be so much an invasion of privacy if the cameras were placed only at entrance ways. "It's a good security device, but I feel funny about having a camera in the halt of my home " Some, like sophomore Lisa Rosaasen, feel that there are other areas on campus that need on. "The walk from Brock Hall to the guri's dorm on the lower promenade is dimly lit and definitely deserves priority," said Rosassen

Others simply feel that there's been no need before, why now? "Our doors are always locked. I don't see the purpose," said sophomore,

Amber Murphy.
Tamara Michaelenko, junior, says she can't see the need because she can't see the problem.

According to Dean Rose there are problems. There has been vandalism on several occasions by academy age boys who enter the dorm through the side door used by the janitors. Rose says the cameras would eliminate this problem and others such as unauthor ized males in the dorm and stealing from laundry rooms.

The cameras are being installed this summer, said Rose, but a completion date is unkno

to by SC PR Depl

Christian literature conference held here

By Gari Cruze

The Southeastern Regional Meeting of the Conference on Christianity and Literature took place at Southern College April 5-7.

Seventy people representing thirty colleges and universities and fiftee states took part in the conference. which examines what relationships exist between Christianity and litera-

The conference involved a keynon address, the reading of papers on Christianity and literature, responses to those papers, an organ demonstration by Judy Glass, a performance by the Destiny Drama Company, and a dinner at President Don Sahly's home.

According to Dr. Dave Smith, who served as the program chair, the participants expressed how beautiful the campus was and how friendly the Southern College students were to them. "The conference went very well, and everyone enjoyed it. There were good, quality papers read and some fine Christian fellowship," said

The keynote address speaker was Professor Leland Ryken from Wheat College in Illinois. Ryken received his

Ph.D. from the University of Oregon in 1968, focusing on the literature of the English Renaissance

The paper voted most outstanding was John Zubizarreta's "T.S. Ehot and the Gospel of St. John." He is from Columbia college, and his was the last paper to be read at the conference. There were some students participating from the area including student from Lee College, Bryan College, and Covenant College. The conference, which meets once a year, will take place at Georgetown University in 1991.

Professor Leland Ryken

Looking Back

Photos by Sean Terretta (except "Ira Mills" by David Koliadko)

Typically, "looking back" implies a nostalgic theme-topical or chronological. This collection of pictures, however, gleaned from Accent 89-90's files of unused photos, really isn't representative of any specific aspect of life at SC

Instead, they demonstrate the variety of people and events here during the past year.

And that's what Southern's all about...

ugh it all, one thing Southern students could always count on... rain.

Mike Magursky cooled off in SC's new water park by Lynn Wood Hail.

Booker T. Washington state park

Environmental Crisis or Earth Day Hokum?

Turn on your followisson. Listen to your radio. Read most newspapers and magazines. They tell the same story in oscalating intensity Our nation and the entire world face an array of environmental disasters that can be combatted only with massive increases in government controls.

While there is no shortage of environmental "crisis" information, little attention has been paid to well-reasoned opposing views. Yet, many competent scientific authorities and political analysts maintain that most of these doornsday predictions are unsubstantiated.

Which side is correct? . Who should be believed?

What tollows is a series of opposing opinions on environmental questions. One set of views seeks to persuade the public that there is title choice but to give up personal and even national freedoms. The other utges rejection of a radical agenda leading to totalisation controls in the name of preserving the environment.

Please study these competing views. Obtain the supporting literature offered below and.

You Be The Judge!

*One plan often menhaned involves the addition of temporary sterilants to water supplies or staple food. Doses of the antidote would be carefully alraned by the gove red population size

"Therefore, at best ten percent of the defense budget must be allocated to birth control and abortion in the U.S. and abroad." The Emissionist Morecook on Eximities 1970.

"Resources, for from being limited, are abounding. No more than one to three person of the servine limited in the checked has a lo occurred in the servine limited in the checked has a lo occurred for egifcultural purposes. Eight times, and perhaps as much as kereity-how times the world's person population could support itself at the person of the checked from the servine of the checked the checked from the servine and the person of the checked from the servine of the contract in the checked from the servine of the checked from the servine of the contract in the servine of the checked from the servine of the servine of Environmental Crisis or Attack on Productivity?

wirtinnmental Crisis or Attack on While poolauming April 22, 1989 as Earth Day, President Bush staked his deare to "haighten public awareness of the need for schee participation in the protection of the environment and to promote the formation of a miternational alkience that responds to global environmental concerns". —Pseudost Glorid Buss.

"The cost of environmental regulation is a long-run reduction of 2.59 percent in the level of the U.S. gross national product."

— Dut W Jonasson see Percel Wedge Warner Hundred United to Special See National Environment

The Automobile

"Paul R Ehrich of Stanford University", said that taxing gasoline to raise the price to all least $2.30 a gallon would also limit carbon doinde emissions. "It il didn't cut consumption, it would all least reduce the delfor," said Ehrich."

Los Asortis facs.

[There is a need for programs] aimed at reduction of automobile usage to ane-tenth of the present levels.

- Kinchin Cardine
The Environmental Memorian
on Euro, 02: 1970

"The automobile means high alandards of living, greet individual mobility and productivity... In rure il marica, il is the only means of transportation that assures employment endincome. Without it, the countryside would be depopulated and our cities far more congested than now."

— HANS SERVING PH D. GROVE CITY COLLEGE GROVE CITY, PENCELLAND

Government Control or Responsible 'Some economists and analysts agree that, if we continue consuming resources as we are now, the only way to bring about a between demand and supply will be through authoritanan control.

"Il environmentel extremists are allowed to succeed with heir plants, the American people succeed with heir plants, the American people stender of things, and support their stender of things, and ecopt international authority in order to save the earth from what are extually unproved and unsubstantiated theories."

— Gur Bern Duscono Pagraco.

Legitimete or Radicel Environmentalism?

Legitimate or Hadical Environ

"Whereas Earth Day 1970 awakened people to the issues, Earth Day 1990 needs to make the environment the screen through which all other decorons are made"

— Creatina Dessora

Environment Descoron

Ozone Depiction

". changes of azone concentration in the layer at a given itself out of at a given time of the layer at a given time of the given time at a given time of the given time at a given ti

Global Warming

We've got to note the global warming issue. Even if the theory is wrong, we will be doing the right thing in terms of economic and environmental policy."

Current forecasts about global warming "are so inaccurate and fraught with uncertainty as to be useless to policymakers."

— Processors Revaic Lecter.

Massecutars learning of Tichecols and the heart Surens Insurance of Tichecols.

The John Brich Society maintains that environmental concerns have been glossly exaggerated in a distorate campagn to gain support for radically altering the American people's way of the No one dense that there are lightnate environmental concerns Bulk emaints and sixtor or protection and one provided price as lost overlegity and one and objectional relevant in the name of lightnate poblishion or protecting the environment. Unproved thereits should be tempered with provide lacts, the test of logic should be scoppically applied, and the hindral regarded of the environmental body should be apposed and rejection.

For a packet of facts and analysis to help counter the threat posed by environmental hysteria, send $5.00 to the address given below. You will receive a wide assortment of published materials dealing with the assues addressed in this advertisement. With solid facts instead of unsusstantiated themsets, you will more offectively influence your elected and appointed officials.

The John Birch Society . Dept. E . Appleton, WI 54913-8040

Send a copy of the adventuement to President George Bush (The White House Washington DC 20500), each of your senators (Hon ______, Senate Office Building Washington DC 20510), and your representative in Congress (Hon ______, Nouse Office Building, Washington DC 20515)

Environmental club forms on campus

By Amy Beckworth

SAVE. Students Aware of our Valuable Environment, is a new environmental club organized this

The impetus for forming the club was a class project. Larry William's Contemporary Social Problems class decided to tackle environmental problems. Their first step was to form a club which would raise student awareness of environmental issues

Some tentative goals of the club are: reducing the use of styrofoam cups, plates, etc., organization of a continuous recycling campaign on campus for paper, aluminum, glass and other recyclable products, reducing the waste involved with junk mail and announcements in mailboxes, raising awareness of environmental issues in the church as a whole, and challenging other schools and institutions to take

Robert Pittman, one of the founding members of SAVE, says, "As Christians we have a responsibility for the stewardship of the earth. We should set examples for the community to follow."

Earthday 90

By Amy Beckworth

Sunday, April 22, the 29th anniversary of Earth Day will be celebrated all over the nation

President Bush said that Earth Day is an opportunity for us to evaluate how we are doing with the environment and to make a commitment to impact the future

Here in Chattanooga-parks, organizations, and people will take an active part in Earth Day Southern will too This Thursday, Ron Littlefield, commissioner of Public Works for Chattanooga, will come and speak about the environment for chapel. "I have worked with environmental matters all my life, but around here I'm probably best known for my involvement with the Summit Landfill," said Littlefield. His chapel talk will focus on the different generations working together for the better of the environment. "I hope America can find a way to merge the environmental interests of all generations," said Littlefield.

Also on this Thursday, the new enviroomental club SAVE (Students Aware of our Valuable Environment), will have a membership drive and petitions for students to sign in the cafeteria after Assembly

On Sunday, SAVE will help with a booth at the Tennessee River Park. Admission to the park is one paper bag full of recyclable clear glass, alumi num, or paper. In place of recyclable products a $1.00 donation will be accepted. The park will have demon strations, games, exhibits, concerts, special programs, field trips, concessions, and adult and children's

Jesus said, "Do vou truly love me?" ... "Take CARE of my sheep." John 21:16 NIV "Setting our Sights on the Saviour"

Angels watching over us daily

By Andy Nash

As typical Adventist children, my younger sister. Angela, and I were once avid listeners to the "Your Story Hour" tape collection-with Aunt Sue and Uncle Dan

The story that peaked our interest more than any other was one entitled "Strangers in the Night." In it. two children left alone in their home are visited by a "mean man" and later, a "nice man" (as we called them). The nice man, exhibiting tremendous strength, protected the children from the robber. Later that evening, he went to he down in the guest room and somehow disappeared without leaving any tracks in the snow. "...For some people have entertained angels without knowing it," Aunt Sue explained. This always tascinated us!

Angelic intercession is not a nev concept. Angels are mentioned first in Genesis 3:27, when God placed them at the gates of the Garden of Eden to keep sin out and to guard the Tree of Life. In fact, the Bible speaks of angels over three hundred times. Ellen White adds that angels were respo sible for guiding the animals into the ark and for watching over the infant Moses in the bullrushes. H.M.S. Richards says, "The scriptures tell us more about angels than about baptism, the Lord's Supper, the Sabbath, ...the resurrection of the dead, and the Second Advent!" With all this biblical publicity, angels must be a force in our world today as well

However, with numerous books written on the occult, the Devil, and demons, people are frequently drawn away from the study of the Lord and His messengers, states Billy Graham. This sometimes is where misconceptions of angels begin. Over the years, I've heard angels described as passive spirits that make music with their arps as they float through the clouds This just isn't accurate!

When invited into our lives, angels protect, befriend, and enlighten i through the saving power of Jesus Christ. And they love doing it!

"Through the ministry of angels heaven is in touch with the daily life of all God's earthly children," says Richards. And J.R. Williams tells us, "That angels are present with us for protection and deliverance is a beautiful truth of the Bible..." Most sources convey the fact that these celestial beings are here to help.

However, before the angels of Heaven can use their incredible influence in our lives, they have to be welcomed. When we pray and ask for God's assistance, it gives Him justification in helping us. Often this is done through His angels.

And what powers they have! Ellen White tells us that when Jesus was being mocked and beaten before His crucifixion, the angels of Heaven were watching in horror. They wanted to intercede, but were not allowed. "The weakest angel could have caused that mocking throng to fall powerless, and could have delivered Jesus '

The angels of the Lord are anxious to help us as well, but they wait on His vord before taking part in our lives. When that word comes, the angels excitedly rush to "encamp arous those who serve Him" (Psalms 34-7)

While angels have the power to guide and protect us from the evil moss of Satan, we have something that the angels can only marvel over redemption. At one point in the novel Piercing the Darkness, by Frank E. Peretti, the angels of God are in a park with a young girl named Sally Roc who is about to accept Jesus Christ into her life. The kneeling angels encurate Sally, their heads bowed, their swords lying in the grass like "spokes of a wondrous wheel." Tal, the lead angel, can only say, "Redemption. It never ceases to thrill me!"

I believe that, in the unseen world, angelic celebrations such as this take place when a person comes to Christ. Ellen White notes that "Every true confession glorifies Him, and causes the angels to break forth into singing." And, according to Graham, "Angels set all the bells of Heaven in motion with their rejoicing [over the saved] before the Lamb of God." The angels of Heaven have no idea what salvation is like, but they want us to experience

For some reason, the angels of God love us. Ellen White informs us that when Jesus told the angels of His plan to come to Earth to save the sinners the angels were shocked and greatly saddened by the announcement. "The angels prostrated themselves at the feet of their Commander, and offered to become a sacrifice for man." However, the angels couldn't take the place of Christ

The angels of Heaven have known each of us all our lives, but we have yet to me ' hem. What a day it will be when "we behold our previously unseen protectors and guides in the sky

Destiny Drama Company presents Evewitness

Ry Tamara R Michalenko

"I muss you too were the final words from the play entitled EYEWIT-NESS, presented by the Destiny Drama Company, Friday evening, April 6 1990, at the Col-

legedale Seventh-day Adventist Church

The evening's performance was dedicated to Dawn Patton, a former Destiny member. (1986-87) who died of Lupus. "The memory of Dawn Patton is an inspiration to not only Destiny Drama Company performers but to all of us who aspire to be overcomers in Christ." stated Shannon Born, a current member of Destiny who knew Down and described her as an EYEWITNESS was co-written by George Turner (Destiny member from 1984-86) and David Denton (6-year Destiny veteran). Their work was commissioned to commemorate the troupe's tenth anniversary season. EYEWIT-NESS was a stirring portrayal of a modern Christ and the significant effect He had on His contemporaries. Powerfully presenting the personality of Jesus Christ in a 20th-century setting, EYEWIT-

NESS explored the relationships of 1990s men and women to a living From the birth of Christ to His death, all events were portrayed before the eyes of a captivated audience wondering what would be happening next to this modern day Messiah.

Messiah

Among the audience were ap proximately 70 individuals who registered for the Southeastern Regional Meeting of the Conference on Christianity and Literature which began Thursday evening and continued through Saturday afternoon. The individuals represented 30 colleges and universities and 14 states. David Smith, Chairman of the English Department at Southern College, stated that for most of the individuals this was their first tim on an Adventist campus and the presentation by Destiny was a "good introduction of Adventist views or religion." Smith also stated that several individuals expressed enjoy ment regarding the play, enjoyed the beauty of the campus, the food, and the young people, especially the

A few students from Southern College responded to Destiny's performance by saying

Destiny members

David Denton and company did an excellent job in writing the skit. It made me think about how lesus suffered and died for me." stated freshman nursing major, Carol Shaw. "Also how we treat others and how we want to be treated as aman beings. The Destiny Drama Club really did an excellent job on action and performance," Carol continued. "My parents were here and they told me after the program how impressed they were with the whole thing."

"I thought it was very good, commented Brenda Caldwell, fresh man elementary education major "It was funny, but serious as it showed how Jesus would have been treated if he were on Earth today. Very creative work!"

"I thought that it was an excellent description of what it would be like if Christ came today," stated freshman auto body repair major, Russell Haveman. "I also thought that it was the best acting I have ever with the Savior," says Richards. For now, though, 'He will give His angels charge of you, to guard you in all your ways" (Psalms 91:11), a text frequently repeated by young children, faithful grandparents, and church congregations all across the world. I would like to believe that the angels of God are especially proud to be standing at our sides when these beautiful words are spoken.

"You idiots!... We'll never get that thing down the hole

"Listen out there! We're George and Harnet Miller! We just dropped in on the pigs for coffee! We're coming out We don't want trouble!

For the health of it

By Darlene Almeda, R.N.

O: During the Health Expo 90 held in the Student Center, I found out my cholesterol was a little higher than it should be. What suggestions do you have for me?

A: First of all you need to look at your diet. Saturated fats must be reduced. These are found in all anim products starting with meat itself, eggs, vhole milk products, yogurt, and cheese. Also propical oils such as coconut and palm oils are saturatedthese are common ingredients in most cookies, crackers, and cercals. Try to increase your intake of soluble fiber such as oat bran, psyllium, and beans to reduce your cholesterol level up to 15%

Next consider exercise. Cardiovascular exercise, including walking, will help increase your HDL (High Density Lipoprotein) also known as the "good" cholesterol. HDL helps carry back to the liver excess LDL (Low Density Lipoprotein) and keeps it from attaching to the walls of the arteries which will eventually narrow due to the excess plaque and debris

According to B. Rifkind, a cholesterol researcher at one of the National Institutes of Health, a cholesterol level of 200 is a feasible goal for most Americans, but if you really want to decrease your risks [of heart disease], you'd have to bring down your level well below 140.

New Kids on the Block describes trials and tribulations of young immigrants

By A. Lee Bennett Jr.

New Kids on the Block, by Janet Bode, is not about the new rock group, "...but I don't think you'll be disap-pointed with this one," said Peg Bennett, McKee Library Director.

"Bode has interviewed 11 young adult immigrants, ages 13-20, and compiled their oral histories into a powerful and intriguing look at modern immigration. The young people describe their often dangerous journeys from their native lands and the hardship and confusion they face in their new country. All struggle with prejudice and conflicts in culture." This "outstanding" book's reference Described as "delightful and apbeat," Barbara Corcoran's The Potato Kid is "easy, relaxing, heartwarming reading. The main character is like most normal teenagers-loving, jealous, hardworking, lazy, kind, selfish, conscientious, and sorry for herself all at different items in the book. Young people will relate well to her disappointment in the sudden change in summer plans-and all because of someone she doesn't even like. Information on the plight of the small farmer is smoothly integrated

The reference number for The Potato Kid is PZ 7.C814 Po.

Gym-Masters perform annual home show

By Gina McIntyre

On Saturday meht and Sunday evening April 7 and 8 the Southem College Gym-Masters performed for their home crowd and the students attending College Days. The gym was overflowing.

The Home Show has a traditional theme. "We open with a tribute to American and end with at tribute to our Lord," said Ted Evans, coach in his 6th year at Southern. "We are proud to be Americans, and we want to give recognition to the American spirit. We also feel fortunate to have the right to be Christians."

The team of 35 members has traveled as far away as California (PUC). They have pulled a special drug awareness program into their routine for area high schools According to Evans, each team captain is in charge of a skit relating to drug abuse. These routines are mixed into the general program

The College Days favorites were "Batman" and the "World Wrestling Federation" acts. Davy Joe Swinya admits that his favorite part about being the "Super Colossal Hulkster" "slamming Chism," "I like all the groupies that follow me around afterwards," he said.

Tim Cross, member of the 1990 team, said of the College Days performance, "I felt really good about both performances. The team as a whole wasn't as psyched (as they were last evening) because parents and friends were there

Gvm-Masters

According to Evans it gets harder and harder every year to make the program unique. When he started his first year it was easy to put on a good show. "It's difficult to improve now

1:14

1:23

1:25

1:13

1:22

1:34

1.24

1.25

1.30

1.21

1:43

22:22

100 yard Free-style

Angela Bullock

Michelle Fried

Michael Hawkins

Heather Williams

Ruth Gifford

Rick Have:

Angela Bullock

Michael Hawkins

Stephanie Servoss

Paul Darden

CABL

Bob Benge

Aimmie Lagundino

1st Annual weightlifting competition

100 yard Back Stroke

Rick Hayes

Jim Kine

and still be safe," he said. The Home Show is over, but next year's plans are already in

"Cookie Byrd" swim meet splashed through PE center

By Gina McIntyre

The swimming club hosted a swim meet on Sunday, April 15, at the college pool. Stan Dobias, Angi Dobias, and Ruth Gifford coordinated the event The "Cookie Byrd" swim meet started in 1988, awarding scholarship to winners of the mile, quarter mile 100 yard breast stroke, 100 yard freestyle, and 100 yard backstroke. According to Gifford, "Due to lack of financial backing we're not offering trophics this year. We didn't his a swim meet last year. We would like to make this annual event." Paul Darden, a resident of Apison won the men's quarter mile 100 yard backstroke and the mile. He beat B. Craig's 1988 record of 24:06 with his

22:22 time Gifford tied her 1988 record of 6:34 oncert

behind to beat Stephanie Servoss, who finished at 6:35 Rick Hayes won the 100 yard breast stroke, 100 yard free-style and came in after Darden to capture second place in the 100 yard backstroke.

Ruth Gifford	6:34
Stephanie Servoss	6:35
Jil Hines	7:44
Men's Quarter Mile
Paul Darden	5:03
Andy McConnell	6:19
Bob Benge	6:49

Women's Opener Mile

	7.02
100 yard Breast Stroke	2
Angela Bullock	1:27
Heather Williams	1:39

Jil Hines 1:50

> presents Special guests:

Mark Bond Larry Culey Chris Lang Tom Weil also: Bob Martin 5-4-1

Special thanks to the Student Association at 3:30 p.m.

Summerour

In front of Sabbath

April 21

Hall

Dale Lacra and friends

By Reggie Horton On Sunday, April 15th some men and a few ladies tested their strength in three hard core events, bench press, squats, and dead weight In the womens' events there were two contestants, Kristy Pue and Heather Theus, Heather won by benching 80lbs, total in the three lifts, In the mens' lightweight competition first place went to Harvey Hillyar. He lifted a total of 875lbs. in

First place middle weight

Southern College Invitation Golf Tournament planned for summer

By Melissa Farrow

The first annual Southern College invustional Golf Tourna ment will be held June 25 at the Lookout Mountain Golf and Country Club.

The tournament is and fund-raising event of the Century II Endowment Fund which is expected to reach its $1 million goal in 1992

"We expect to profit between $18,000 and $20,000 from this event," said Verle Thompson, chairman of the tournament con mittee. "We have had widespread ecognition and hope to fill all

120 spaces.' The tournament is targeted to downtown businesses but is open to college personnel and alumni, or anyone willing to pay the $125 entrance fee

Trophies will be given to the first seven place teams, and anyone getting a hole-in-one on designated par 3's will win a new

Major sponsors include McKee Baking Co., McNeilus Trucking. Ed Wright City Dodge and John Hicks Auto Park. For more information call 238-went to Ed Schneider, who lifted a total of 785lbs, in the three events. Calvin Simmons won first place in the heavy weight competition He lifted a total of 910lbs. in the three Classic designer clothing for men and women. Bring your valid college ID and receive an additional 15% off the ticketed price.

2832

J.CREW FACTORY STORE

Warehouse Row • 1110 Market Street • Chattanooga, Tennessee • 1615) 756 0815

ScanTron tips that may improve your final exam scores By Lisa Rosansen

With test week approaching, most students are looking for ways to get the best possible grades on tests. Surprisingly, one of the simplest solutions and one of the most effective tools costs only twenty-two cents.

Many final tests, particularly those given to large classes, require students to mark their answers on special sheets which are read by a machine. This machine is blind to normal visible light, responding only to intrared light in order for a mark to be read, in his to have the right amount of card, in his to

The proper instrument for this is a #2 pencil. Mr. John Beckert director of Computer Services emphasized that automatic "clicker" pencils should not be used because their marks do not erase as well. "Pens should not be used because some of them will actually make marks that are completely invisible to the machine," said Beckett.

Computer Services had its own printer manufacture test forms for us, with their ScanTron machine. Recently, a ScanTron salesperson on campus claimed that forms printed by any other company were unlikely to produce acceptable error rates.

So Computer Services tested its homemade ScanTron forms against the forms made and sold by ScanTron They processed 25 of each kind of sheet, with all 200 possible answers filled in Both sets were graded 10 times before erusures were made, and 10 times before erusures were made, and 10 times and the sets were graded 10 times and the sets were graded 10 times after the sets were the sets w

A total of 50,000 marks were made, and all but eight were read correctly, provided there were no erasures. That is an error rate of less than 2/10ths of

The sheets were then modified by changing four answers per sheet and re-grading. On the changed answers, ScanTron had an error rate of 2.5% and the home-made sheet had an error rate of 5%.

Mr Beckett's advice to students was to use only a good old worden pencil to upgrade your grades. His suggestion to the administration was that although the present answer sheet scored acceptably, given the moderate increase in cost, computer services should go back to Scan Tron forms when the current stock is used.

President of Florida Hospital to speak at Graduation excercises

By Gina McIntyre

On May 4-6 graduation exercises will be held. On Friday night, Doug Bennett, Ellen G. White professor of Religion, will speak in the P.E. Center.

The Nurses' Pinning will be Saturday, May 5 at 7:30 p.m. and Doug Martin will be speaking. On May 6, Commencement exercises will begin at 10 a m in the P.E. Center. Tom Werner, President of the Florida Hospital, will be speaking

The Baccalaureate Service, starting at 11:15 a.m. in the P.E. Center, will be presented Charles E. Bradford, President of the North American President of the Septral Conference.

Senior Class Officers:

Mark Waldrop, president David Barasoain, vice president Janna Sasser, secretary Jerry Rimer, pastor

- 267 total seniors
- 187 bachelor's degrees
- 73 associate degrees
 7 one-year certificate students

2l graduates are on the Orlando campus and will have their graduation ceremony there—11 of these are bachelor degrees and the rest associate degrees...

Other graduating class statis-

- 103 men
- 164 women
- 221 single
- 221 single

Earn more A's, Get more Zzz's, Spend less $'s.

Announcing new lower prices on the Macintosh SE and Macintosh Plus

As you've probably learned, staying on top of classwork takes a lot of work So we're offering new low prices on two great study aids: the Macintosh® SE and the Macintosh Plus.

notes, crank out that spreadsheet, polish off statistics and polish up that English paper. What's more, once you've mustered one application you can use them all, because every Macintosh software application works the same way. And since every Macintosh runs the same powerful software and is expandable, it can grow with you as your needs change.

If you'd like to know more, stop Use a Macintosh to transcribe your by the location listed below. You'll save more than a few $'s. You'll gain everything from As to Zzzz's relief team to be organized at Southern By Lisa Rosaasen

Disaster

Earlier this year, the General Conference passed a policy that would develop a national student disaster relief team with local divisions at participating academies and colleges across the LLS

Dr. Larry Williams, a teacher in the Pschology department along with Dan Rozell, a teacher in the Business department hopes to implement a division of this program at Southern College.

Williams said the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy says there will be more and more disasters "We should take this opportunity to help others," he says.

College and academy students as well as faculty will be involved in disaster relief locally, regionally, and possibly nationally and internationally. Even when there is no disaster, students can help local emergency and rescue teams.

Students will be trained to provide trauma and shock counseling. grief support, food and clothing distribution, referral services, damaged building demolition, building repair, and clean-up. The Red Cross and local community services organiza tions will assist with the training.

To be involved students must be willing to learn specific skills and have a strong sense of motivation. "They can't look for the sensationalism, but must want to be of service," says Williams.

An organizational meeting is scheduled for 5.30 Monday, April 23 in the back of the cafeteria. Plans for Southern's team will be discussed and people who have an interest can sign up. Williams expects to contact those people over the summer and organize some of the leaders and begin the program in the fall.

Williams will be meeting with a local committee in May and General Conference officials in August to establish further plans and objectives.

VIEWPOINTS

style photos by Sean Terrett

"What do you think of this section of the Accent?"

I can't remember, but I think I thought something John "Irangate" Caskey

I utterly loathe it

-John "Editor" Caskey

I think we should legalize it and put a tax on it -John "Buckeley" Caske

Attention:

Easy work excellent pay!

Assemble products at home.

> Details. 602-838-8885 Ext. w-7418